Once I was somewhere . . .

I was a part . . . of something . . .

Like the warp of a finely woven linen.

For a fleeting moment in time . . .
it was my entire life.
I look back and see a flash . . .
As when lightning brights the sky;
Only later does the thunder rumble from somewhere beyond . . .
to help us understand . . .
to tell us what it was . . .
and that it really happened.

Memories are what man must sometimes survive on . . .

As though clinging to a life raft in a still and lonely sea.

Everyday I am making memories . . .
in half a century they will be testimony to my existence.

These years are full of memories . . .
Like an emotional melting pot of all the ups and downs of youth.

As we grow, we leave the skeleton of steel girders and concrete . . .
we leave our childhood shaped only as memories.

As the fledgling abandons the nest never to return to the protection it provided . . .

I too must abandon the security of the nest and brave the world in search of my destiny.

Judy Meece

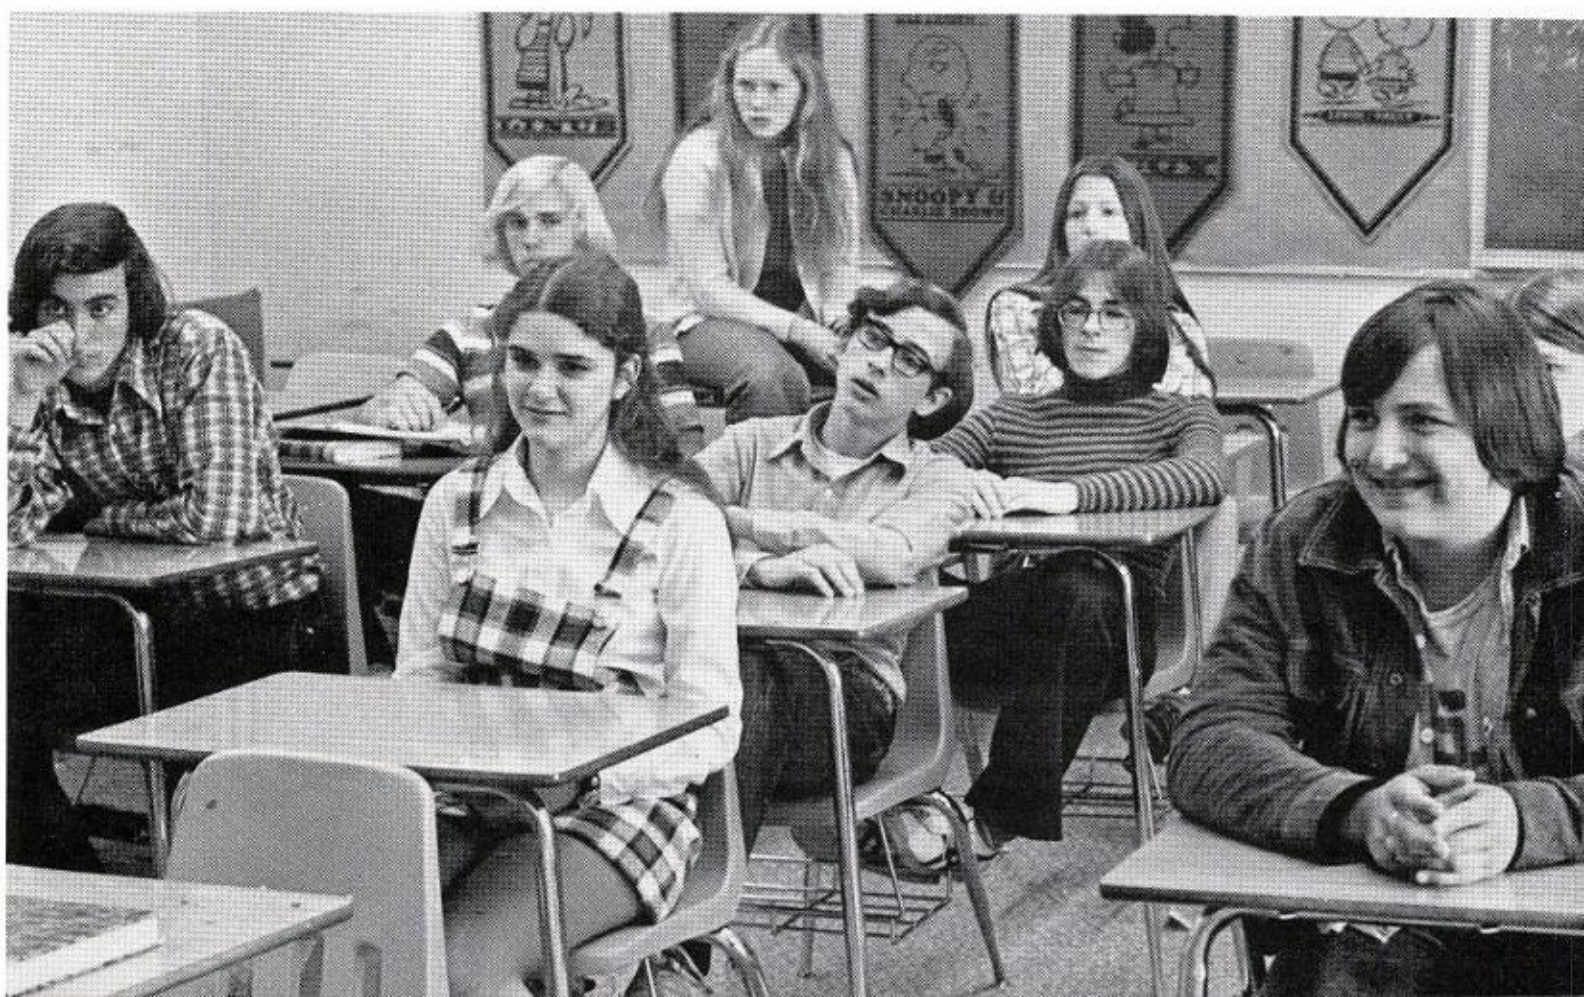

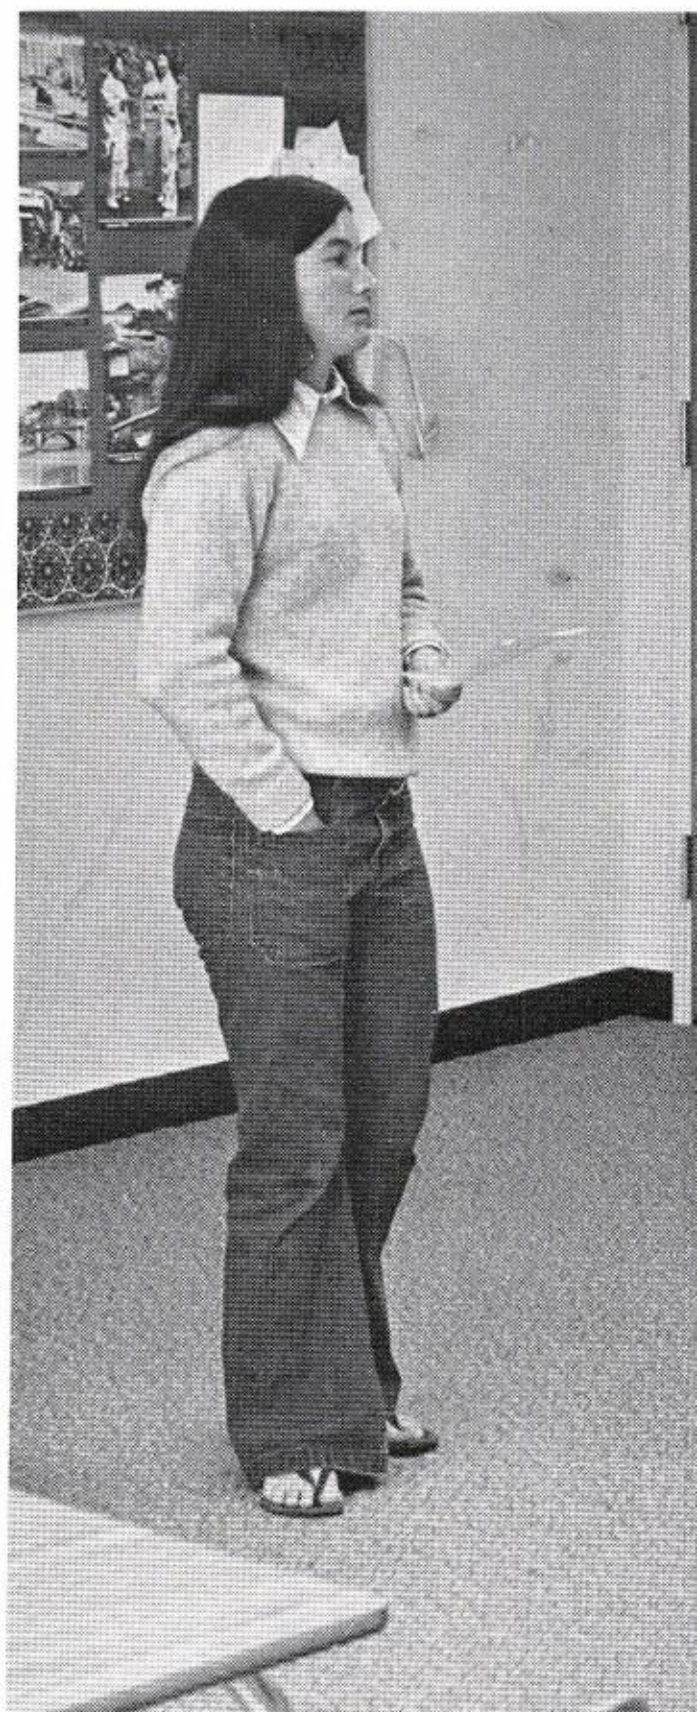

AUTUMN

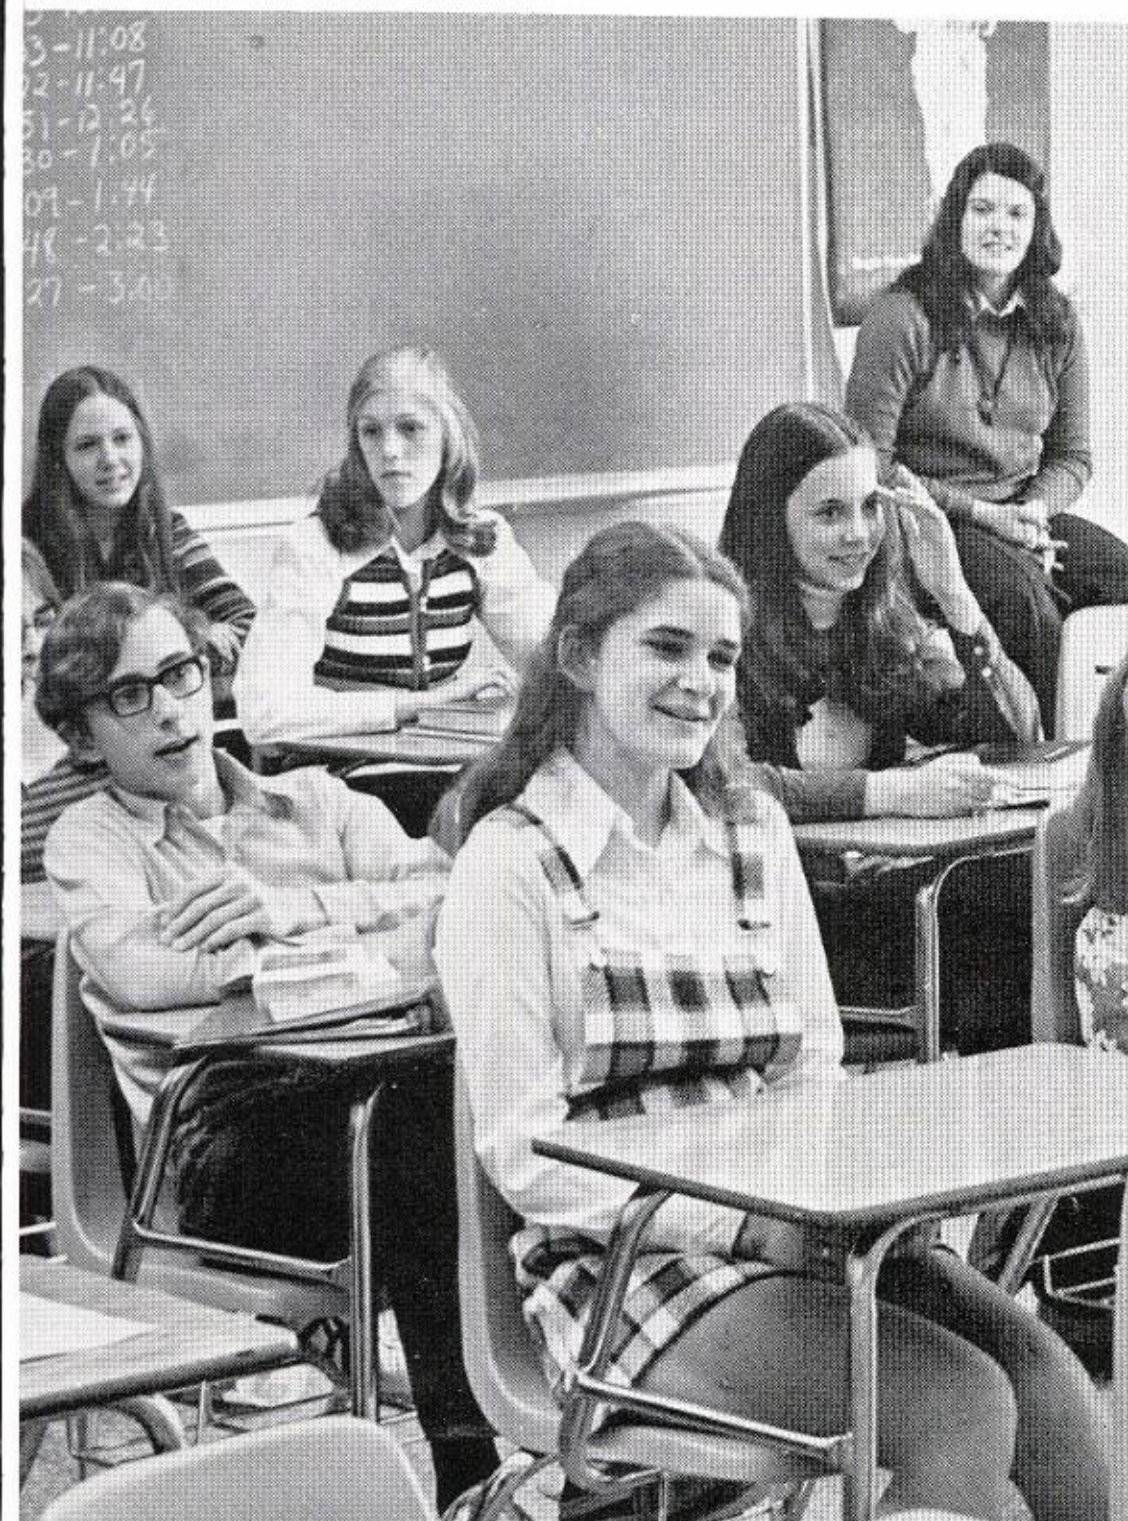

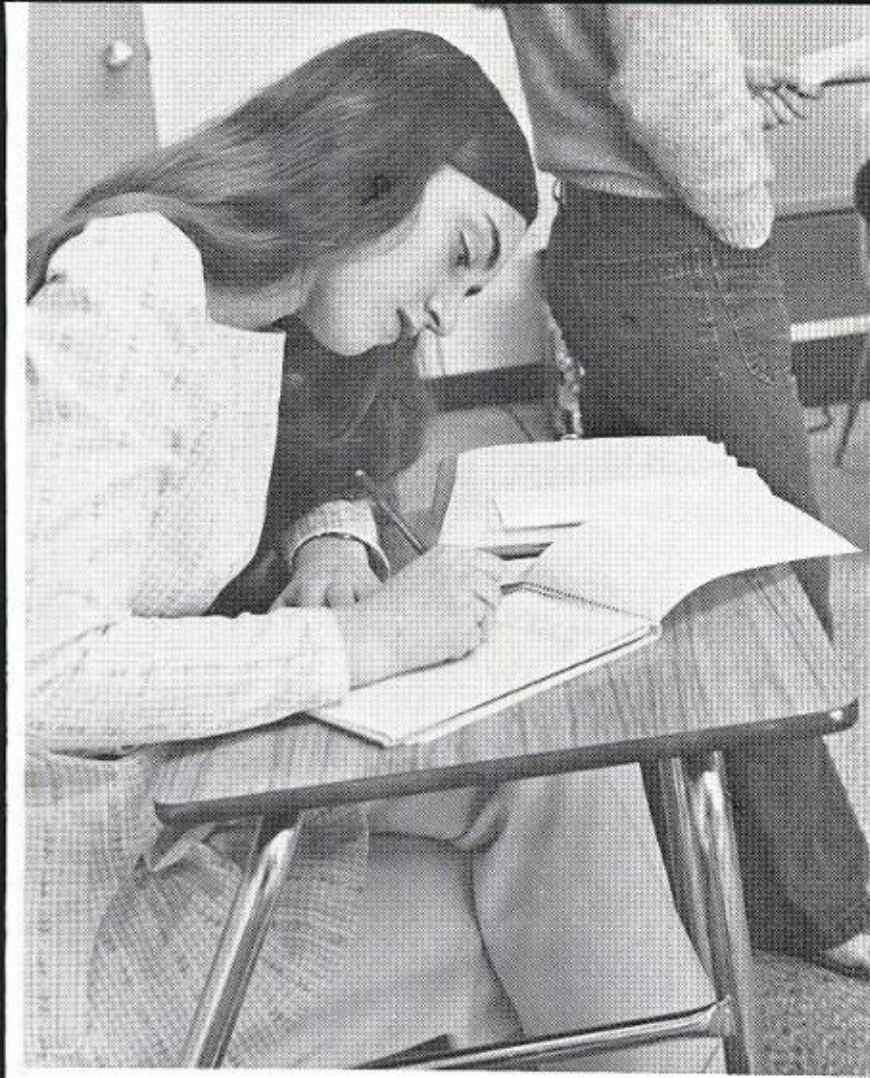

Now it seems I'm alone
A myriad of colors about me
Nowhere I would rather be
Than in the dark shadow of this entire forest
While the orange sunset is between the trees
I pray one thing to take along when I leave
That my entire life be lived
To the peaceful sound of the rustling autumn leaves.

Student Government

The 1972-73 student assembly consisted of twenty-five student members and ten teachers.

They discussed and passed several bills throughout the year. Some of these concerns were adding two senior boys to the rally, electing class councils, and the resolution of the open campus. The class councils proved to be a success and accomplished many activities. The members were chosen by elections in the English classes.

The open campus issue had a poll among the students and the resolution was sent to the School Board to be approved. The resolution read as follows: Be it resolved by the Lakeridge assembly that open campus for seniors, after fifth period, with parental permission, be allowed at Lakeridge High School.

Meetings were called once a week. Next year the 1973-74 assembly will meet every day seventh period. They will continue using the committees for culture, programs, athletics, the budget, and miscellaneous items.

Frosh Football

With 55 boys, three coaches and lots of enthusiasm, the 1972 frosh football season began. With such a large turnout, it was necessary to divide the team into two squads, allowing everyone more field time.

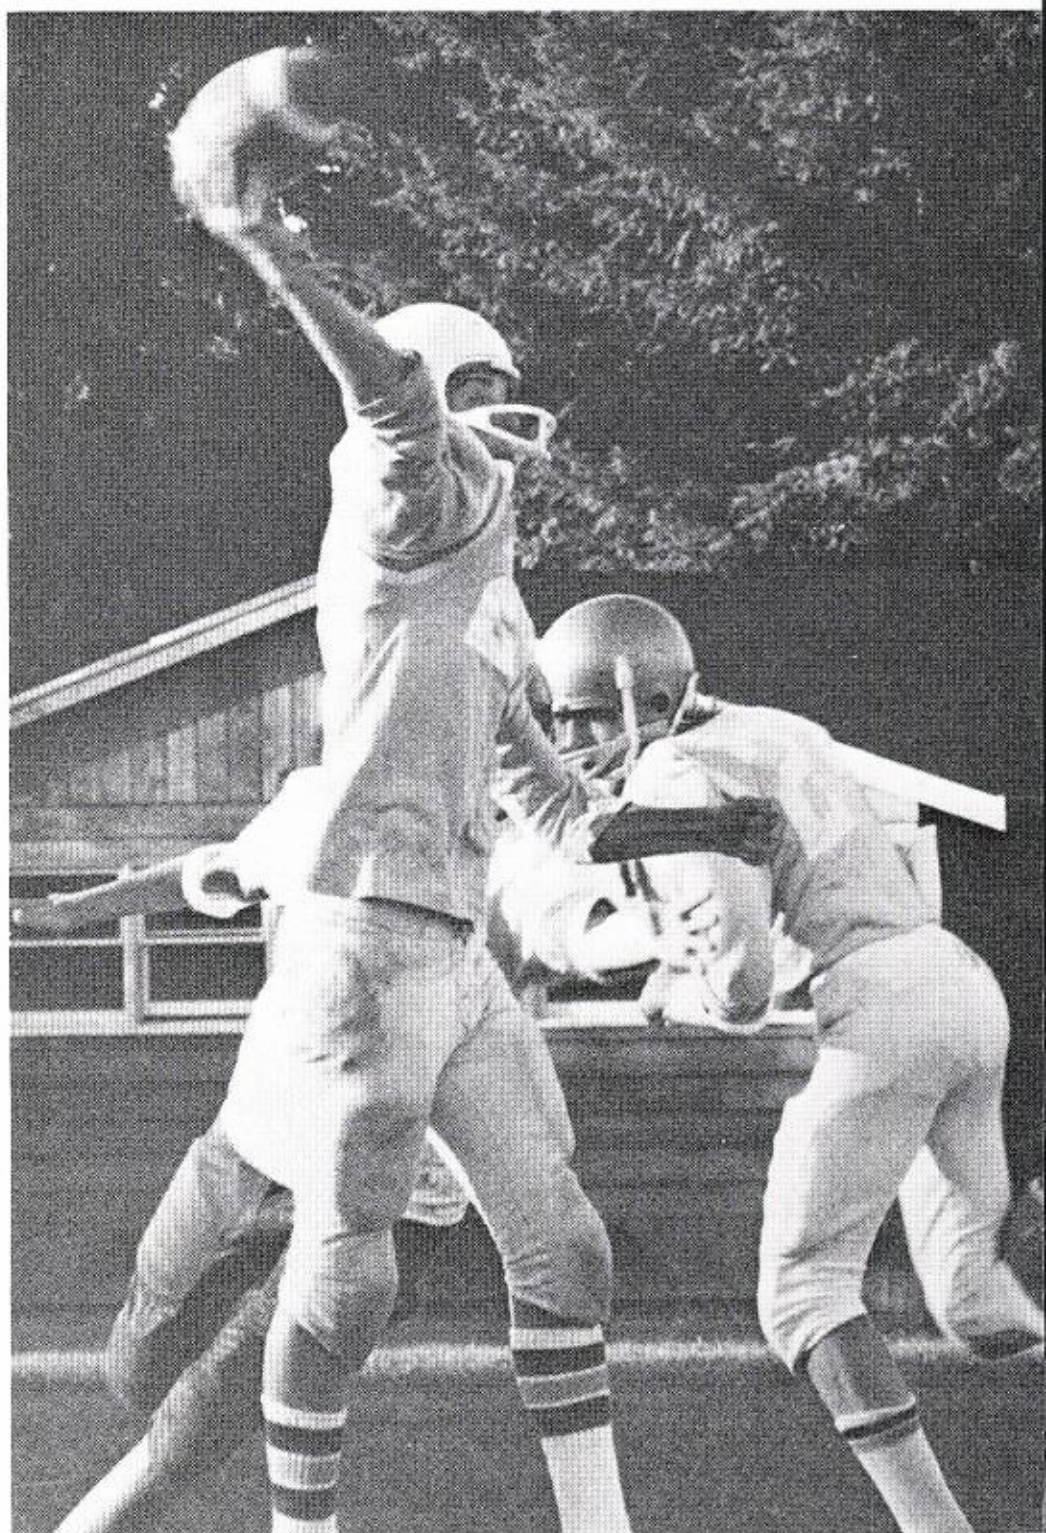

The A squad, coached by Mr. John Sanders and Mr. Jim Cooke, had a good season winning five of their seven games. For a frosh team they played all games well but were unable to beat West Linn and Putnam.

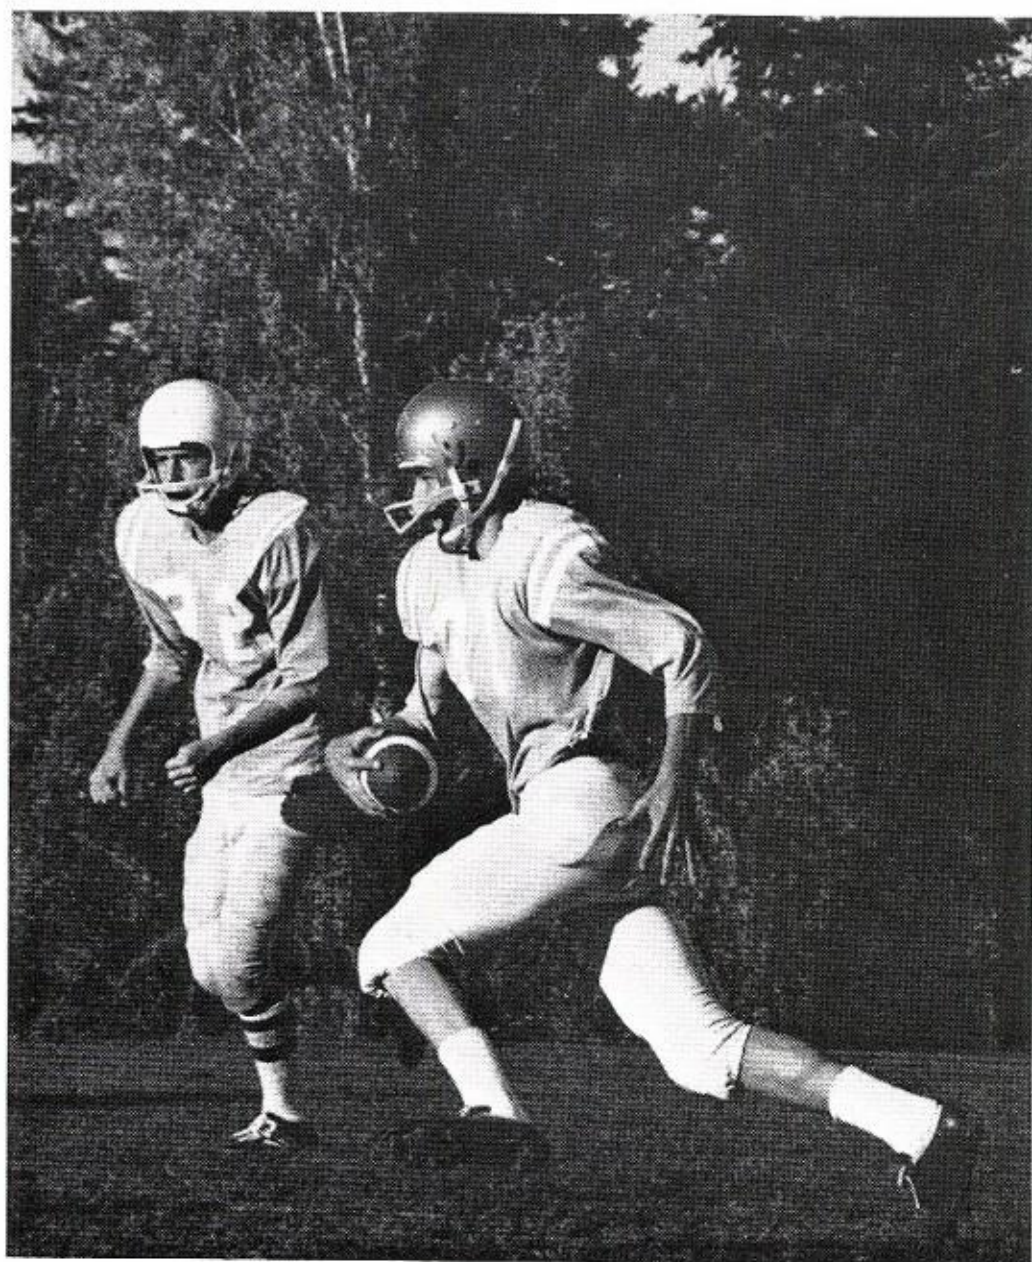

Mr. Dick Post with Jim Cooke's help handled the B squad. B squad had a rough time of it, only scoring twice during the season.

Team managers were Pete Scrogan and Don Rohrbacker. Their jobs were to take care of equipment, preparing uniforms for practice and games, and general organization of the team.

The season came to a close with an awards banquet attended by frosh, JV and varsity team members.

Frosh Rally

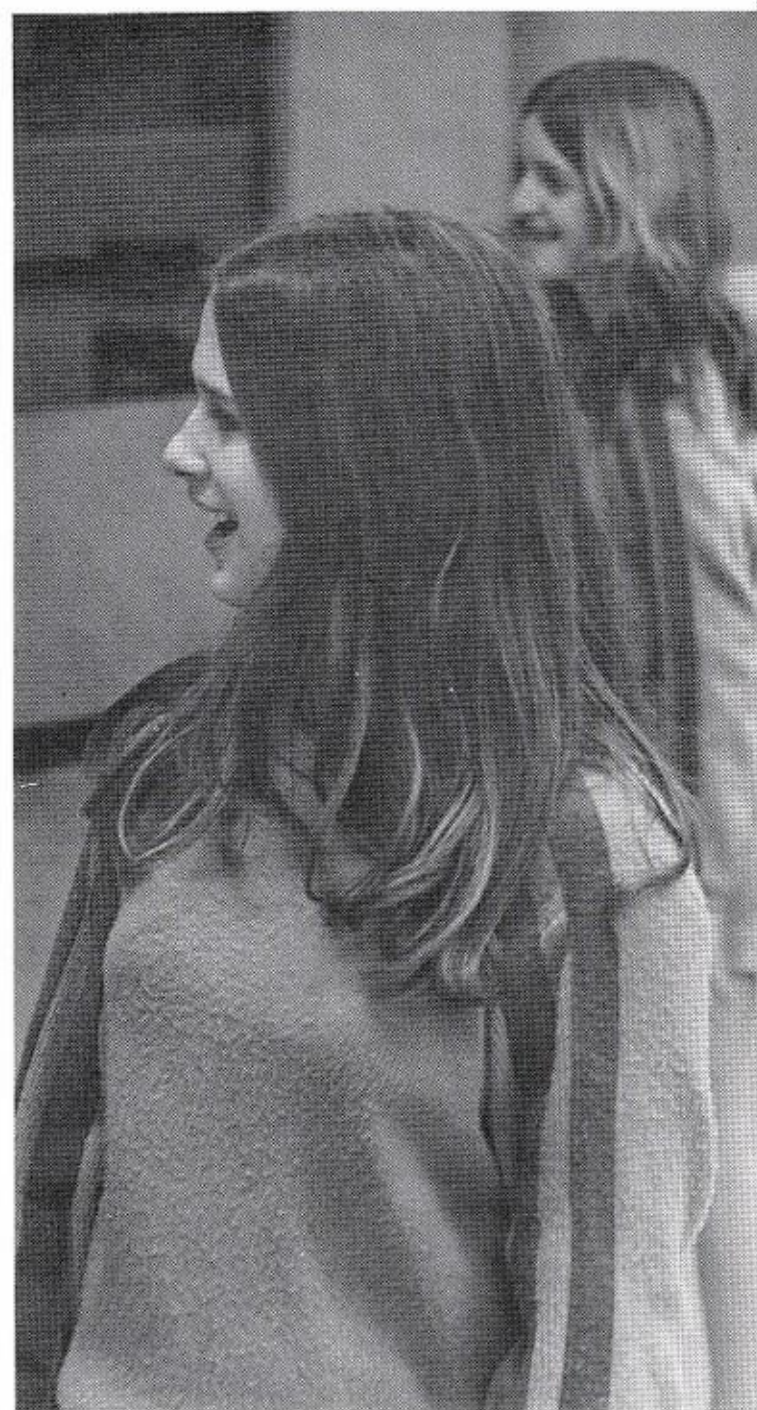

The freshman rally for 1972-73 was selected in a different manner than previous rallies. A panel consisting of rally girls, teachers, and members of the Athletic Commission chose the rally in a closed session. Not only did the girls have to look good cheering, but they had to write an essay telling why they wanted to be on rally and give some good ideas for pep assemblies.

When the judging was completed, the freshman rally turned out to be Barbara Haneline, Debbie Keller, Karen MacDonell, Janet Poort, Katy Smyth, and Sue Stark.

They didn't have an easy time. Learning cheers wasn't easy, especially with only one week to learn them. But help from the JV and varsity rallies and a lot of hard work pulled them through.

JV Rally

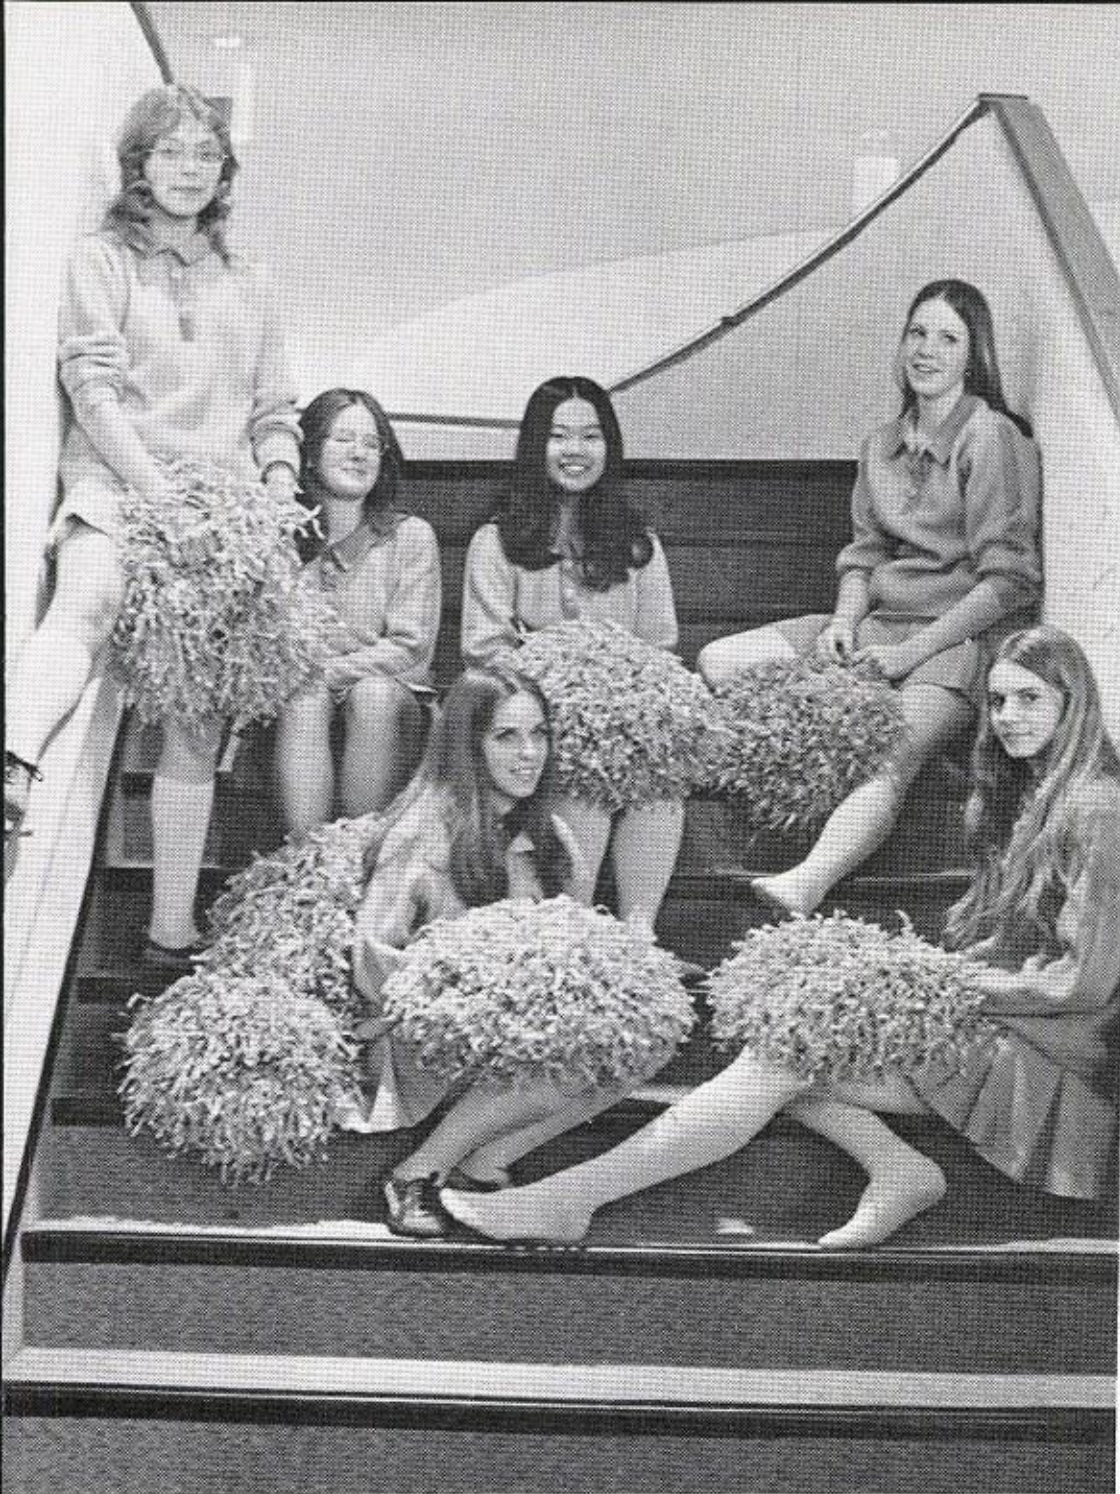

Rally tryouts during May Week of 1972 gave us a dedicated, hardworking Junior Varsity Rally. The girls chosen were Sharon Carver, Sue Massinger, Anne Meurlott, Ruth Seid, Debbie Shappell, and Lindy Trappe. These girls were our JV Rally for the 1972-73 school year.

The JV Rally gave the junior varsity teams much support throughout the school year. On any day, they could be seen in the graphic arts area painting signs for walls and lockers to get up team spirit and encourage participation at games.

Some of the things they did during the year were making and giving refreshments to the players after games and holding a luncheon for the football team. At the fall awards assembly they served refreshments.

The Junior Varsity Rally practiced every day, gave the teams a lot of support, and cheered them on. What did they think of it? According to Debbie Shappell "it was worth it, because I had fun and showed school spirit. I loved every minute of it."

JV Football

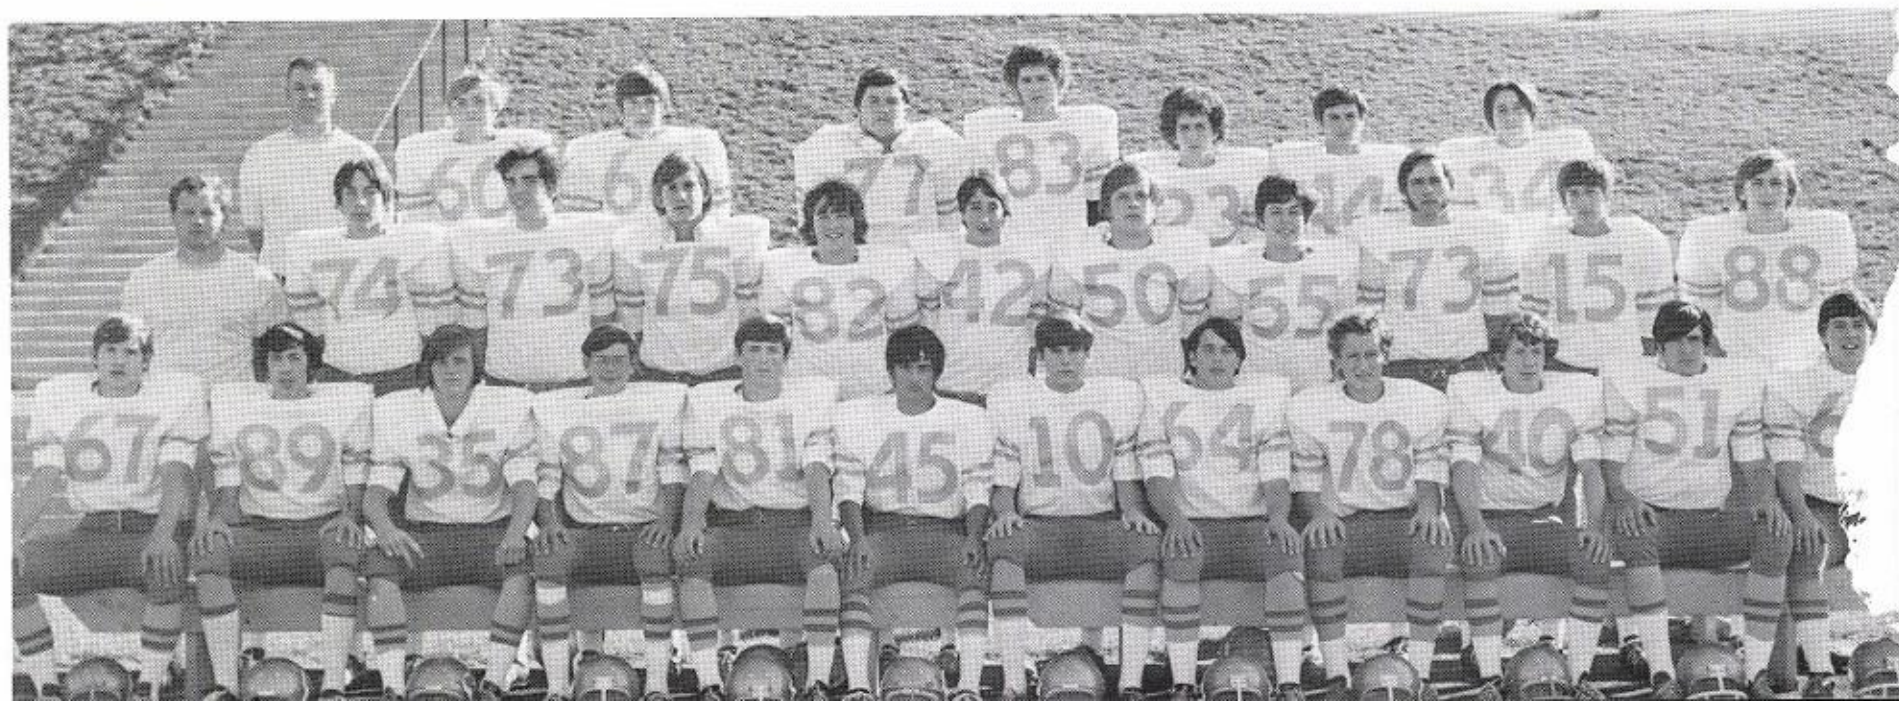

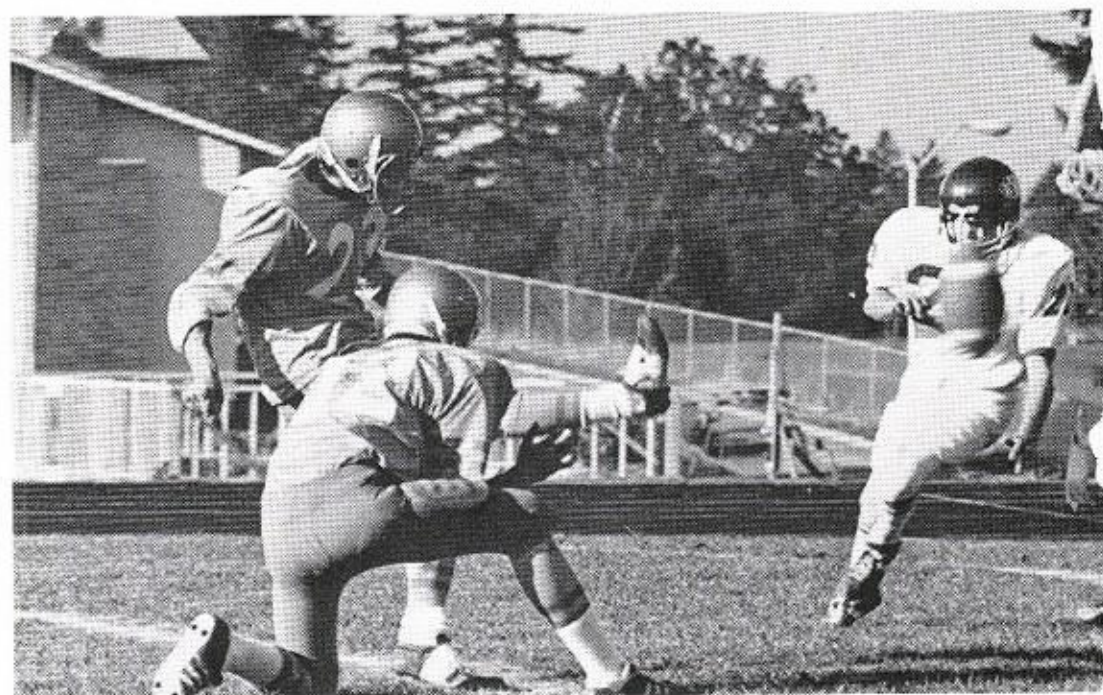

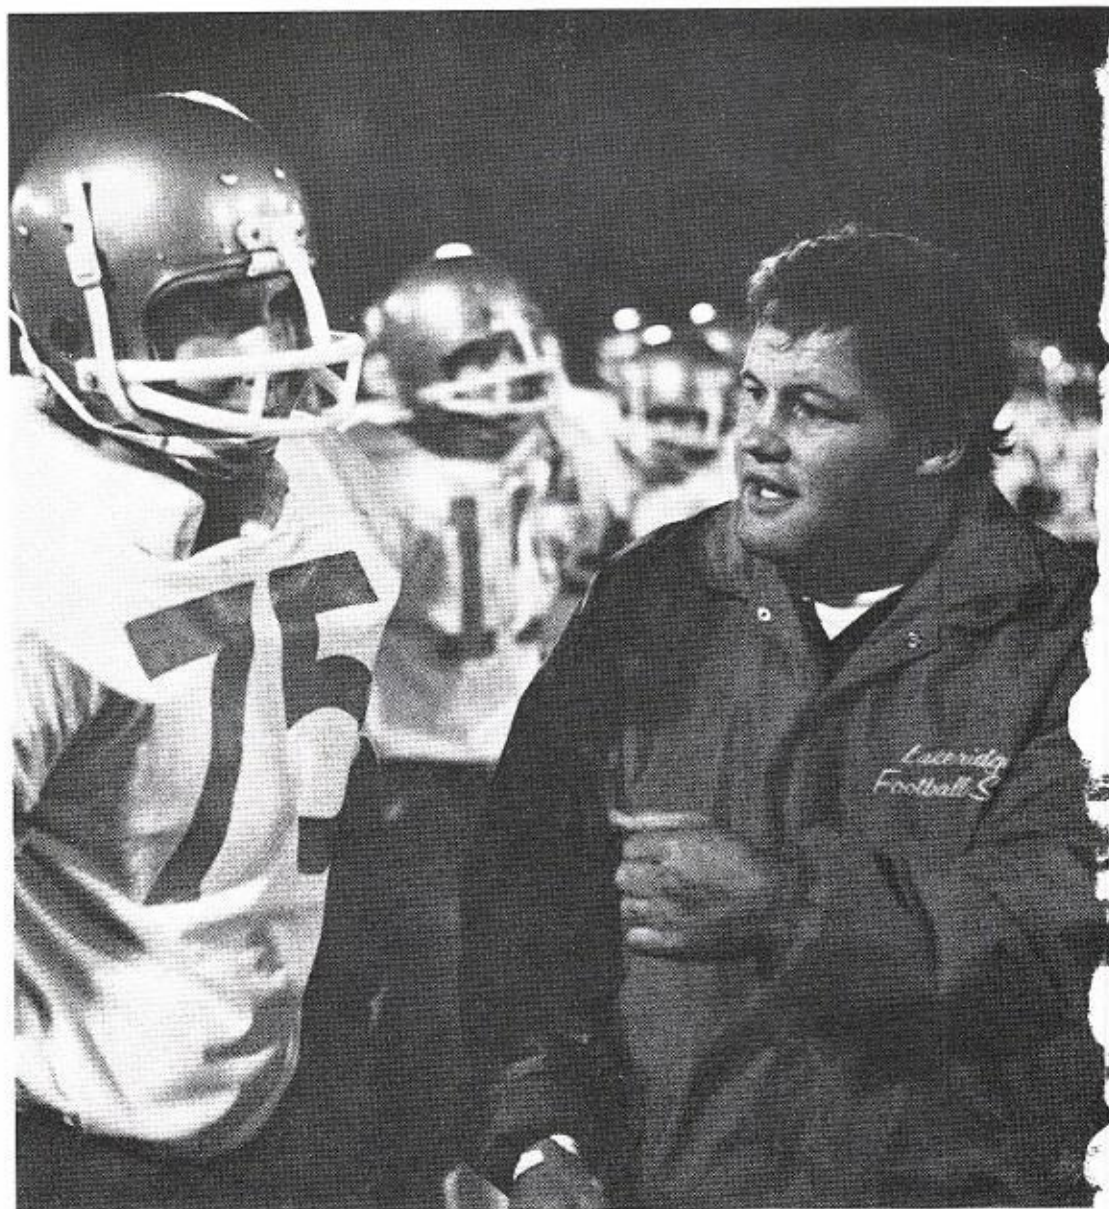

Led by an experienced coaching staff, including one newcomer, the Lakeridge JV football team rolled up a four win, five loss record. The Pacer wins came in close contests against Hood River and Tigard. Barlow and cross-town rival Lake Oswego were forced to forfeit because of a lack of team members.

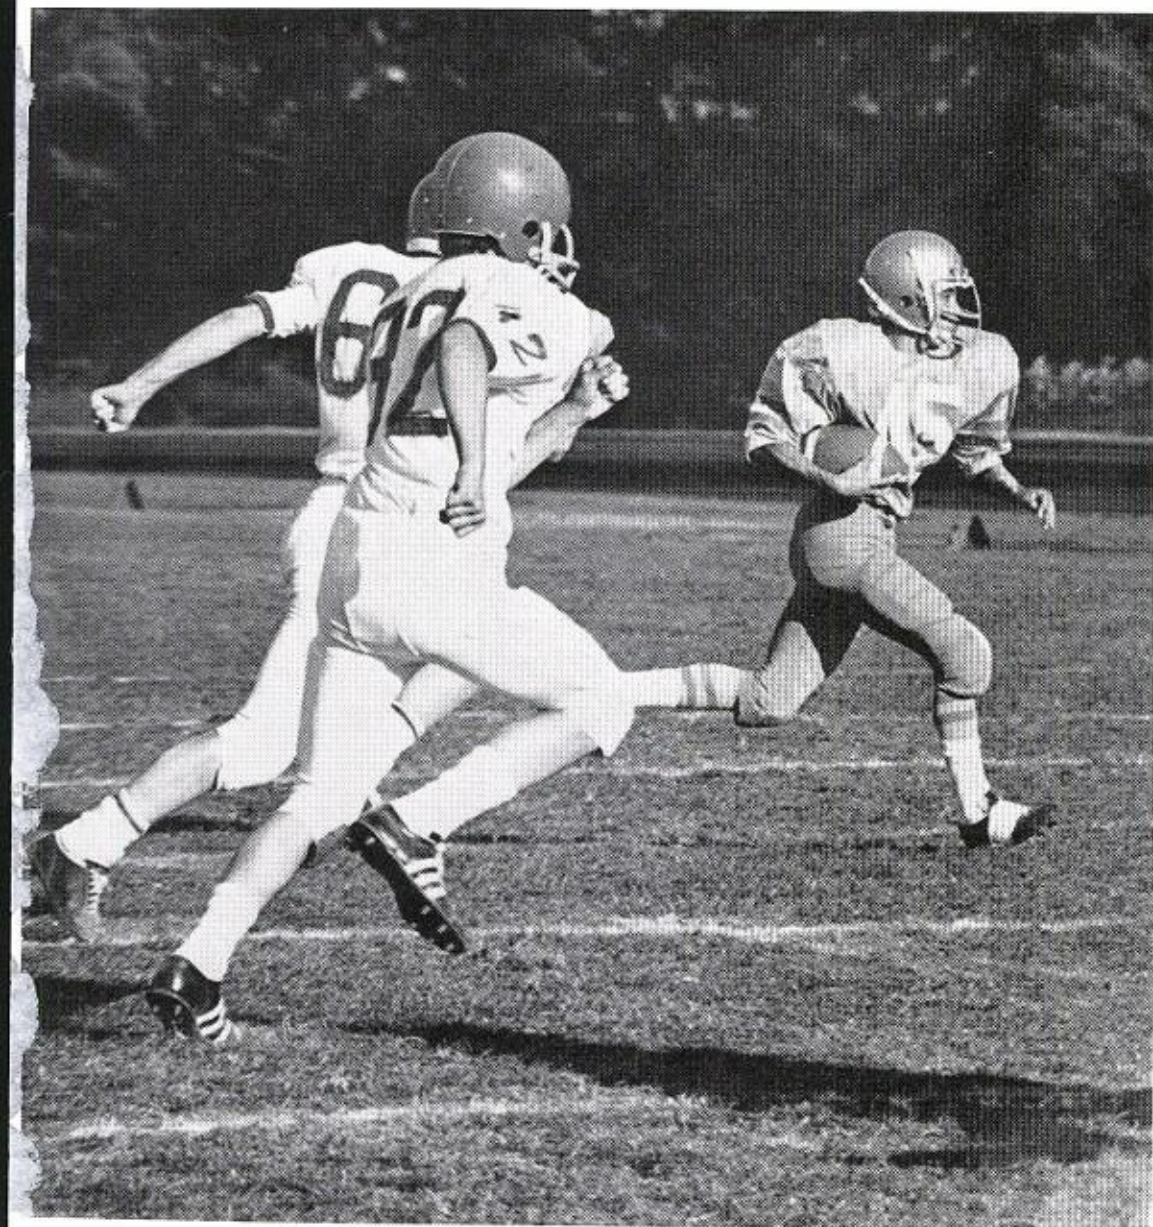

Head Coach Jerry Grossen was aided by Royce McDaniel and Jim Cooke. McDaniel, coming from Tigard, was a welcome addition to the Pacer staff.

The Pacers led off the season with two victories over Tigard and Hood River. Running back Josh Kaufman led the team in overall scoring. Kaufman was aided by the blocking of his backfield mate Jeff Smith. Quarterback Tracy Howard added his passing arm to the thrust of a powerful offense. Howard's main targets were sophomore end Dave Gellos and powerful junior Buck Wise. The offensive line was anchored by standouts Todd Spencer, John Cobb, and Craig Wagner.

However good the offense was, the defense was equally impressive. Defensive linebackers Mike Stevens and Chuck Sauvain both compiled outstanding statistics in the tackling department. The Lakeridge strong point was at end. All Wilco opponents had the frustration of trying to run against defensive ends Ken Martin and Steve Black, both sophomores. Mike Silcox and Jeff Bonnington teamed up to make a potent and speedy backfield.

After a tough season with both ups and downs, the JV team showed more than anything else, Promise. The JV team was made up of mainly sophomores who will return for two seasons.

Fall Rally

The six Fall Varsity Rally girls entered school faced with the problem of a deteriorating school spirit and a definite lack of interest in the rally squad. They came up with the following ideas for the football season:

For the big Lakeridge-Lake Oswego game the rally sponsored a "Return to the 50's" day. Students, faculty, and rally dressed up in 50's style clothes and there was a contest for best dressed and for the best hair-style. The students all congregated to see the outcome of the contest in the gym.

They also boosted team moral by decorating houses at 4 a.m. Friday mornings, making locker signs for every player and supplying plenty of food after every game.

The season ended with the rally throwing a potluck dinner for the football team.

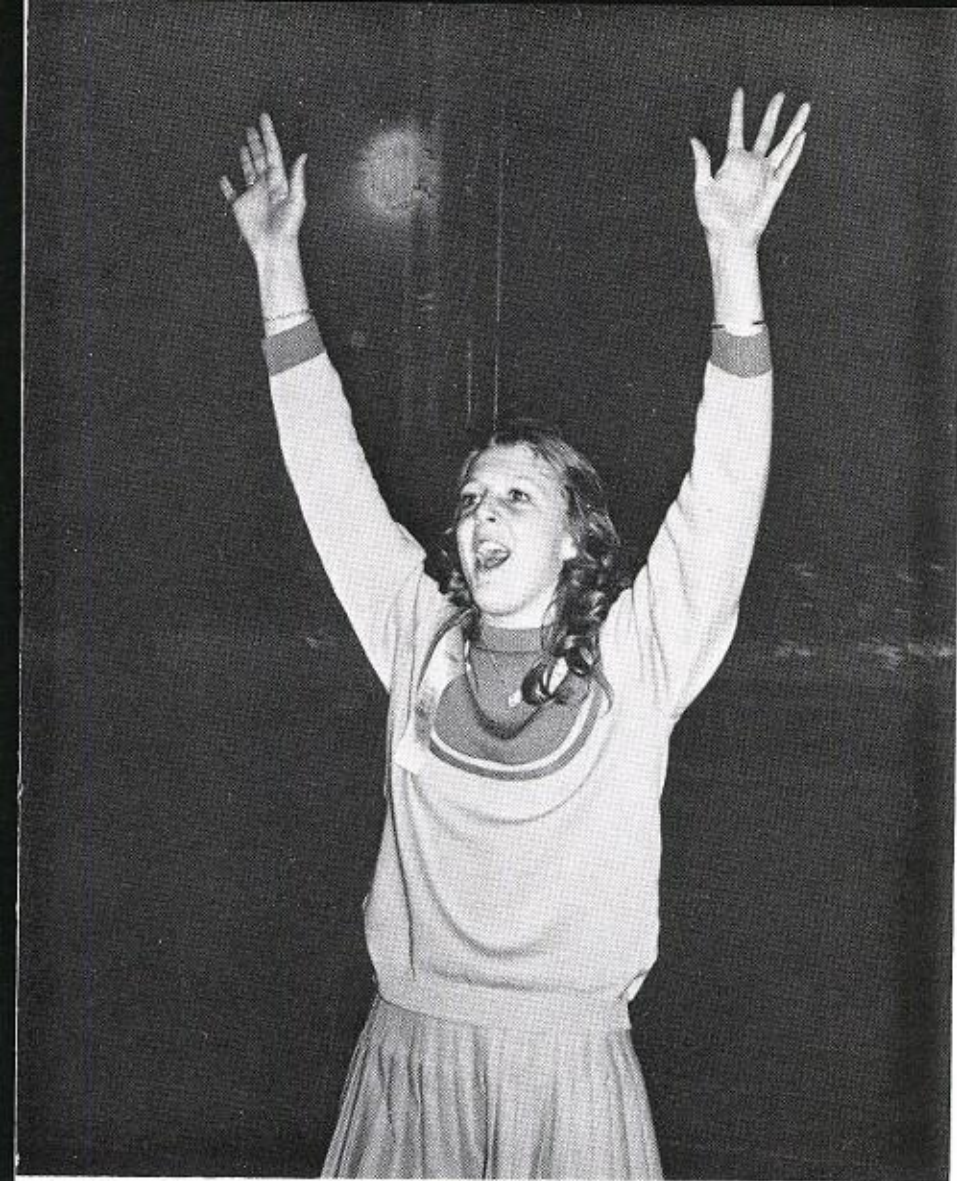

The encouragement and support they received from the student body and faculty was greatly appreciated.

Mary Jane Headlee, Julie Thomson, Laurie Hazen, Anne Jacobs, Joanne Kalberer and Wendy Sample comprised the Fall Rally. At the end of the first quarter Joanne moved and Debbie Dennis was her replacement. They were advised by Miss Jan Bailey.

Varsity Football

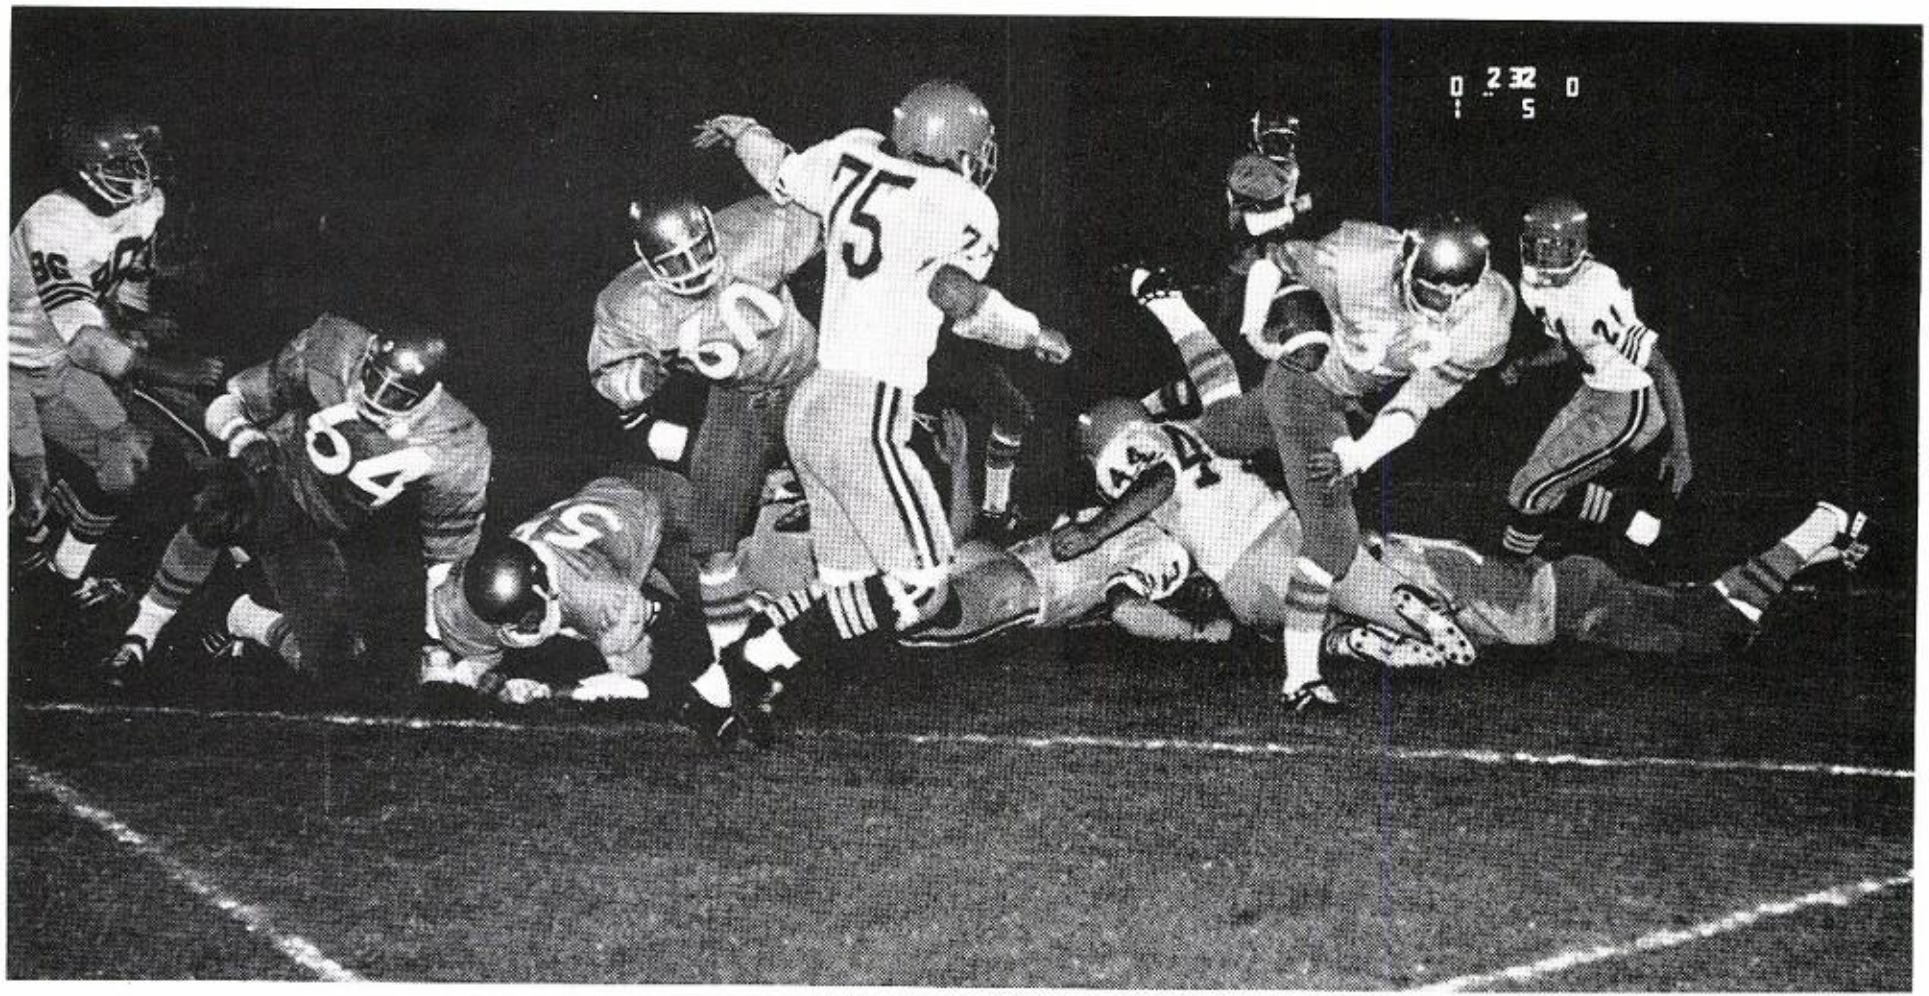

Coach Tom Smythe's varsity football team commanded the Willamette division of the Wilco League through the first six weeks of the season. The Pacers rode high on a 6-0 record and a 5th in the state ratings. This included a 28-6 victory over cross town rival Lake Oswego. But after being badly beaten by Milwaukie, the Pacers dropped the last two in close decisions to finish 6-3 and a disappointing third in their division.

The offensive team was led by all league quarterback John Piggot. When John wasn't throwing one of his 12 touchdown passes, he was handing off to either halfback Charlie Klever, fullback John Cleary, or tailback Terry Crabtree. The three backs combined for 20 touchdowns, and were, along with Piggot, the scoring power of the Pacers. The defense led by 2nd team all state back Terry Crabtree taught opponents that it wasn't easy to score touchdowns against Lakeridge.

The season is over but the future looks bright with the entire 22 man standing lineup, minus four, returning next year. With the experience of the players and a little luck, Coaches Tom Smythe, Jerry Grossen, and Royce McDaniels may have a title in 1973.

Cross Country

Although the '72 cross country season ended with a heartbreaking loss, it can only be remembered as a major triumph for Coach Keith Hurdstrom and his runners. The Pacers won 12 of 13 meets, with the one loss coming at the hands of the top-rated Centennial Eagles.

Consistently ahead of the pack for Lakeridge were Tony Keller and Tom Gleason. Gleason came on strong late in the season and took first in most of the later meets. But no team can win with only two star runners. In this category, Coach Hurdstrom was probably the strongest. Senior Jeff Jones, Juniors Steve Richardson, Jay Knab, Doug Voderberg and Vince Meurlotte teamed up with Sophomore ace Mike McGriff to make the Pacers virtually unbeatable during the season.

After finishing second at district, Lakeridge went to regionals favored to win. But Keller and Gleason, both sick, were unable to place high. The best the Pacers could do was finish third, with Wilco All-Star Mike McGriff taking fifth and Ken Robinette coming in the top ten.

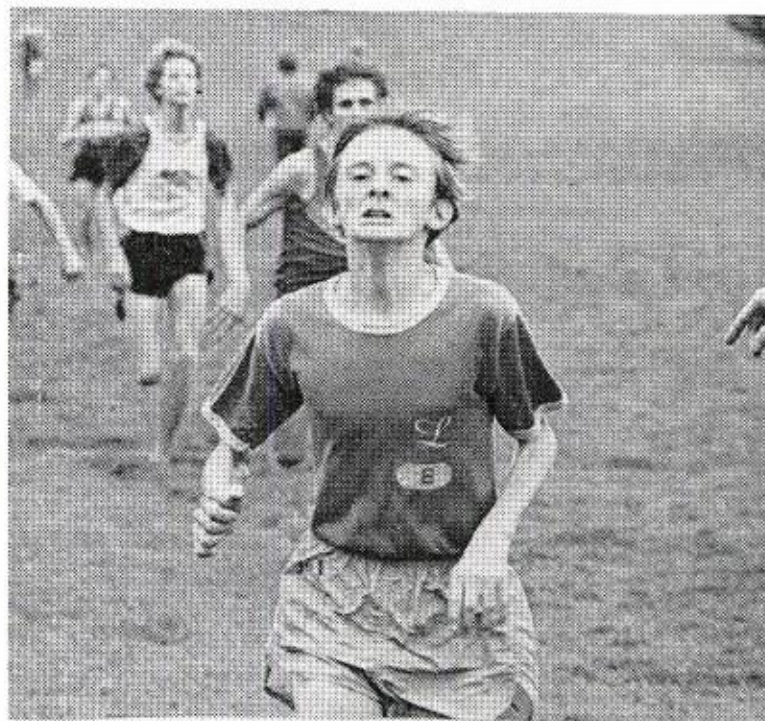

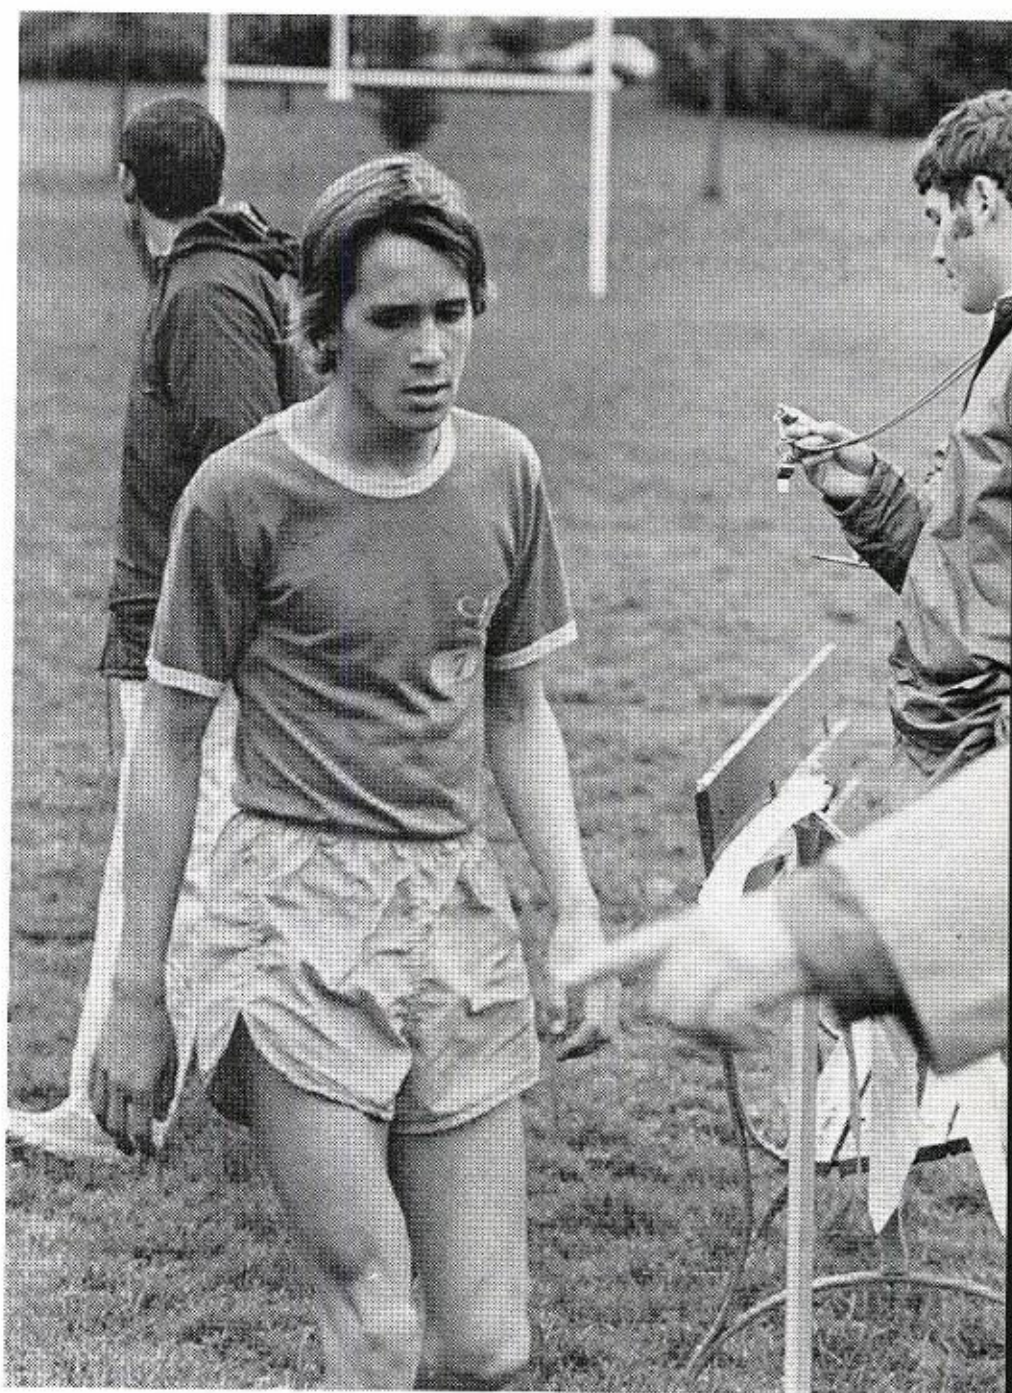

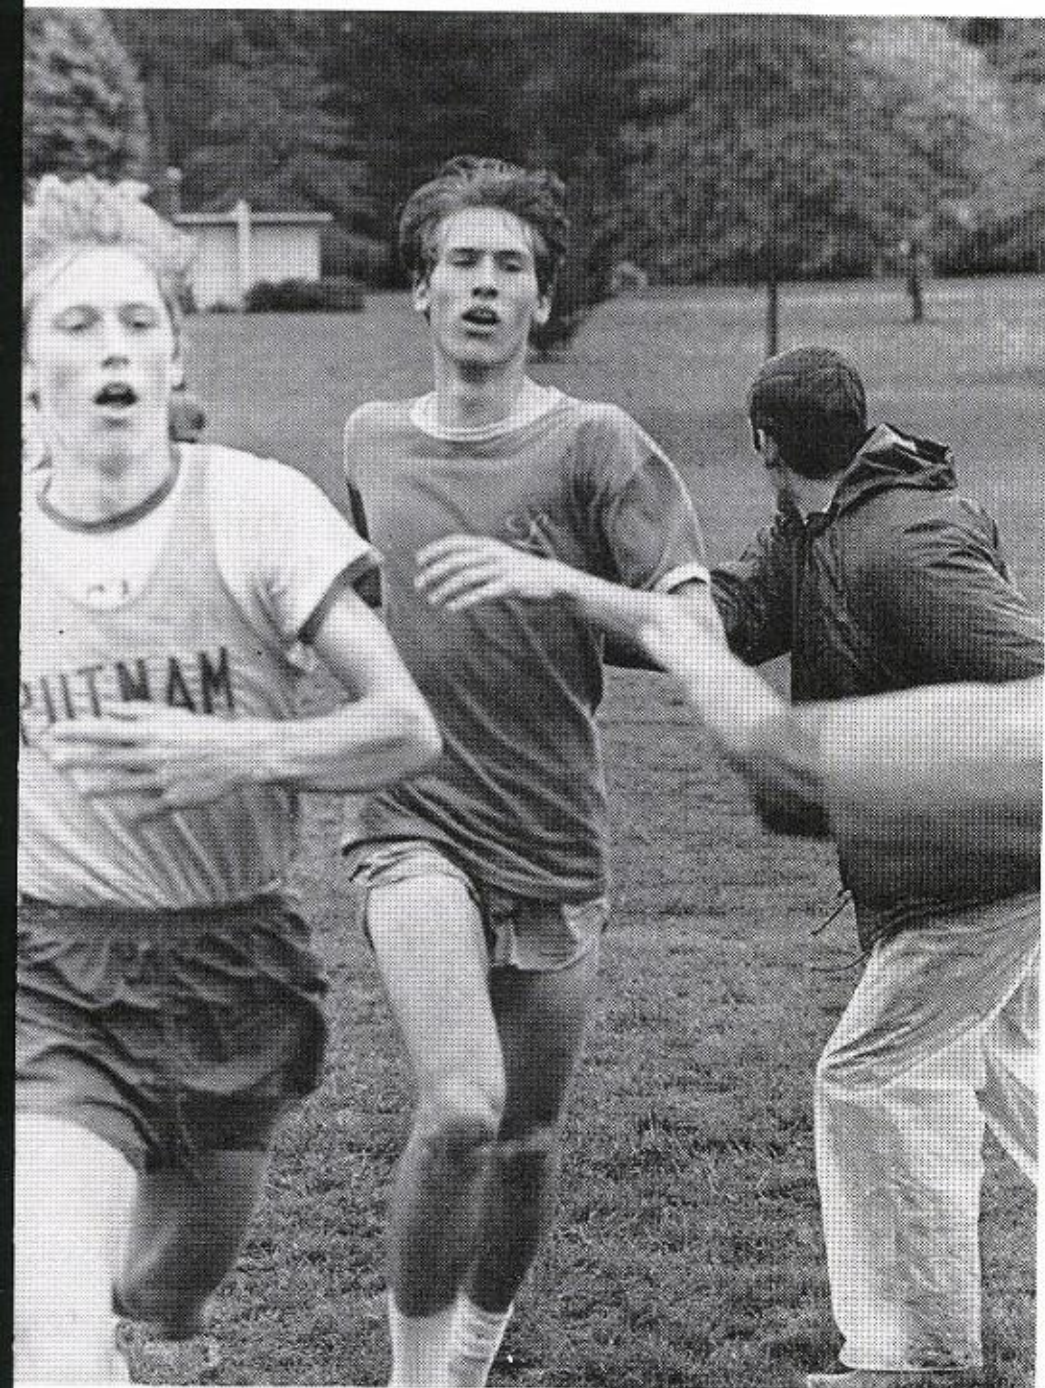

It was a fine second year for Coach Hurdstrom. In addition to building a record that will be hard to break, he placed five runners in the league all-stars. Robinette, Richardson, Gleason, and McGriff will be returning with only Tony Keller lost to graduation.

Boys' Swim Team

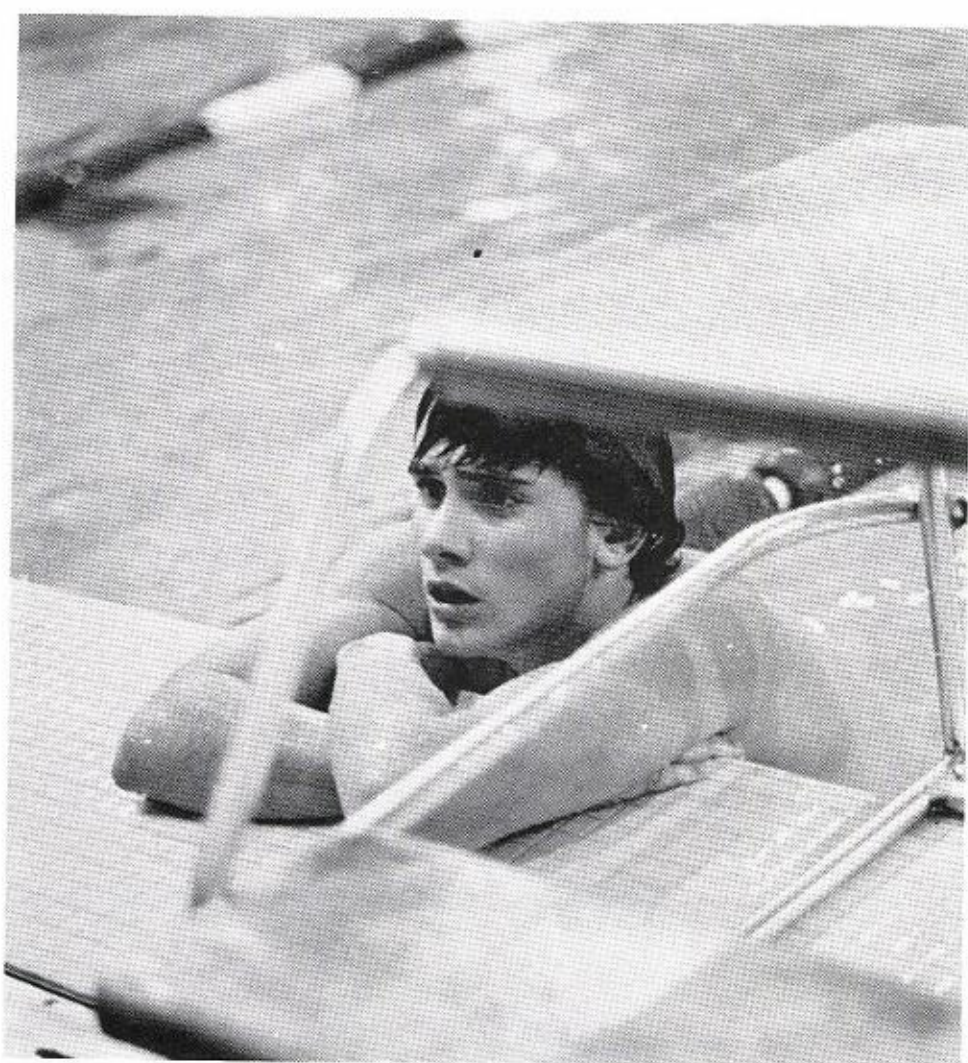

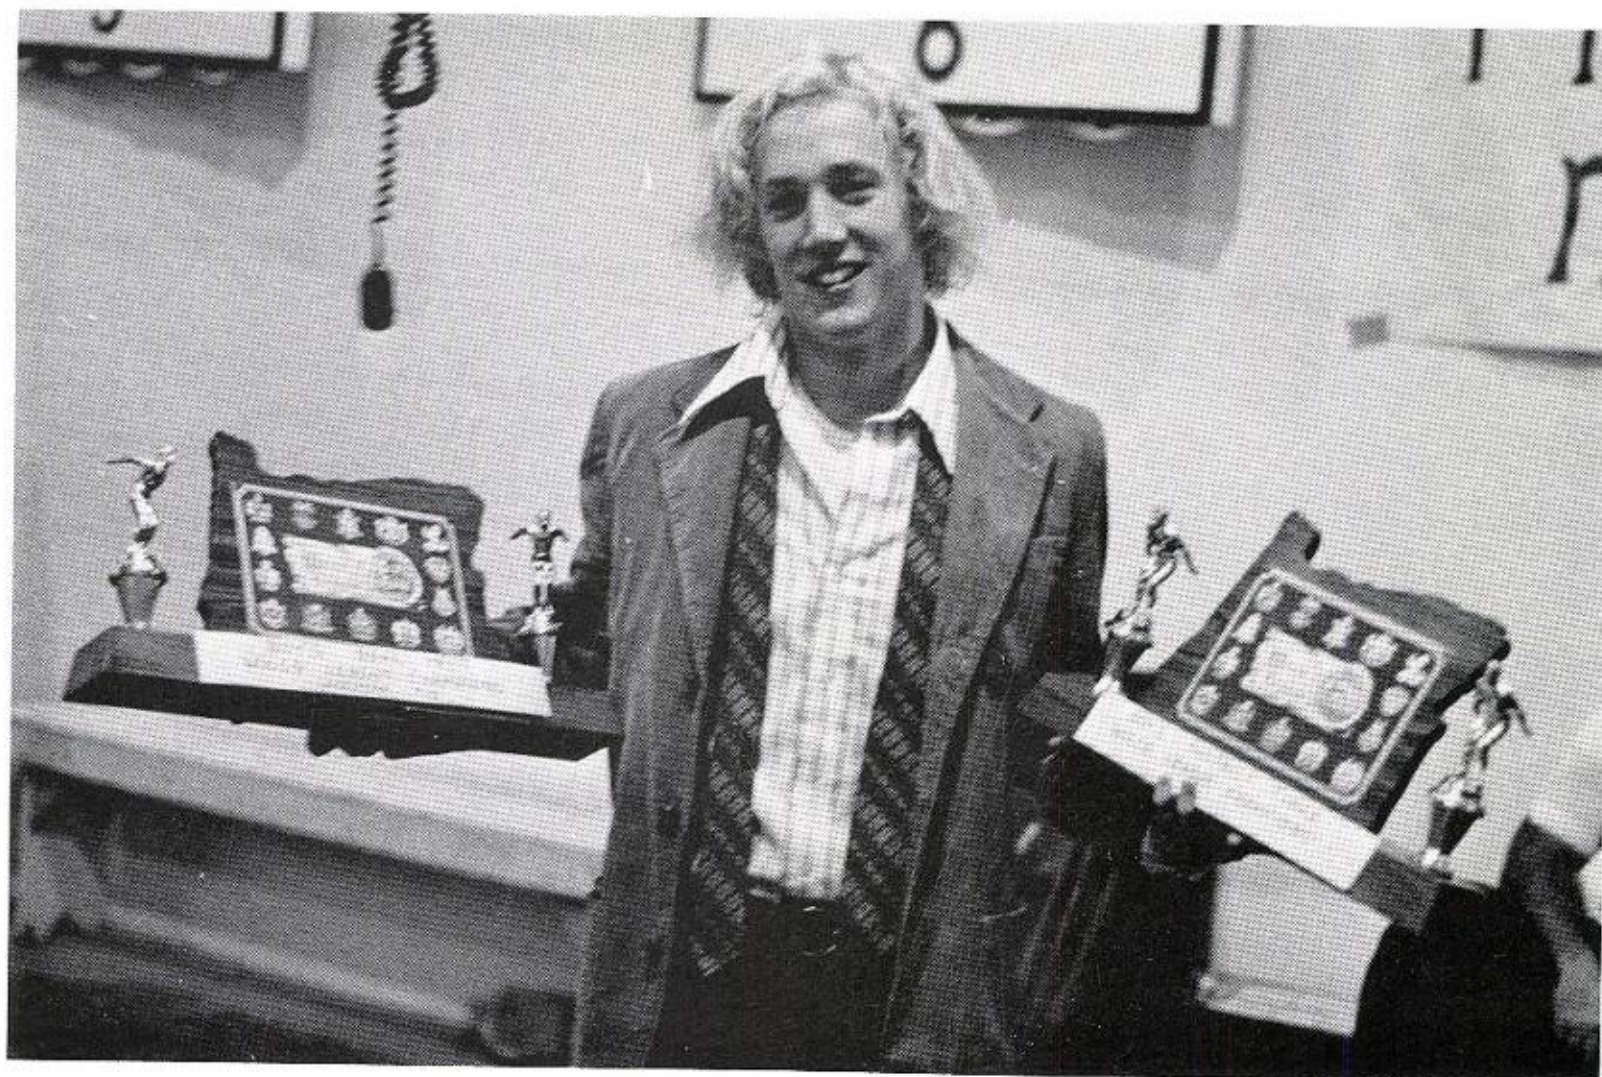

This year's boys' swim team had an excellent season. They showed their overwhelming power and strength by finishing the season undefeated. The team went on to take a first in district and then it was on to state.

Those qualifying to swim in the state meet were Brad Pickens, Rick Cook, Phil Small, Jeff Flemming, Kevin Karcher and Gary Levine. Paul McTiernan and Dave Curtis traveled to Eugene with the other swimmers as alternates. The team really came on strong at the meet and placed fourth.

Mrs. Billie Wallace and Mr. Jim Jamieson coached the team through a fine season.

Girls' Swim Team

Enthusiasm and determination were generated by the girls' swim team this year. They put forth much energy in striving to do their best at every meet. The team worked out for an hour and a half each day, six days a week, as did the boys' swim team.

The girls' team finished the season with three wins and five losses and they placed fourth in district. Jan Gleason was the only girl swimmer who qualified for state. She placed first in the individual medley and second in the 100 butterfly, thus placing Lakeridge in state competition. Coaching the girls' team were Mrs. Billie Wallace and Mr. Jim Jamieson.

Fall Play

"Ransom of Red Chief" was the first play of the 72-73 school year. It was presented on October 26, 27, and 28. Success was due to the long rehearsals of the actors, careful planning of the technical chairmen, and the excellent direction of Mr. Ben Vose.

The advanced acting class was the chairman of costuming, make-up, sets, lighting, props and sound, while the Theatre Arts and Acting I classes helped while learning the new processes.

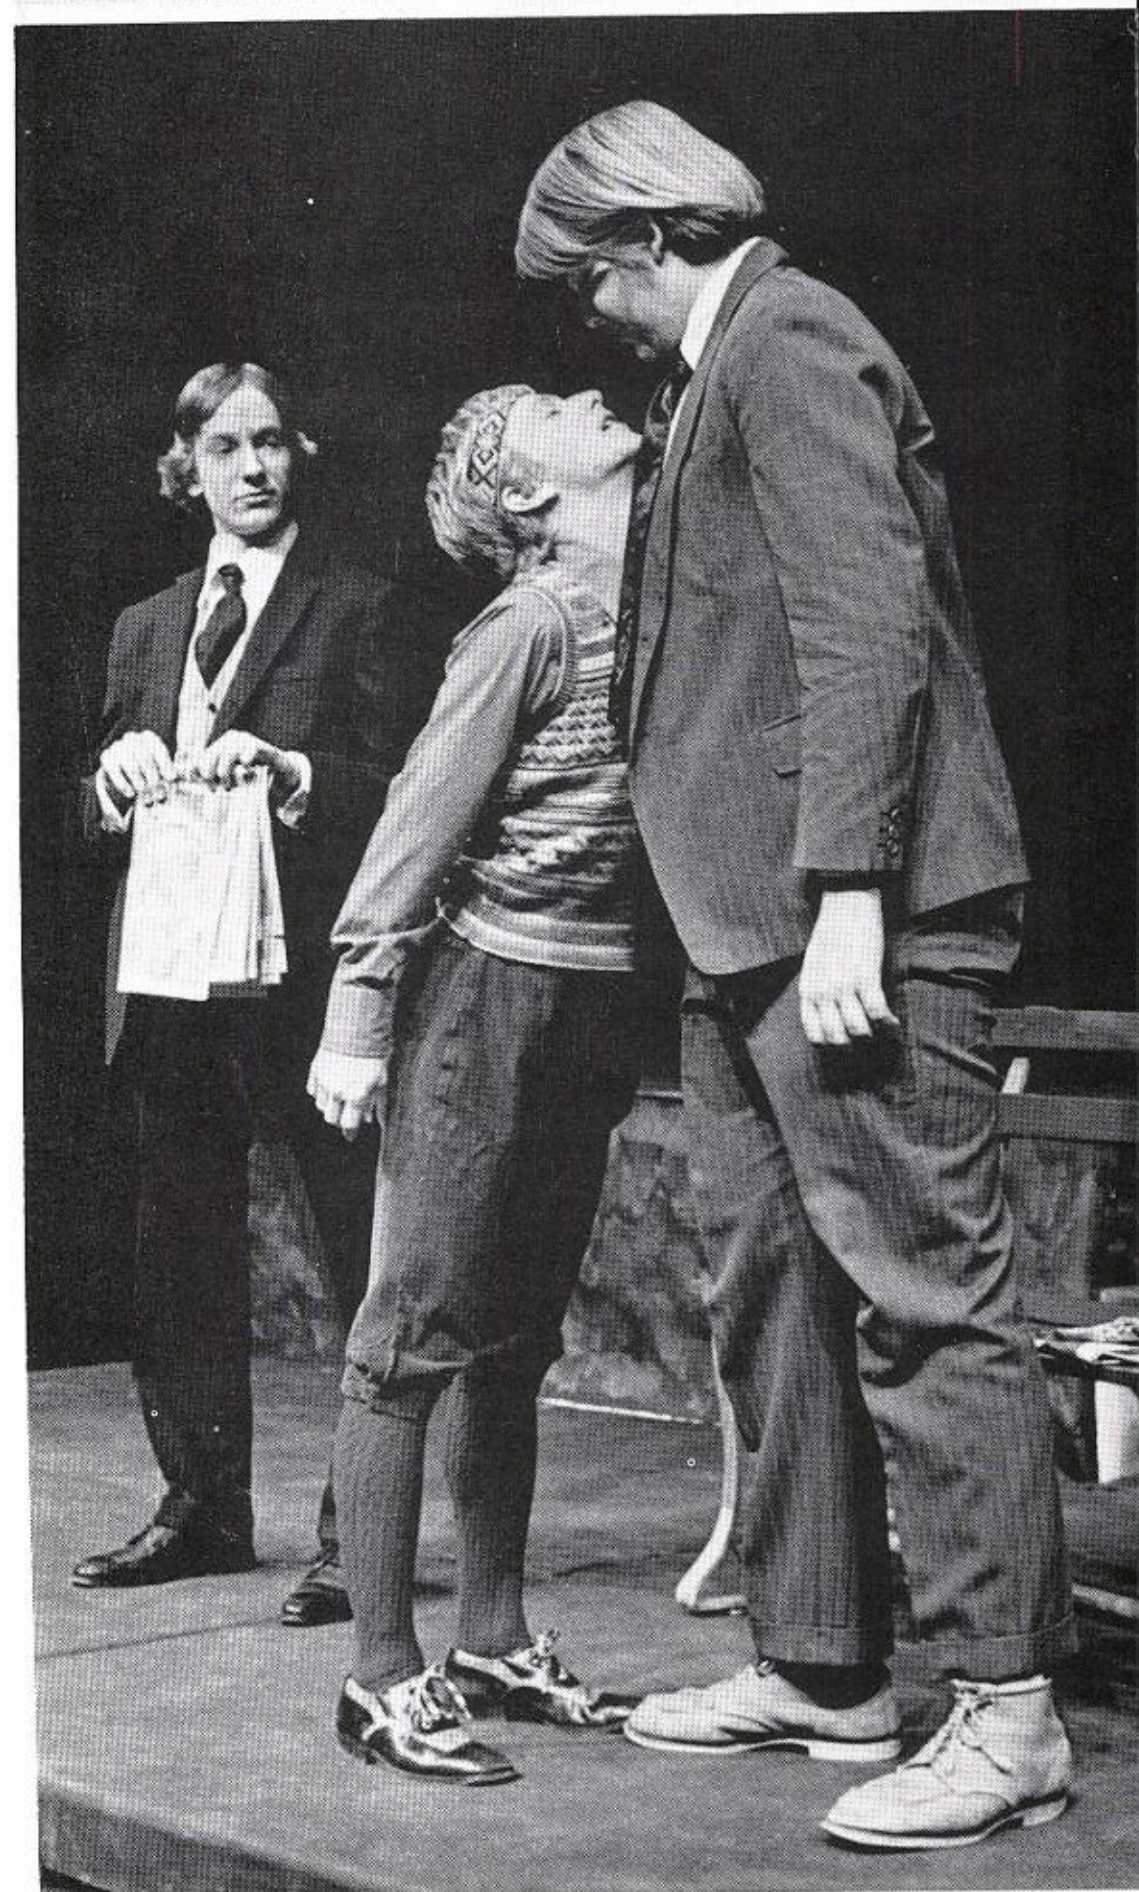

The plot of the play developed around the kidnapping of Red Chief, Ric Rease, by Bill and Sam, alias Scott Johnson and Mark Chamberlin. The plot thickens with further complications, but the crowning blow was the ransom note.

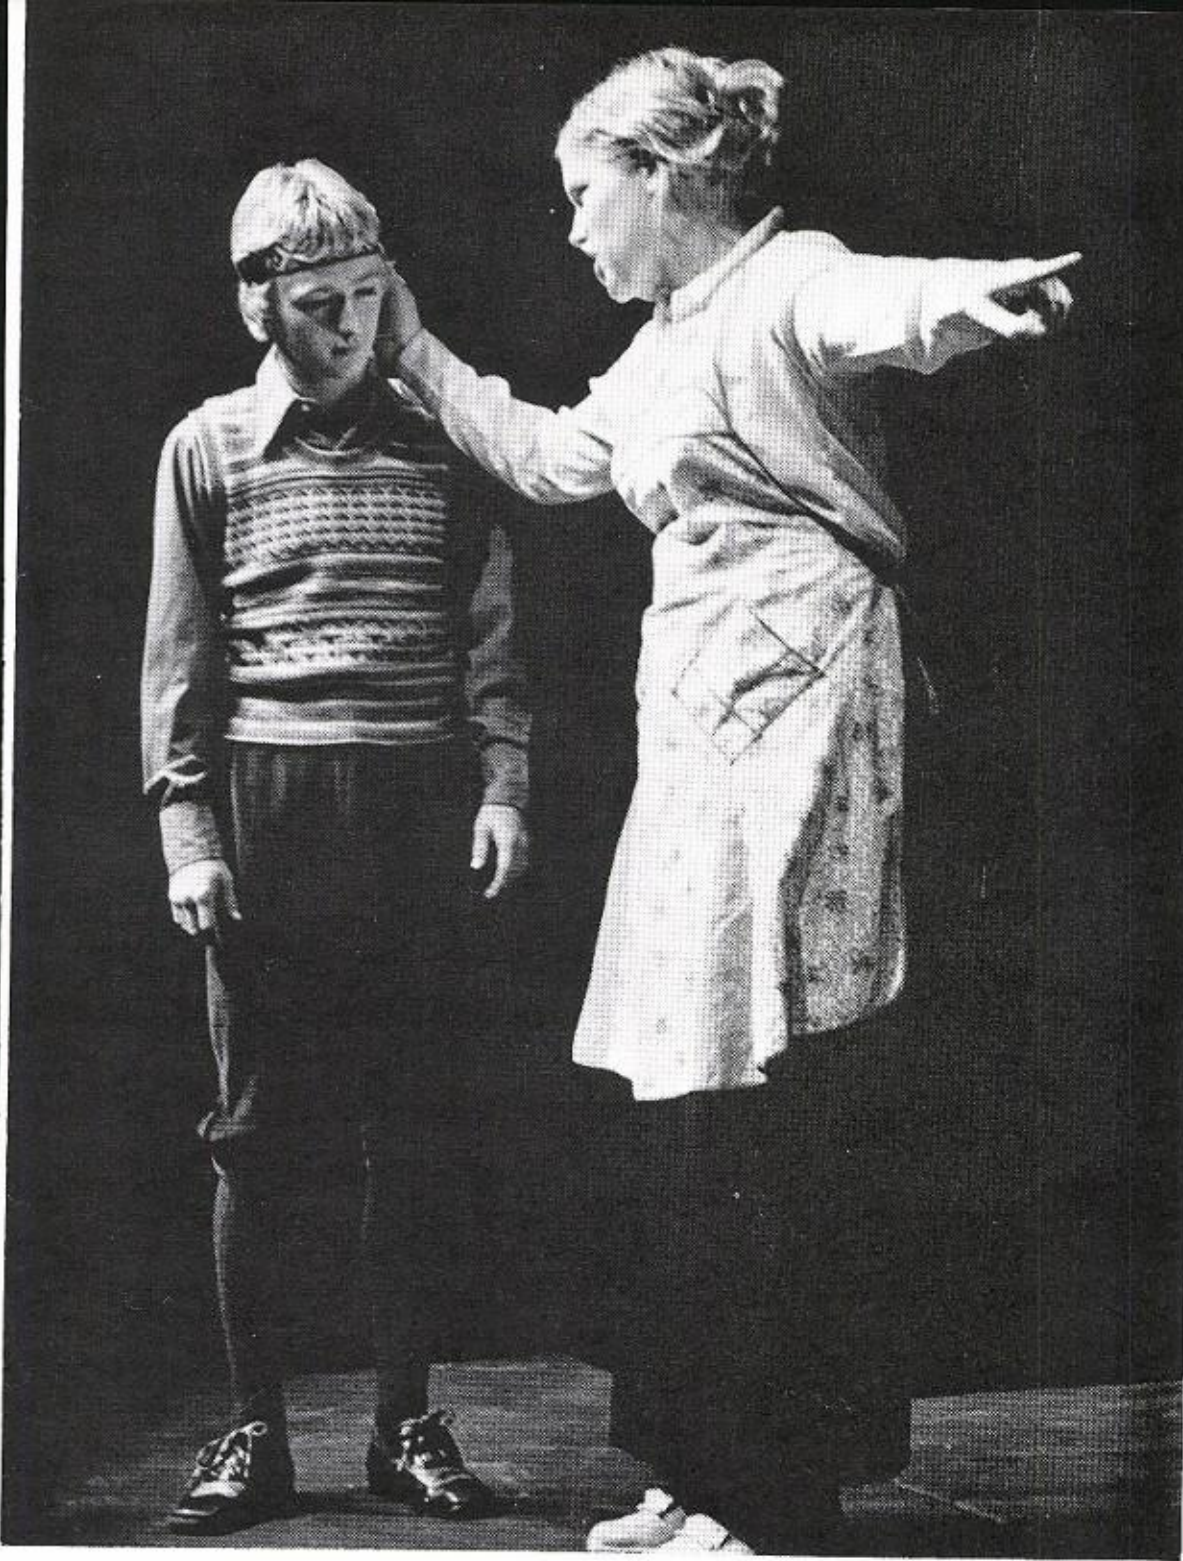

The note returned in the form of a proposition. This letter stated that Uncle Ebenezer would not take back his nephew unless they paid him two hundred dollars.

The story concludes with the kidnappers forced to pay their worldly sum of one hundred dollars plus numerous cuts and bruises received from Red Chief.

Soccer Club

A new activity to Lakeridge in 1972 was soccer, with a roster of nineteen players from all grade levels. The Soccer Club set out to start a new tradition at Lakeridge. Manuel Garcia, a Portland businessman, coached the club that Mr. Maurice Reece and Mr. George Sonera sponsored.

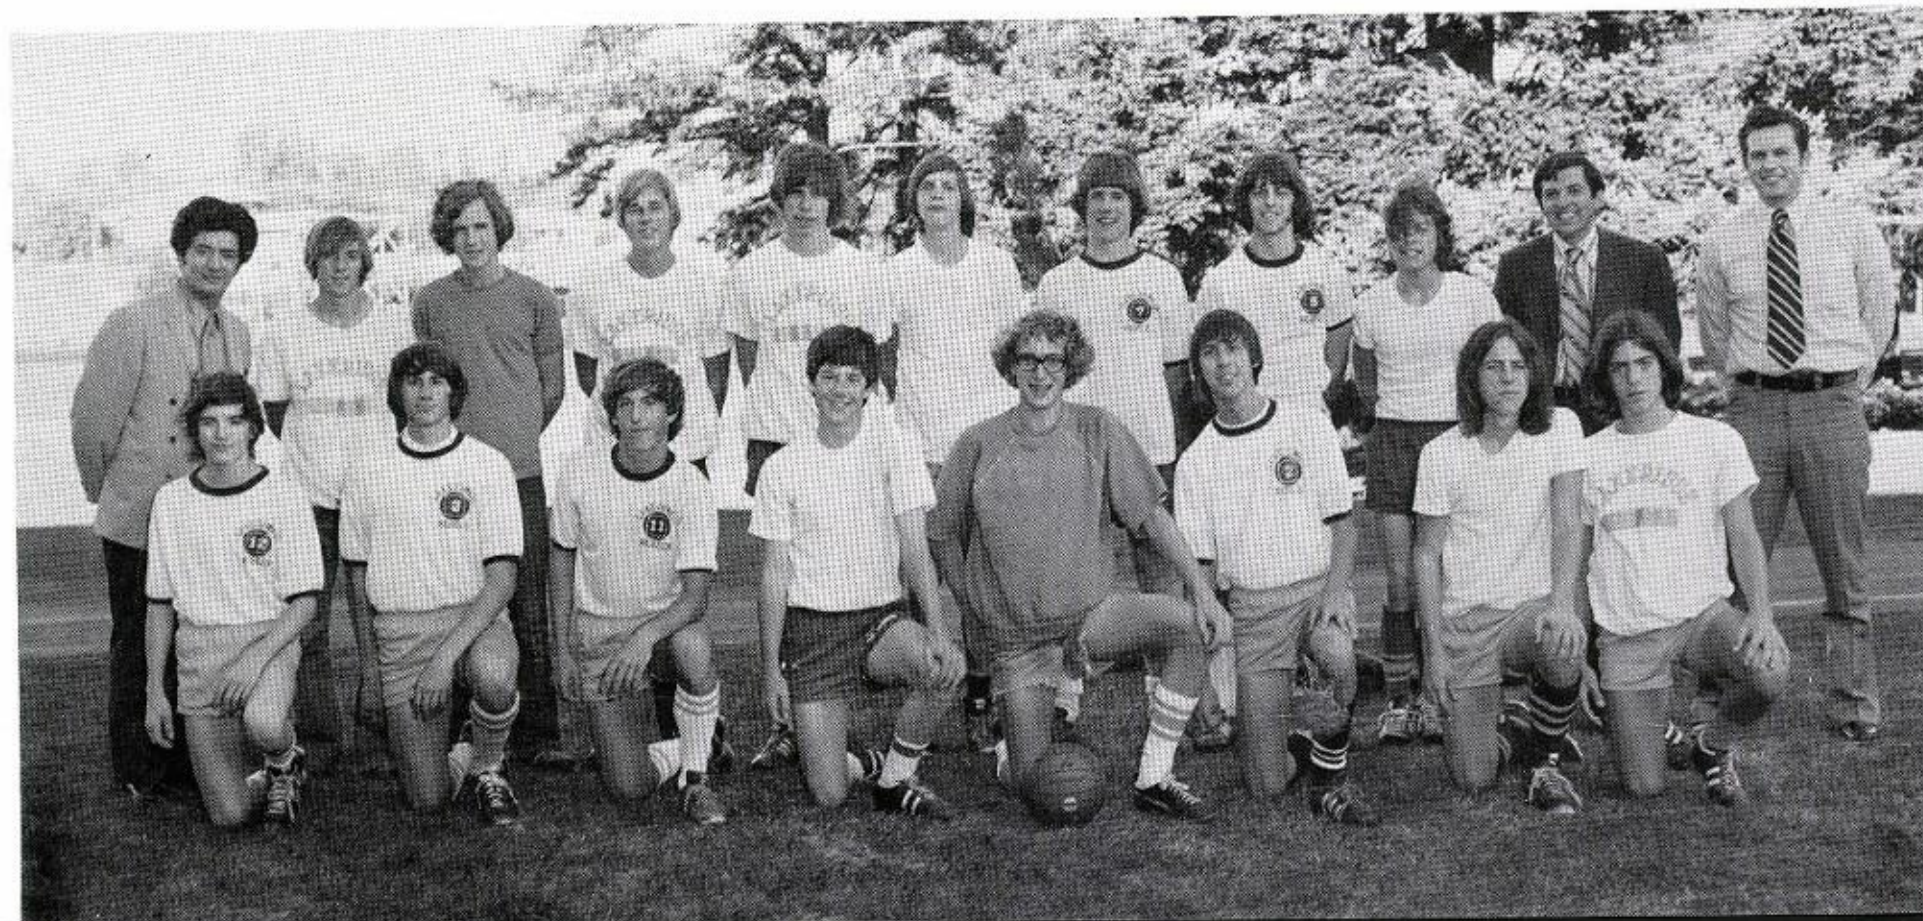

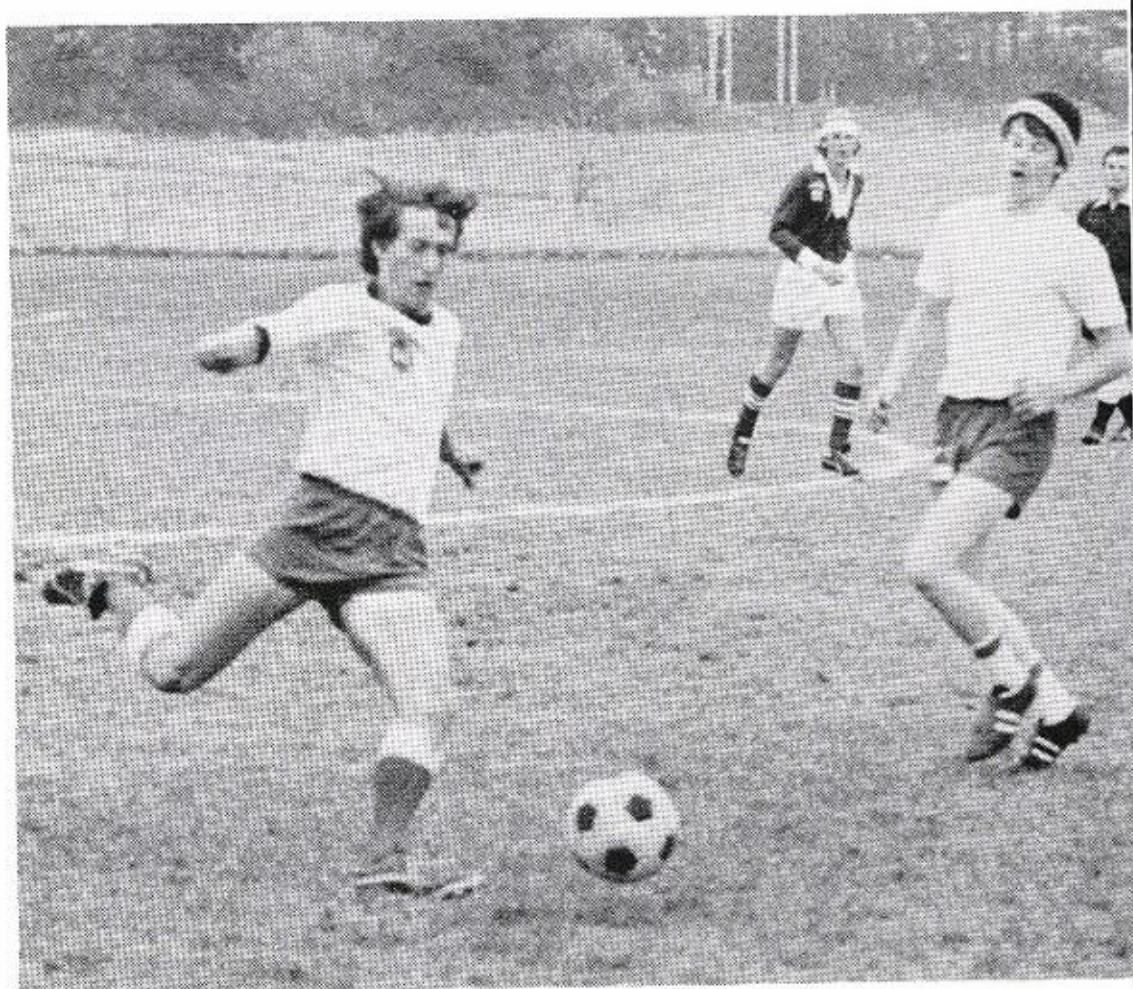

The club played twelve teams in the Oregon High School Soccer League. The newest addition to the league, the club fared well placing fourth in the northern division with a record of two wins, six losses.

Many parents had to supply transportation to the meets and also aided in the fund raising activities. They purchased new uniforms for next year with the money earned by refereeing little kids soccer at George Rogers Park.

Hiking Club

The 1972-1973 school year was the first year for the Mountaineering Club. The club grew to approximately twenty-five members. The membership fee was $2.50. Acting as organizer was Jeffrey S. Jones with Miss Beth Kiersky, Mr. Keith McGraw, and Mr. Bob Raes as advisors.

Two hikes were taken in the fall, Angels Rest on the Columbia Gorge and the Silver Creek Falls hike. Four more were scheduled in the spring.

First semester a first aid class was sponsored by the club, a slide presentation relating to mountaineering was shown second semester. Two assemblies relating to hiking and climbing were also presented.

All of those participating in the hikes felt that there were many happy hours spent together in the out of doors.

Homecoming

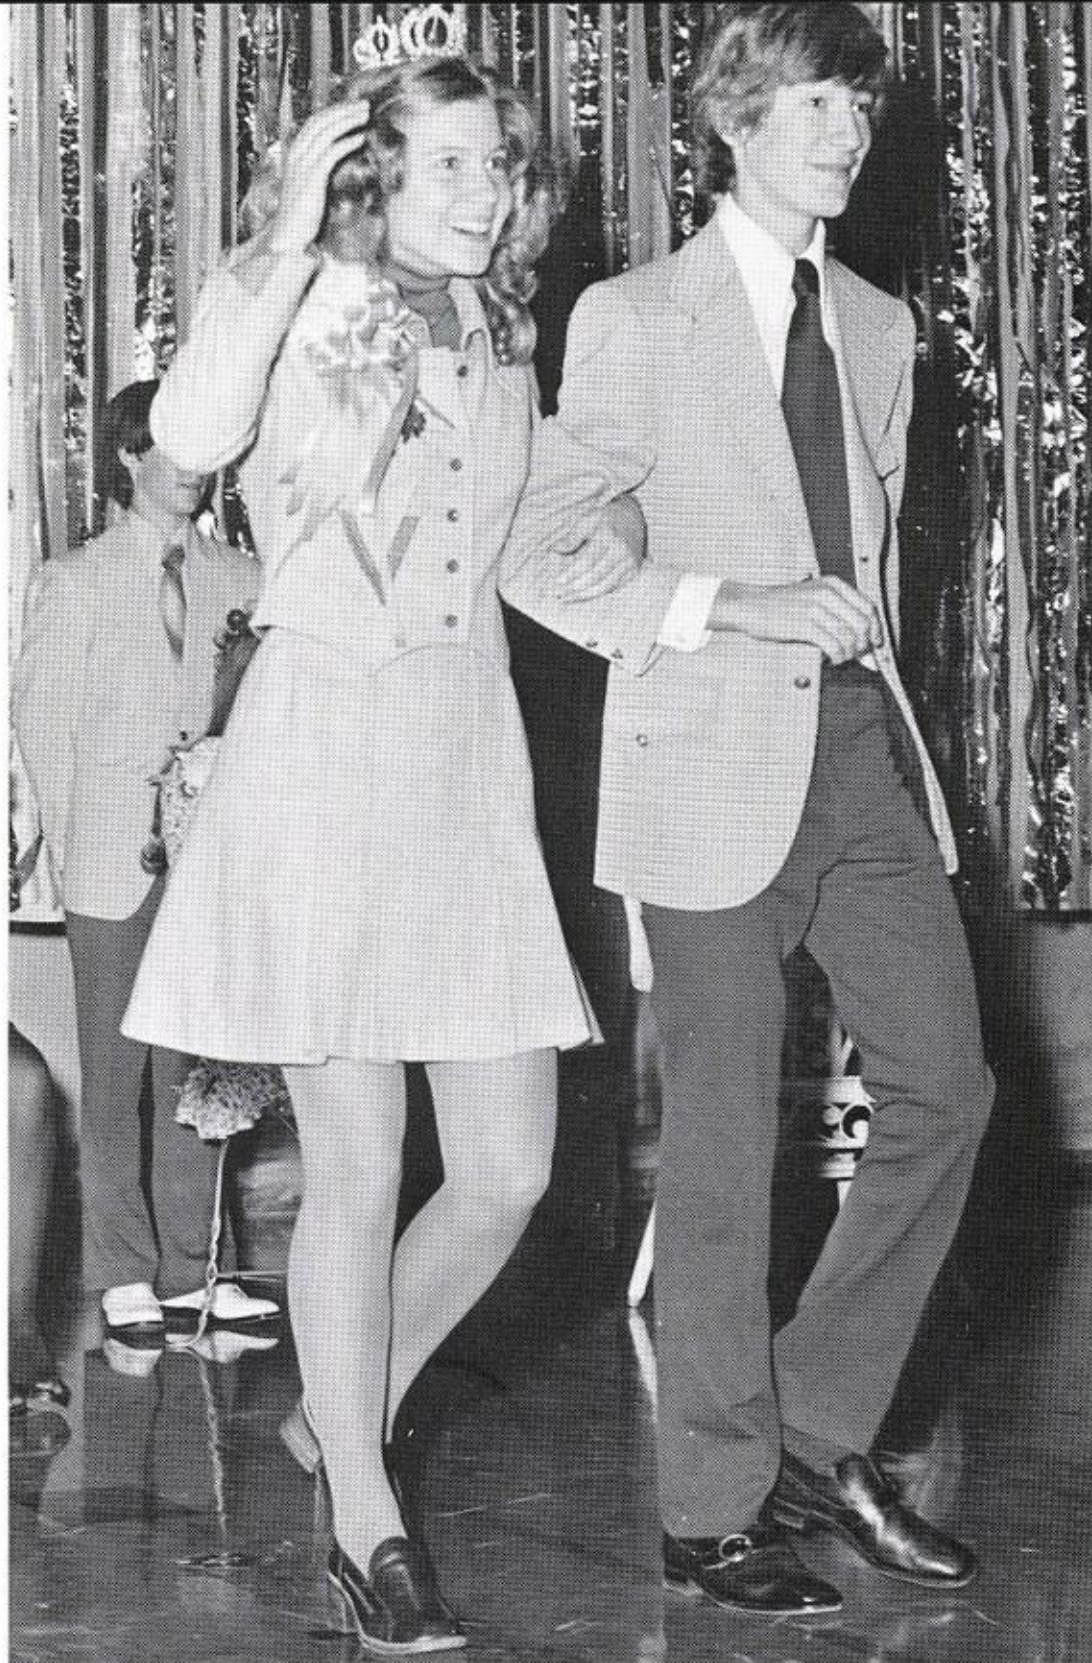

Lakeridge began a new tradition this year, Homecoming. This year's theme was "a new beginning." The Homecoming week began on Monday, October 2 with Mark Chamberlin naming the princesses. The princesses were: seniors, Wendy Sample and Shannon Coffel; juniors, Angie Carroll and Laura Girod; sophomores, Nancy Rivenburgh and Kim Knight; freshmen, Janet Poort and Katy Smyth.

The week ended Friday, October 5 with Mark Chamberlin crowning Wendy Sample the Homecoming queen of 1972. The queen was given a bouquet of roses by Mrs. Cathy Stiel and Mr. Jim Ponti on behalf of the faculty. Following was a skit by The Faculty starring Mr. Dave McCormick and Mr. Keith McGraw.

That night a car rally was held. The cars were assembled at Lakeridge and decorated with streamers, signs, and balloons. Then the cars went around Lake Oswego, ending up at Lake Oswego H.S. for the game. The game was with Tigard, the final score was 56 to 3, we WON!

A dance at Lakeridge followed the game, with the group Brothers and Friends playing.

Brethren

September 27 was the first assembly of the school year. Creating a spirit of love and unity, the Brethren, a singing group from Seattle, brought with them inspirational words and songs of the love of Jesus. The group consisted of four energetic performers, Wayne Taylor, Dave Doherty, Darrell Cook, and Curt Dady.

Songs that they sang included a medley "Can't Take Away the Lord - Sweet Song of Salvation", "Hello Sunshine", and "Wracked By Pain." Their songs showed concern for all people and their messages seemed well received by the student body.

After the assembly, the group then settled themselves in or about the rotunda to spend the rest of the day talking about religion and answering any questions the students had. A few of the reactions from students were: "Great!", "Very spiritual", "Everything about it made me think twice", "It made me feel closer to God."

50's Day

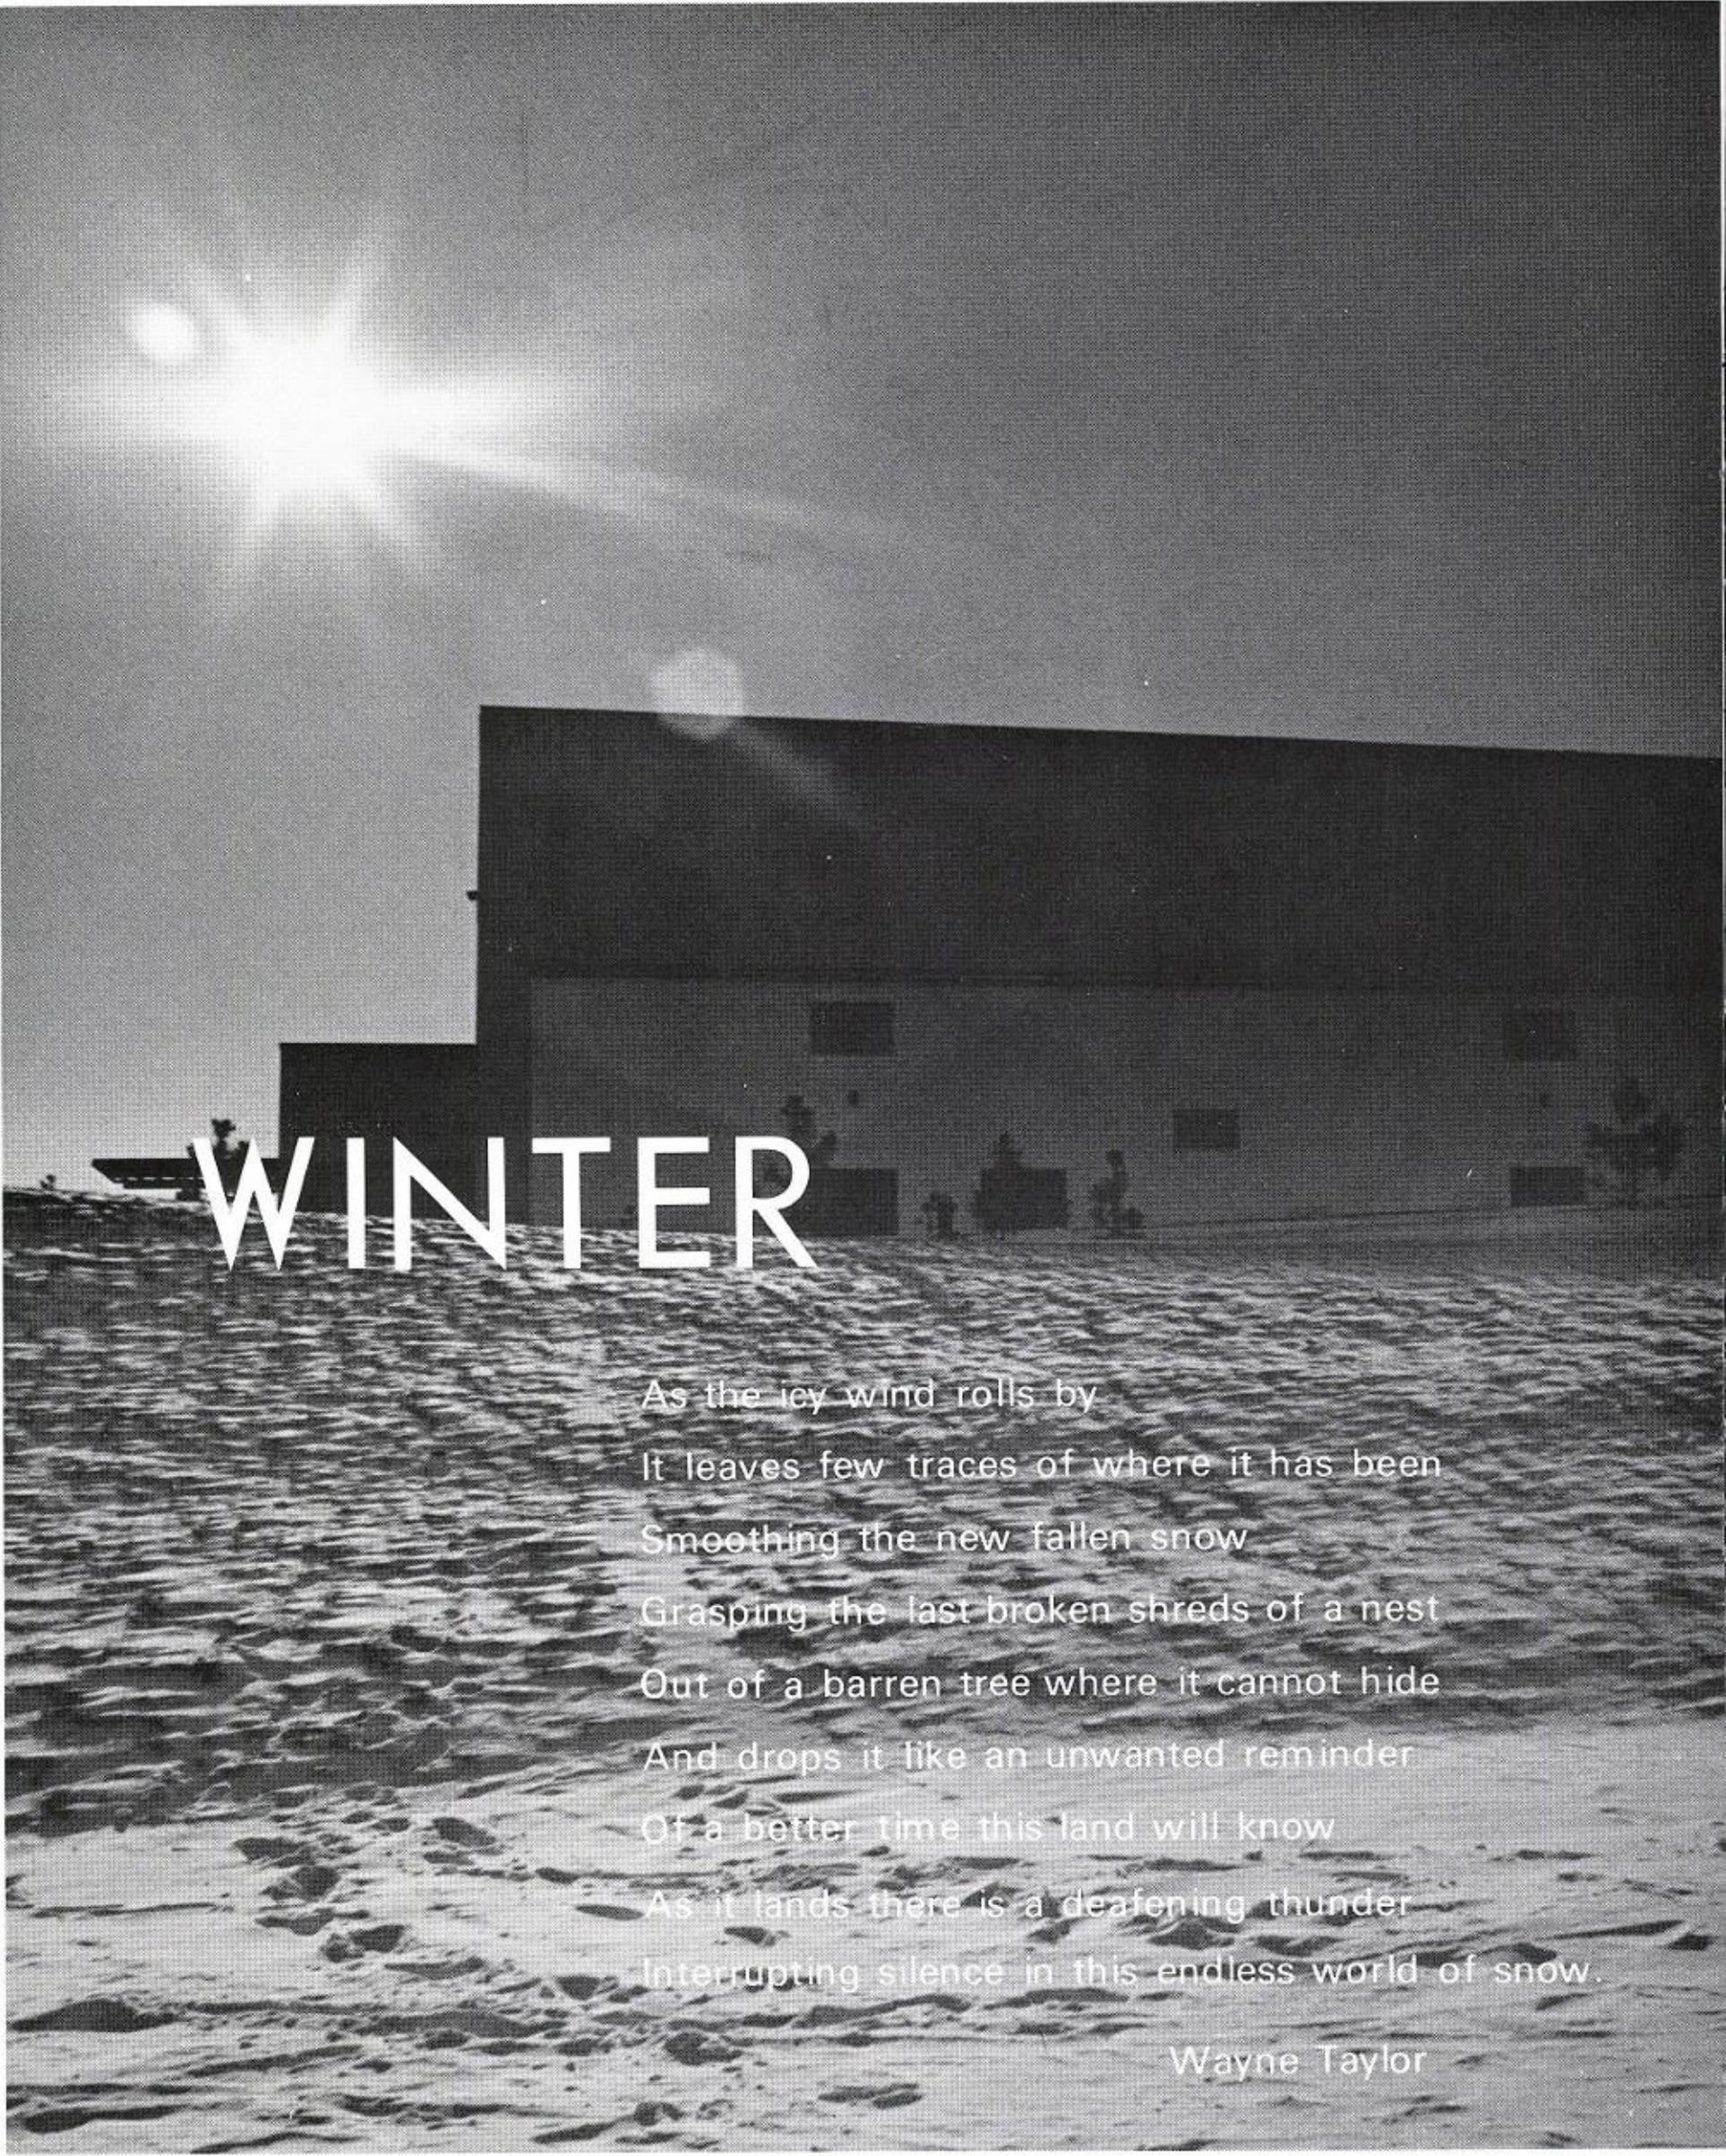

Friday, October 1 was the first varsity rally sponsored special day. The day entitled "Return to the 50's" with the idea for everyone to dress in clothes of that decade.

Students and faculty came dressed in everything from black leather jackets, to short pants, long pleated skirts with bobby socks and the ever popular saddle shoes. Hair styles ranged from greased to duck tails, and pony-tails and bows.

The day closed with an afternoon assembly and a visit by Elvis Presley: alias Mr. Ben Vose. Then the varsity rally presented awards to Sharon Sather and Chris Weber for the best costumes. Wendy Sample and Gene Evans received awards for their outstanding hairstyles. The assembly came to a close with a dance contest.

WINTER

As the icy wind rolls by
It leaves few traces of where it has been Smoothing the new fallen snow
Grasping the last broken shreds of a nest
Out of a barren tree where it cannot hide
And drops it like an unwanted reminder
Of a better time this land will know
As it lands there is a deafening thunder
Interrupting silence in this endless world of snow.

Book Drive

Through the tenth and nineteenth of November, Lakeridge had its first book drive. The paper backs and hard backs were brought to the school by students or received by students going door to door asking for donations.

Miss Kelly Graham and Mr. Mike Wendt headed the book drive with the help of Molly Calkins, Jay Crystal, Gwen Gundersen, Andrea Smith and many other students participating. About 2,000 books were finally collected for the Lakeridge library.

About 1,000 of those books were sold in the commons on December 7 at ten and twenty-five cents each. The profits went to the purchase of new books for the library. Much effort was involved in the book drive; both the students, faculty, and the people of the community were satisfied with the results of the project.

Fall Concert

At the fall concert the concert choir sang, Godspell and various soloists performed. The ninth and tenth grade choir sang several different selections. The Company sang and danced. Throughout the year the Company visited several different buildings to perform.

Frosh Basketball

Aided by a newcomer to the coaching staff, the freshman basketball program made a success out of their new two-team method of breaking down personnel. The large freshman turnout was divided into two teams with as close to equal talent as possible. The new coach, Mr. Dave Pappin, stepped in to lead the Gold team to the best frosh record ever, while Mr. Tom Smythe turned out another abundance of talent with his Blue team.

Anchor man for Coach Pappin was big center Duane Kabusreiter who out-muscled his opponents on the boards and used his quickness to be one of the leading scorers. Mike Berryman and Glen Corey aided the big post man with numerous assists while Brad Castonguay helped the Pacers scoring punch. Joe Abood and Jim Beaudin were two of the best defensive players.

Plagued by a lack of height, the Blue team used strong play by their guards to pull them through some tough games. Team leader Marc Caplan spent most of the time directing the offense and getting the ball to his backcourt mate, Kevin McMurray, the team's leading scorer. In the front line Curt Becker provided the scoring while John Nelsen and Frank Romine were instrumental on the boards in the wins they compiled over the season.

JV Basketball

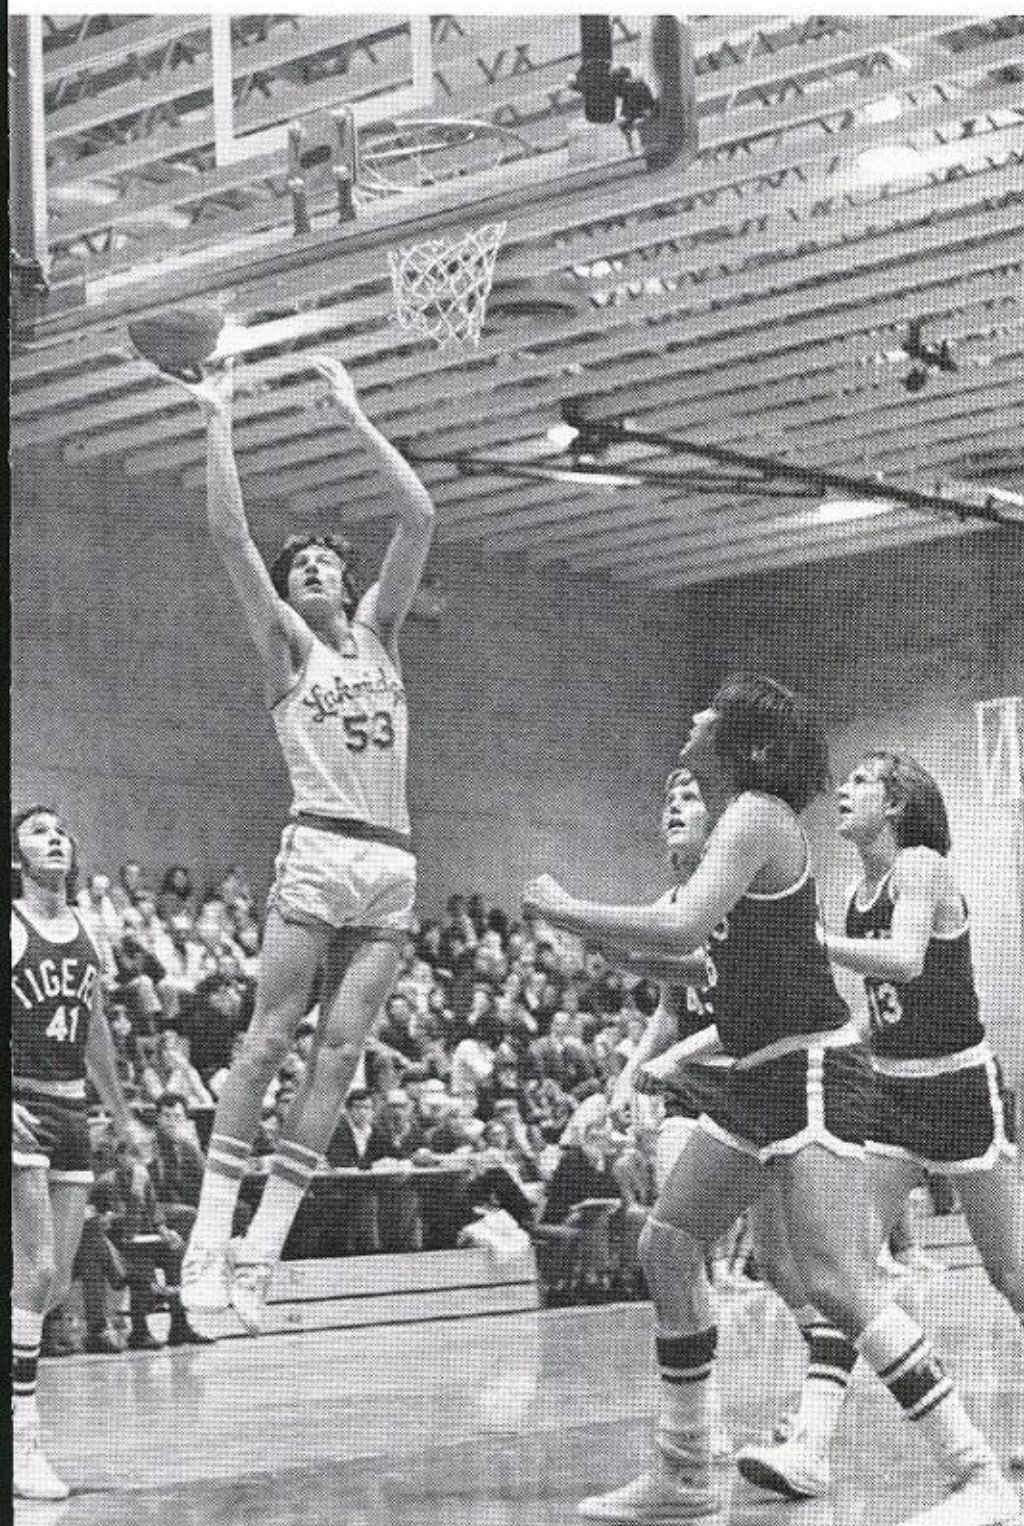

The JV basketball team began the season in November with eight juniors on the roster of 16. In the first games against Wilson and Cleveland, Greg Marshall and Scott Anderson were the leading rebounders and scorers. Then in need of post men, the varsity brought up both juniors and each soon found a starting spot. But for Coach Sather this left a gap at center, leaving rebounding responsibilities with Bob Wagner. He responded quickly, dominating the boards and anchoring a solid team which went on to sixteen consecutive wins. With injuries hampering the varsity, Wagner was the next to be called up. Now the undefeated Pacers were caught empty handed.

At guards, leading scorer Steve Newell and playmaker Scott Melrose were not enough to lead the team over a cast of the toughest teams in the league. Although forwards Bill Becker, Mike Lynch, Steve Black and Doug Pugh put in a fine effort, a much taller Oregon City team swept the boards and Lakeridge had suffered its first loss. Losing three of the last five games, including double overtime against Putnam, was not an indication of the outstanding individual performances that were put out. Hot shooting guards Mike Lynch and Mike Silcox weren't enough to win against Putnam, while some amazing last minute assists by Steve Newell and Tracy Howard sparked a late rally which almost beat Centennial.

In retrospect, Coach Jim Sather called it "one of the best all around teams I've ever had." But the most gratifying result of his work was "that so many of his players could help the varsity team, which is one of the main reasons we're here."

Winter Rally

The spirited Winter Rally started their season with the fall sports cross country and swimming. Maggie Ewing, Teri Hansen, Sue Hart, Kelly Cole, Julie Young and Virginia Small were advised by Miss Jan Bailey.

The responsibilities of the rally included decorating the team members' houses, locker room, and school lockers, raising money used for team members' cakes, and selling spirit ribbons and buttons. Planning Friday pep assemblies and cheering the team on to victory were the most strenuous tasks of all.

The first and most comical basketball assembly was a take off on "This Is Your Life." Starring Coach Charles Nipp with Mr. Tom Smythe and Mrs. Pam Olds as the main attractions. Three senior boys played the part of Mr. Nipp in different stages of his life.

After a full year of cheering the teams on and planning various activities the rally girls said, "Over all it was a good year with lots of student involvement and cooperation."

Varsity Basketball

The second season of varsity basketball coaching for Charles Nipp was one of improvement, finishing with a 9-10 league record. However, an abundance of injuries and lack of a big man plagued the team.

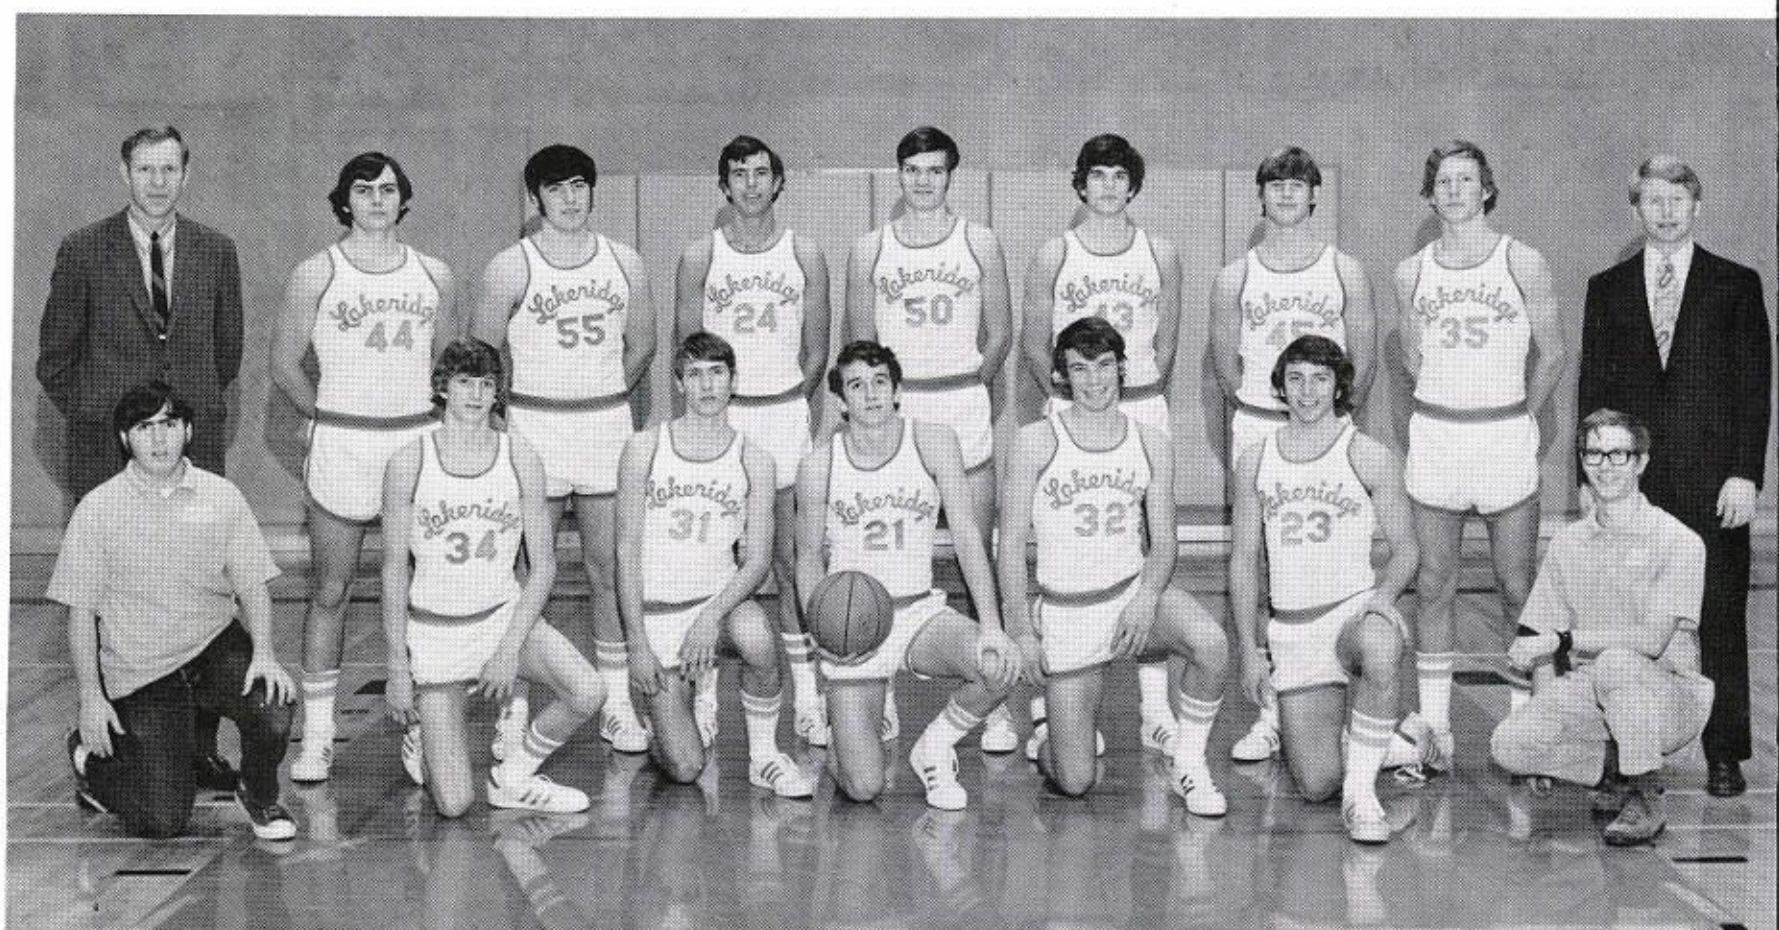

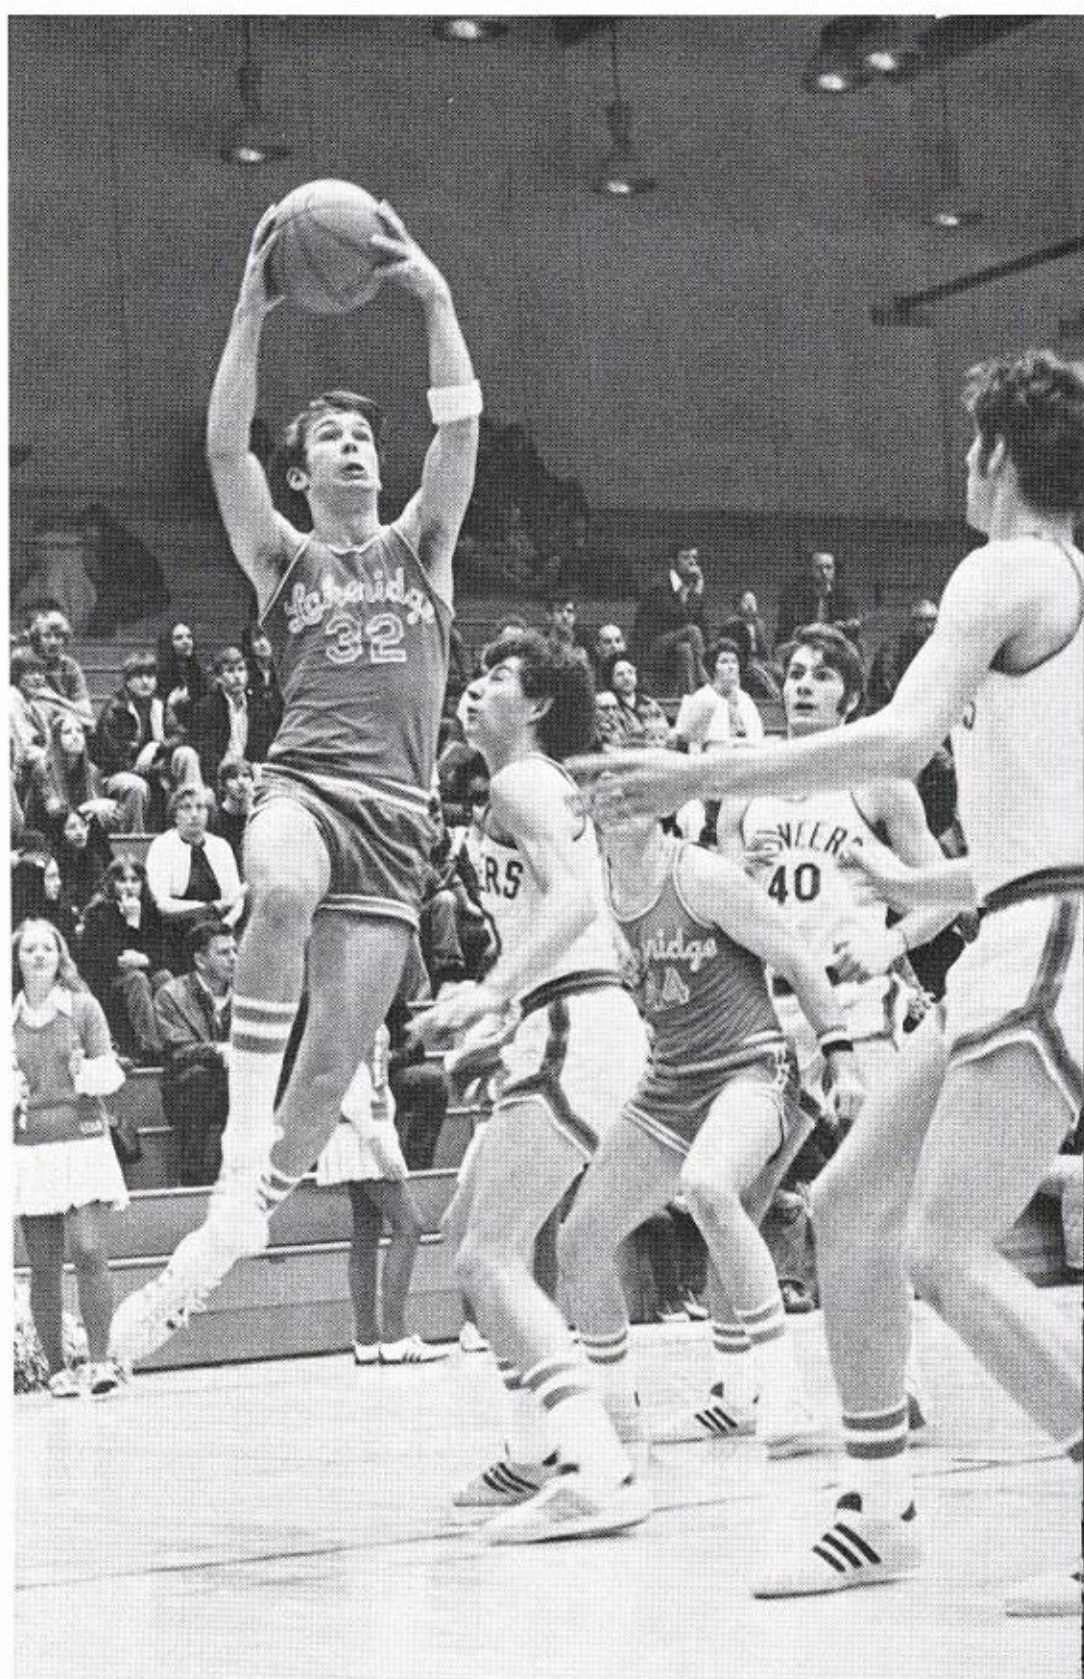

Midway through the season the Pacers suffered a tremendous blow when Brian Downey was out with an injury and Tim Anderson and Roger Kinney decided to leave the program. But Lakeridge postmen Greg Marshall and Scott Anderson responded well in leading them to victory over West Linn twice.

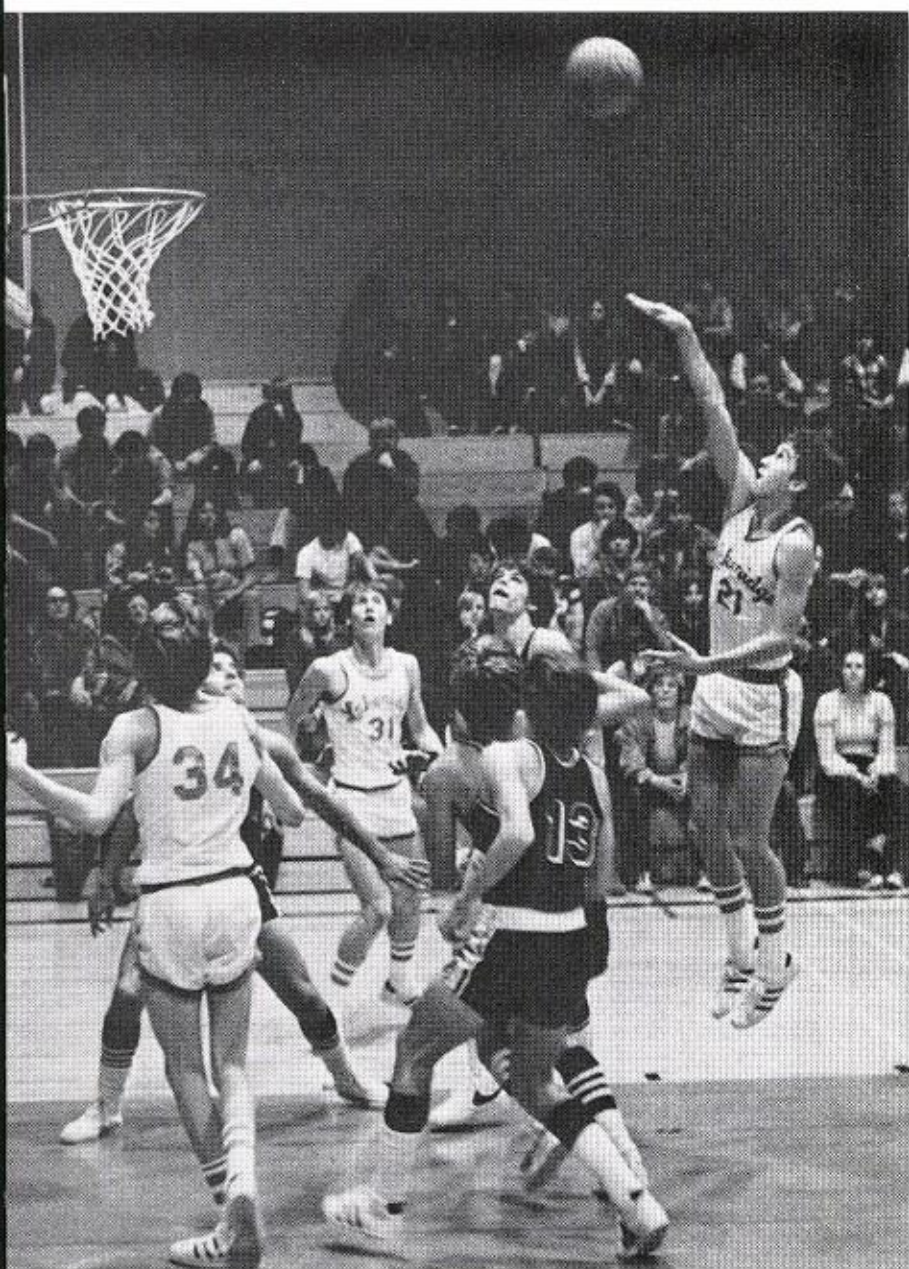

In the backcourt the Pacers deliberate offense was headed by playmakers Tom Beaudin and Terry Crabtree. Firepower off the bench and quickness were provided by juniors Charlie Klever and Steve Callis, both good shooters.

Making up for a lack of height Coach Nipp tried to upset opponents by using a trapping full court press and a tough zone defense. Leading the charge in all defensive aspects of the game was Terry Crabtree and junior post man Bob Wagner, who was brought up from the league champion JV team.

prising upsets against league powers, many good efforts went for naught in the final seconds of crucial games, hurt playoff hopes which had been high. Consistent play and some satisfying victories still made the season a valuable one for the growing Pacer basketball program.

Pacesetters

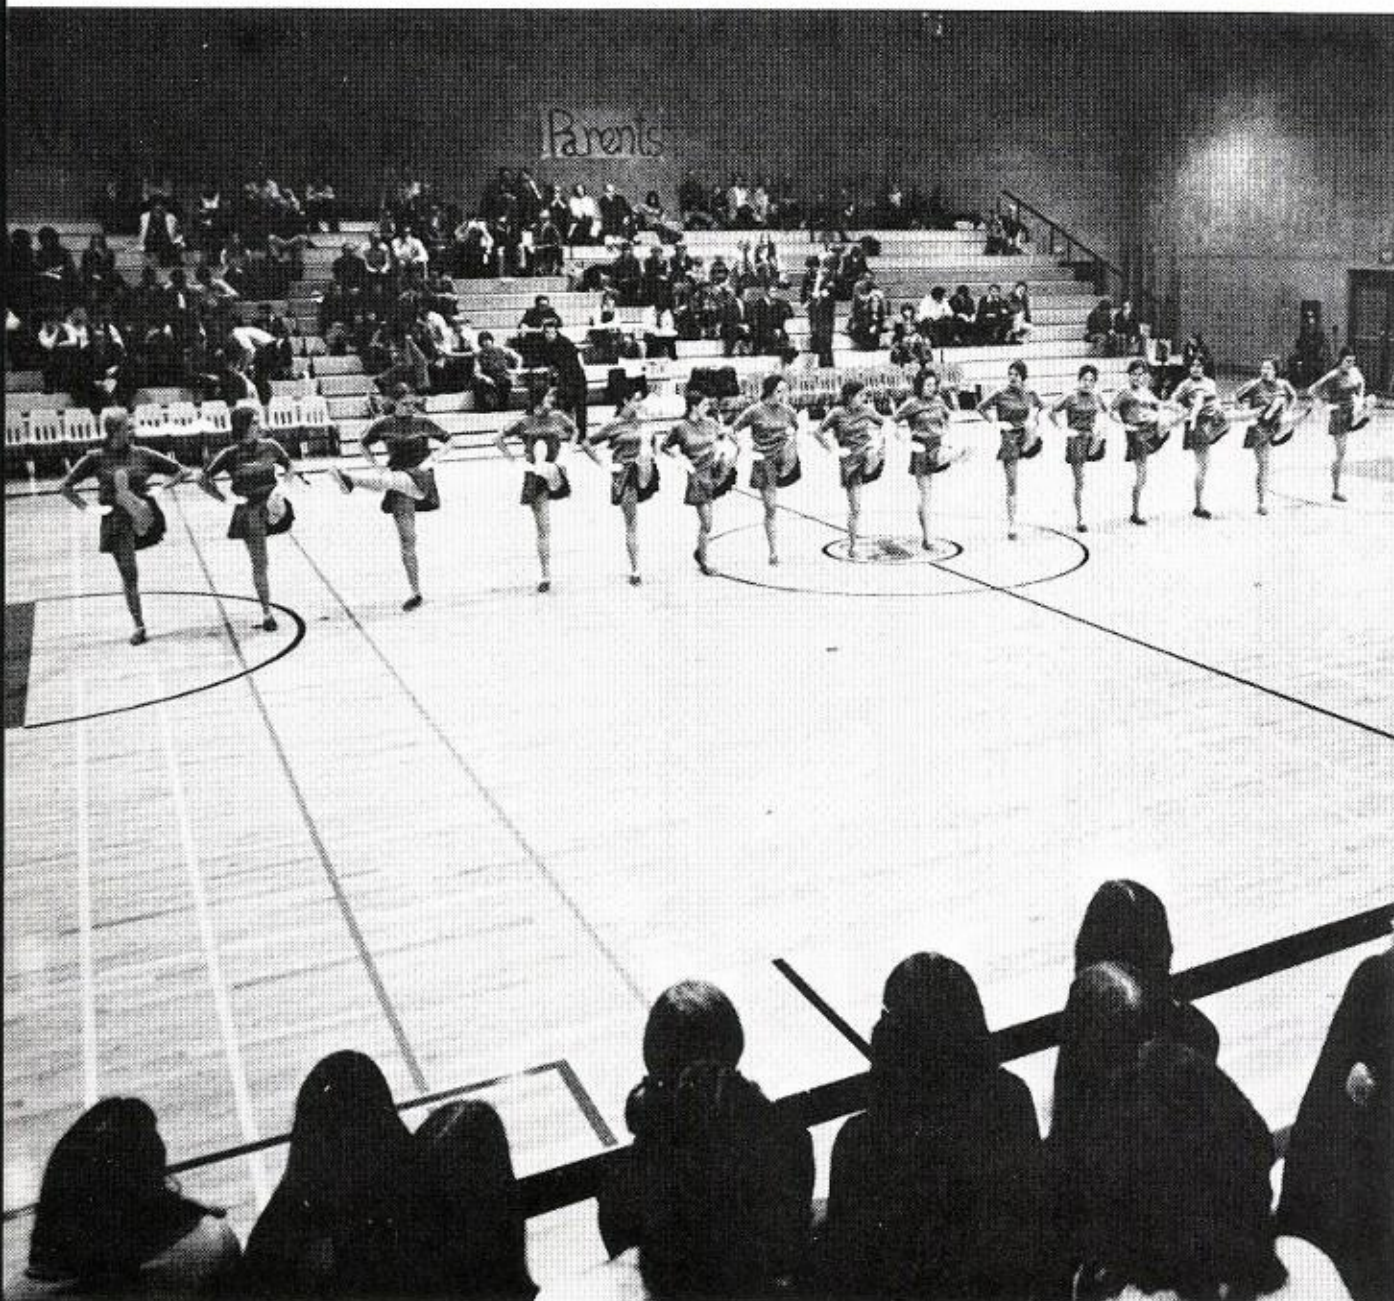

Back for their second year, the Pacesetters consisted of sixteen members and their advisor, Mrs. Kathy Stiehl. With the help of the Lakeridge Band and their director, Mr. Dale Cleland, routines were created and worked on. The Pacesetters used a variety of musical selections for their halftime performances during football and basketball games, and at pep assemblies.

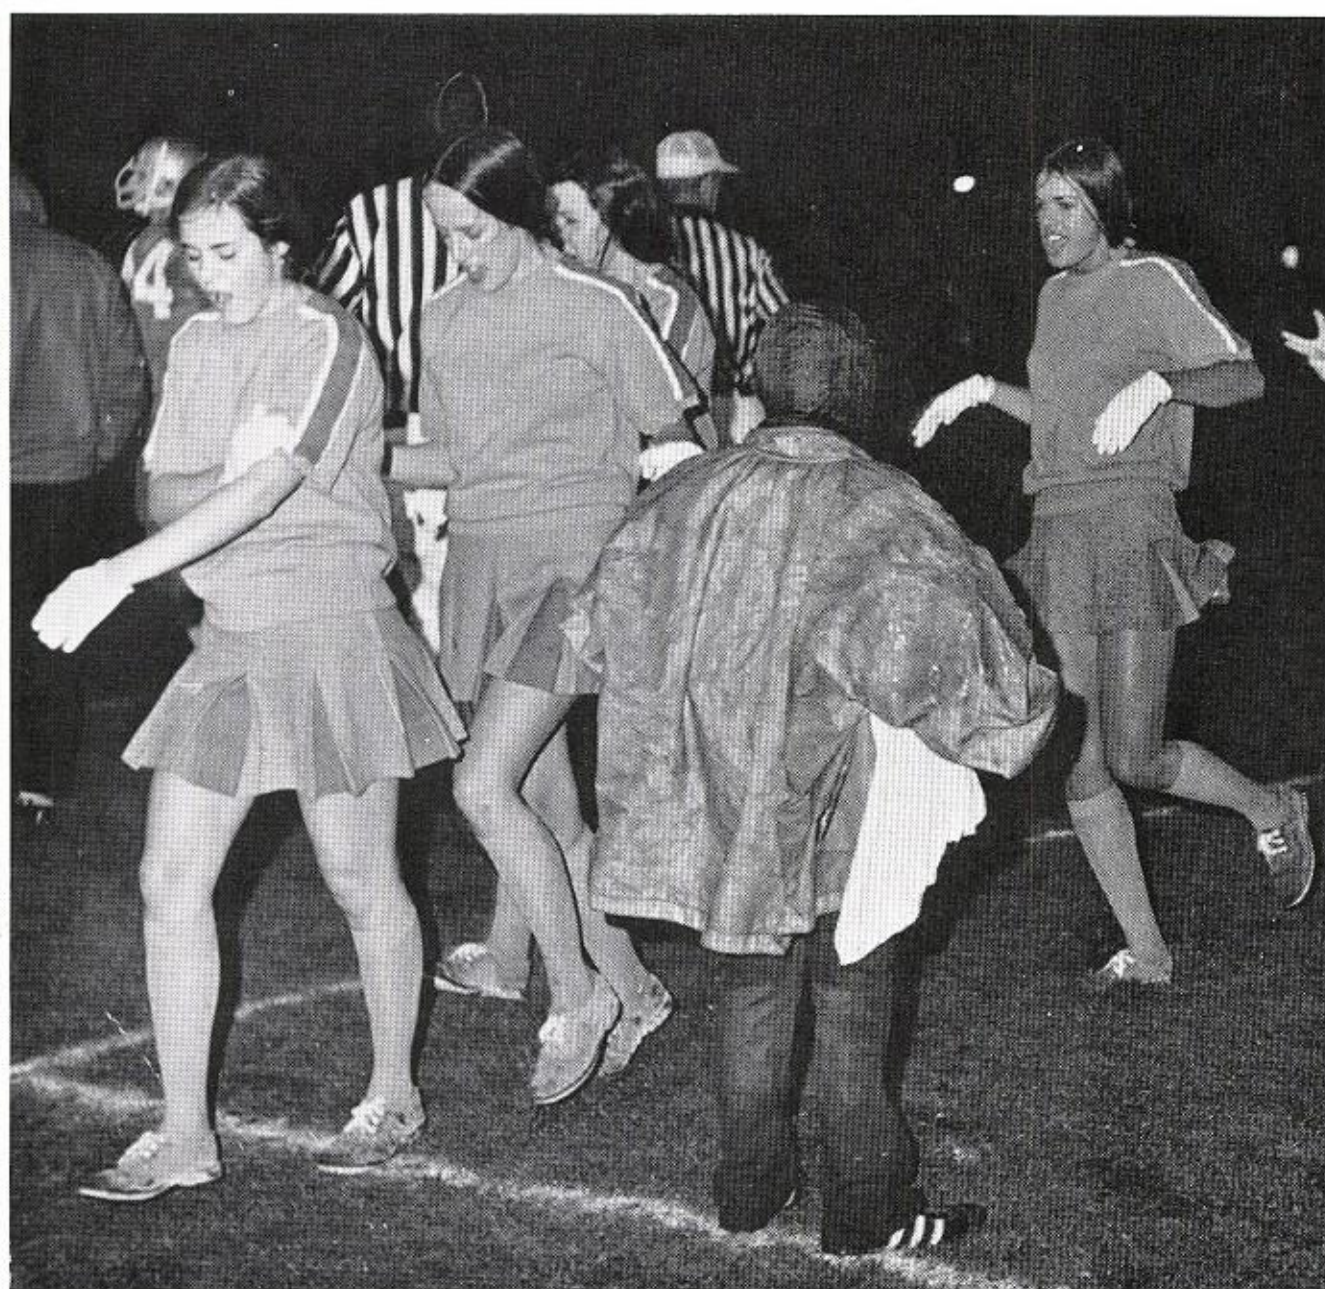

In order to raise money to pay for the new uniforms, the Pacesetters held bake sales and sold boxes of candy.

The Pacesetters also acted as usherettes for the Christmas Concert given by the Lakeridge Choir and The Company. Their service helped patrons as well as the music department by seating guests and visitors.

Pep Band

An important element in the spirit producing department was Lakeridge's pep band. During pep assemblies they helped the rally generate enthusiasm within the student body.

They played at each home game throughout the basketball season. During time-outs and intermissions they entertained the crowd with a variety of songs, including the Lakeridge fight song. They accompanied the Pace-setters' routine at halftime shows. This group of students contributed a great deal to the success of our basketball season. The pep band was directed by Mr. Dale Cleland.

9th/10th Choir

A lot of hard work was required of members in the freshman/sophomore choir. The goal of the members was to become good enough to join the concert choir as upperclassmen.

Many hours of practice went toward perfecting tunes that were sung during three main concerts. There were 58 members in the group which met every other day with Mr. Merlin Gackle directing.

Boys Gymnastics

The ever improving boys gymnastics team finished a successful season with a respectable 4-4 record in dual meet competition. A third place finish in the district meet at David Douglas capped a year which proved the Pacers the top team in the Wilco League.

Both the regular season and the district meet were highlighted by outstanding performances by Dave Wolfe working on the parallel bars. Wolfe was the only Pacer gymnast to go to state, Pat Crowell and Dave Pugh, the two all around competitors gave good routines all year but fell just a few points short of going to state.

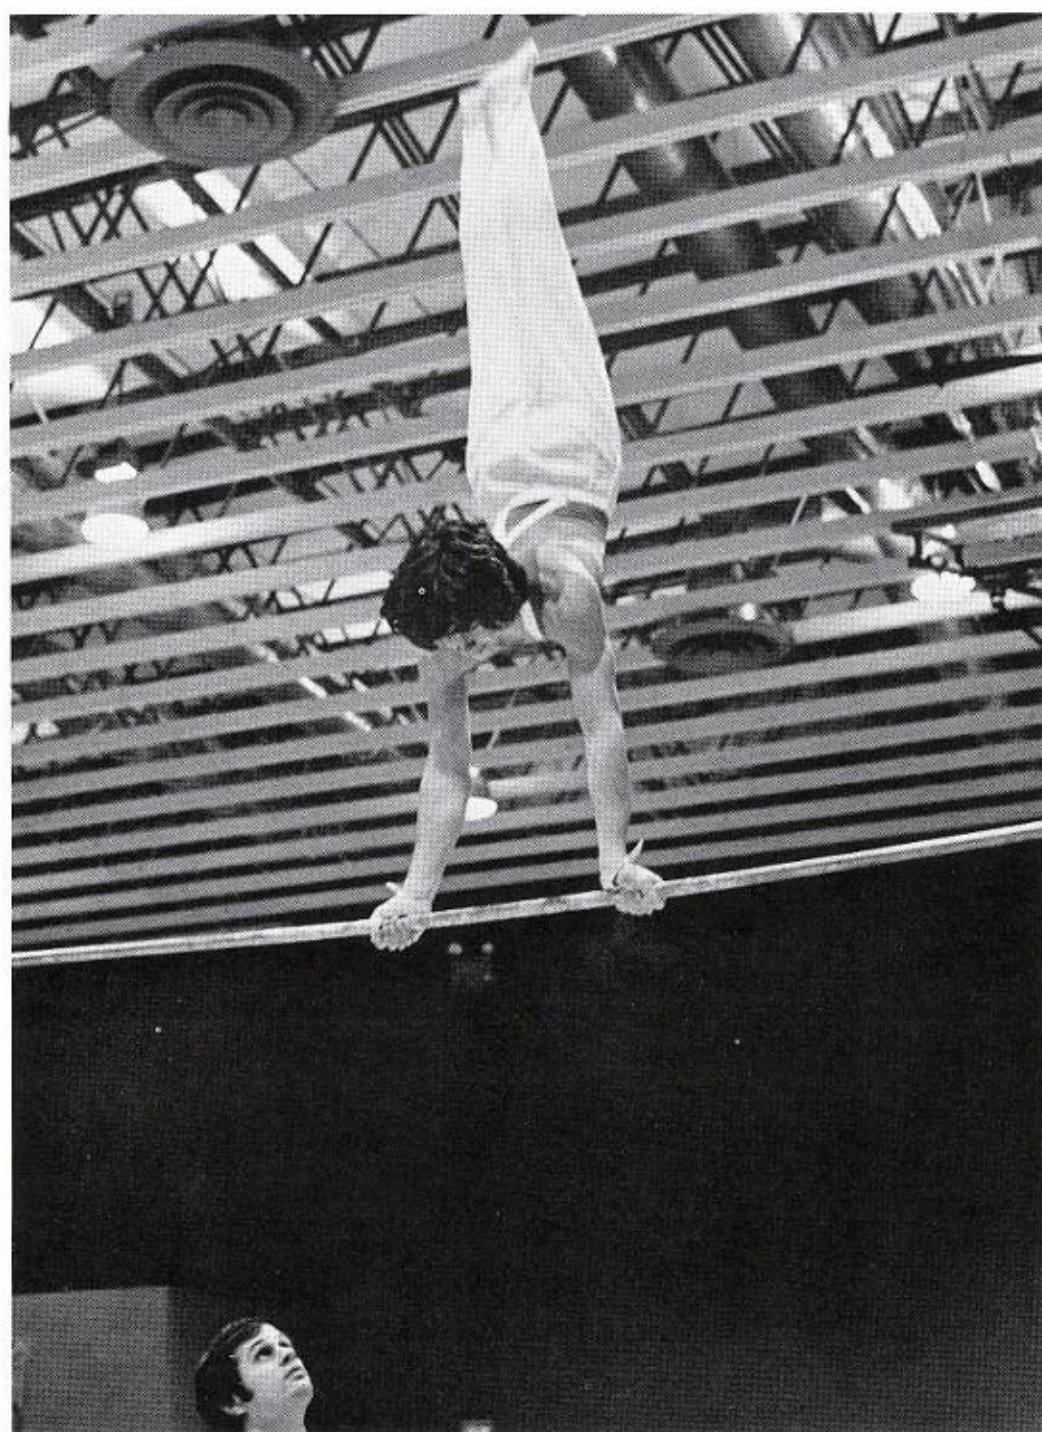

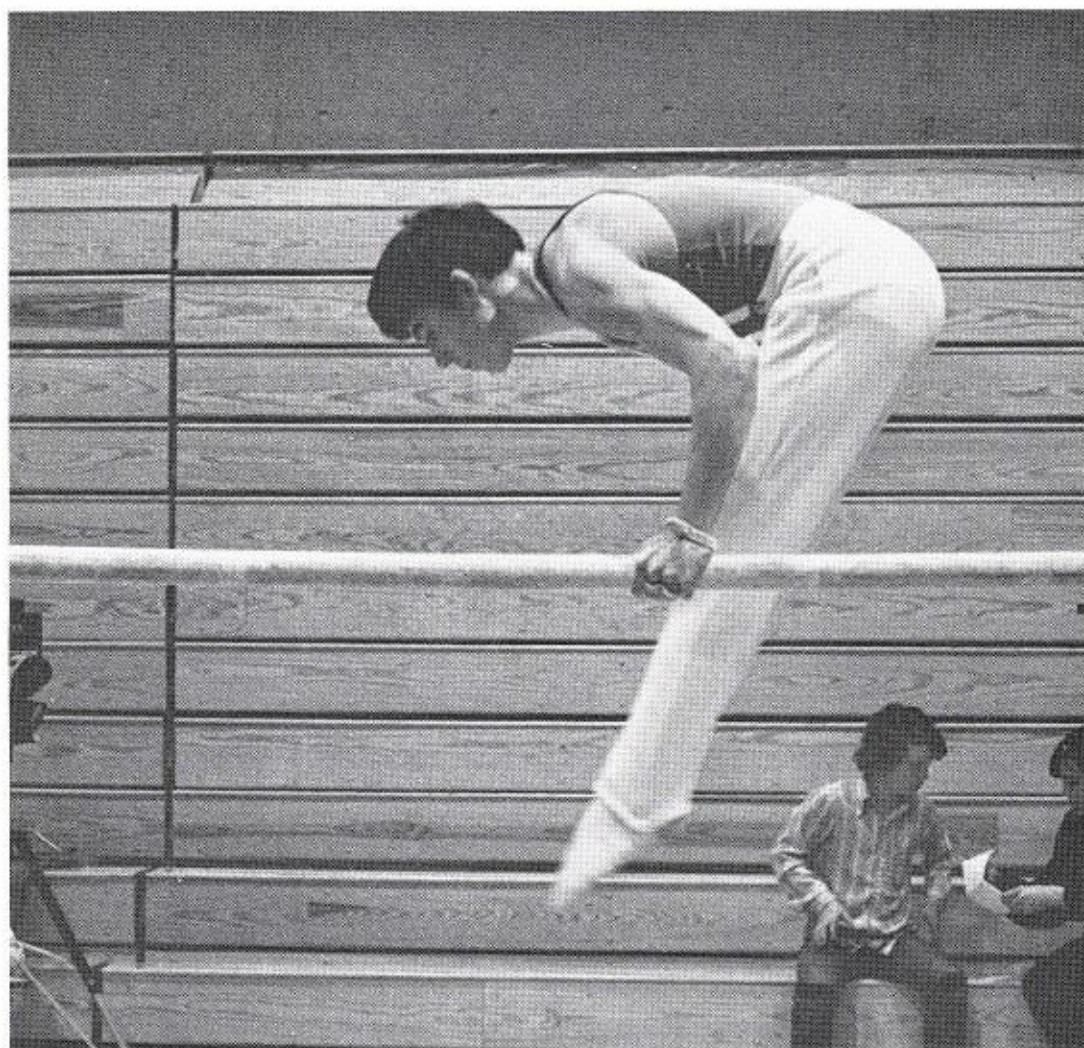

Youth was the most obvious factor in not finishing higher in league standings. Sophomores Dave Labs and Rick Lewis were two of the top sidehorse men in the league. At district Labs and another sophomore, Jeff Lind, went to the finals before being eliminated.

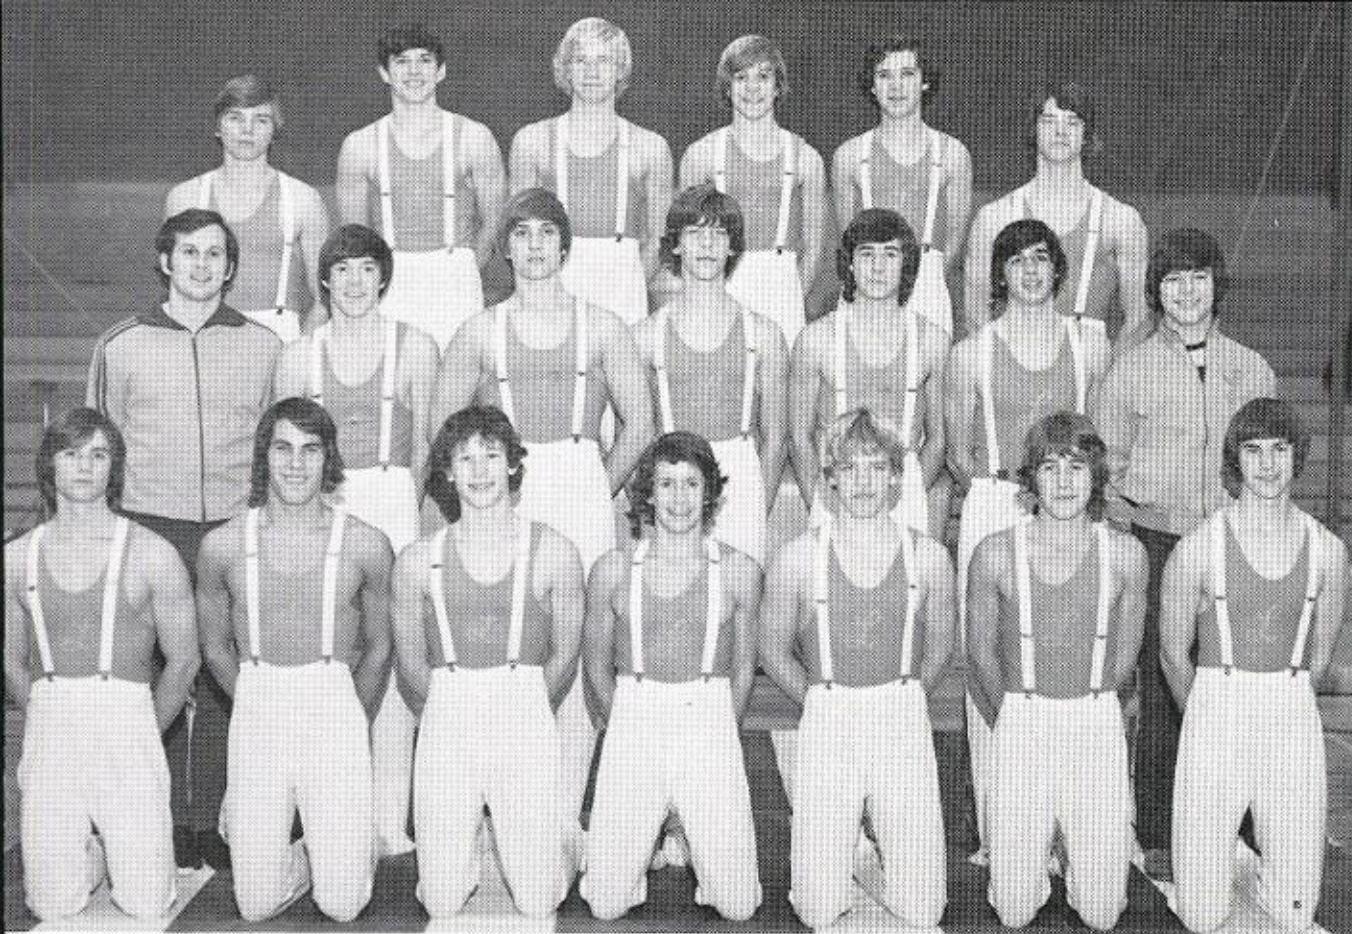

One of the most inspirational meets was District where the Pacers scored their season high of 91.67 points. In all meets there were exceptional performances on the vaults and rings. Tom Cooney and Pat Crowell, both promising vaulters, successfully swept the event against a tough Laker team. On the rings Gene Singer and Jim Coffel were the most consistent throughout the year, going all the way to District finals.

More gratifying than all individual rewards though, was the fine finish the team as a whole had at the district meet. Lakeridge for the first time was recognized as an upcoming power in the growing high school gymnastics program.

The Oregon Gymnastics Association rated the team number 11 out of the 40 teams competing in the state.

Girls Gymnastics

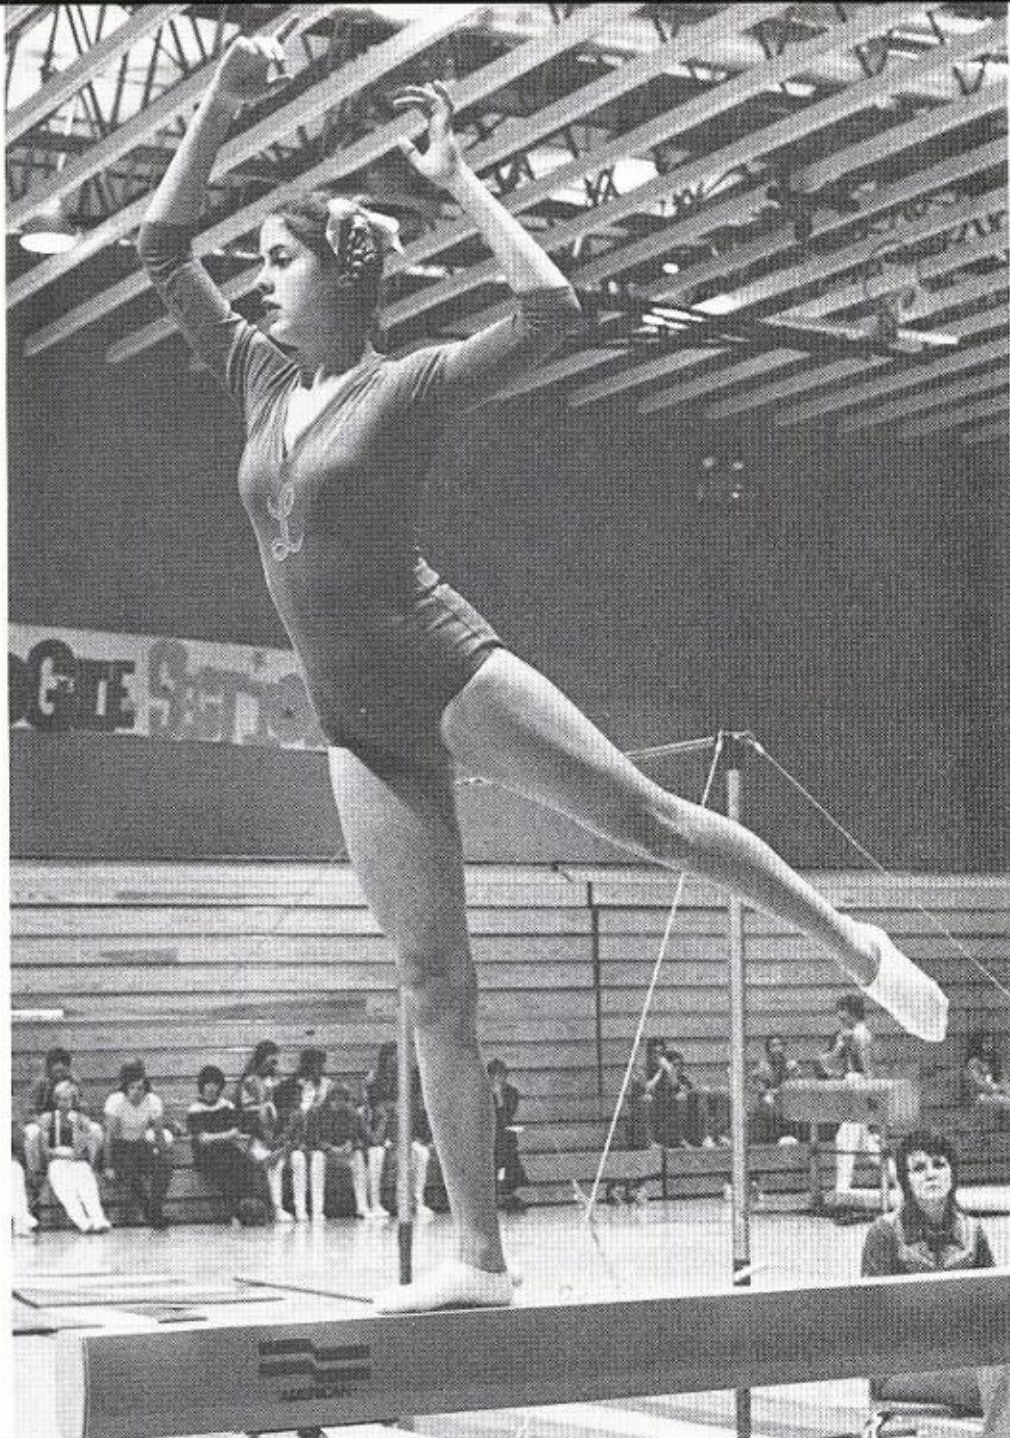

The girls gymnastic team again had a fine season. They won seven meets while losing only one. The girls, coached by Mrs. Pam Olds, competed in four events. They were the side horse, balance beam, uneven parallel bars, and floor exercise.

Long hours of practice were put in by the girls to gain strength, timing, and the showman's touch for pleasing the judges and the audience. Practice paid off as the season's record shows.

The highlight for the season would have to be the district finals. Freshman DeeDee Miller placed fifth and represented Lakeridge at the state championships.

Wrestling

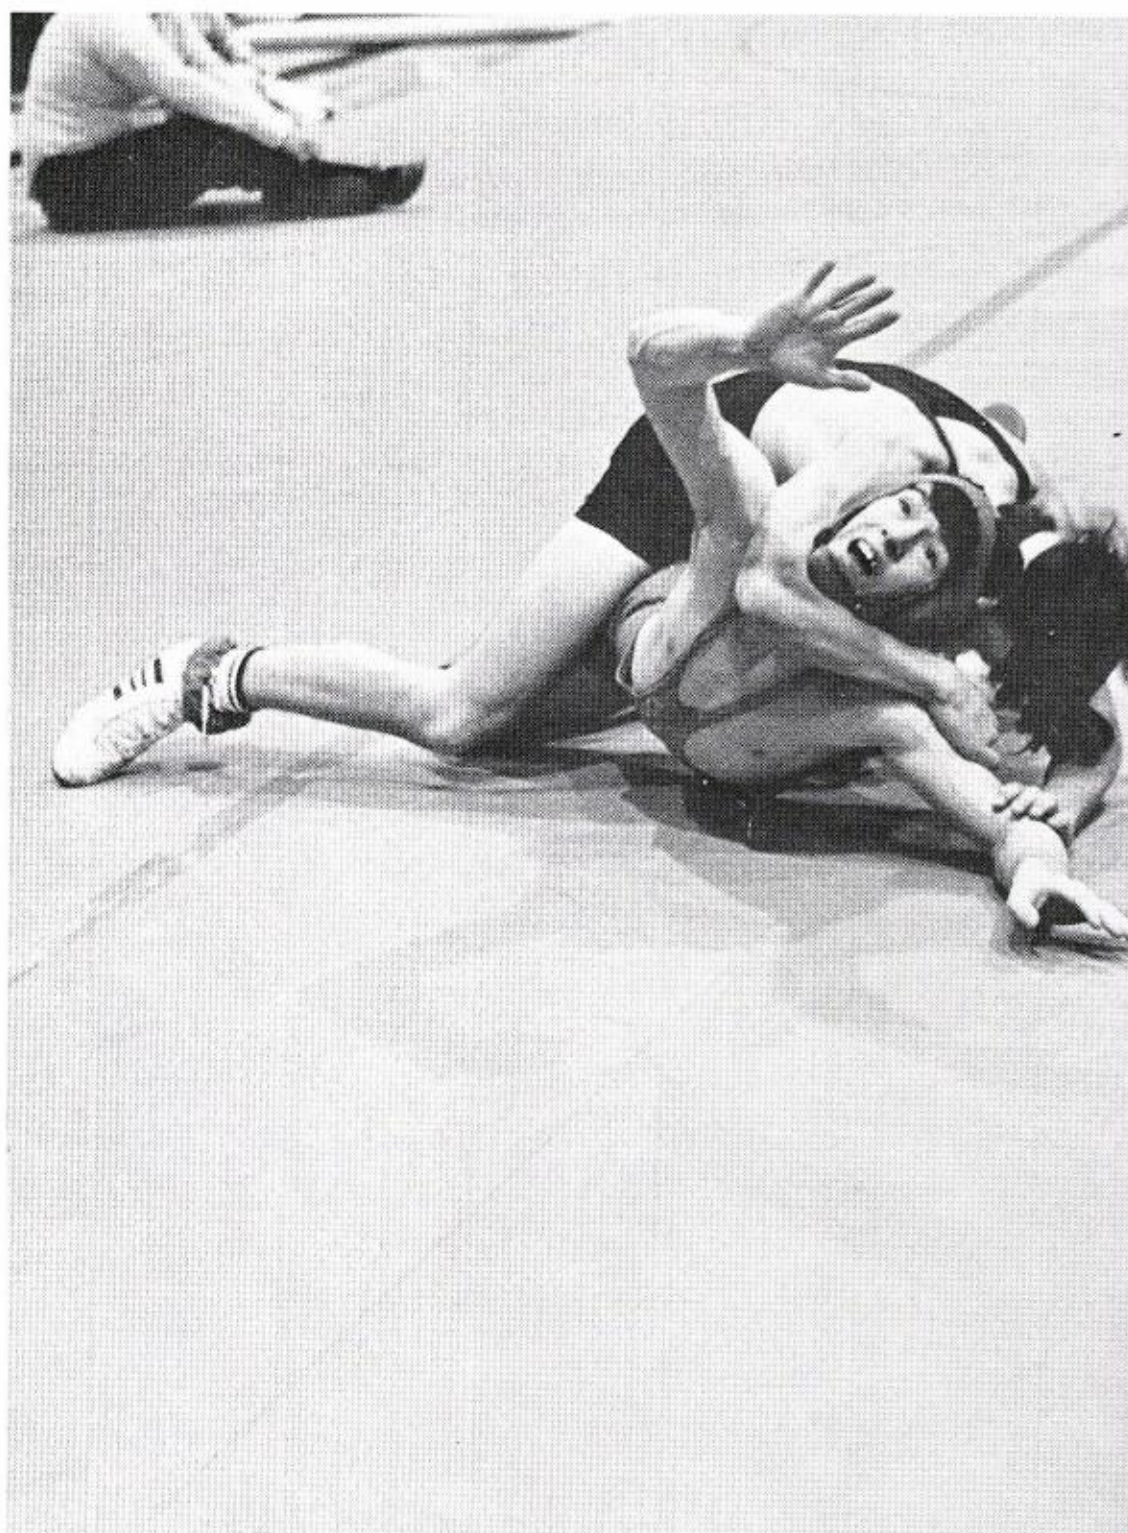

Coach Jerry Grossen's wrestling team was again hampered this year by a lack of wrestlers to fill the weight classes. Everytime the Pacers faced their opponents they forfeited 20 to 25 points.

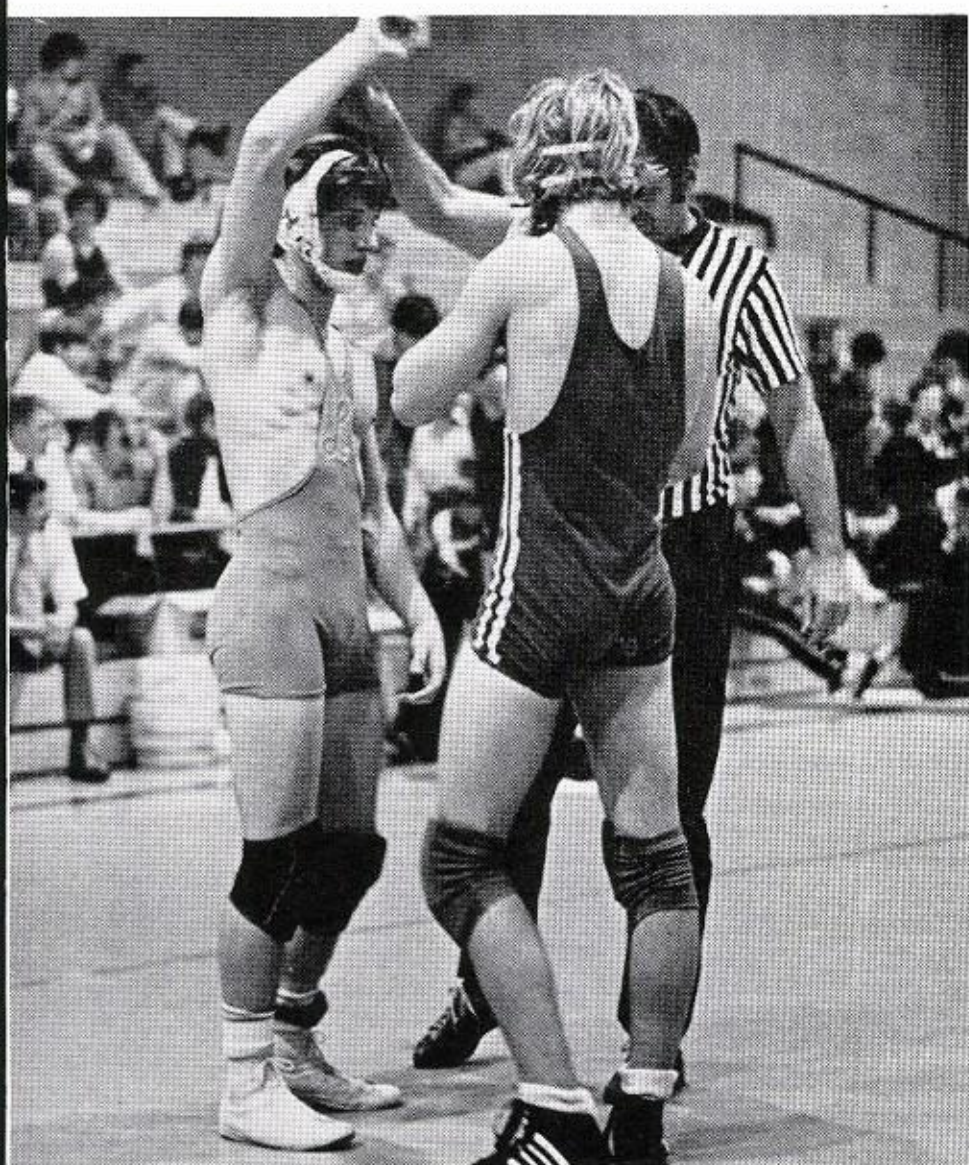

Even with this handicap the Pacers showed determination with the fine individual performances. Wrestlers like seniors Jim Taylor, Steve Richards, Phil Evans, junior Tim Johnson and sophomore Todd Spencer gained respect from their Wilco League opponents.

The season was highlighted by Lakeridge's first and only varsity dual meet victory. This came at the expense of crosstown rival Lake Oswego.

Skiing

The Pacers were lucky enough to have Mr. Mike Casey, coaching also at Lake Oswego H. S., take over the head position at Lakeridge.

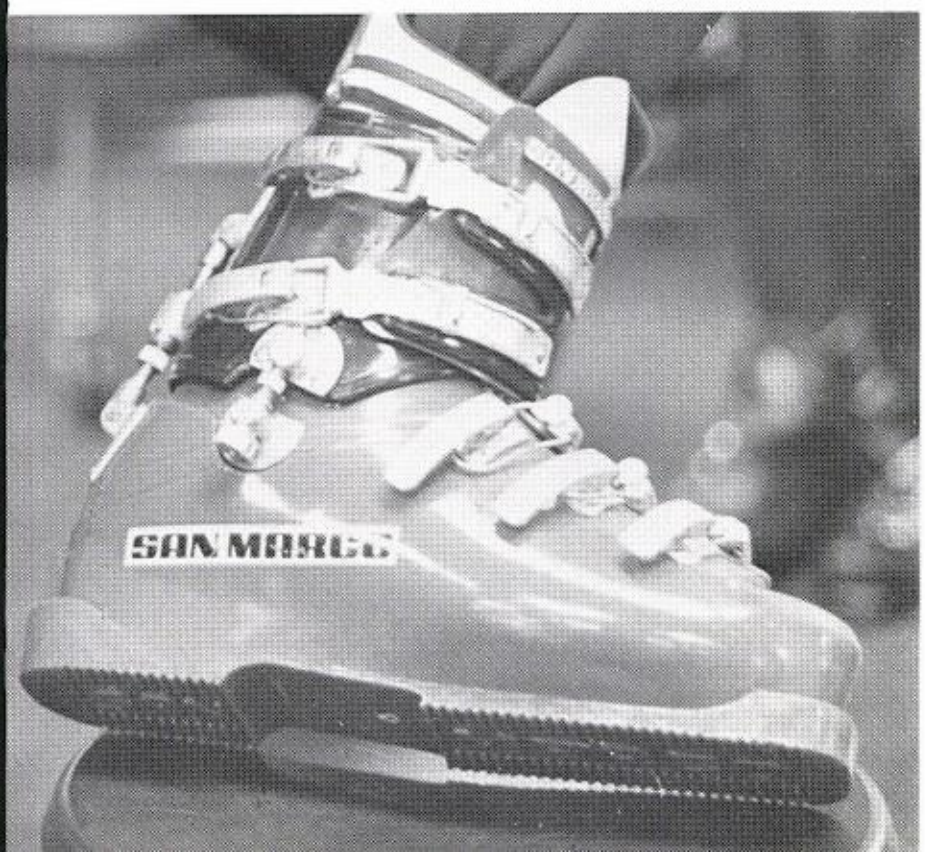

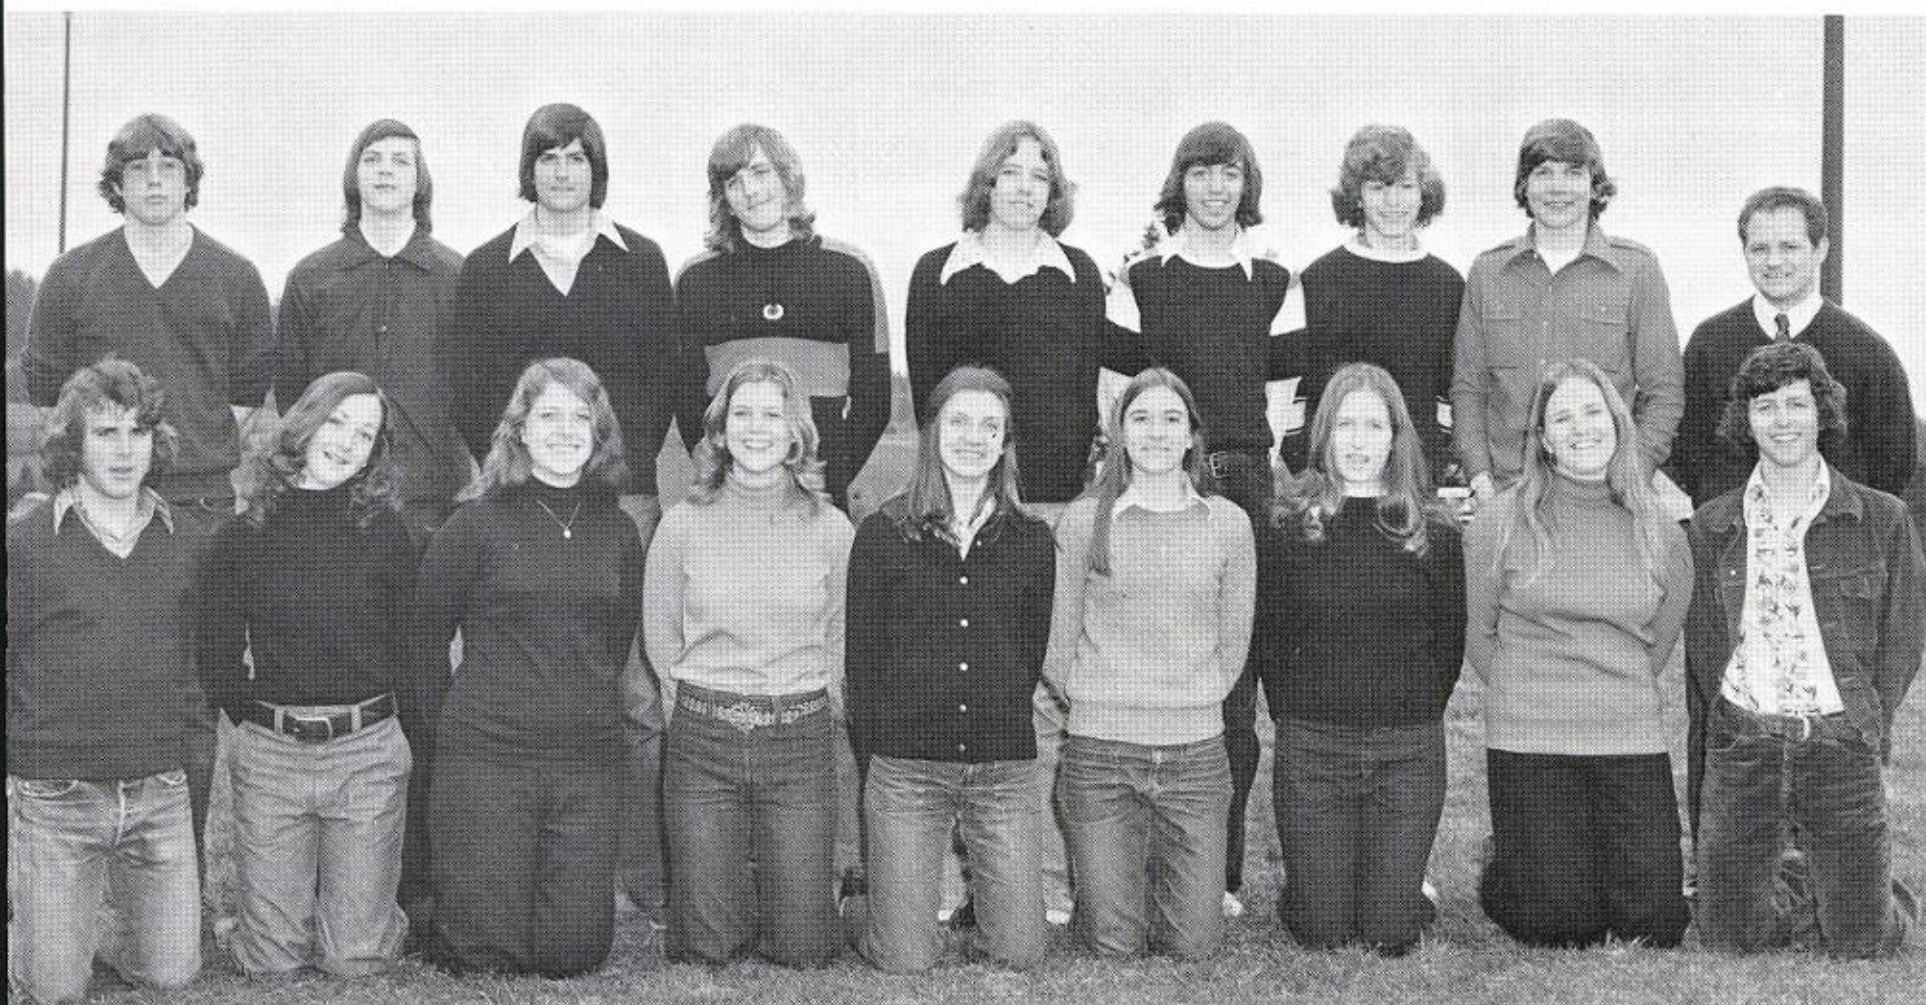

Handicapped by his dual job, Mr. Casey was forced to spend limited time instructing the team. The skiers, though, were all but idle. Practices were on Mondays and Thursdays at the school, Wednesday night skiing at Mt. Hood Meadows, with races held on Saturdays.

The ski team, unlike other school athletic programs, bought their own equipment. The cost of such items as skis, boots, poles and clothing ran in the hundreds of dollars.

Placing in the top three at almost every race was Bob Scott, whose individual performances led the team throughout the year.

At state the boys showed their skill with Bob Scott tying for first in the giant slalom. The boys had some bad luck in the slalom, but this was overcome by fine efforts which placed the team high in overall standings.

The girls didn't make it to state, but showed great improvement over the year. For most of the girls, this was their first year of racing which provided much experience on their way to a bright future.

Christmas Activities

The spirit of Christmas reigned through the entire month of December. For Lakeridge students it was a time of involvement, love, and giving.

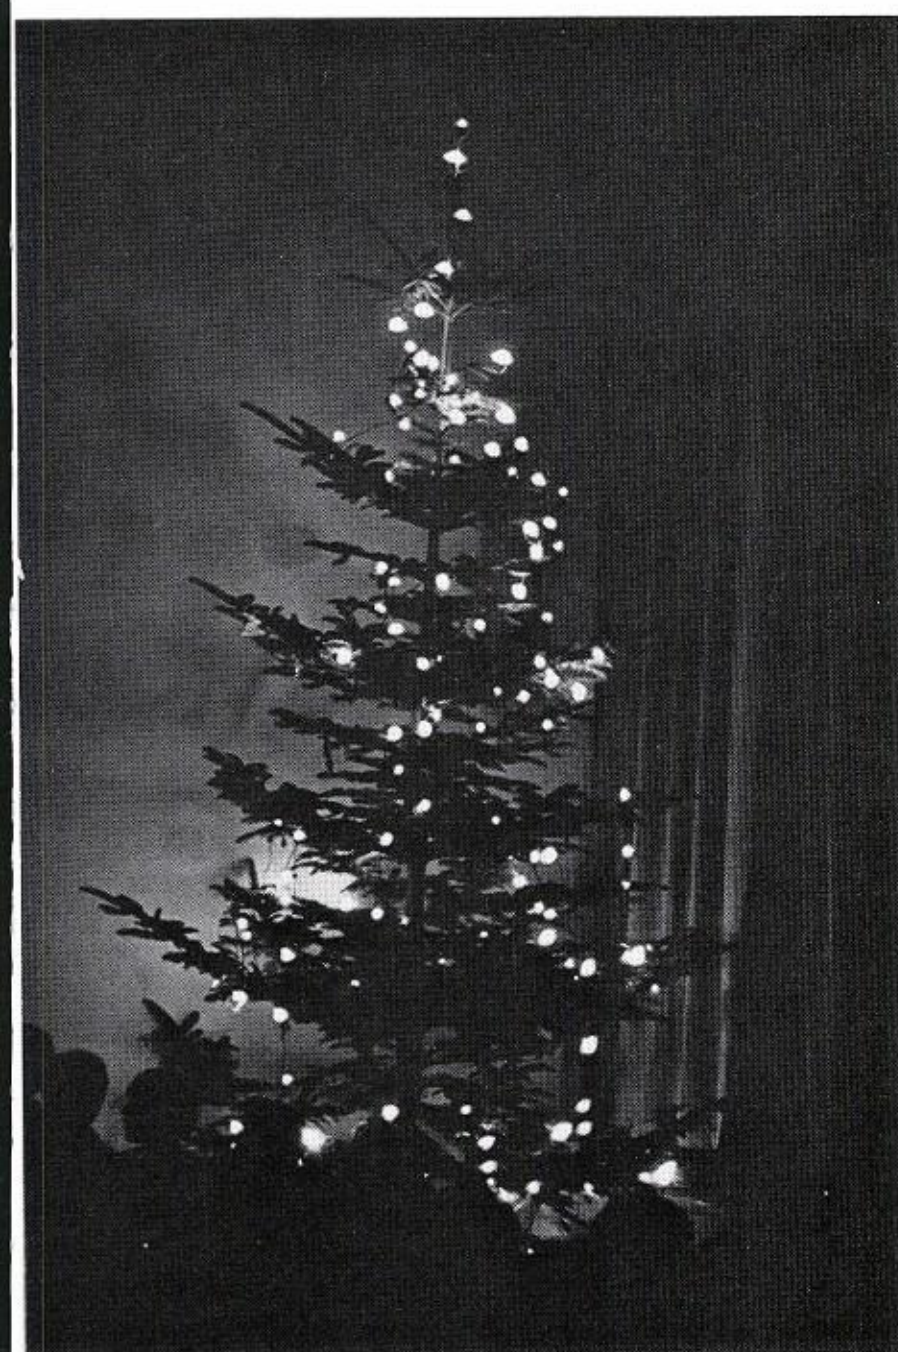

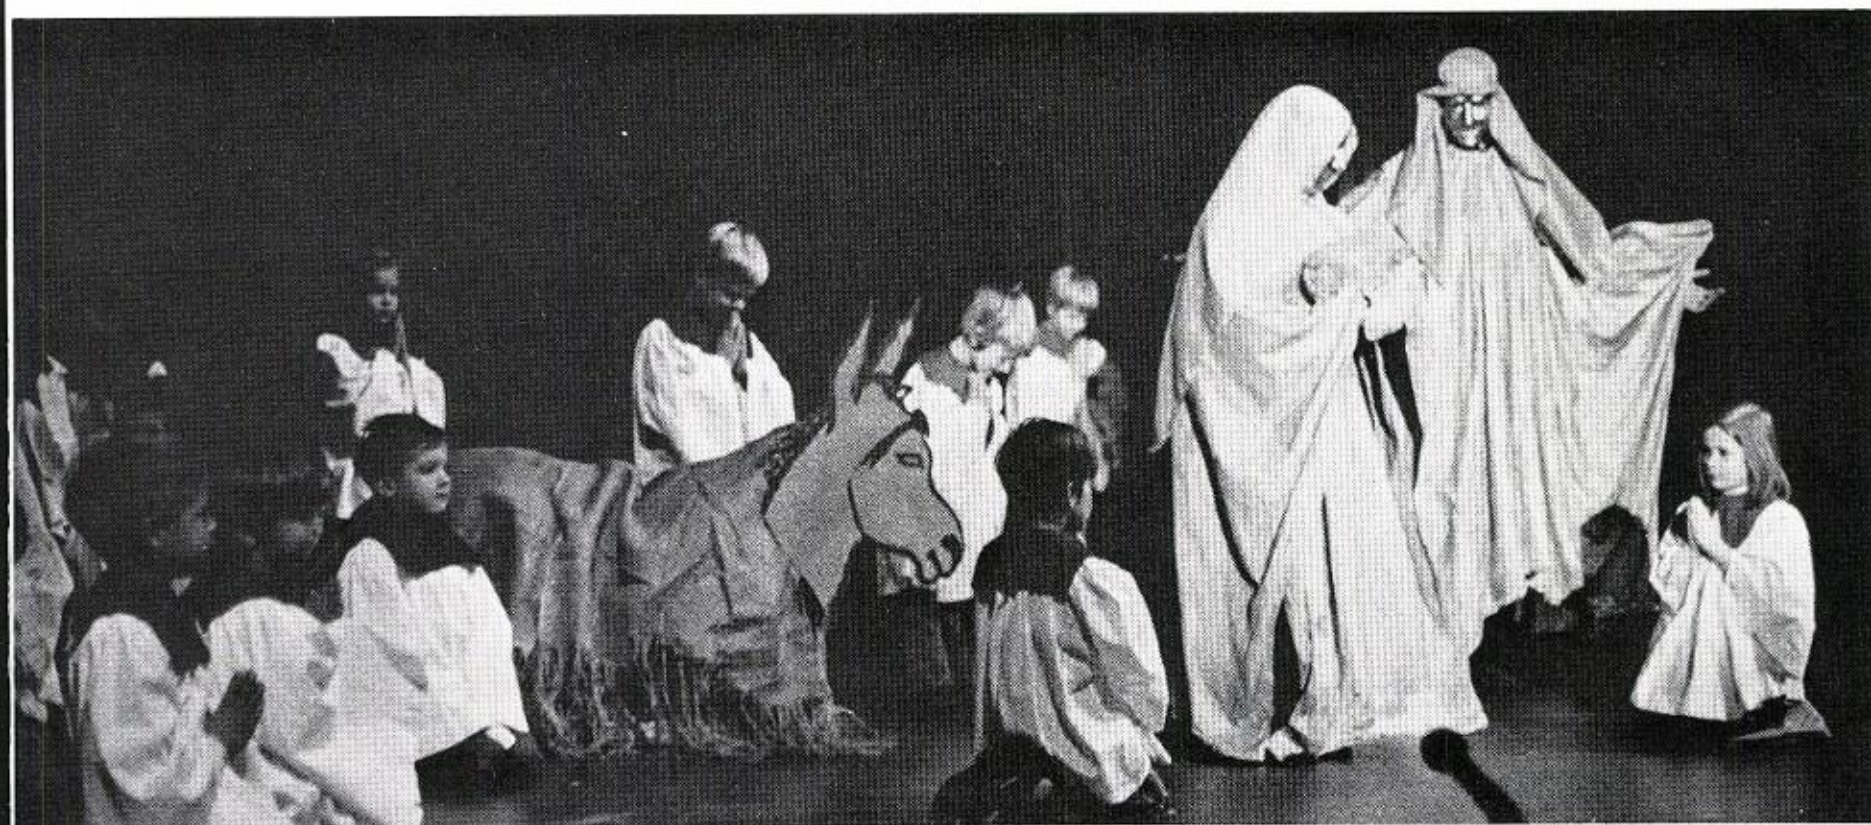

Lakeridge people spread their cheer throughout the area by donating toys and games for needy families. English classes set aside time from their regular classwork to make Christmas cards for the Mountain Park Convalescent Home and other local hospitals. These cards and gifts brought much happiness and were welcome to many lonely people.

Spirit prevailed within our school as well. Decorated trees in the auditorium and commons added gaiety to the school. Lovely Christmas mums were bought from the varsity rally and delivered to the girls in class.

Of course it wouldn't have been Christmas without a visit from good 'ole St. Nick. In an afternoon assembly he and The Company entertained Queen Julie and her court. Then St. Nick, alias Mr. Ben Vose, The Company and the 1972 Christmas Court threw candy canes out to an enthusiastic audience wishing them a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Christmas Court

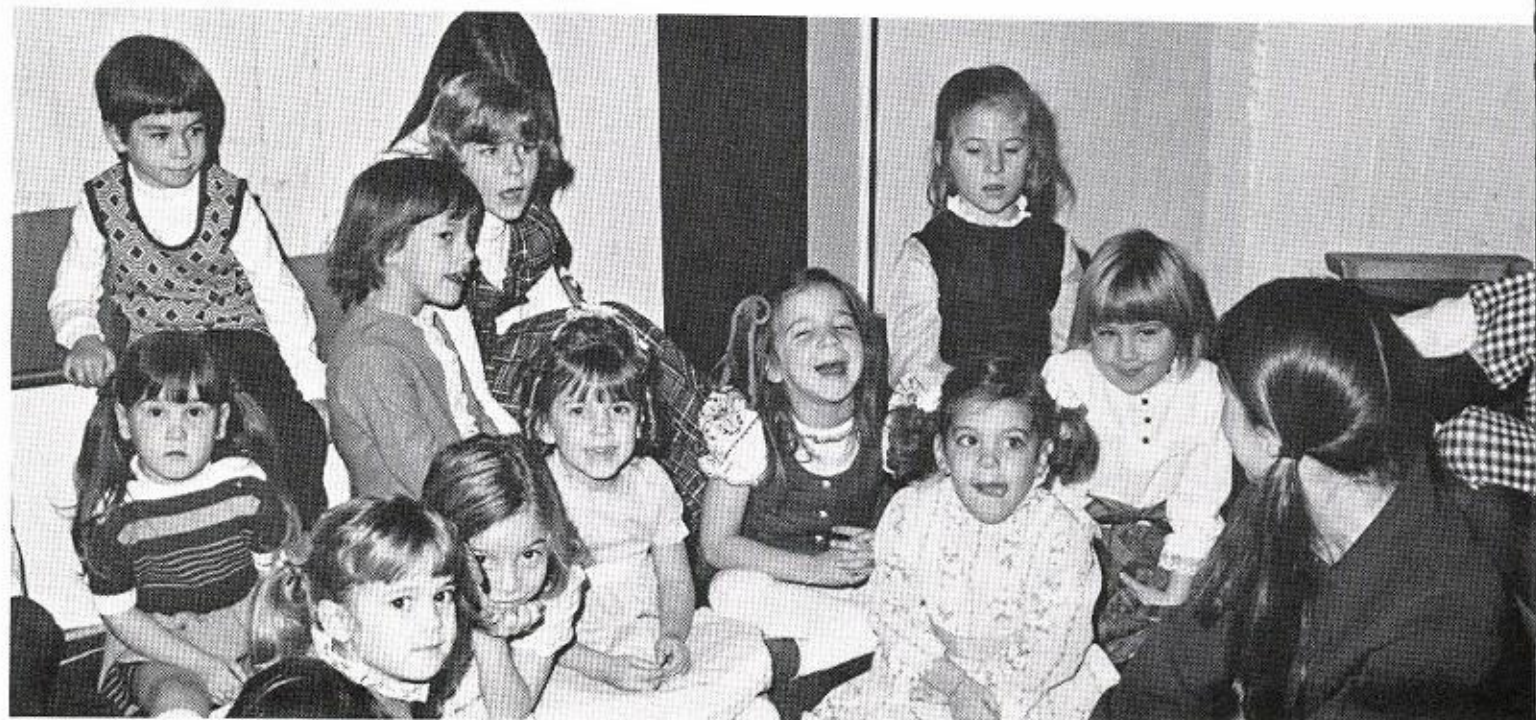

A new and totally different concept was tried this year with the Christmas Court. It was a double court with four girls from each class instead of the usual two. This was done in order to spread more Christmas spirit at the many places they visited.

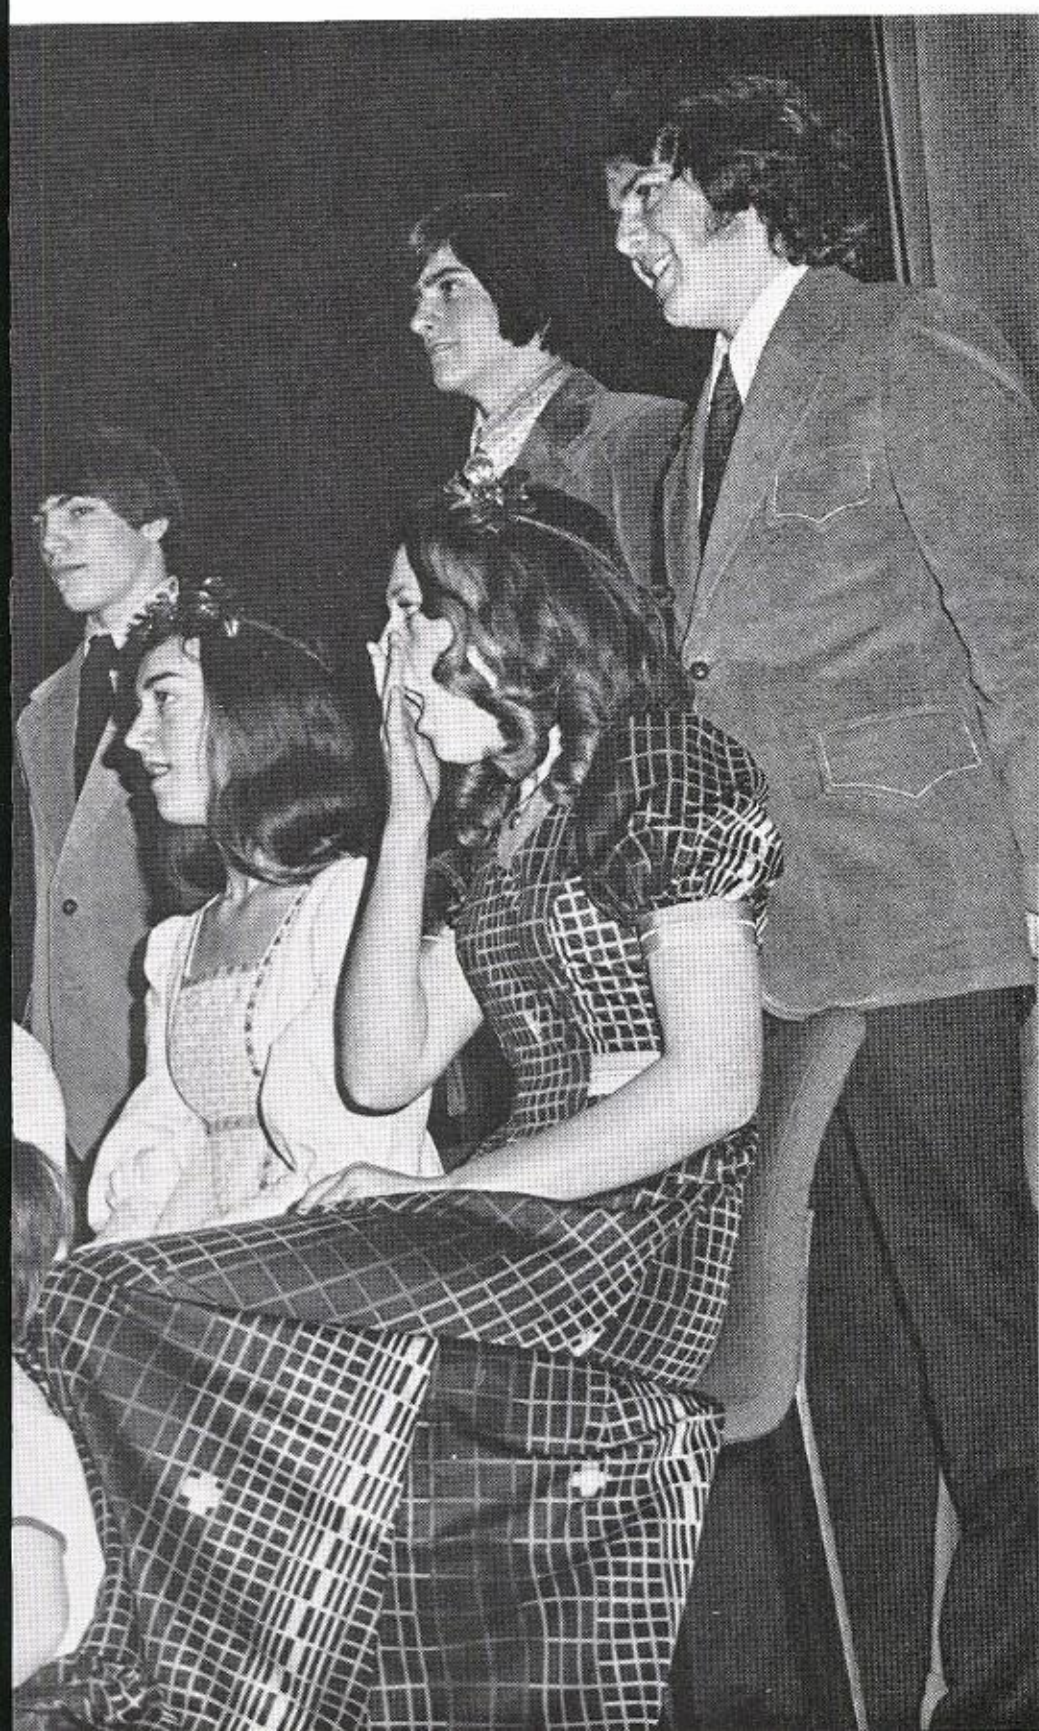

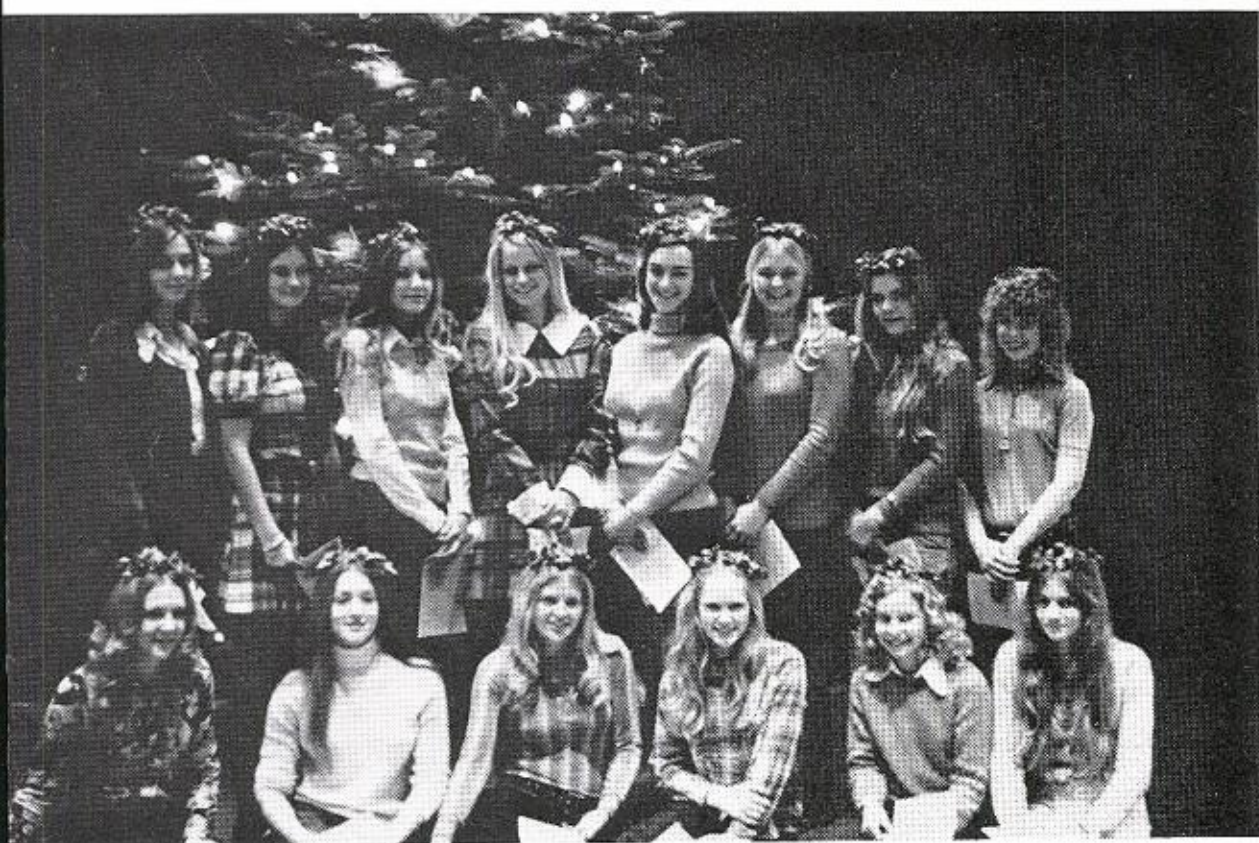

Queen Julie Thomson and freshman princesses Katy Smyth, Janet Poort, Karen Gundersen, Sue Stark; sophomores Kim Knight, Gwen Gundersen, Anne Meurlott, Nancy Rivenburgh, juniors Angie Carroll, Missy Runkel, Laura Girod, Claudia McWilliams; seniors Sue Garside, Shannon Coffel, and Lynn Stirek made up the court.

The first day involved sessions with the photographer and congratulations by other students.

The next day, half of the court went to the children's ward at Good Samaritan Hospital and passed out toys and Christmas cards. The toys were gathered by the students in the "Toys for Tots" drive. The cards were made by the students in their English classes. The rest of the girls went to the L.O. Adult Community Center and decorated it for Christmas. The next week, they all went to the Mountain Park Convalescent Home.

The highlight of the week was the Christmas Dance in which the group Beyond played. The dance was held with L.O.H.S. There, Queen Julie reigned over the night's activities.

Art Work

Students at Lakeridge completed many art projects during the school year. Among the art forms there were sculptures, painting ceramics, drawing, wire sculpture, and jewelry. The work was done in class or as an individual effort during free time.

During May an art exhibit was held. Many students entered art work for the showing. It was a good time for others to see the creativity and imagination of students in a field outside of academics.

Assemblies

The assemblies at Lakeridge High School were of a great variety for both the students and faculty, with all of them being non-mandatory.

Being like most high schools, Lakeridge had its share of pep assemblies to rouse spirit for the Pacer teams. The rallies, band, drill team, faculty and students were all involved in the process. Assemblies were also held for the presentation of athletic awards.

Various court assemblies were held including Homecoming, Christmas, and the all senior May Week court.

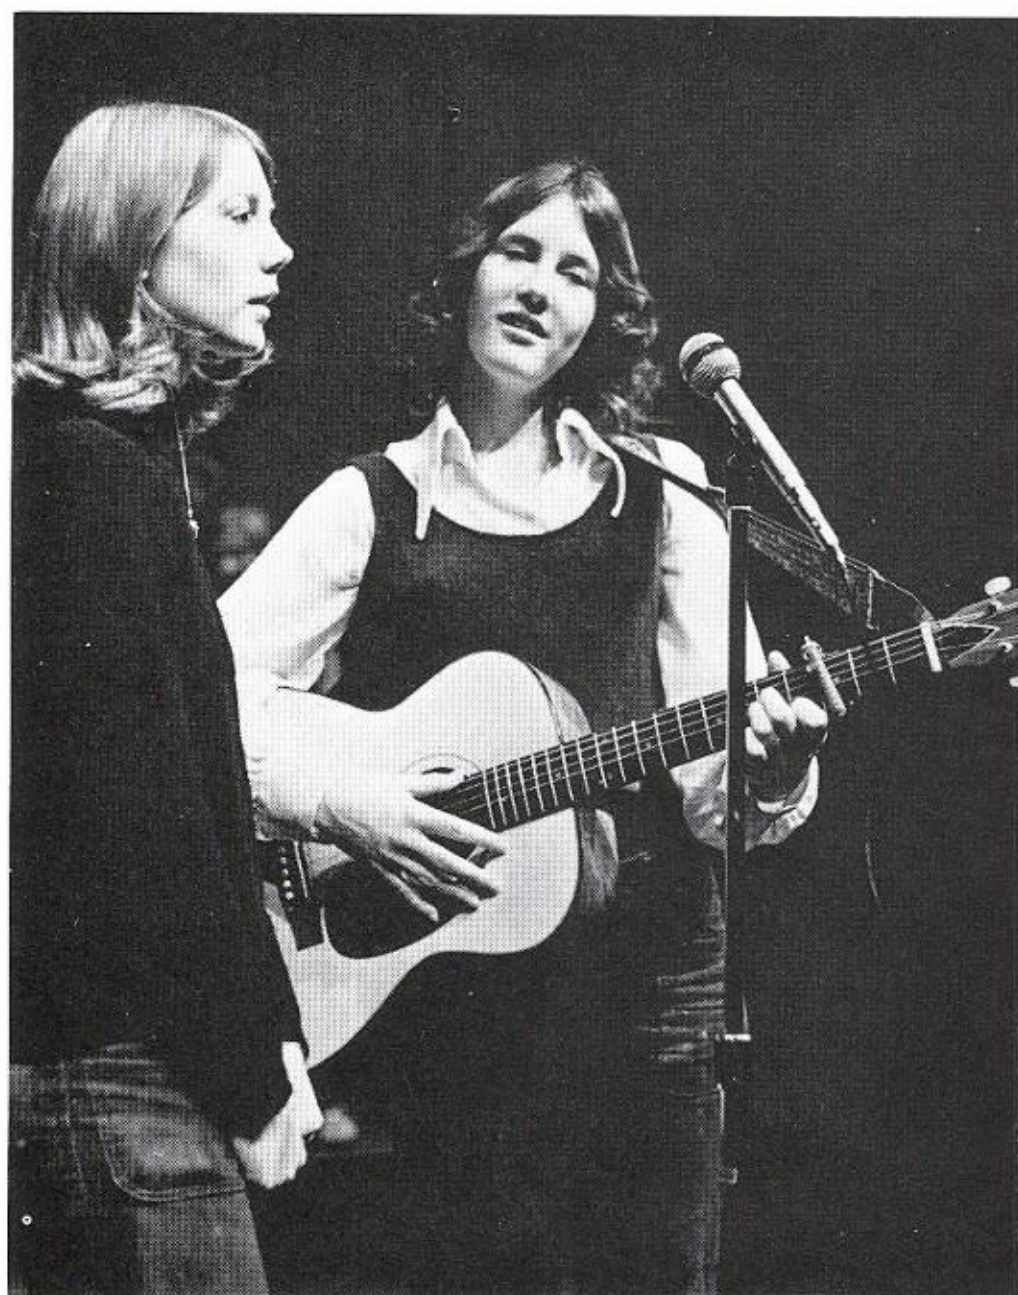

In September a group called The Brethern entertained and later in the year a similar group, Free Fair, were guests

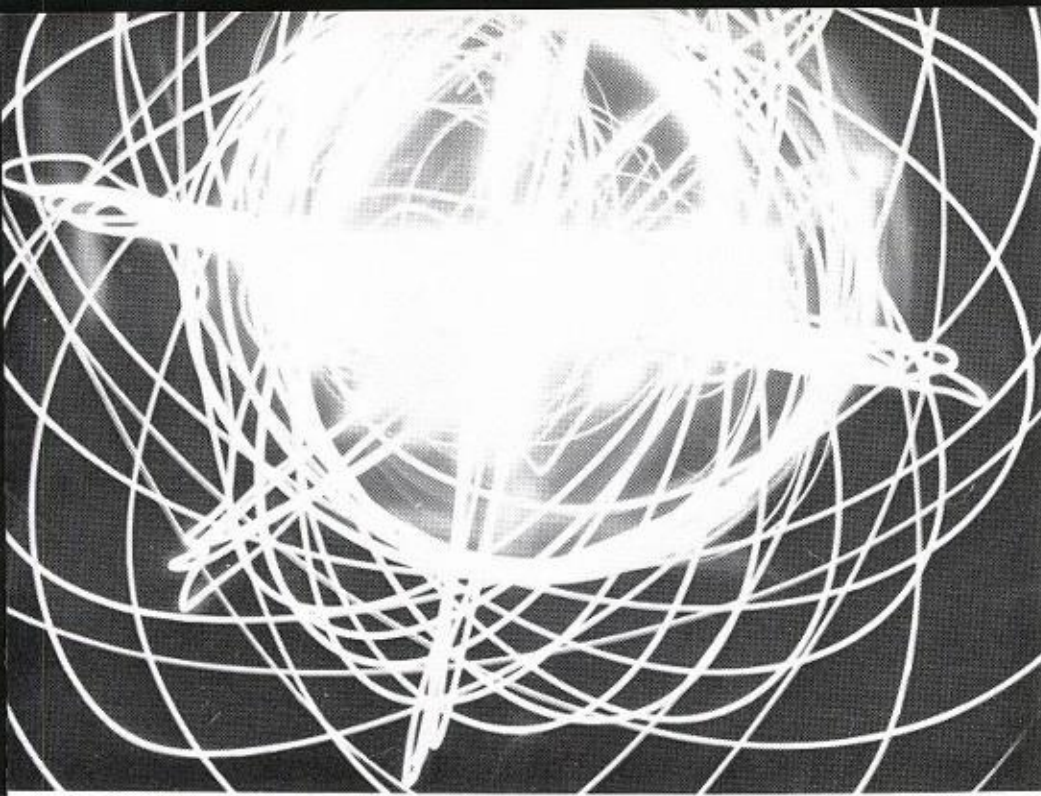

Come December a "Clear the Air" assembly was put on by the Lakeridge Assembly with speakers from the school board on the panel. The audience was able to clear the air with questions directed at the panel. Shortly after this, an assembly was held with AFS'ers from the metropolitan area speaking on their experiences involving the AFS program.

Two unusually fine assemblies were a skiing presentation with speakers from Mt. Hood Meadows, and Lute Jerstade, mountain climbing guide who explained the procedures of mountain climbing.

Winter Play

This year the drama department's winter production was all student directed and produced. Mike Calkins was in charge of all the technical ends of the show, while Mark Chamberlin took charge of the actors.

Stately Sheridan Whiteside visits the home of the Stanleys. His stay is prolonged due to a piece of ice on the doorstep of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Stanley. Through his selfish motives, he manages to drive the family crazy. Finally after he is forced to leave and the family starts relaxing, he falls again and the curtain closes.

Part of the set was borrowed from Beaverton High School but it was assembled and repaired differently by crews after and school and on weekends.

The success of the all student play showed a possibility for future activities of this nature.

SPRING

When a child first climbs his mountain
Up a forbidding maze of wooden chairs
Easing on to the window sill
Watching in wonder at the universe outside,
A bird glides down through a nearby tree
The child's eyes sweep back and forth
Fixed on the wandering beauty of freedom
As it lands so near the window,
Slowly and with great caution
One small hand, anxious to explore, reaches out
But a cold pane of glass pushes him back
Holding captive all that yearns to be set free
Off he goes, finding his toys to play with
While the wonder of spring waits alone
He is contented for the rest of the day
Wasting this most precious time away.

Frosh Baseball

Pleased with the large turnout this year, Coach Rich Anderson led the freshman baseball team through another season. Provided with good hitters and pitchers, the Pacers wound up the year owning a respectable 7-13 record.

Lakeridge also relied throughout the year on a sound defense. The infield was anchored by quick shortstop Marc Caplan, the team's best fielder. Helping out was first baseman Sy Woodbury, outfielder Mike Cranswick, John Nelson, and Joe Abood.

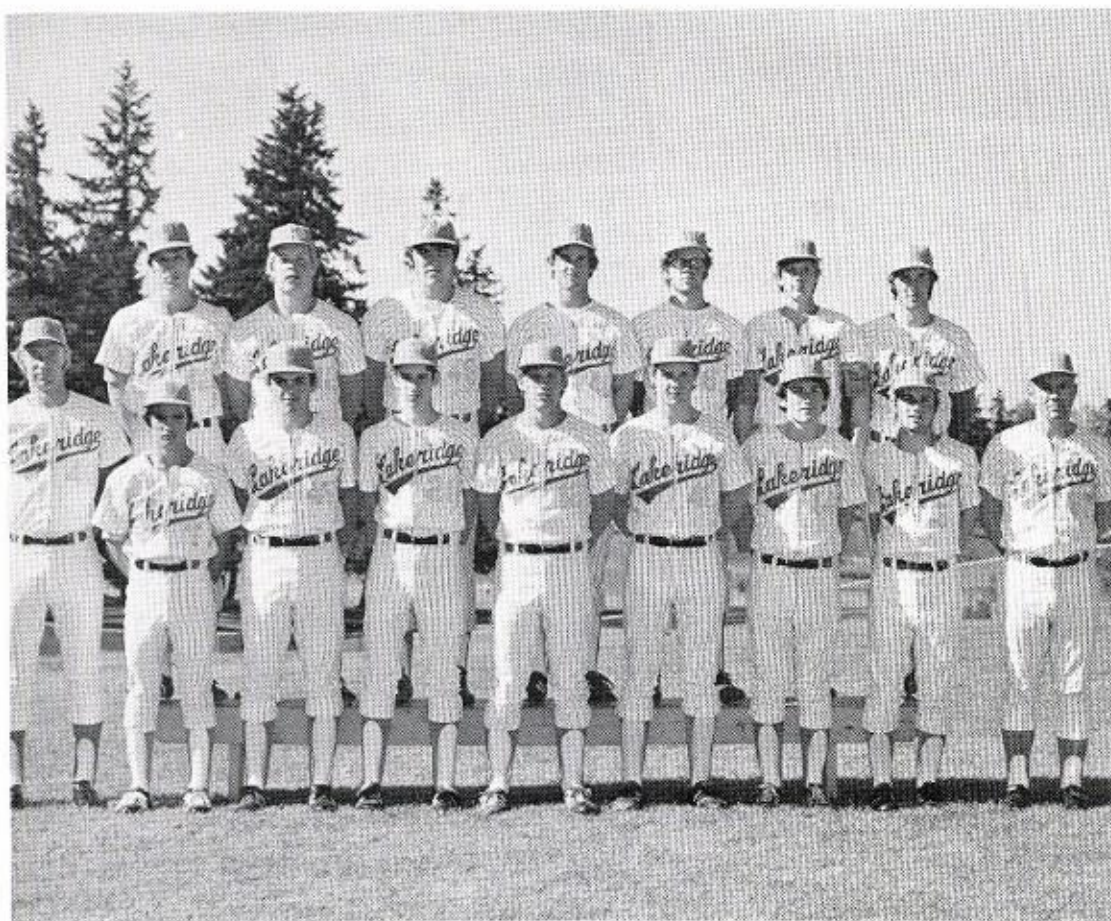

Good pitching proved to be one of Lakeridge's greatest assets. Glen Corey, Mike Cranswick and Sy Woodbury kept opponents' scores down all year long. After some early bad weather, the teams pitching picked up along with individual records.

Rounding out the attack were some fine hitting prospects. Greg Herren, Rob Lee, Paul Gianotti, Sy Woodbury and Brad Canfield all hit for average and with good power. The Pacer bats were the key to a strong finish of a season which saw all the players gain needed experience.

Varsity Baseball

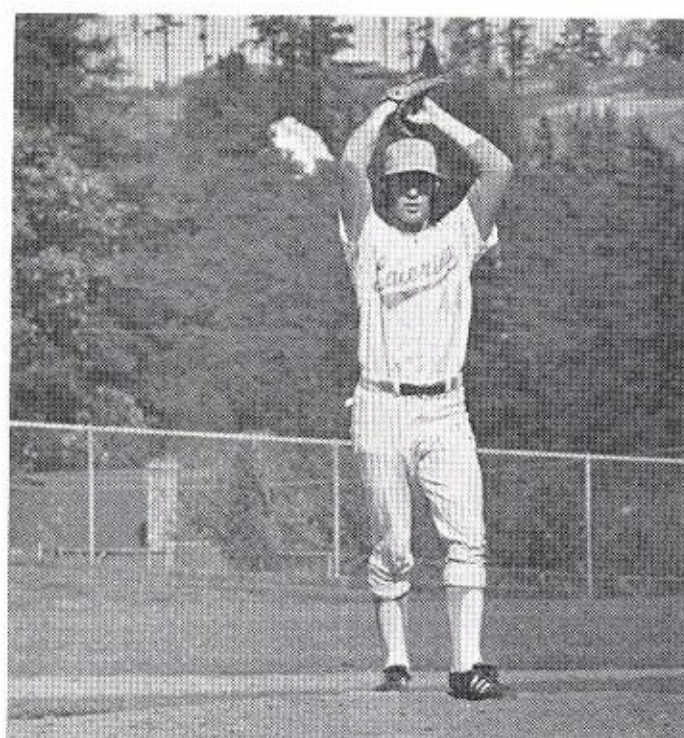

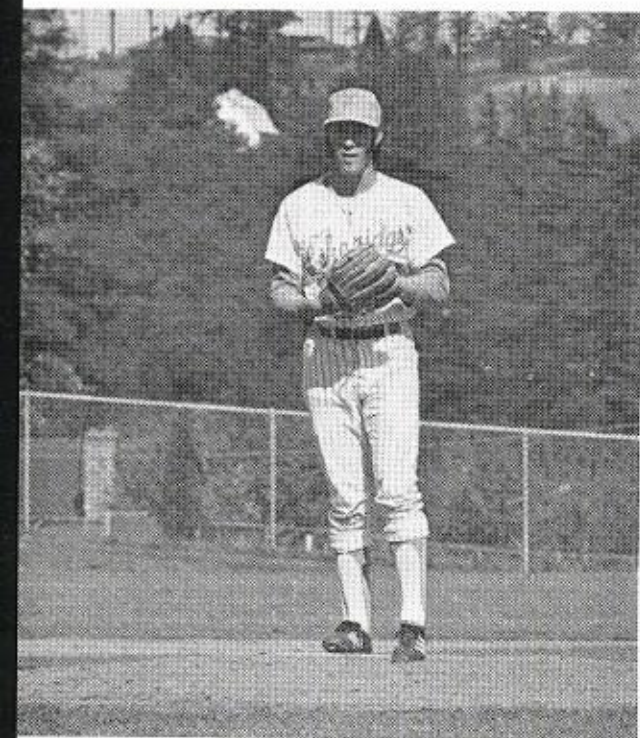

Under the guidance of two new coaches the Lakeridge baseball team finished as the dominating force in their division. Head Coach Royce McDaniels and assistant Jack Serven were both new to the program and introduced some new ideas to the young team.

The Pacers had the Willamette division title virtually clinched by mid-season when they owned an unblemished record. Losing only one league game to Clackamas, they ended the season with an 18-1 Wilco record and 34-8 mark over all. At a coaches meeting in May more Lakeridge players were voted to the all-league team than any other school. Tim Anderson, Dennis Peterson, Scott Anderson, Glenn Heard and John Pigott were all named to the first team.

For the second straight year at the season's end the Pacers were matched against The Dalles to decide the Wilco League championship. Entering the best-of-three series Lakeridge was favored to win but faced bitter disappointment. The Pacers lost two close games in the late innings forcing their season to an abrupt end.

JV Baseball

The Lakeridge JV baseball team, made up predominately of sophomores, finished their Wilco League schedule with a 10-9 record. Headed by Coach Charlie Nipp, the team highlighted their season with wins over Lake Oswego and Putnam.

A tough pitching staff with good depth was the greatest asset the Pacers had. Mike O'Donnell and Tim Piggott were the main starters for the team and rarely ran into any trouble. But when needed Coach Nipp had a tough bull pen to go to. Pat Crowell and Steve Black were the late-inning stoppers, both proved valuable in the clutch.

Defensive strength, teamed with good hitting, provided a sound infield. Chuck Sauvain, Mike Silcox, Steve Kern, Tim Piggott and Steve Black collectively had one of the best fielding percentages in the league. Power hitting for Lakeridge was catcher Greg Way. Greg led the team in home runs and by mid-season had opponents pitching carefully to him.

Track

The 1973 track season proved to be a most successful one with the team placing first in district and thirteenth in state.

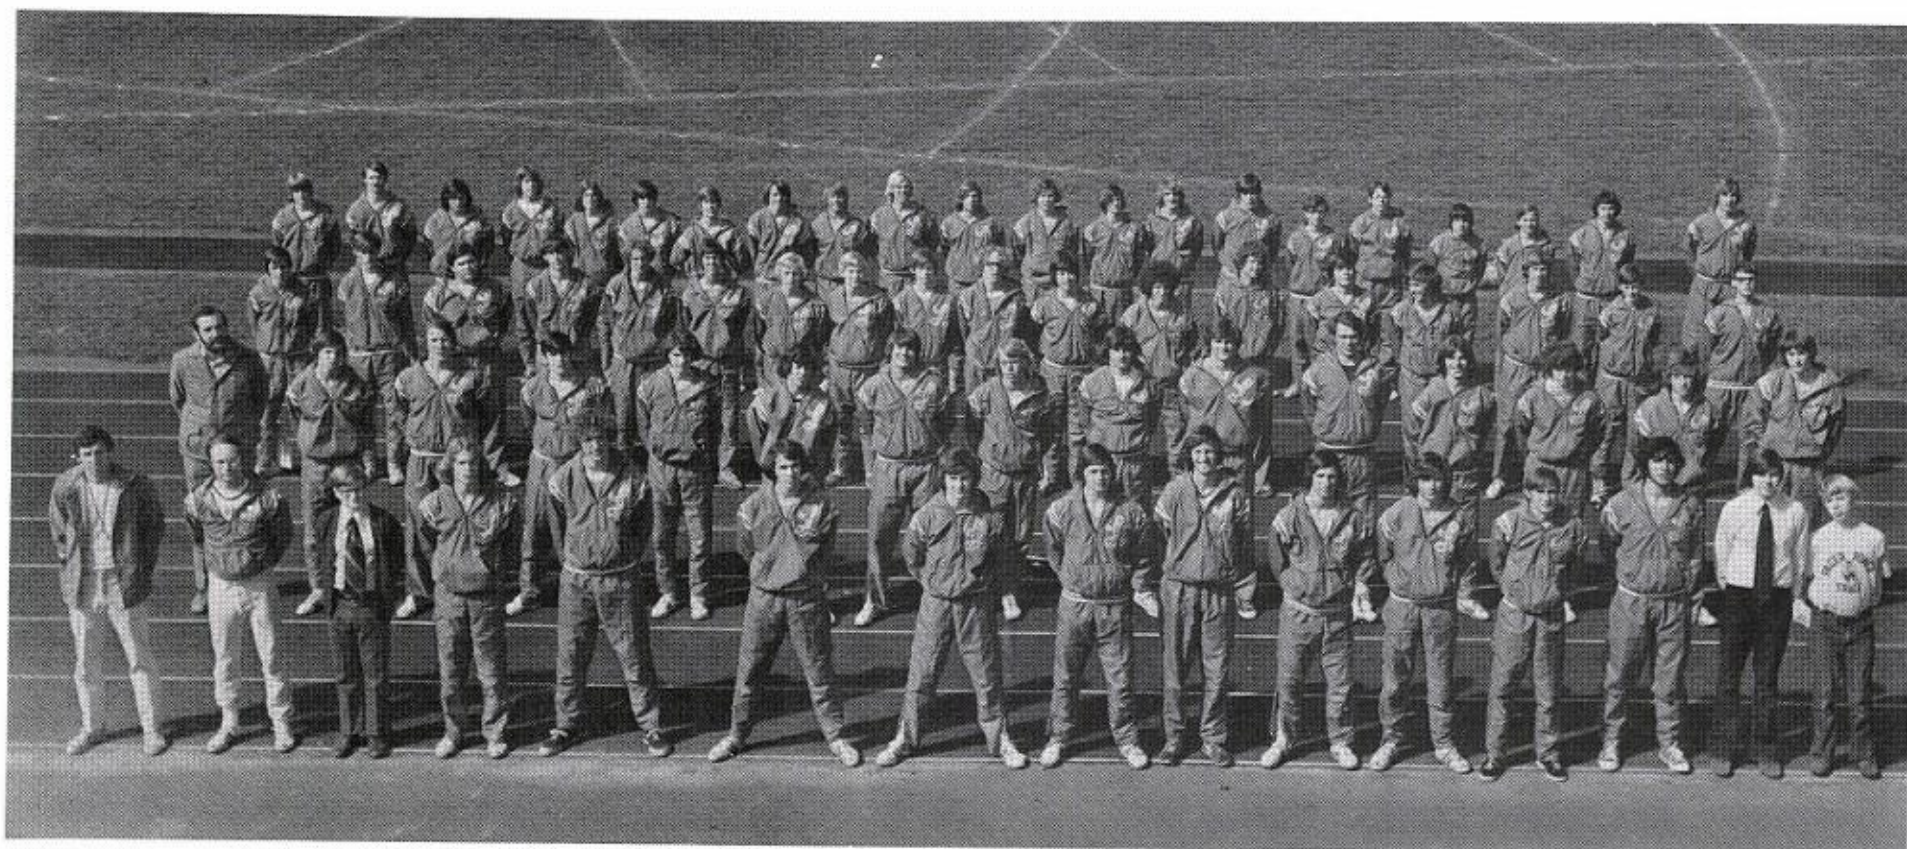

Starting with practice in early March, the track team ran through rough daily practices to get the out-of-shape in shape and the already-in shape in better shape. Then came the rough time, trying to get the boys mentally as well as physically ready for the meets.

Lakeridge lost two meets all season, while winning seven. Every school record except three were broken. The team became better and better as the season pushed on. After losing two of their first 4 meets, the track team went undefeated for 6 straight meets including district.

At district Lakeridge scored a record setting 91 points and qualified ten people for state. Those people were: Bruce Silvers, javelin; Bob Wagner, high jump; Bill Reynar, 100 and 200 yard dash, 440 and mile relay; Terry Crabtree, 100 and 440 yard dash; Greg Lamb, 440 relay; Doug Klein, 440 relay; Nick Pothes, mile relay; Scott Anderson, mile relay; and Tony Kellen, mile run and mile relay.

At state they placed 13th. Bill Reynar captured fifth in 220 while Tony Keller got seventh in the mile run. The 440 relay (Doug Klein, Terry Crabtree, Bill Reynar, Greg Lamb) placed second with a time of 42.9 tying the old record. The mile relay placed seventh with a time of 3:26.9. Overall the track team had a very successful season.

Girls Track

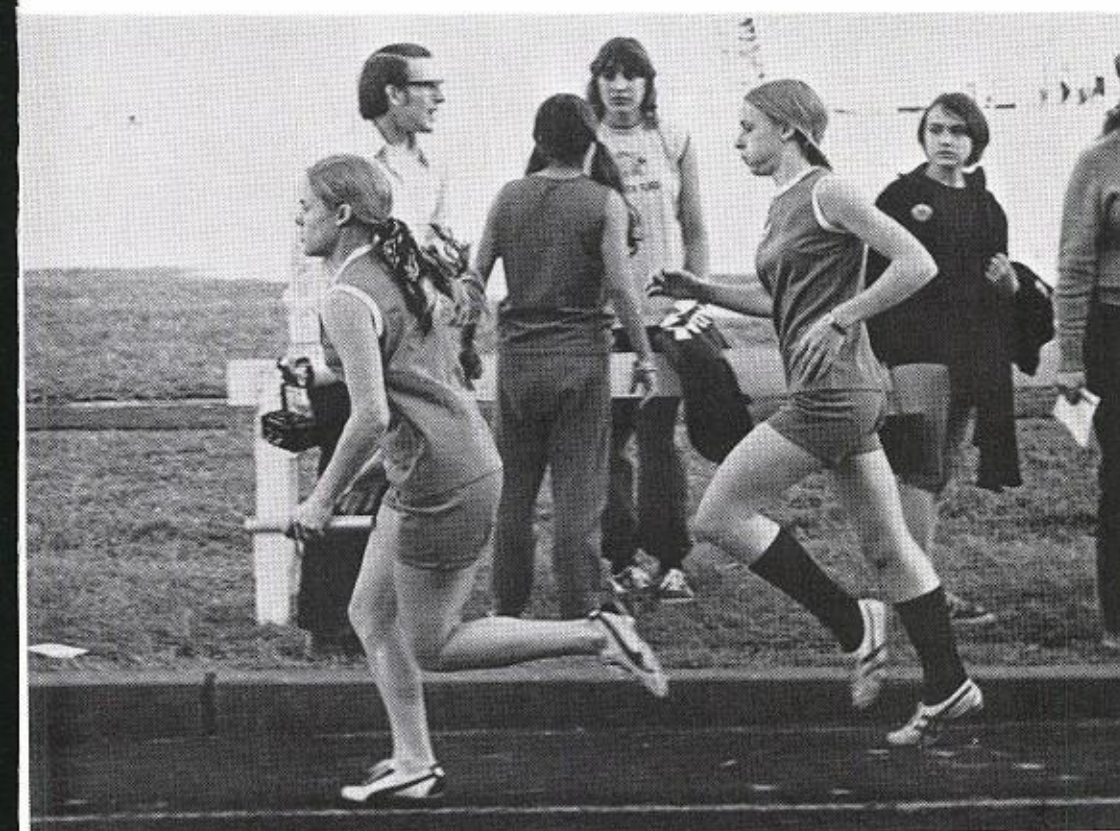

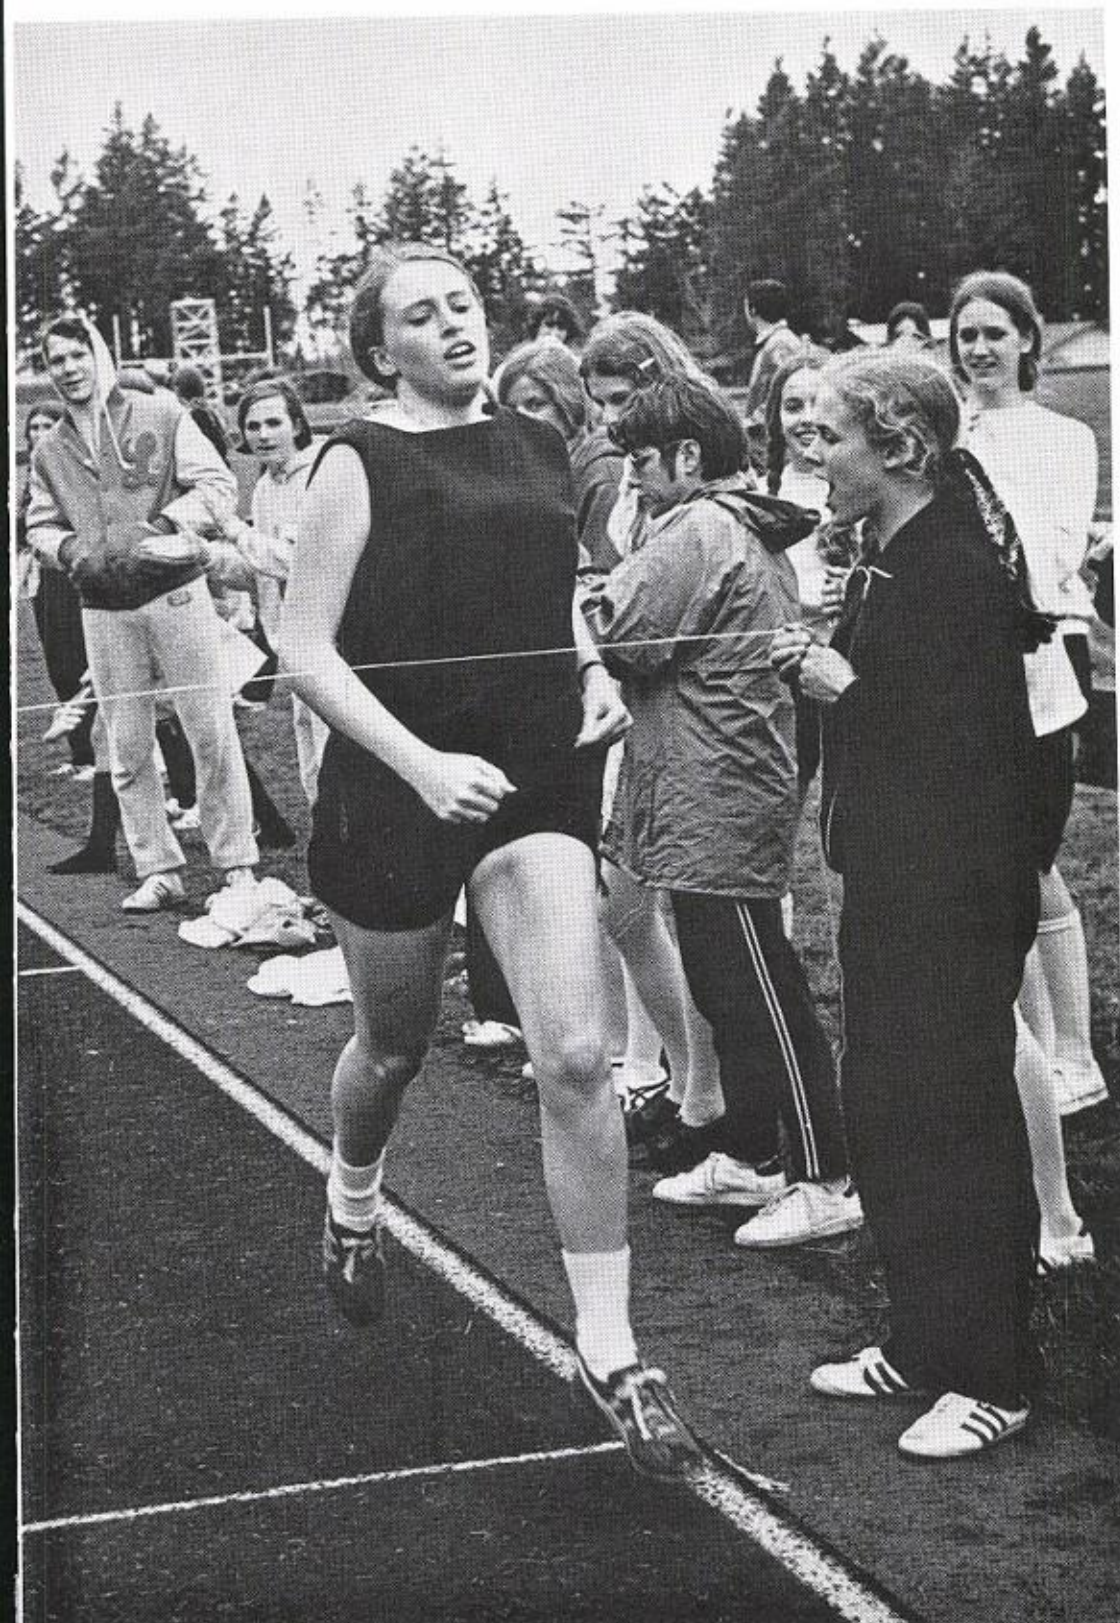

The girls track team had an excellent season this year suffering only one loss. They placed seventh in the Wilco relays at the beginning of the season and have improved steadily since then.

The girls worked out for an hour and a half every day. These workouts paid off as the team increased in strength and endurance.

The team placed fourth at district and sent Dee Dee Miller, Jan Zender, Carey Critchlow, and the relay team of Lynn Kuse, Jan Zender, Dee Dee Miller and Carey Critchlow to state. Once at state Dee Dee Miller placed third in the hurdles and Jan Zender placed seventh in the 440.

The team was coached by Mrs. Cathy Stiehl and Mrs. Doris Ramey with some assistance from Mr. Les Tipton and Mr. Keith Hurdstrom.

The 1973 golf season was a very good one for the boys team. Under the direction of Mr. John Fassotti, the boys worked hard and finished with a league record of eleven wins and three losses.

The high point of the season was the district tournament. The boys played well at district and placed fourth.

Girls Golf

With Coach Dave Pappin, the girls golf team put forth effort and strength this year. Their season was rough with strong competition.

Malia Folquet proved to be a strong golfer. She was the only Lakeridge golfer that qualified for state. She did well at the state tournament placing fifth.

Girls Tennis

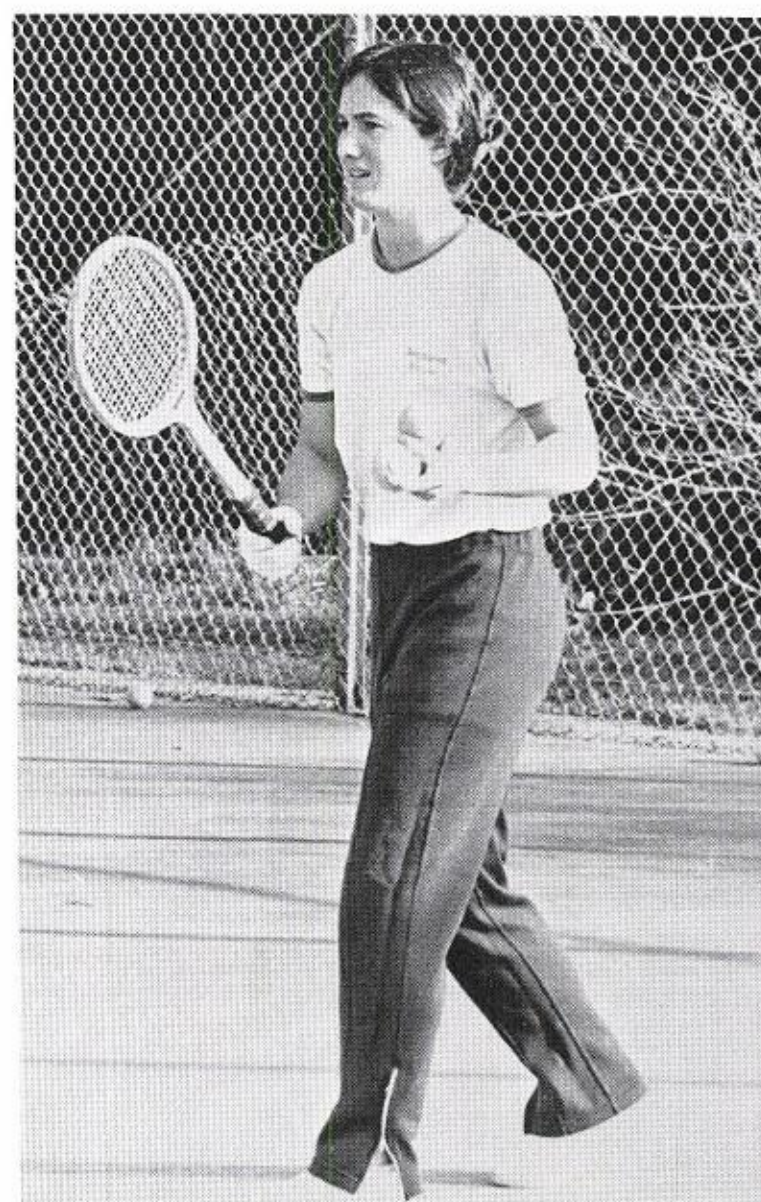

The girls 1973 tennis team worked hard with many afternoon practice sessions.

In singles, Jean Dreyer held first position, with Marcy Neuburg and Julie Young following a close second and third.

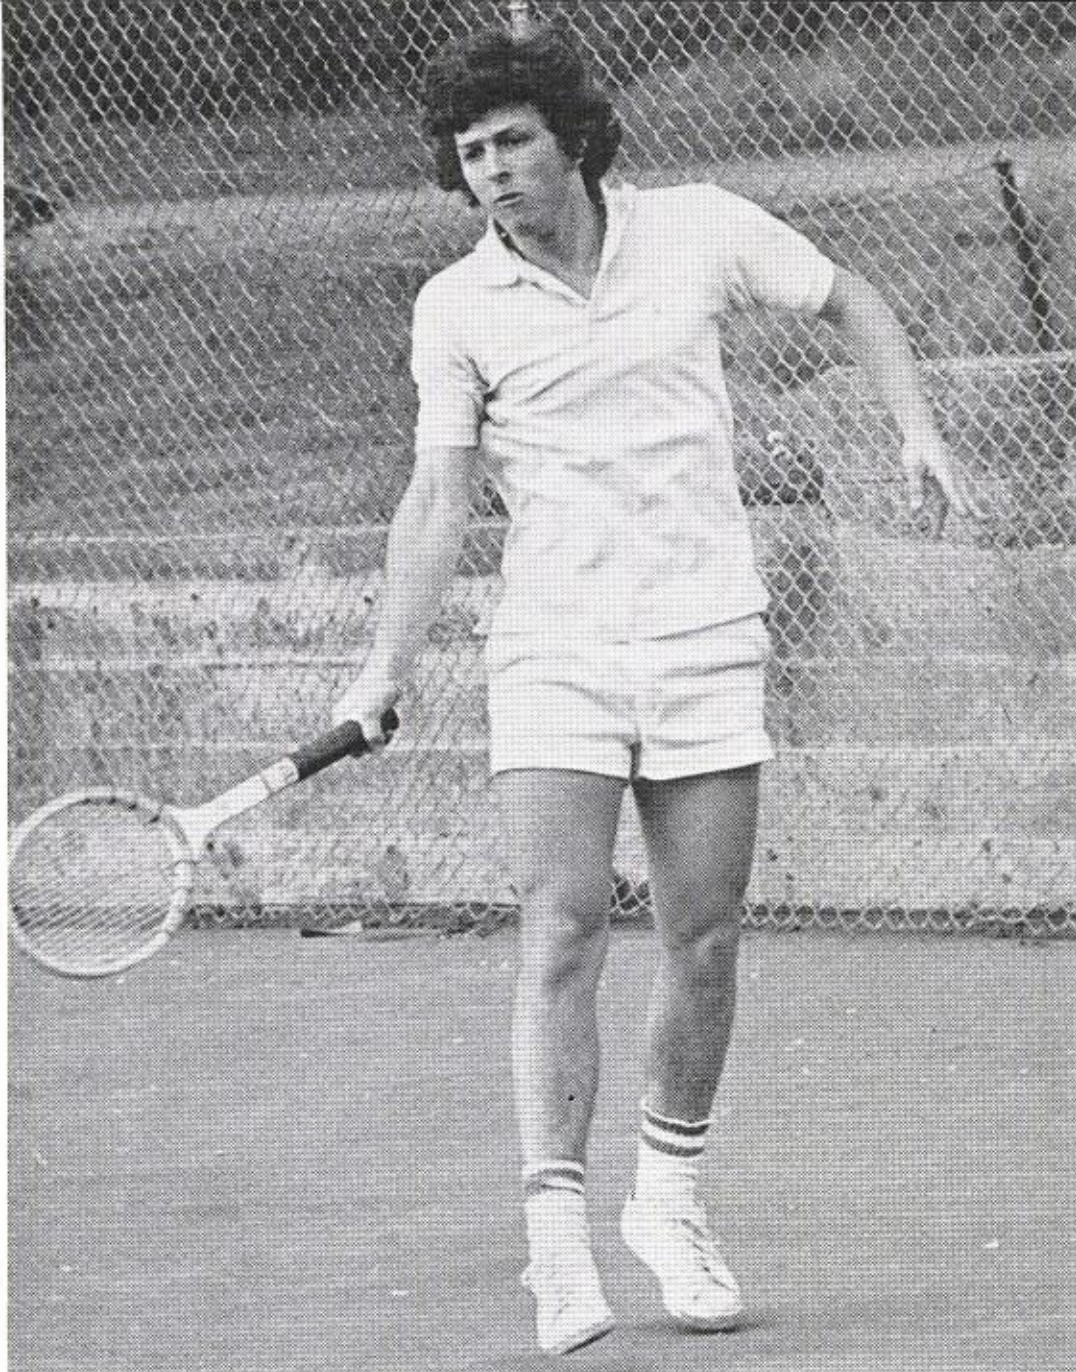

The only undefeated doubles team were sophomores Vanessa Purdy and Nancy Rivenburgh.

Juniors Martha Inskeep, Mary Lou Yoakum, sophomores Mary Pat Gionotti, Mary Schick, and Ellen Phillips, a freshman, completed the ten man team, coached by Pete McHugh from Rivergrove Elementary School.

The 1973 boys tennis team consisted of nine members. Of these nine players, Randy Lenz was the only returning varsity letterman. Players receiving varsity letters for 1973 were Mark Wolfe, Craig Moodhe, John Chaney, Dave Parrish, Jeff Bonnington, and Jeff Stewart.

Coach Jim Cooke has great optimism concerning the team's future. He stated, "As a team we had very little competitive experience."

The Lakeridge boys tennis team finished the season placing Lakeridge behind Lake Oswego, Clackamas, The Dalles, and Gresham.

Spring Play

"Little Mary Sunshine," the take off on Nelson Eddie and Jeanette McDonald, proved to be a successful production. This was due to the direction of Mr. Ben Vose, choreography of Miss Vicki Vose, and the hard work of the cast and crew.

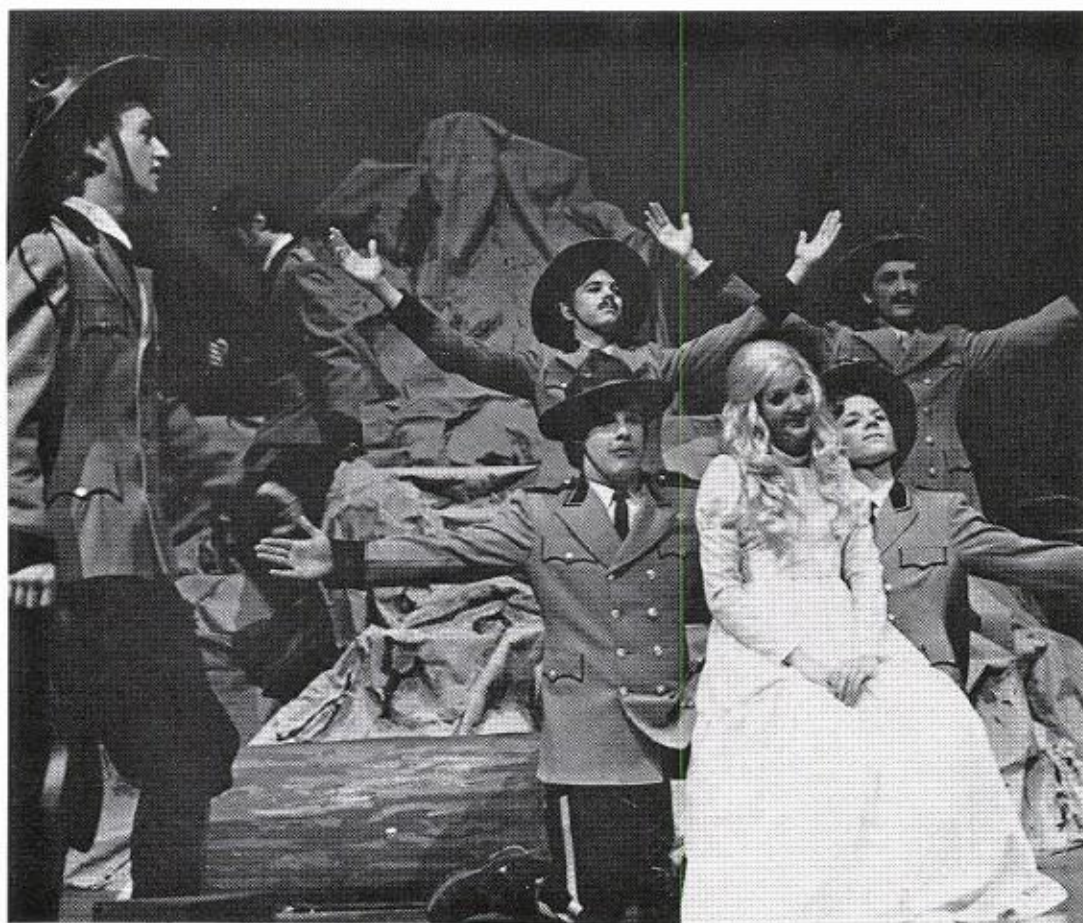

This was the first musical attempted by Vose. His cousin, Vicki Vose, was in the Hilton production of "Little Mary Sunshine," and arranged the dances at Lakeridge. In comparing the two shows she said that they were very different because of Lakeridge's open thrust stage whereas the Hilton used the cafe style of theatre.

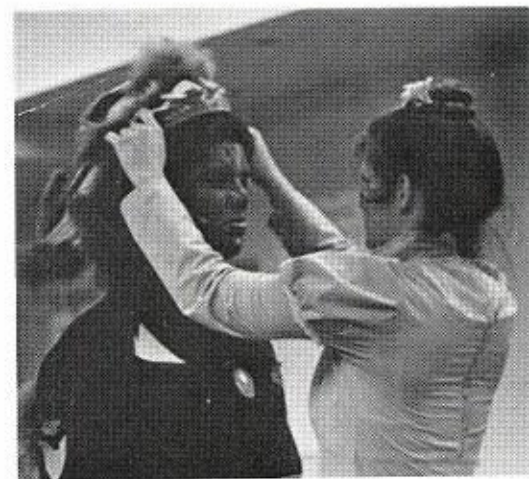

The crew worked very hard to get everything finished on time. Included were costumes, make-up designs, lighting plots, and the mountain set. Mr. Les Tipton and his students designed and executed the elaborate set.

The actors and actresses were not only involved with lines, but learned songs, dance steps, and the timing of Mr. Dale Cleland and the orchestra. Mr. Merlin Gackle was a tremendous help with the music and interpretation.

Lakeridge took one more step toward exploring new techniques in theatre. The success of "Little Mary Sunshine" opens the doors to future musical productions.

May Week

This year's May Week added to the beginning traditions of Lakeridge. A month before May Week preparations were being made. With a theme and backdrop to plan, meetings and rehearsals took place. Excitement began to build which encircled everyone.

On Monday morning, the special events officially began with Dave Wolfe, Dave Cesca, Bruce Newhouse and Steve Lawless, masters of ceremonies, announcing the eight princesses.

The faculty sponsored a wheelbarrow race, complete with obstacles which was held on Tuesday. There was a team from each class and four from the faculty, who were the victors.

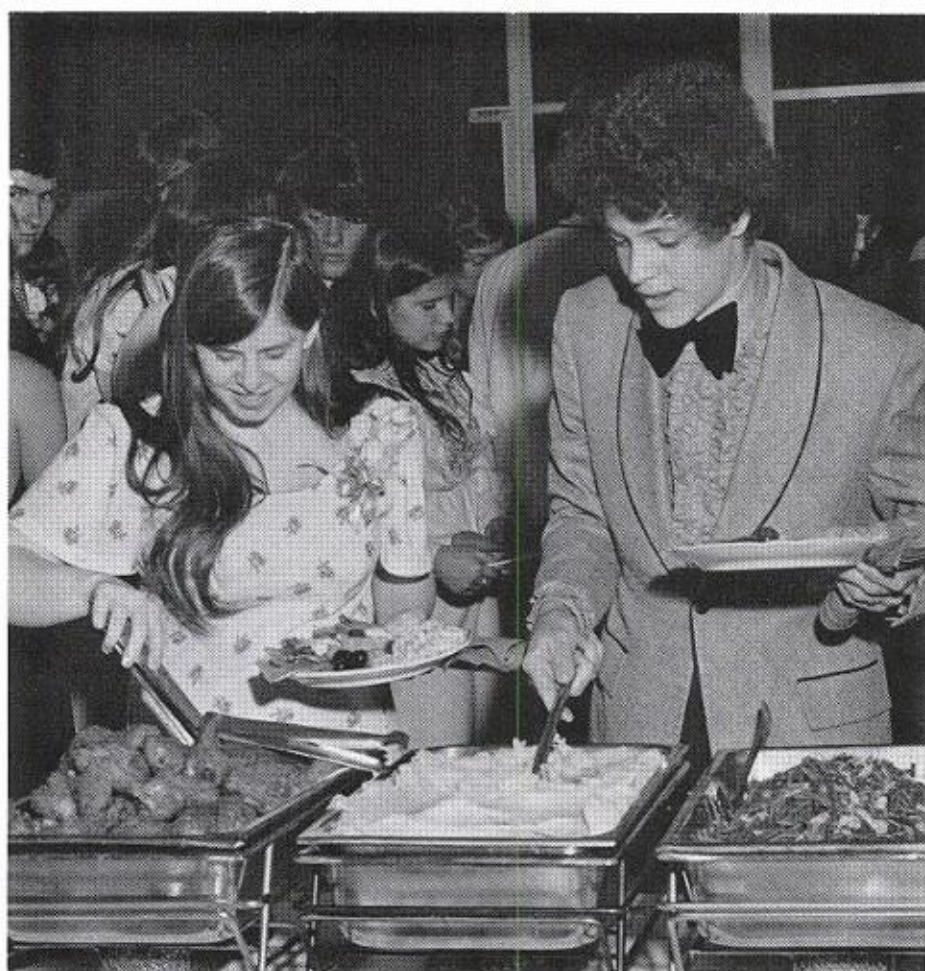

Ballet du Lac put on a performance Wednesday afternoon, Community Day. That evening there was a Generation Gap dinner and dance. Two bands played, one for students and the other for the adults. Everyone danced and enjoyed the variety of music.

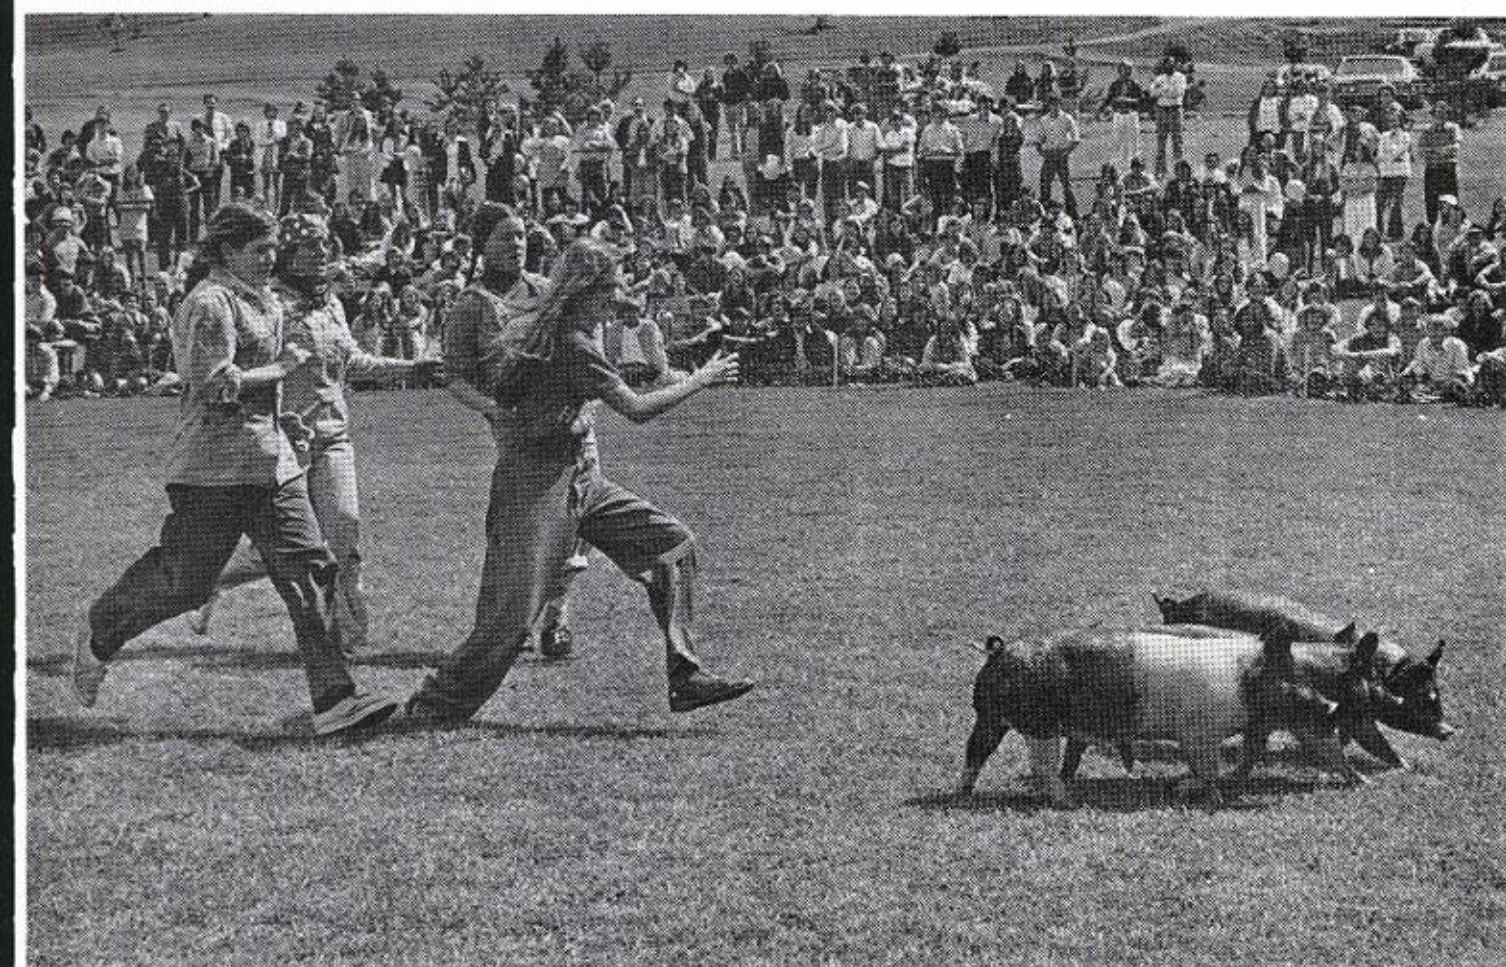

Students were dismissed at 1 p.m. on Thursday to attend a Variety Show and a greased pig chase.

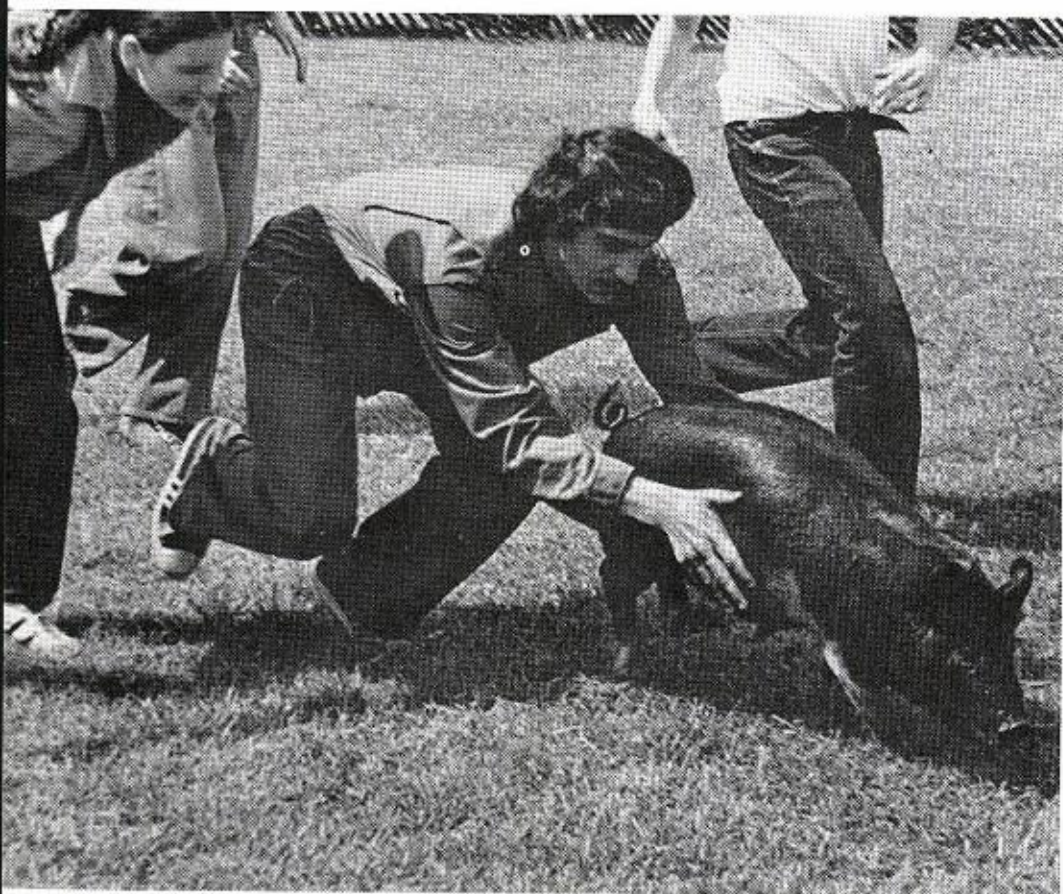

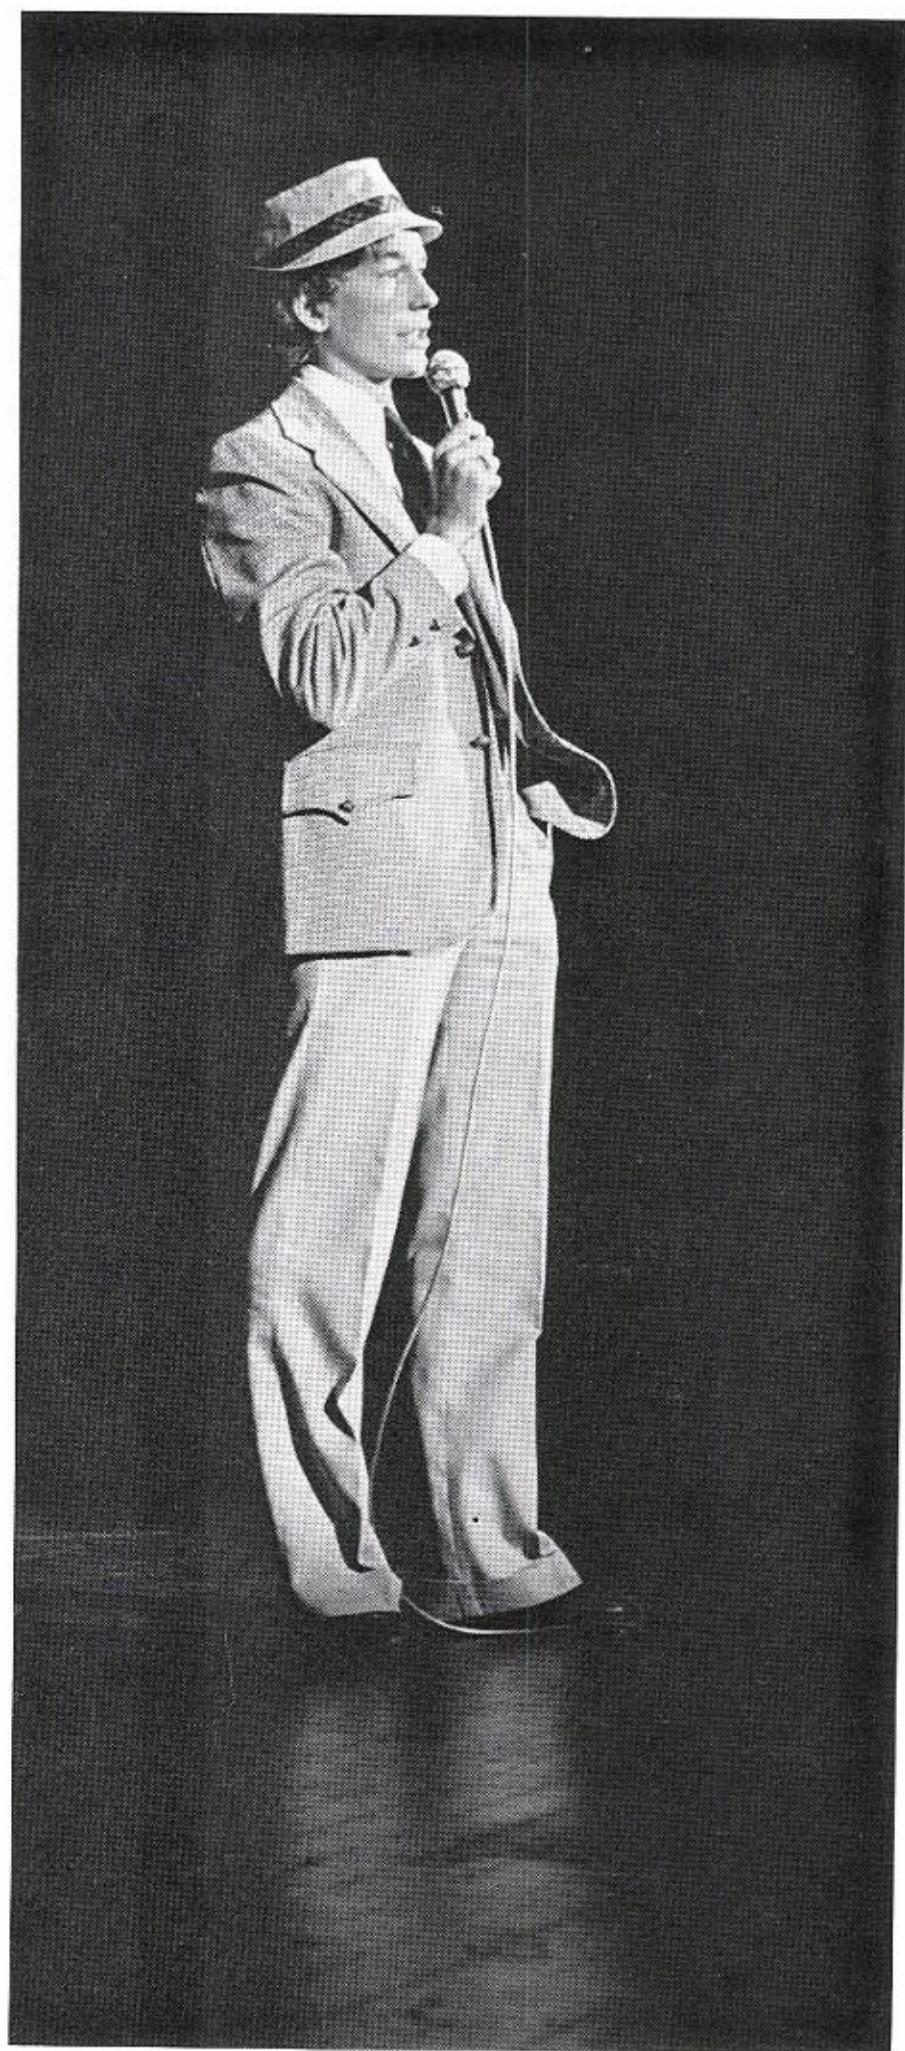

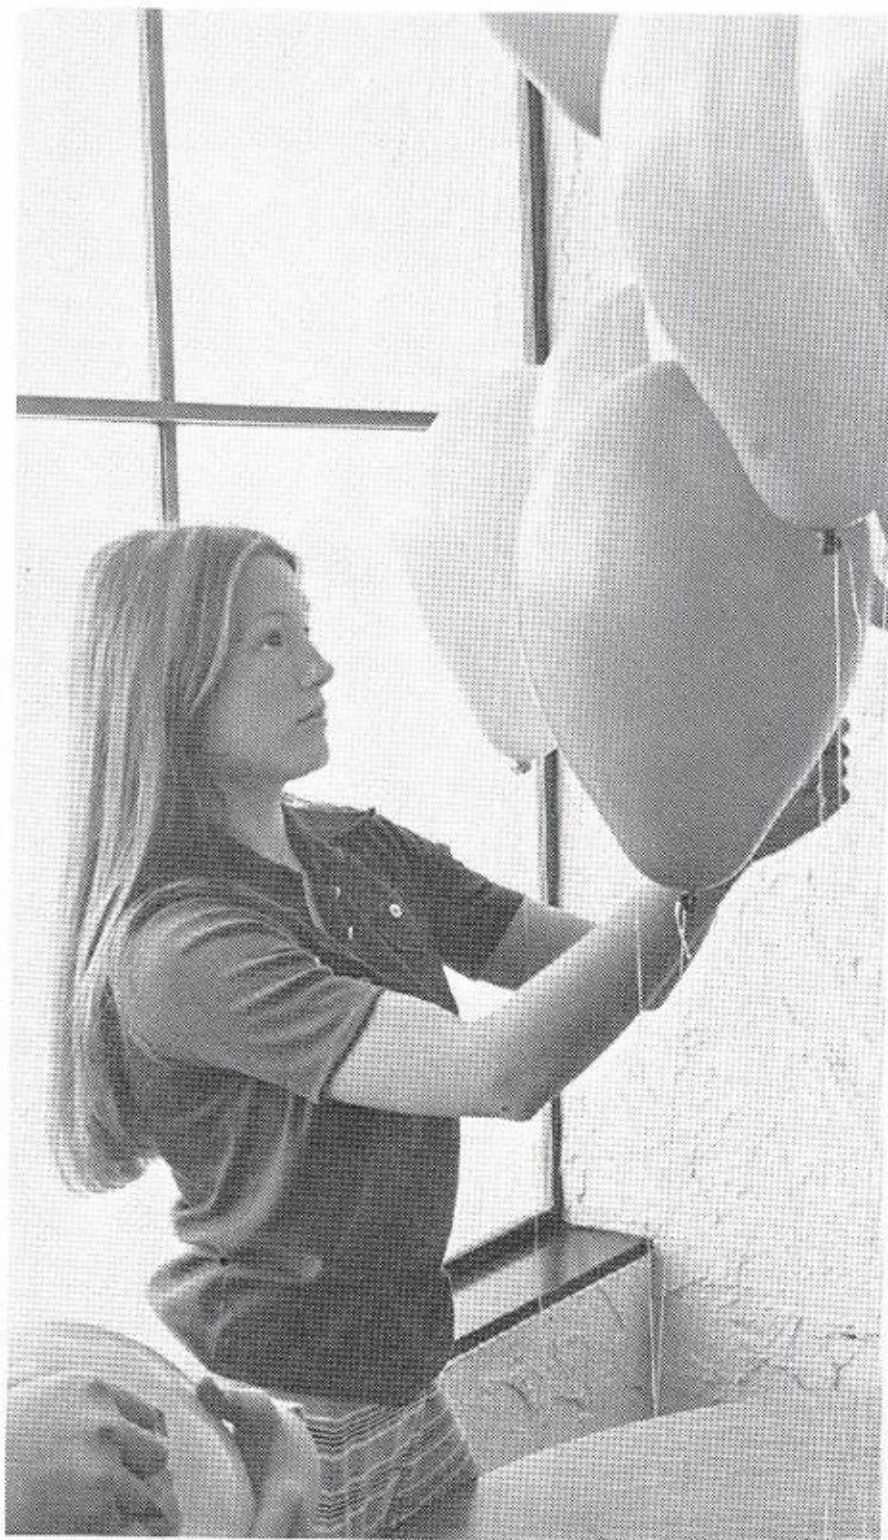

The all-school picnic planned for Friday had to be moved inside due to poor weather. While balloons, watermelon and baked goods were being sold, the band, "Morning After," played in the commons for everyone awaiting the afternoon assembly in which Consuelo Grossi was crowned queen.

Queen Consuelo reigned over the Junior-Senior Prom held at the Top of the Cosmo Saturday night, May 5. The group, "United Attractions" entertained. A buffet supper followed, officially ending May Week of 1973.

May Week Court

Sunshine greeted the newly named May Week Court Monday, April 30. The girls named were Sheryl Barclay, Mary Jane Headlee, Linda Glaudin, Shannon Coffel, Consuelo Grossi, Dana Lind, Debbie Dahlstrom, and Sandy Zikeli. These girls reigned over the week's activities which included a wheelbarrow race, a variety show, a greased pig chase, a picnic and a generation gap dance.

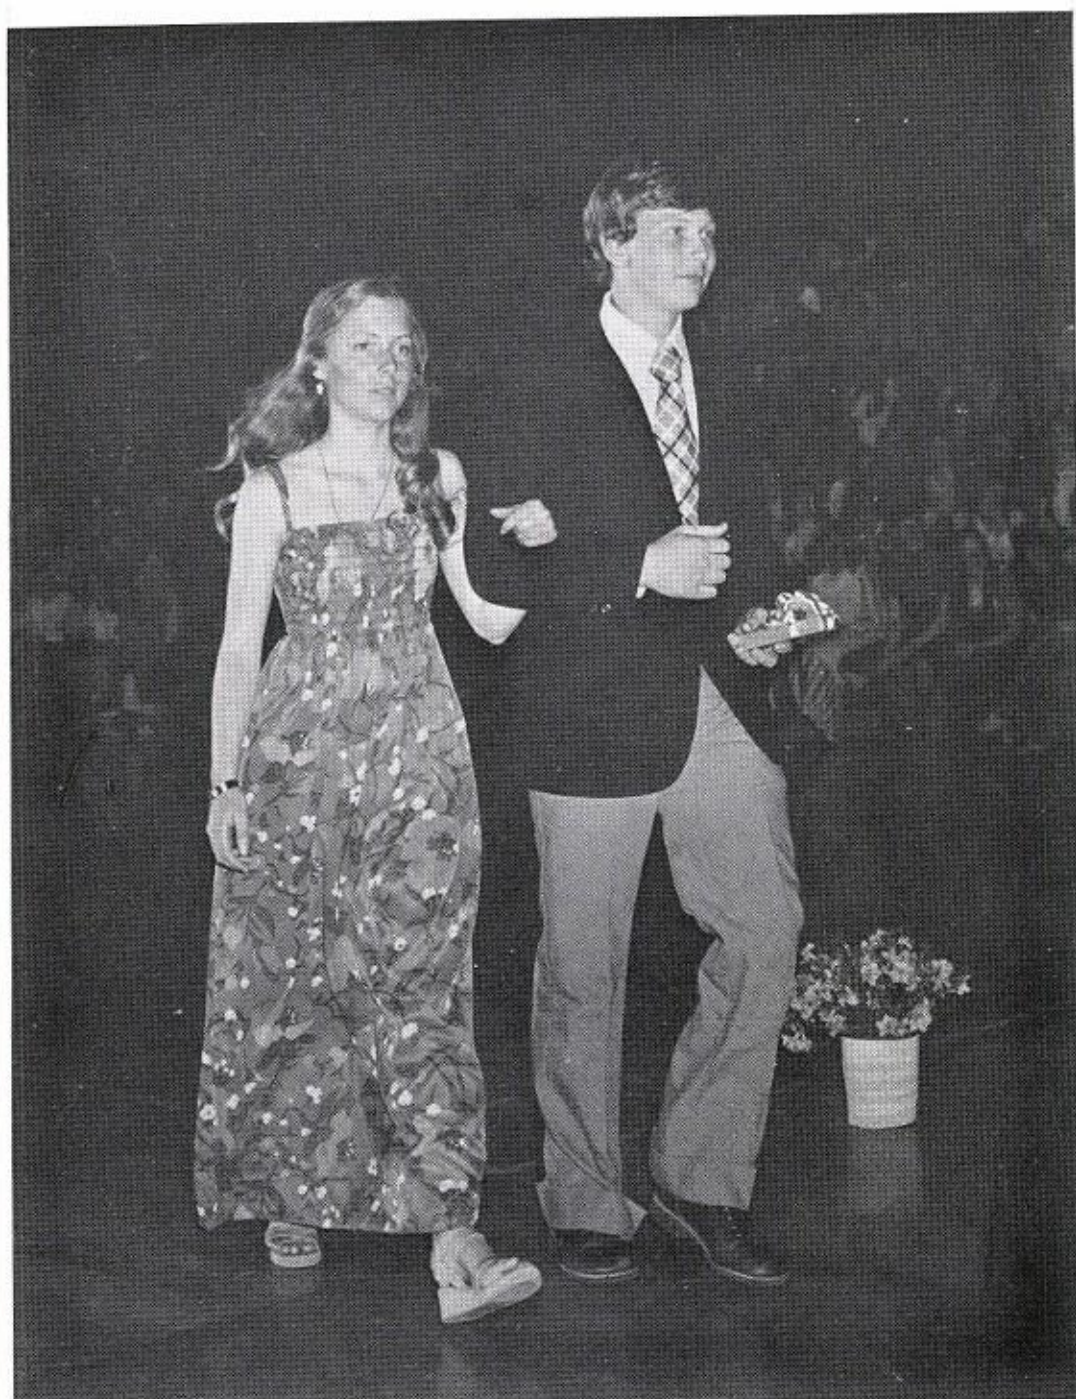

At the Friday Assembly, the theme of May Week, "Stairway to Heaven," was carried out with princesses brought from athletics heaven, travelers heaven, performers heaven, and the pearly gates. Many people from all four classes were involved in the skit. The highlight of the week was the crowning of Queen Consuelo Grossi, our AFS student from Brazil. She reigned over the Junior-Senior Prom at the Top of the Cosmo.

Arena

Arena scheduling was held on May 24. It was an all day event. There was plenty of confusion but it was more organized than previous arenas.

The administrators, counselors, and twenty-five students worked straight through the day with only one break. Students entered the arena by alphabetically ordered groups. They went first to the holding room to pick up their schedule, check which classes were open and then on into the main arena. They picked up a name card at the door. Next they picked up class cards at the different stations along the wall.

Problems were handled by counselors in the holding room. A table in the center of the arena was managed by trouble shooters, Mr. Roger Smith and Mr. Galen Spillum. Any serious troubles that developed were taken care of at 1:30 when the mass confusion was over.

Lakeridge was honored to have a very involved AFS student join them this year. She was Consuelo Grossi from Brazil. She came in July and stayed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Headlee. She had three American sisters, Sue and Nancy who graduated from Lakeridge in '72 and Mary Jane who graduated with Consuelo. She returned to Brazil in September.

One of Consuelo's most memorable events was her first day at Lakeridge. She found a different language, classes, different teachers and students.

This year the AFS Club had an assembly for AFS students in the area. Also there were AFS returnees who told what it was like in the countries they visited.

The purpose of the AFS Club was to bring understanding between people of the world. This year's AFS Club was highlighted by an AFS movie shown for the Lake Oswego community.

Honors Assembly

The last event for the seniors this year was the Honors Assembly. This assembly was to honor seniors who had successful achievements during the last three years. The master of ceremonies was Mr. Mike Goertz who introduced each guest. This year 17 departmental awards were given which are called the Merit Awards. Karen Robinette was awarded three of the Merit Awards which included English, Foreign Languages, and Science. Grant Imper received two awards, Mathematics and Music - Instrumental. Each award winner received seventy-five dollars and a certificate. An honorable mention was also given.

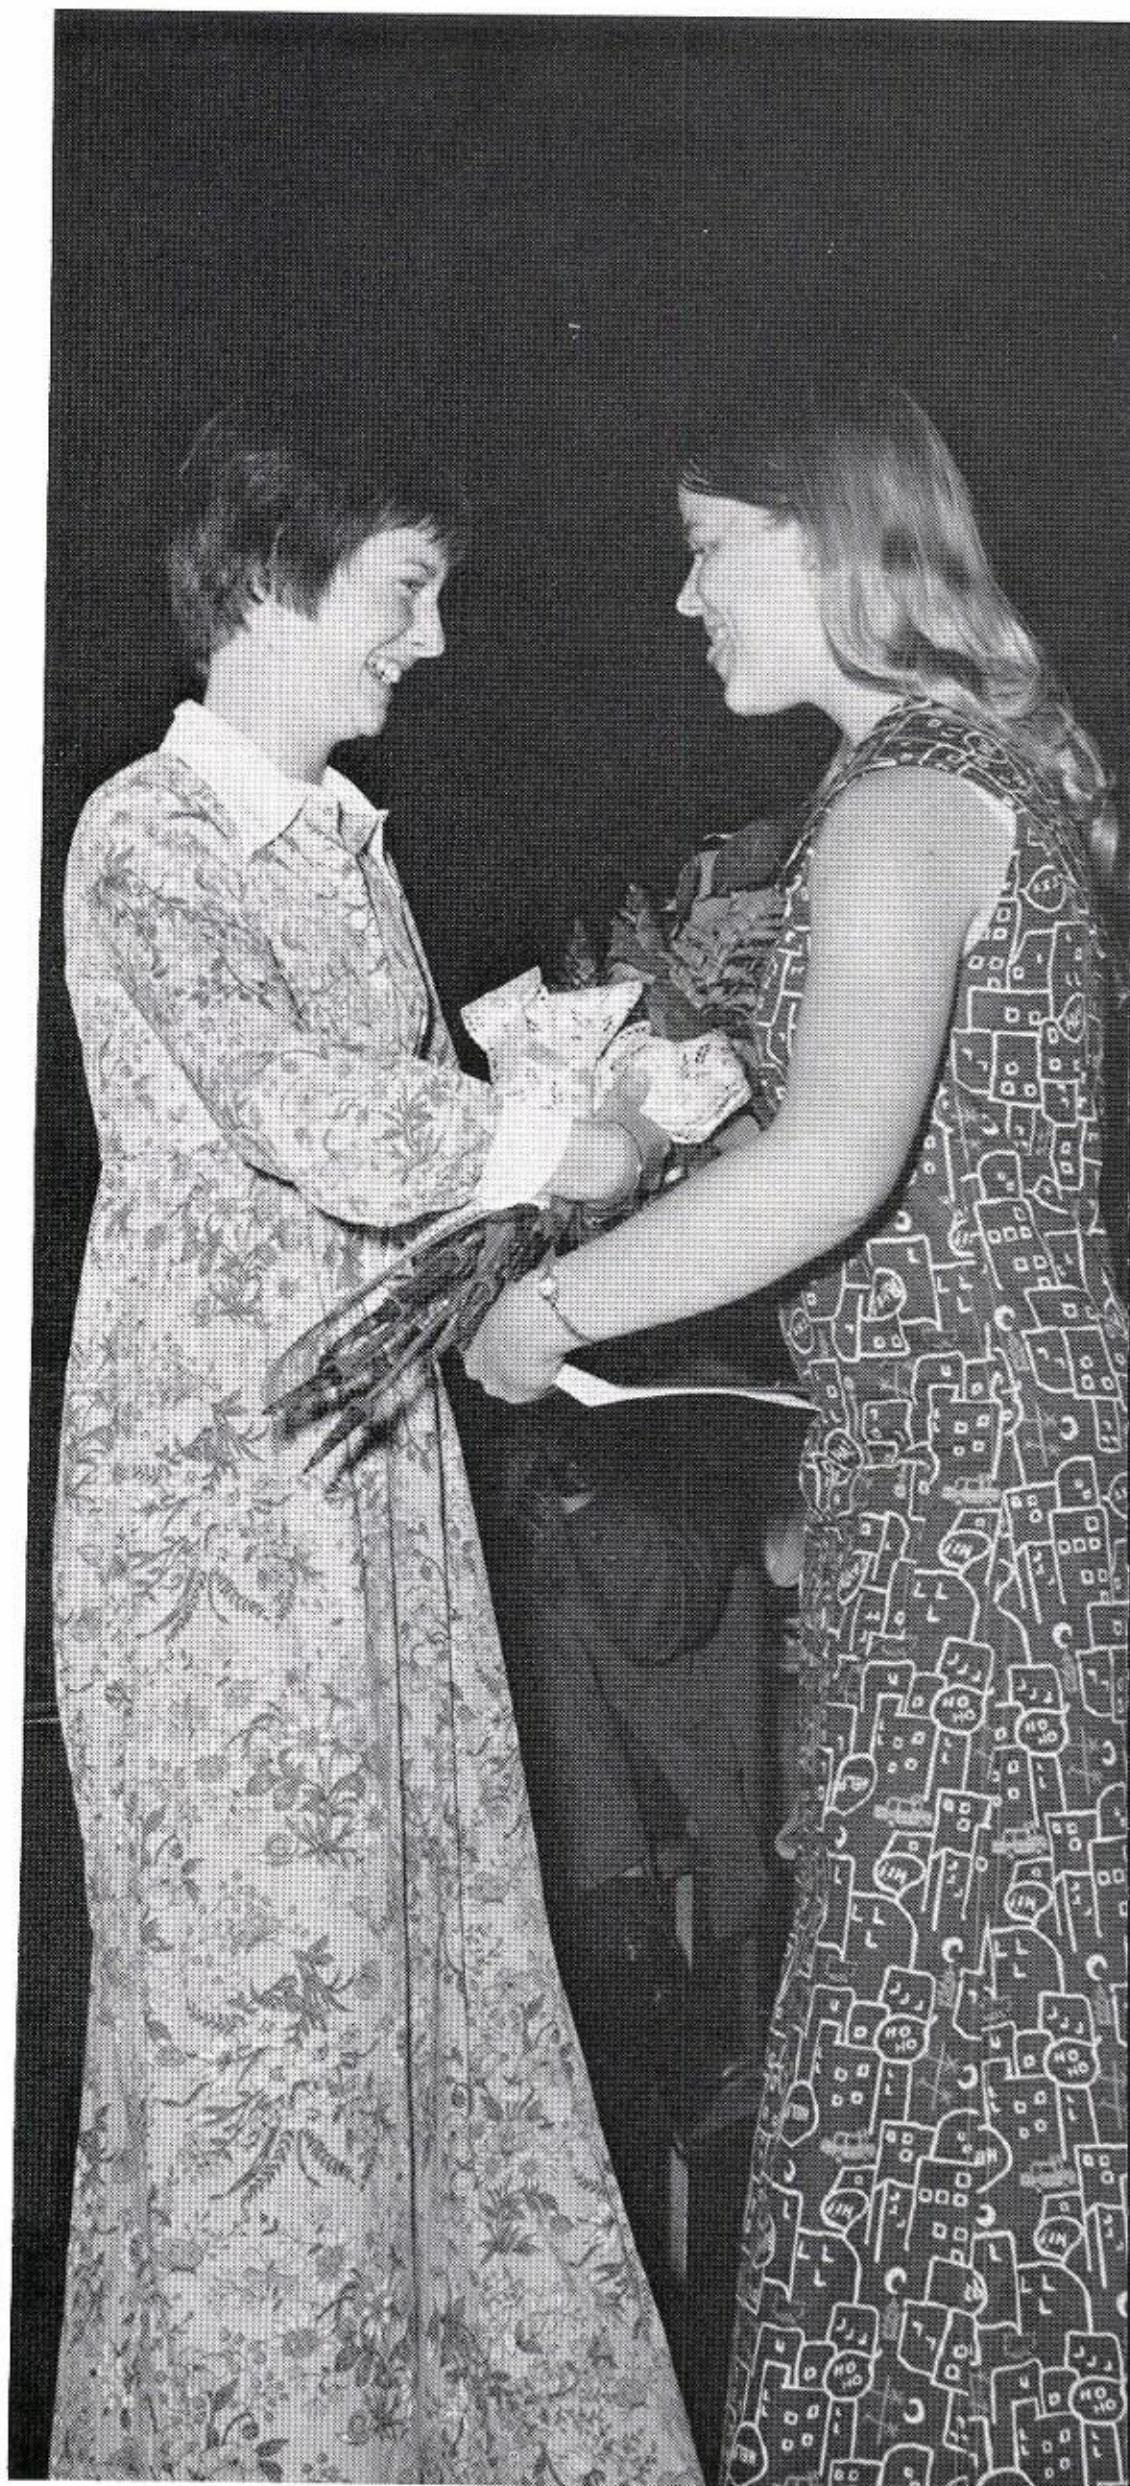

The Super Pacer award was given to the all-around senior boy and girl. The winners this year were Lynn Stirek and Dave Pugh. Also 13 Oregon Scholars Awards were given.

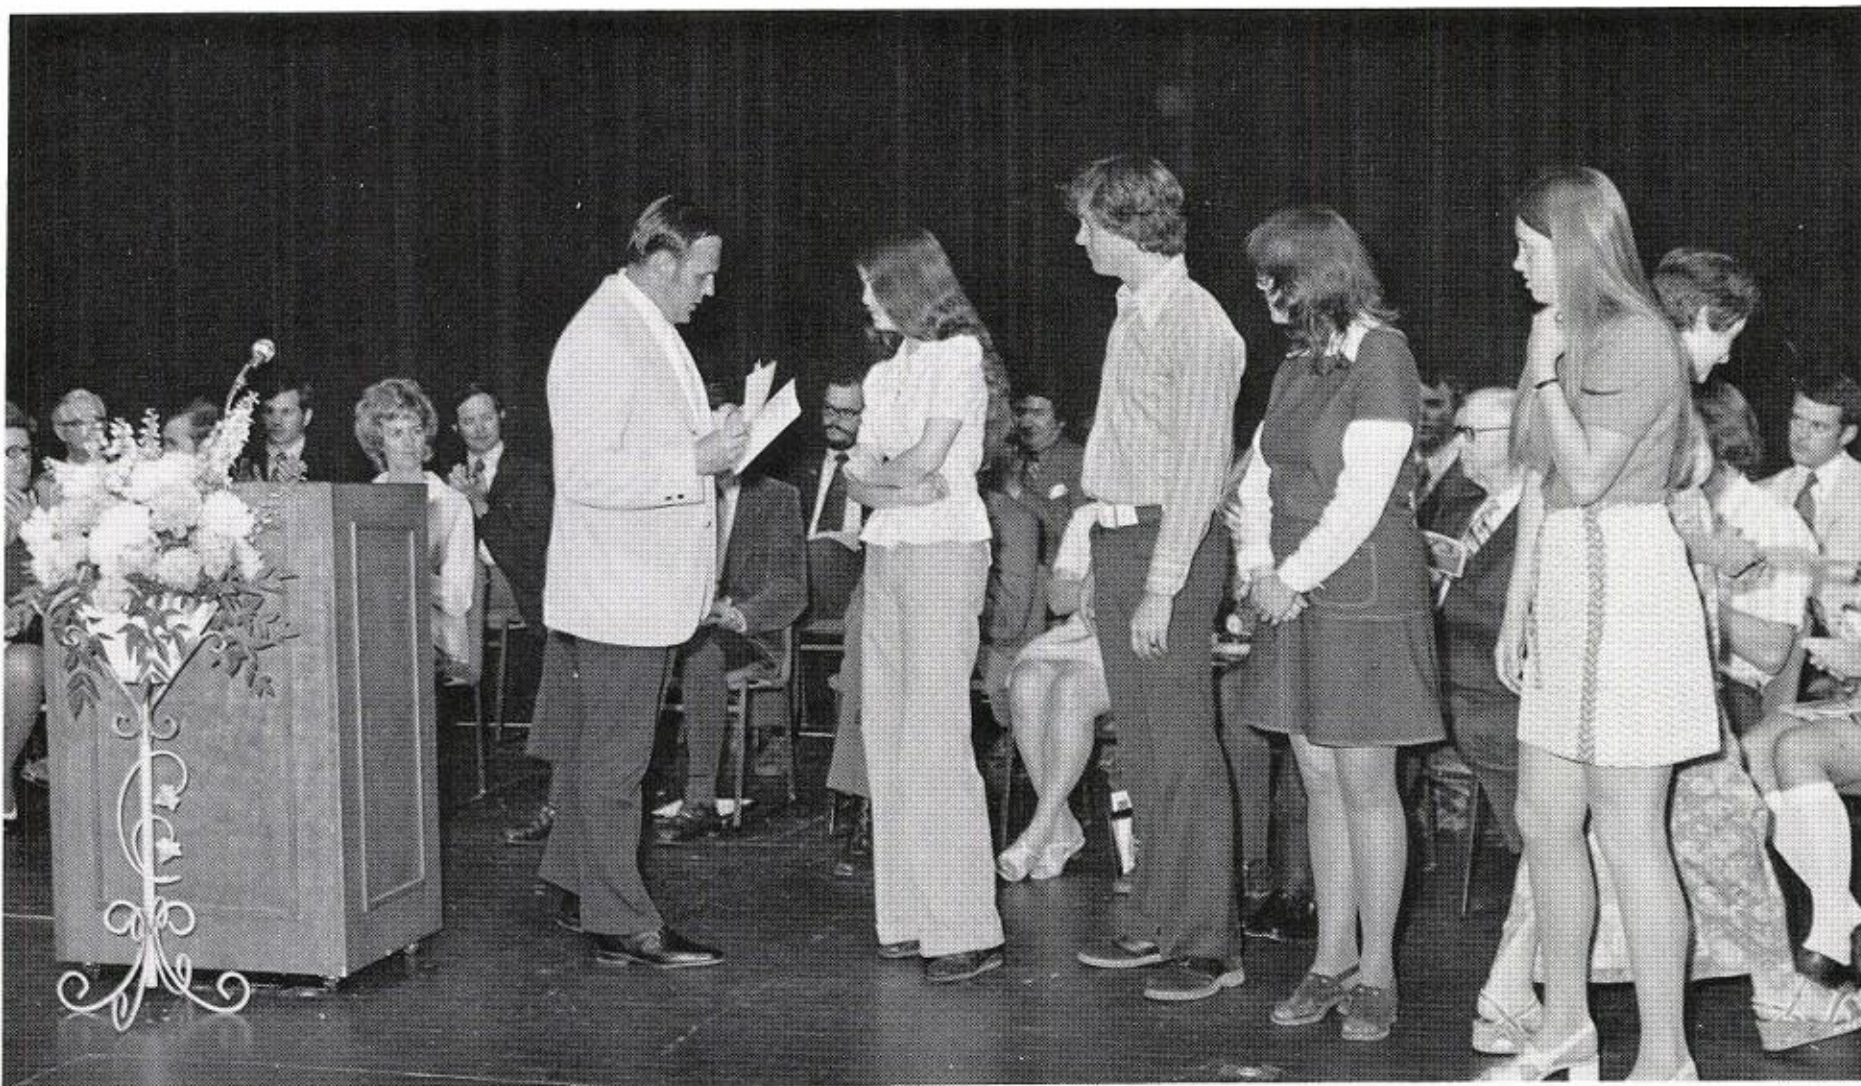

The assembly ended with the juniors of the Company singing "Let the Sun Shine In" while all the seniors joined in.

After the assembly there was a reception in the faculty dining room for all seniors and their parents.

Graduation

The seniors of Lakeridge graduated alone this year. Early in the year the seniors of Lake Oswego High School filled out a questionnaire and decided the two classes would graduate separately.

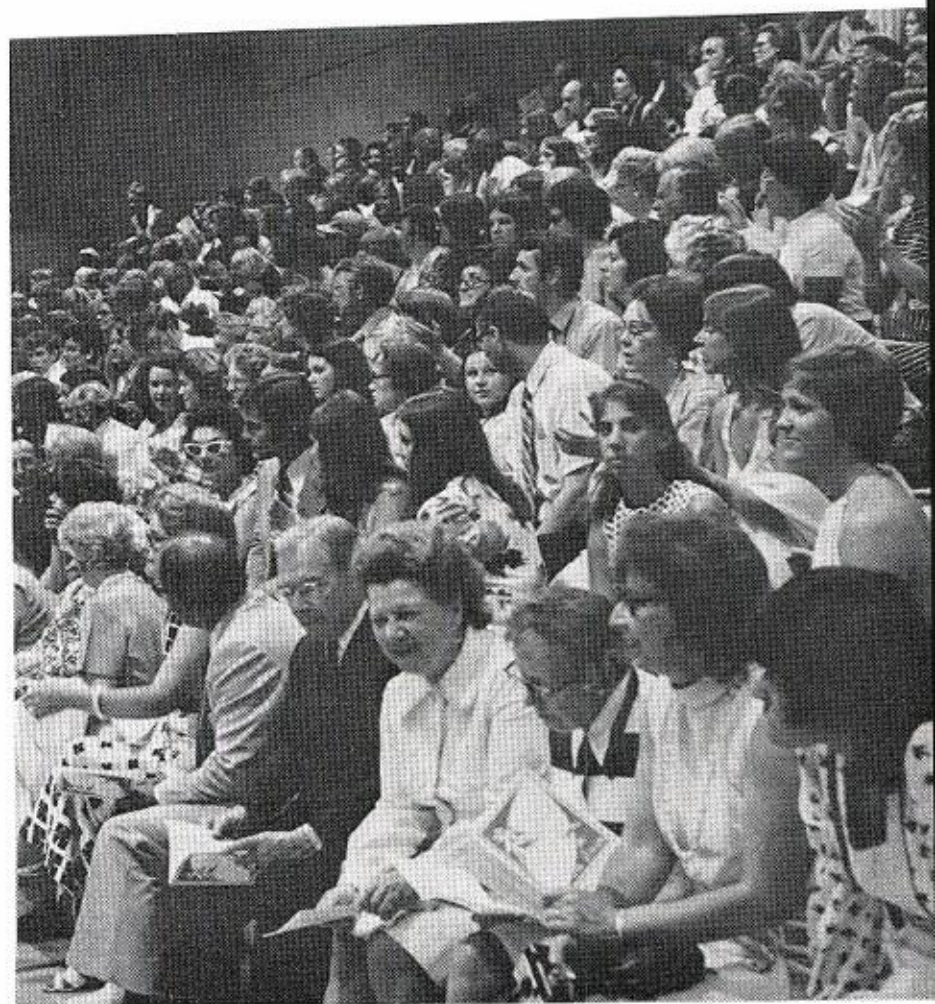

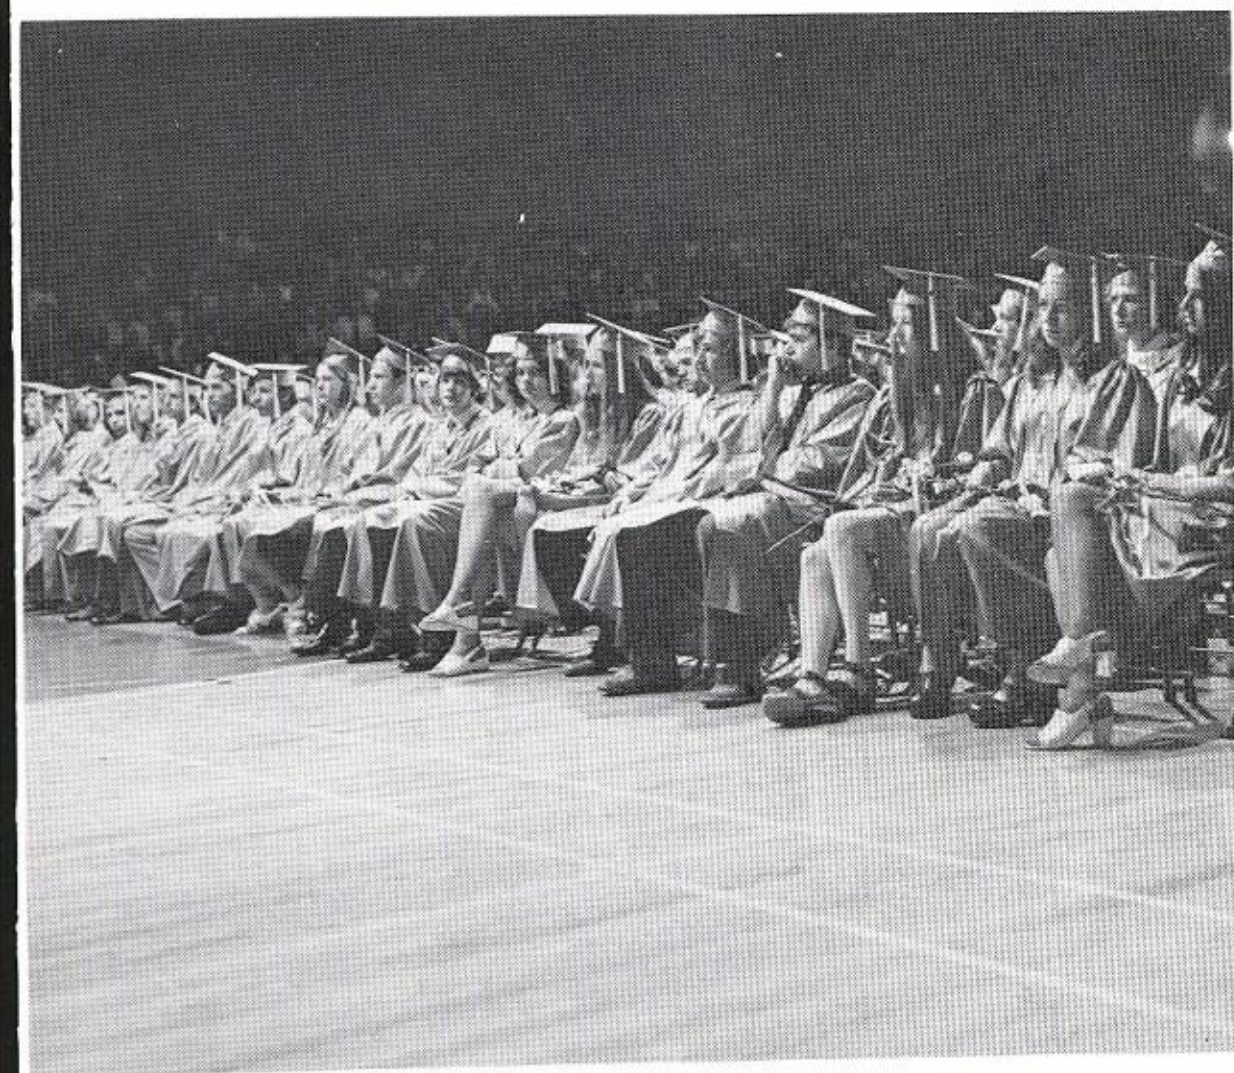

Graduation took place in the gym beginning at 8 p.m. The theme this year was "Hope for the Future." The invocation was given by Dana Lind. The Concert Choir sang two songs, "Hope for the Future" and "An Answer for Our Time." There were four senior speakers: Paula Loudon, Julie Thomson, Johnyne Donnelly, and Rick Cook.

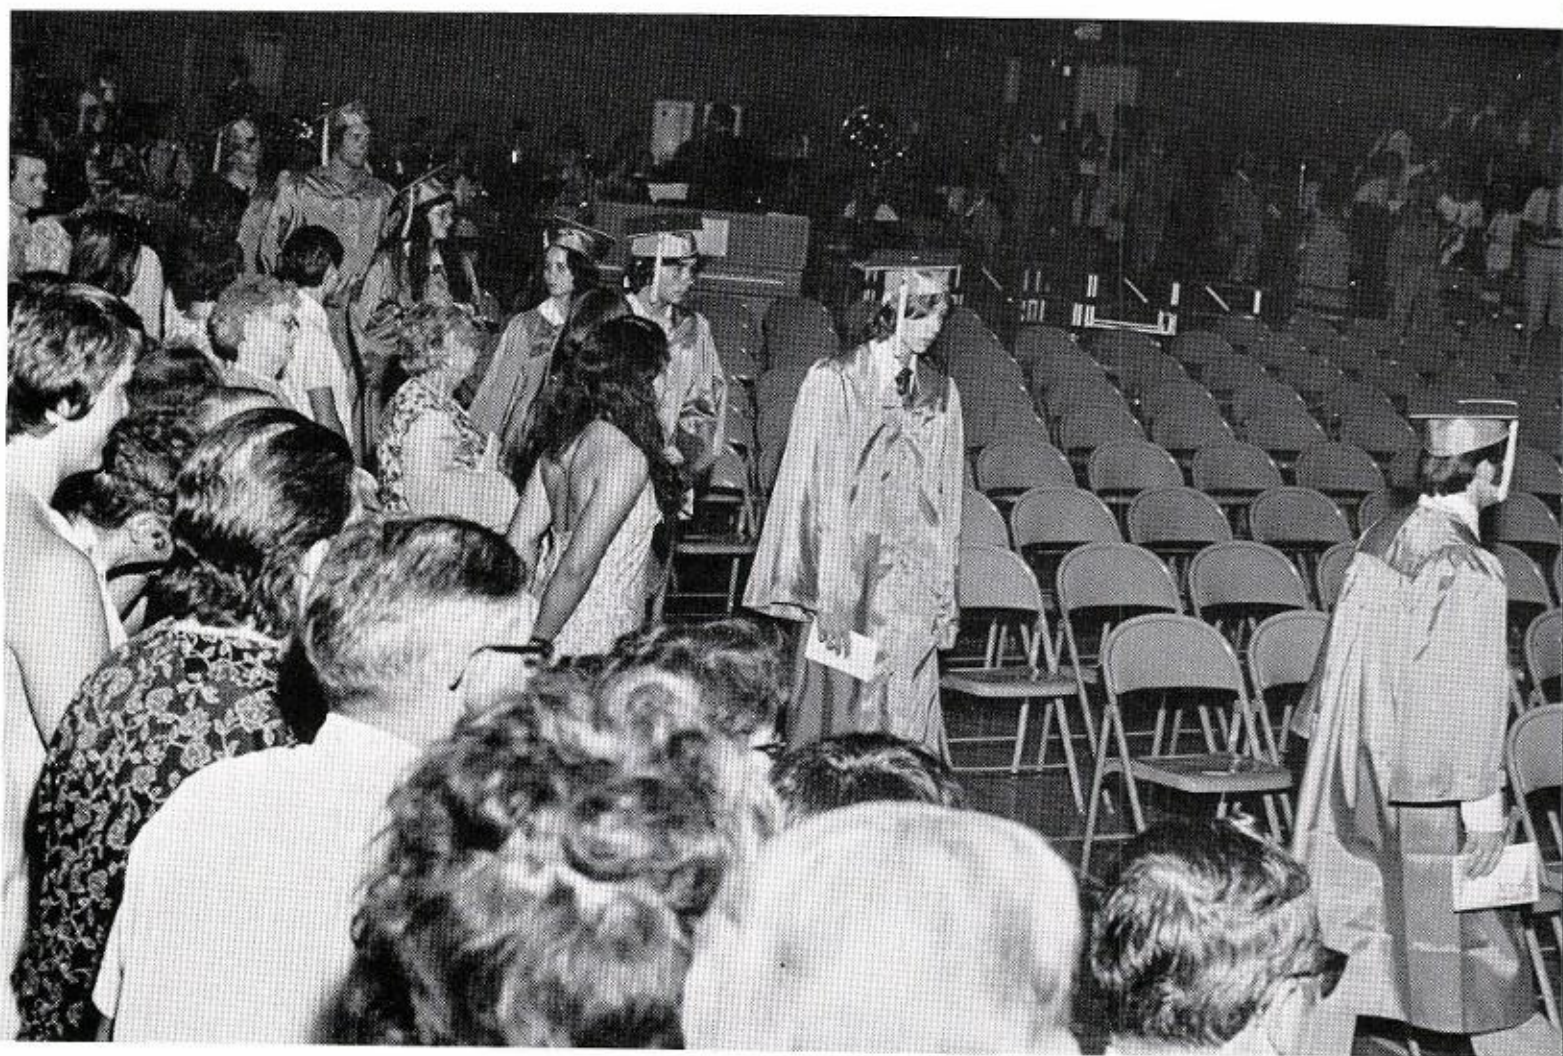

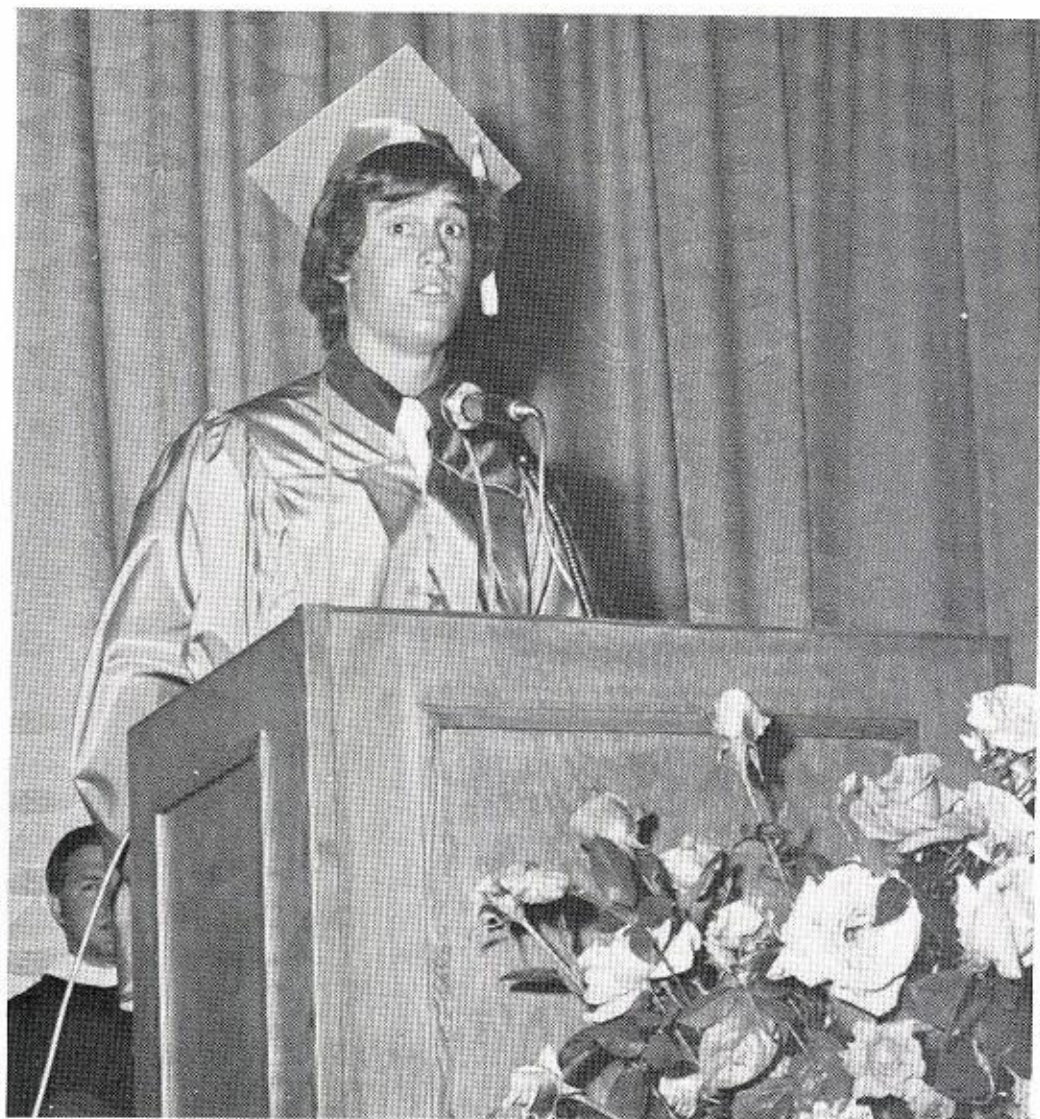

The guest speaker this year was Secretary of State Clay Myers. The diplomas were presented by Mr. Ed Allen and Mr. Tom Cottle and as each senior received his diploma he became at last a high school graduate.

The evening was ended with Marla Bales giving the benediction.

Parents Serve

The parents of Lakeridge students have spent a lot of time and money helping out Lakeridge. During the day you could see them spread out all over the school.

The parents have taken full charge of the career center, as receptionist's aide, answering phones and doing secretarial work. You will also find parents helping in the Graphics Arts area, the library, and the main office.

They helped with the book drive, helped process magazines and books, and have a curriculum committee, booster club and a coordinating council.

The parent volunteers are numerous and serve once a week on a regular schedule. Without such people as Mrs. Jo Ann Pigott, Mrs. Molly Rimerman, Mrs. Patty Melrose, Mrs. Jeanne Robinette, Mrs. Jewell Kilgour, Mrs. Shirley Ruedy and many more, Lakeridge staff and students would miss many educational benefits.

Thespians

The Lakeridge 1972-1973 Thespian Troupe was very active this year. Meeting once a month, the club, during Christmas time, managed a fruit cake sale which the Thespians baked and cleared $250. This helped to pay for the Thespians trip during the first week in April to Ashland. They attended workshops and plays at the Oregon State Thespian Conference where Bill McNeil took first place in district for his mime interpretation of Superman.

A formal candlelight ceremony initiating charter members by Lake Oswego High School Thespians highlighted this year's activities. The group viewed slides of previous plays including the 1972 co-production "Mame."

Leading the 30-50 active and associate members was President Mark H. Chamberlin whose roles had him acting as Sam Blake in "The Ransom of Red Chief" to directing "The Man Who Came to Dinner." Christi McKendrick was Thespian secretary. Mr. Ben Vose was advisor of Thespian Troupe 2789.

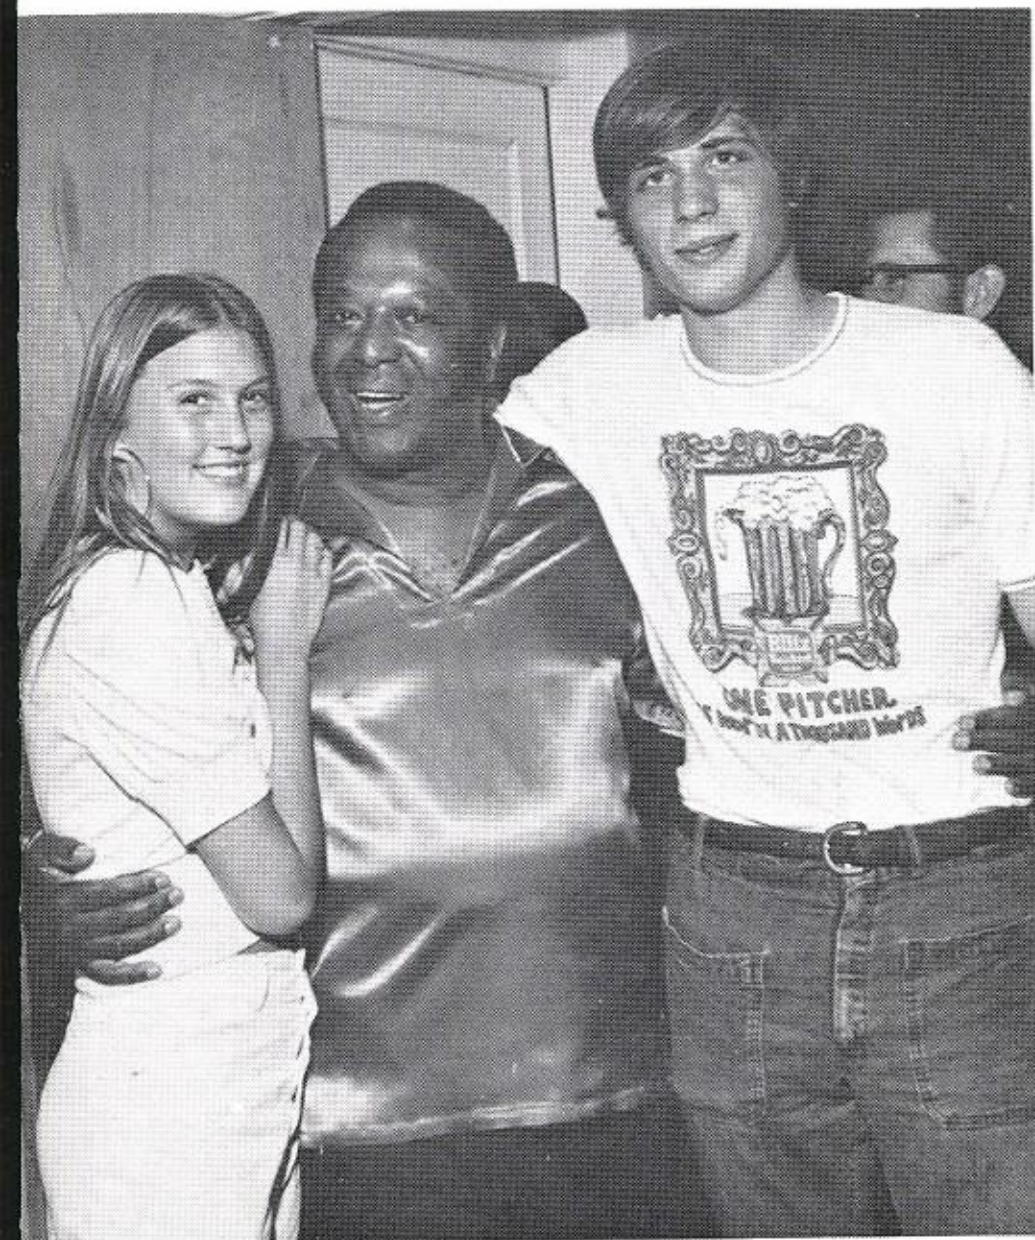

Kidnap!

On June 5 three buses waited in front of Lake-ridge High School while the graduation ceremony was going on. After graduation 150 seniors boarded these buses for an unknown destination.

This year's party started out at a Grange in Aurora. Here seniors enjoyed a buffet, and danced to J.C.'s Boogie Blues Band which starred Rick Thew on the drums. The group played until 1:30 a.m. At 1:00 a.m. Mark Chamberlin introduced a special guest who surprised all; Charles King came and sang for and with the graduates and gave his regards to this year's seniors.

After the dance the buses were boarded and the seniors were off to the Canby Community Pool for swimming. This lasted until 3:00 a.m. Then back to the school and on to Sheryl Barclay's home for breakfast.

At daybreak for anyone willing there was water skiing on the lake. The night ended for some at 5:00 a.m. and others as late as 8:00 a.m. The party ended and everyone left happy because they knew there was "Hope for the Future!"

LHS Serves

The Lakeridge student body helped its surrounding community in many ways, and at the same time helped expand themselves.

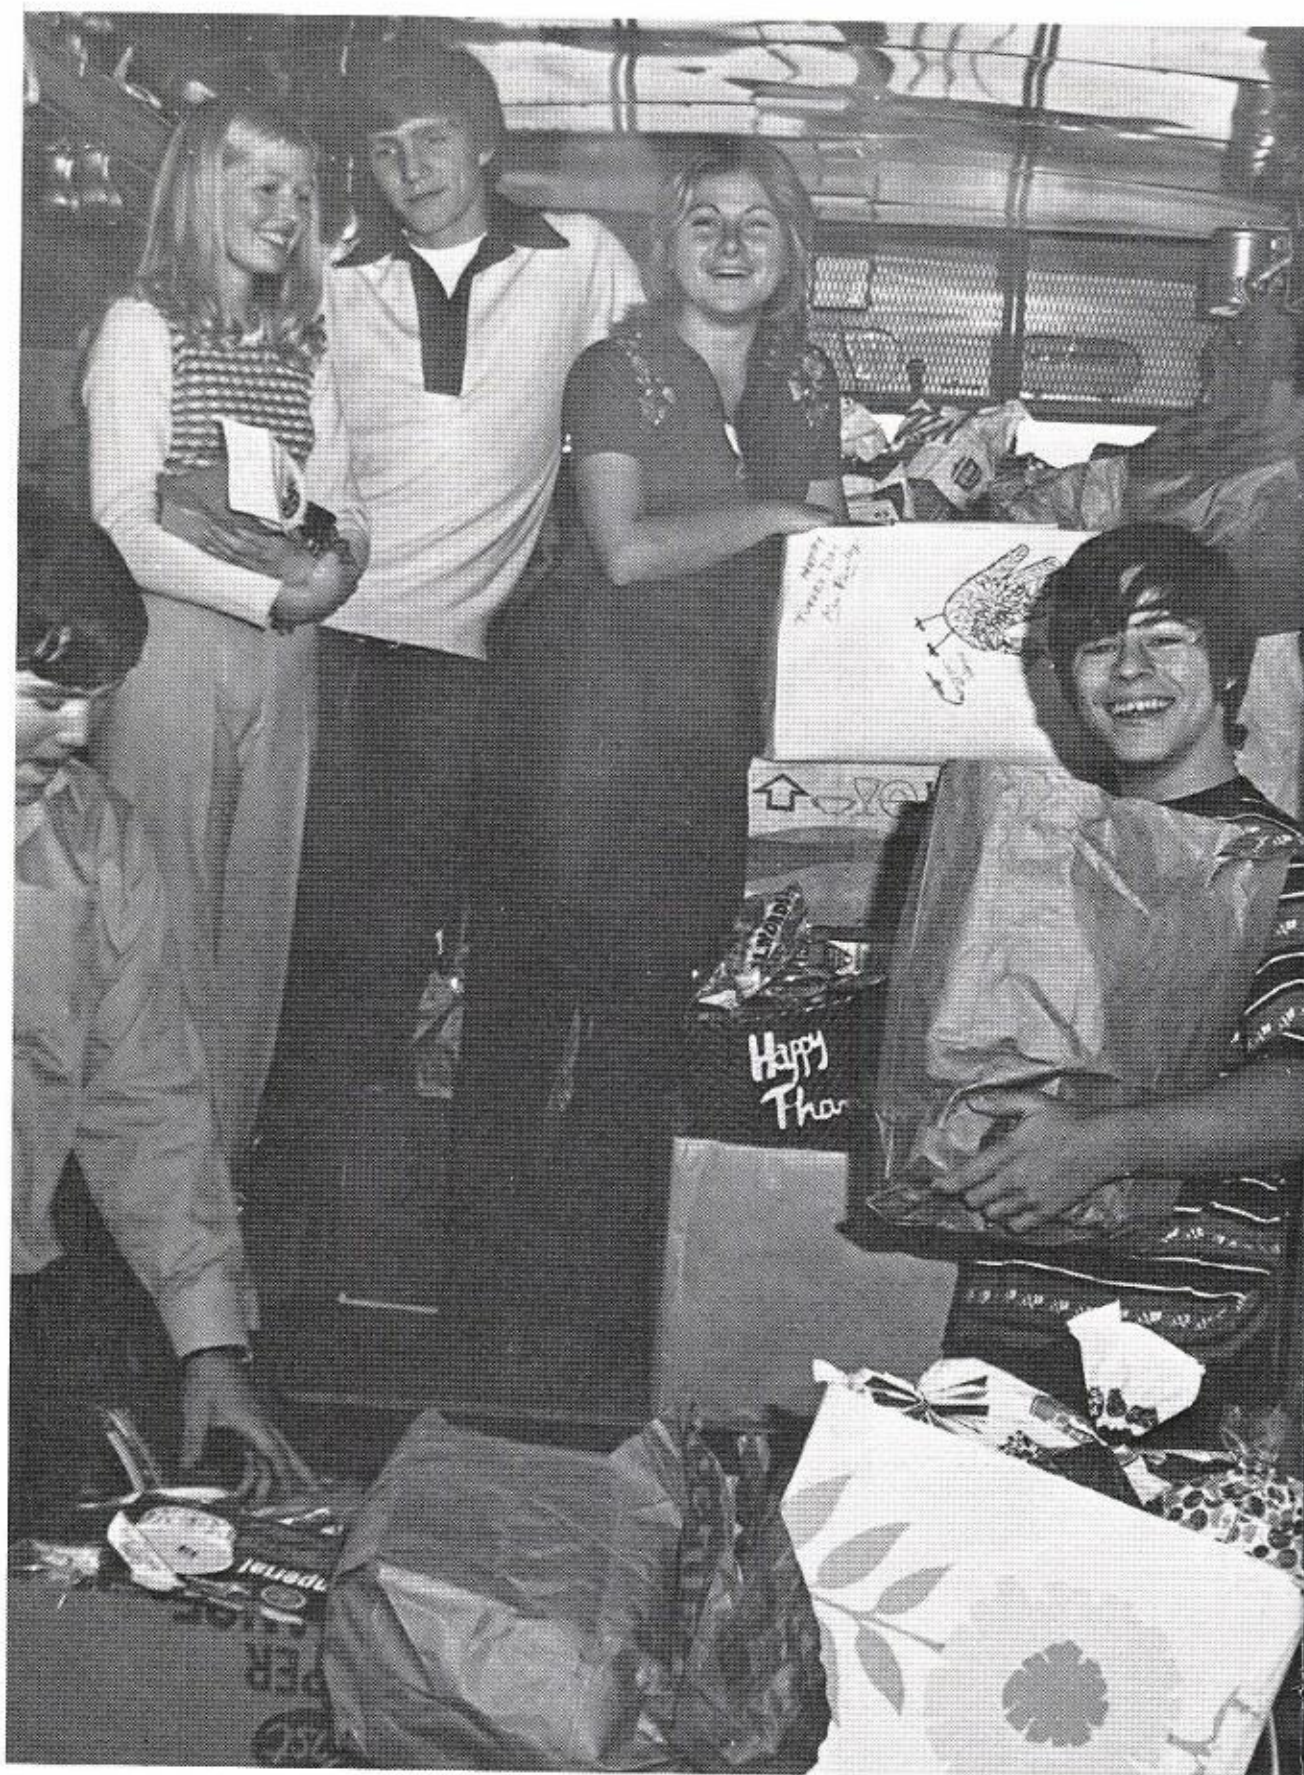

Lakeridge helped in two metropolitan area food drives, the first being the Thanksgiving Food Drive. Students brought food and money to their reg rooms for the special assigned family. Come March the students went to individual homes gathering food for Project Second Wind.

The Christmas Court dispersed toys that were submitted to the English room at the Good Samaritan Hospital. The court also visited the Mountain Park Convalescent Home, giving cards that were made by Pacers in their English classes.

Students working for credit and beginning cadet teachers learned much from their involvement in out of school activities.

The bond between Lakeridge and the community grew because of our involvement in these events.

War

The playground is empty, save for the blanket of still, brown leaves that covers the cluttered earth.

Memories echo;
the sound of giggles,
small feet galloping,
the sharp, steady beat of a basketball.

The ageless oak tree towers
above the ruin;
Its stretching branches seek to reach out,
embrace, shelter,
protect.

An autumn wind wings across sending the rusty chain of a swing to tap on the twisted metal
of the jungle-gym.
A torn shade flaps
incessantly
behind splintered wood, slivered glass.

The sound is now of rustling
as more of the oak tree's dead leaves are sent flying, to be chased
and sometimes caught,
by the memories of children.

I Always Thought

I always thought eternity was a thread
Wound round the spool called earth,
Its gossamer fineness cobweb thin
And going on forever.

It's not.
Two weeks will do.
Two weeks and you and me
And oceanwater tugging at our feet.

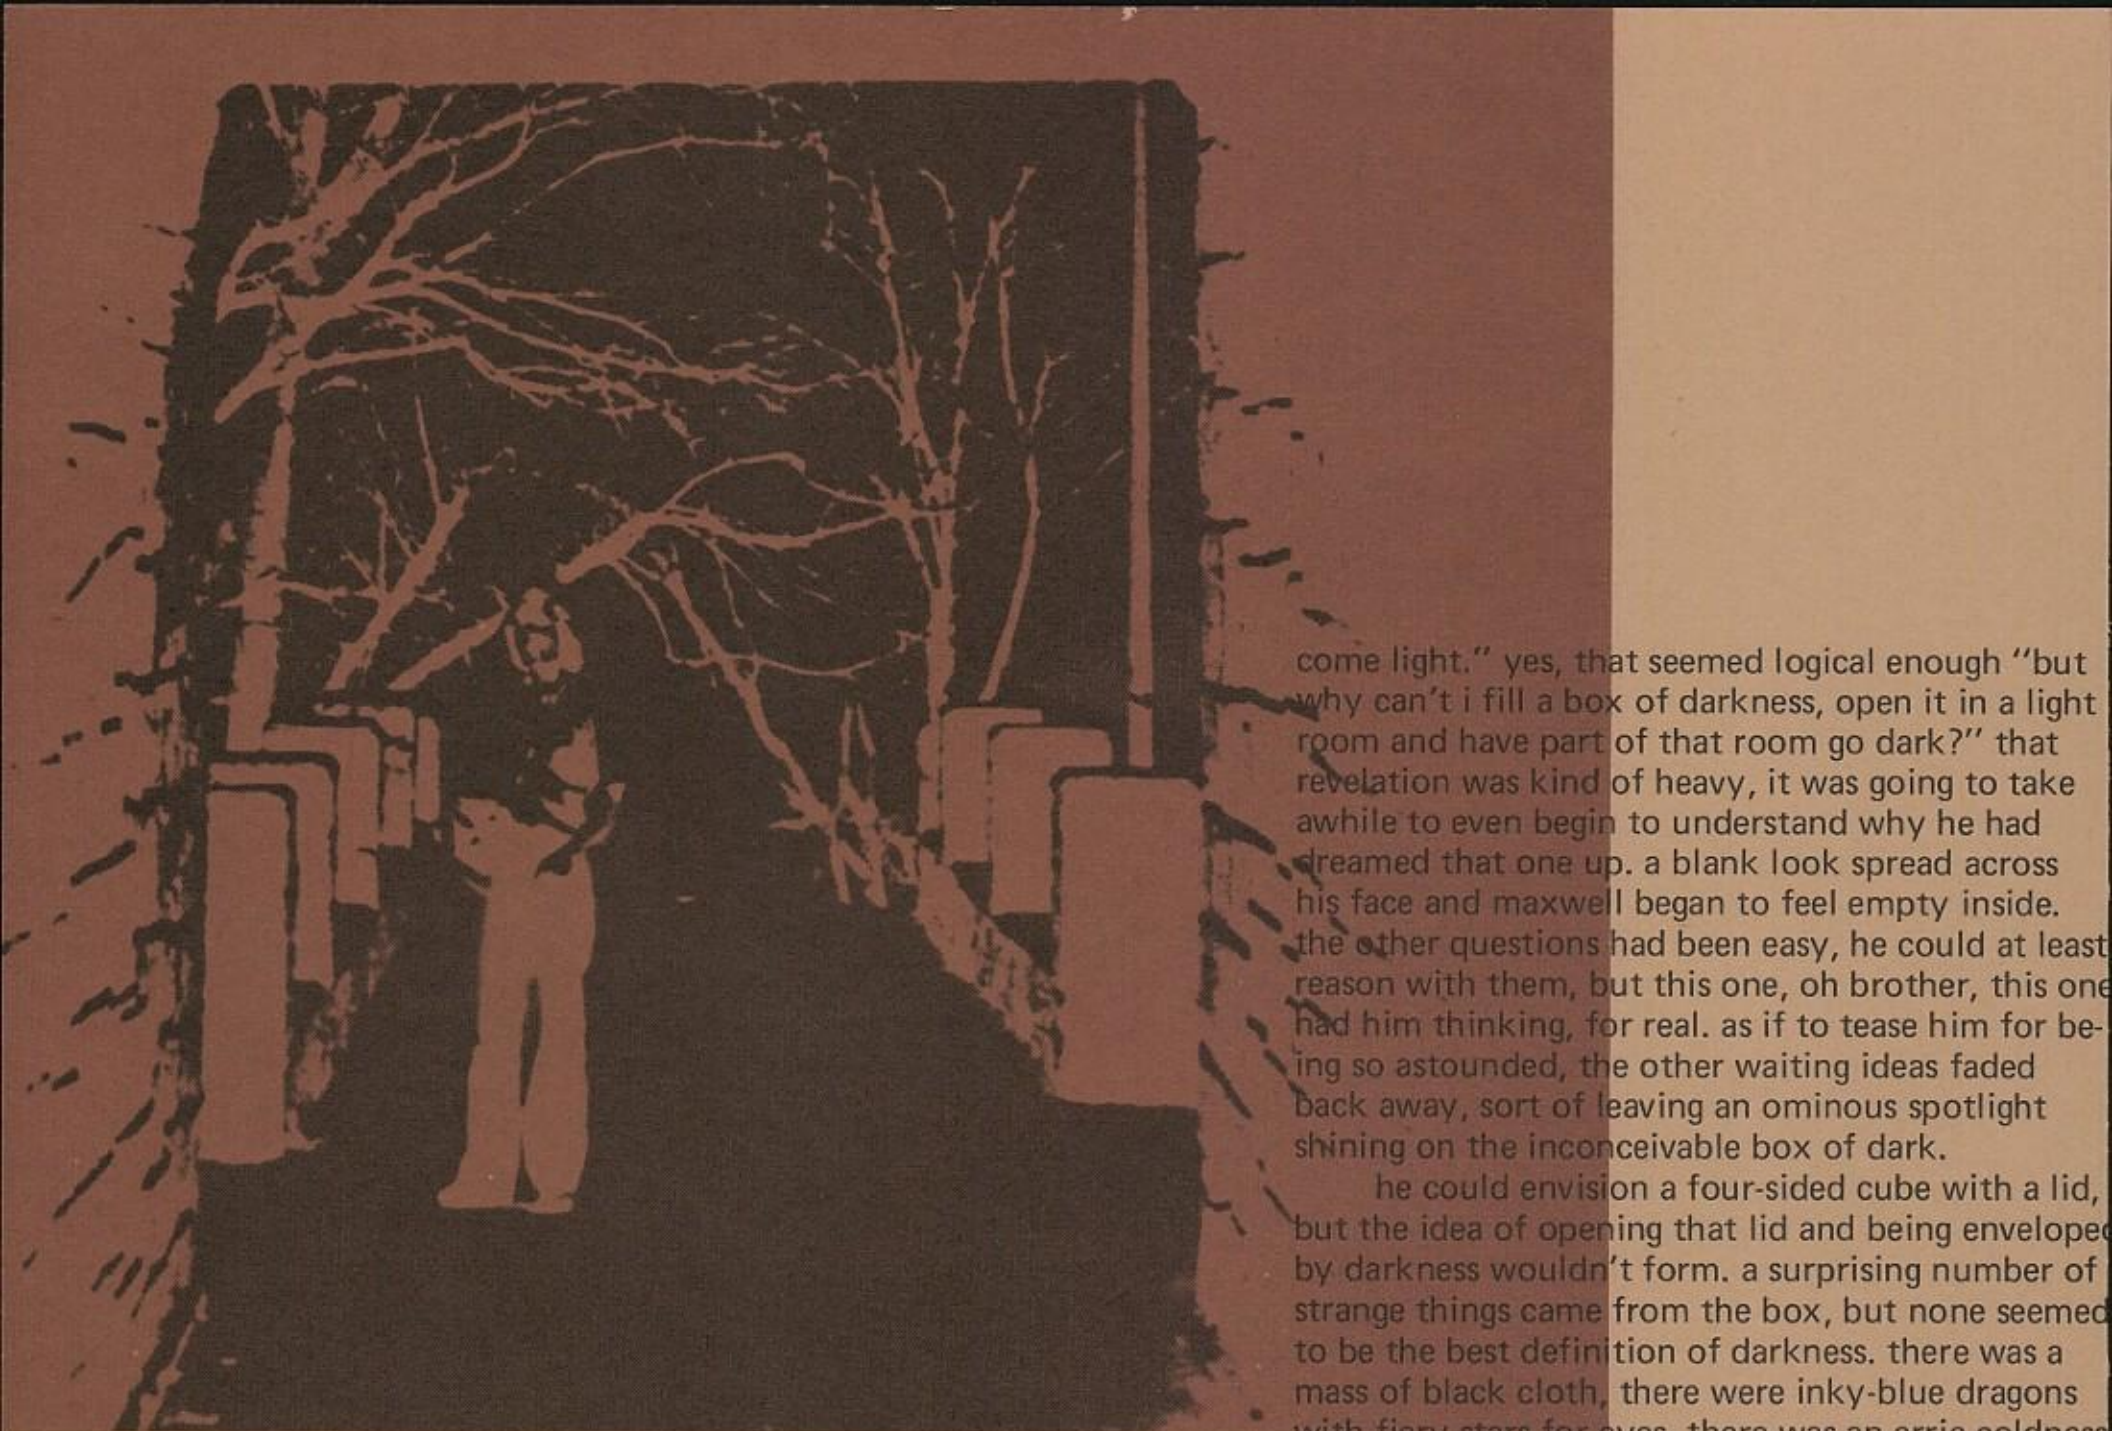

We danced on stars
(Or dinoflagellates, to be exact,
Sparked briefly into light
Beneath our feet)

Two fleeting weeks,
And the wholeness of our knowing
Holds eternity enough for me.

Box of Dark

the room was bathed in the warmth of candle-light and gentle music flowed through the air. the atmosphere was just right for thinking and that was exactly what happened. settling himself down in a huge chair, maxwell gave the evening's entertainment to his mind.

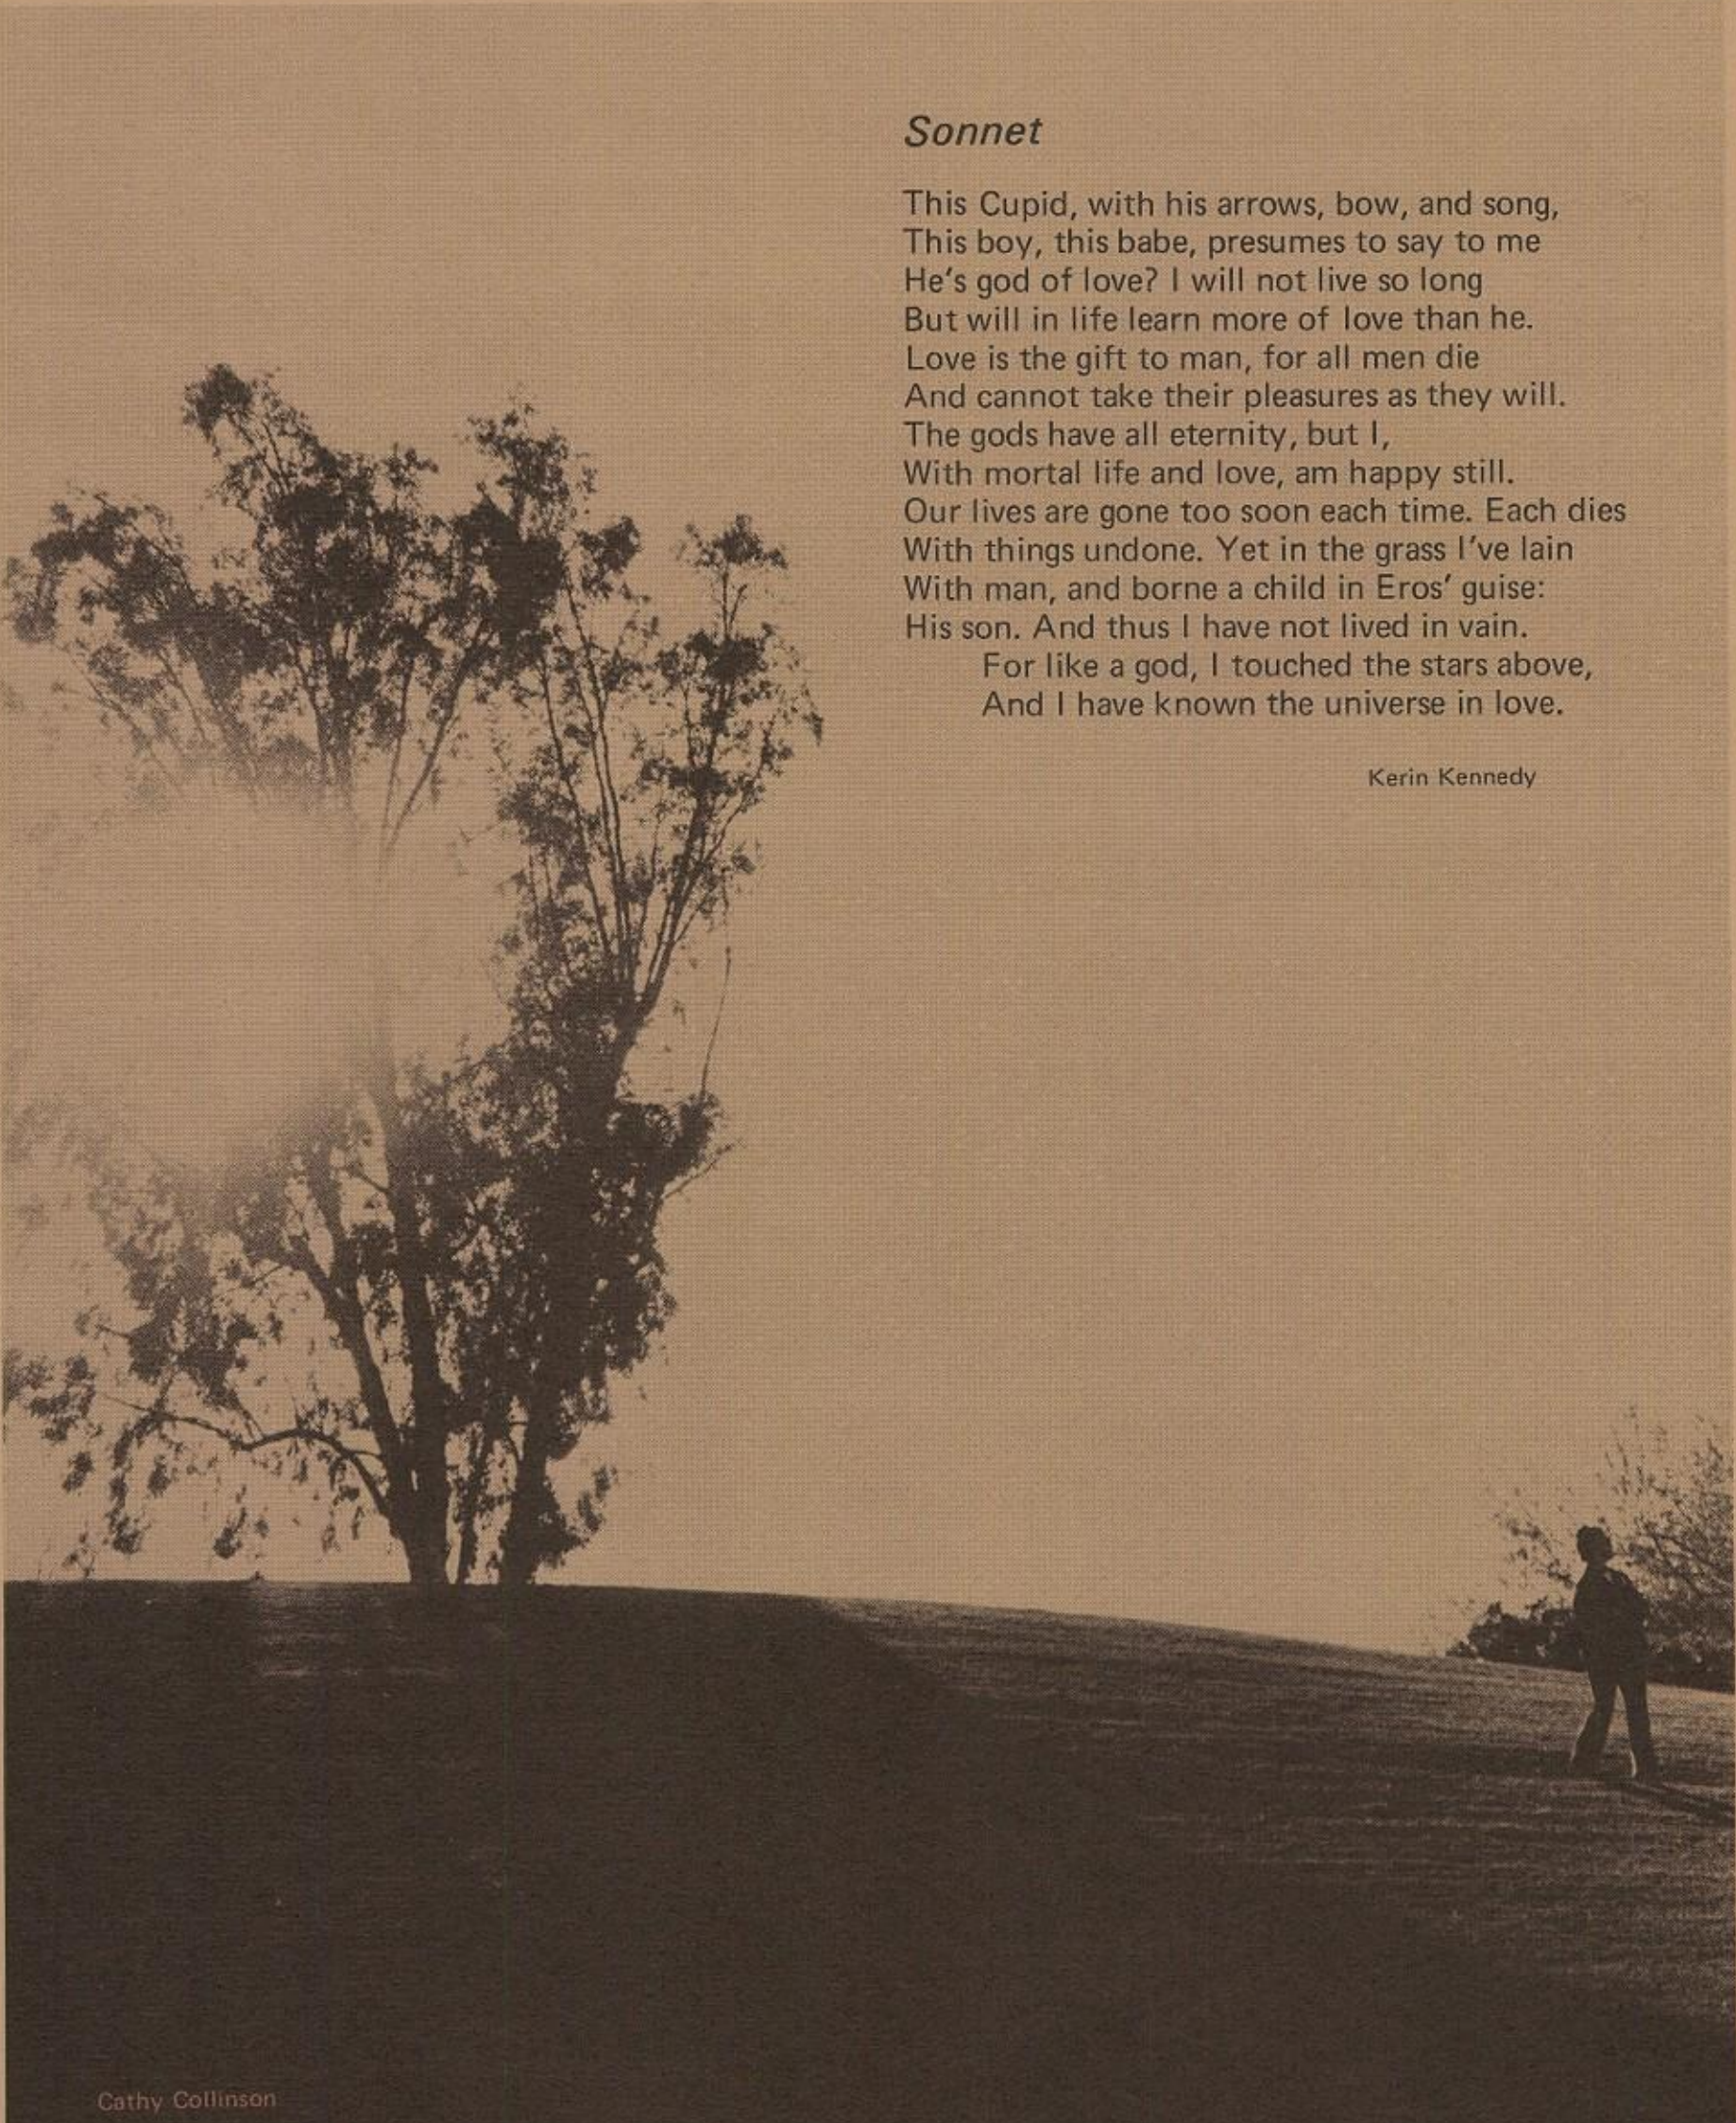

his imagination literally jumped at the chance to express itself and ideas dashed into his head like shoppers at a sale. each one desperately crowded ahead, wanting to be first. maxwell had never realized what was stored so far back in his brain. he thrilled to the challenge of venturing into this lively squirming mass of thoughts "one at a time" he whispered, calmly disguising his excitement "you'll each have a turn." he developed a turnstile at the back of his head, giving each thought a number and a solemn promise that it would be heard.

every action seemed to be controlled by this river of unthought thoughts. as he struck a match to light a cigarette, it triggered yet another procession. the flame itself fascinated him, its relatively short life, easily extinguished by a single breath. the subject of light developed into a new spectrum of ideas.

"if i can somehow fill a box with light and open it in a dark room, part of that room will become light." yes, that seemed logical enough "but why can't i fill a box of darkness, open it in a light room and have part of that room go dark?" that revelation was kind of heavy, it was going to take awhile to even begin to understand why he had dreamed that one up. a blank look spread across his face and maxwell began to feel empty inside. the other questions had been easy, he could at least reason with them, but this one, oh brother, this one had him thinking, for real. as if to tease him for being so astounded, the other waiting ideas faded back away, sort of leaving an ominous spotlight shining on the inconceivable box of dark.

he could envision a four-sided cube with a lid, but the idea of opening that lid and being enveloped by darkness wouldn't form. a surprising number of strange things came from the box, but none seemed to be the best definition of darkness. there was a mass of black cloth, there were inky-blue dragons with fiery stars for eyes, there was an eerie coldness but maxwell knew none of those could be right. "darkness is a world with out love" said a tiny voice, emerging from the far reaches of his mind. this thought was very small in appearance, it didn't even have a number. maxwell almost didn't listen, he thought it would be a waste. "darkness is sad, that is true, but there is more" the voice spoke very assuredly. "there is beauty in darkness, which you overlooked." it paused, to make sure he was paying attention "you saw only evil in darkness, only negative things" with his head slightly cocked to one side, maxwell now listened intently "have you ever seen life when you gazed up into the darkness? it's there for you, if you care enough to look hard. at night, when it's nature's intended way that creature settle themselves down, go out and teach yourself. become part of the way that all things were meant to be and temporarily lose your identity to the darkness. things are calm when it's dark, you can think slowly and not leave anything behind. do not be frightened because you can't see in the dark, sight can be done away with for awhile. you don't need your eyes to see the meaning of your existence" after taking a deep breath, maxwell understood. he smiled and felt good all over. he went to the cupboard and pulled out a box. on that box he wrote the words "box of dark." he took his box out on the lawn and sat down beside it. very slowly he removed the lid and set it on the grass. he looked up at the star spattered sky and listened to the tiny voice all night.

Sonnet

This Cupid, with his arrows, bow, and song,
This boy, this babe, presumes to say to me
He's god of love? I will not live so long
But will in life learn more of love than he.
Love is the gift to man, for all men die
And cannot take their pleasures as they will.
The gods have all eternity, but I,
With mortal life and love, am happy still.
Our lives are gone too soon each time. Each dies
With things undone. Yet in the grass I've lain
With man, and borne a child in Eros' guise:
His son. And thus I have not lived in vain.

For like a god, I touched the stars above,
And I have known the universe in love.

The Journey

Come, my friend.
 Let us walk side by side
 Together on the road of life.
 Have patience,
 For the road is under construction.
 It is rough
 And your feet will get tired.
 But I am here to lend a shoulder to lean on.
 Remember that just around the bend
 You will find happiness.
 When the skies overhead are covered with gray
 Clouds laden with rain,
 The sun smiles on the hills ahead
 With a rainbow to guide you.
 We will help each other
 On the dirt paths as well as the superhighways.
 If we should ever separate
 I would not be sad for long,
 For our paths will cross again someday.
 When our journeys end
 And it is time for us to rest
 We will remember the times we had together,
 And the road will seem to have been much too short.

Jean - Chapter 21 a song

Who could make flowers appear on the dark side of ruin
 And whose eyes were mirrors of brown
 looking back at the moon
 Sometimes it seemed like I'd never get back to the ground
 And I'd be happy on wings of a memory
 when she was gone

She welcomed me to herself like the whole universe
 Open and close like the delicate blossoms she returned
 She walked below good but above all the bad in my dreams
 I still can see warmth in her touch — feel her heart with my tears

She's beautiful and barefoot walkin' through my mind
 She stopped for a moment to try to remember and find
 The heartache and sorrow and happiness
 she left behind

Library

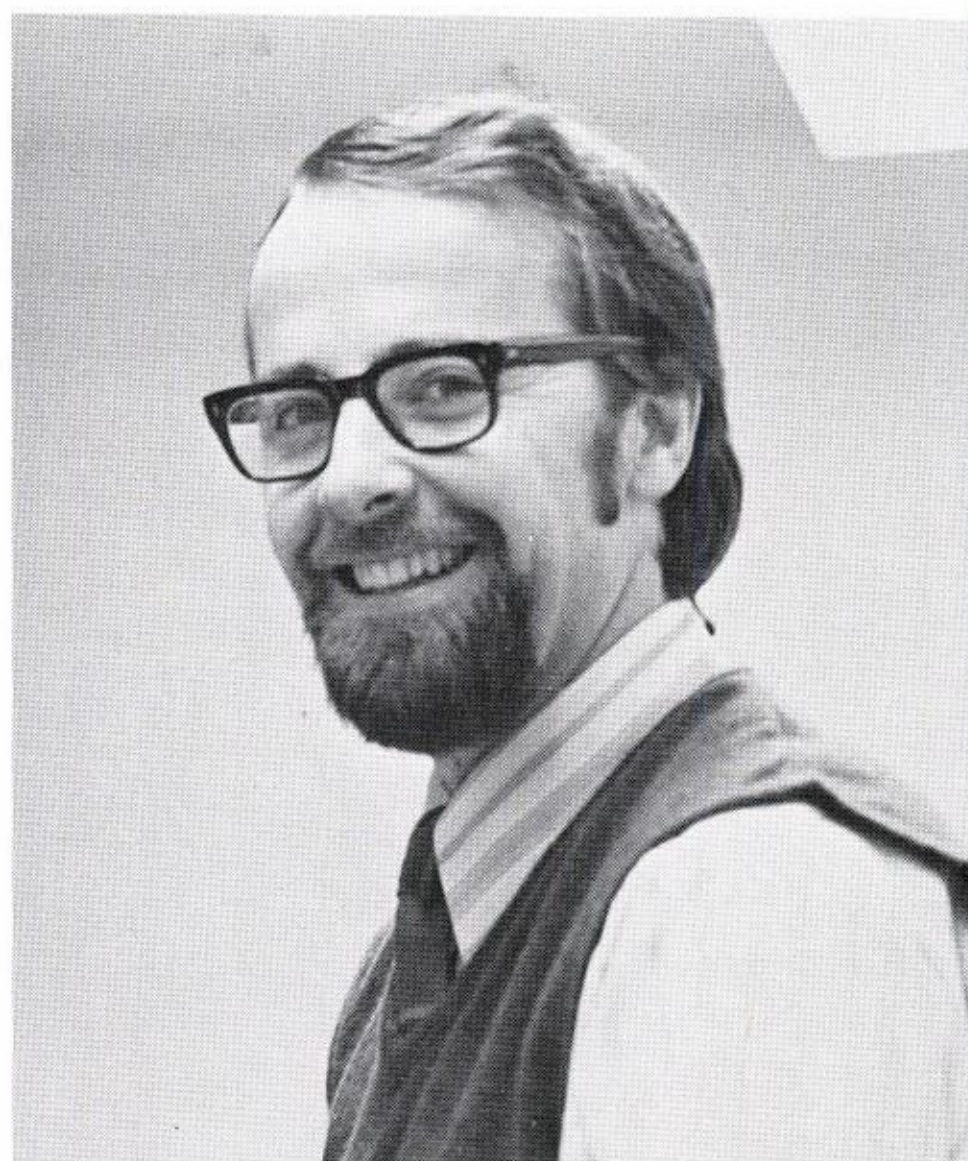

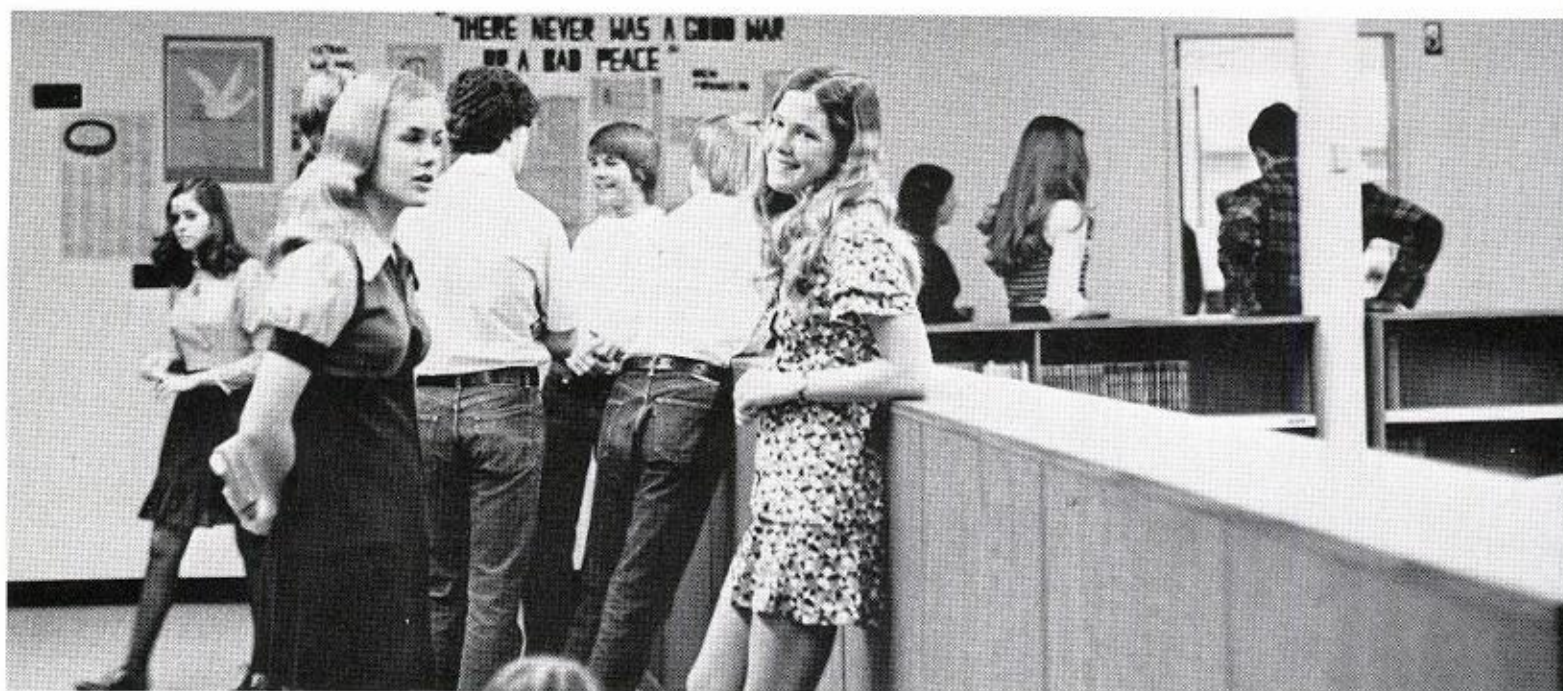

Whether studying or just quiet reading, the library offered a pleasant atmosphere.

A new addition to the library staff was Miss Kelly Graham. At Waluga last year, she worked as head librarian here at Lakeridge.

Miss Graham with the help of Mike Wendt headed a book drive which brought many new books to the library. The books that could not be used were sold and the money was spent to buy new books.

Another new addition to the library was the copy machine. Students could reproduce pages at a cheaper rate than anywhere else — 5 cents a copy. The main goal of the library was to increase the number of books. Approximately 4,000 books were added to the shelves.

English

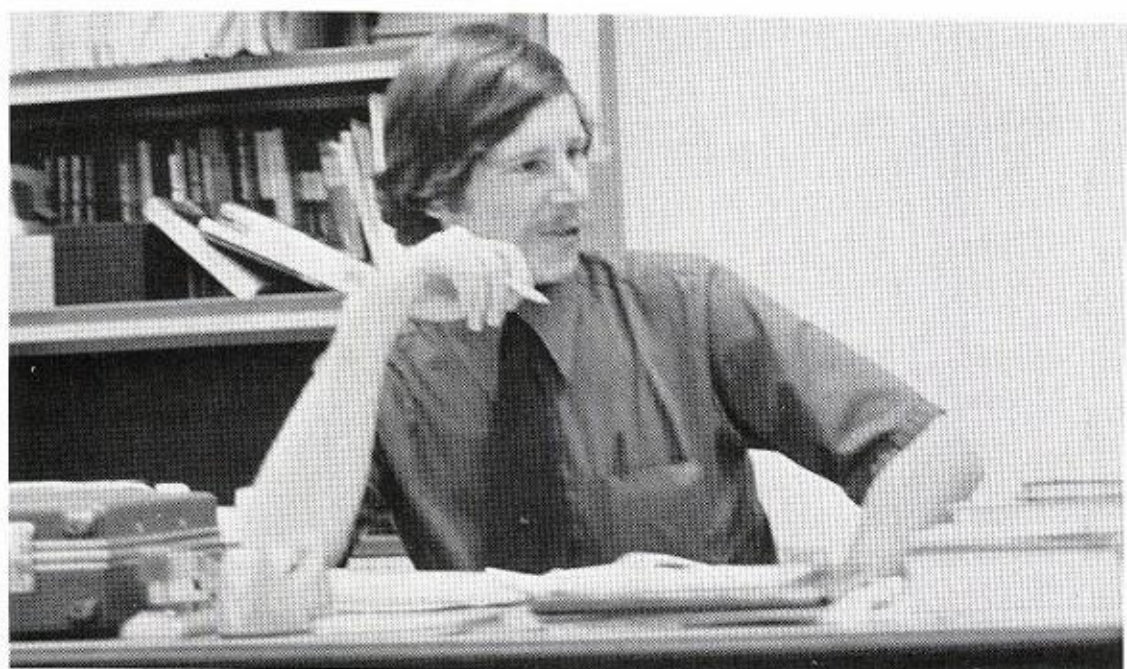

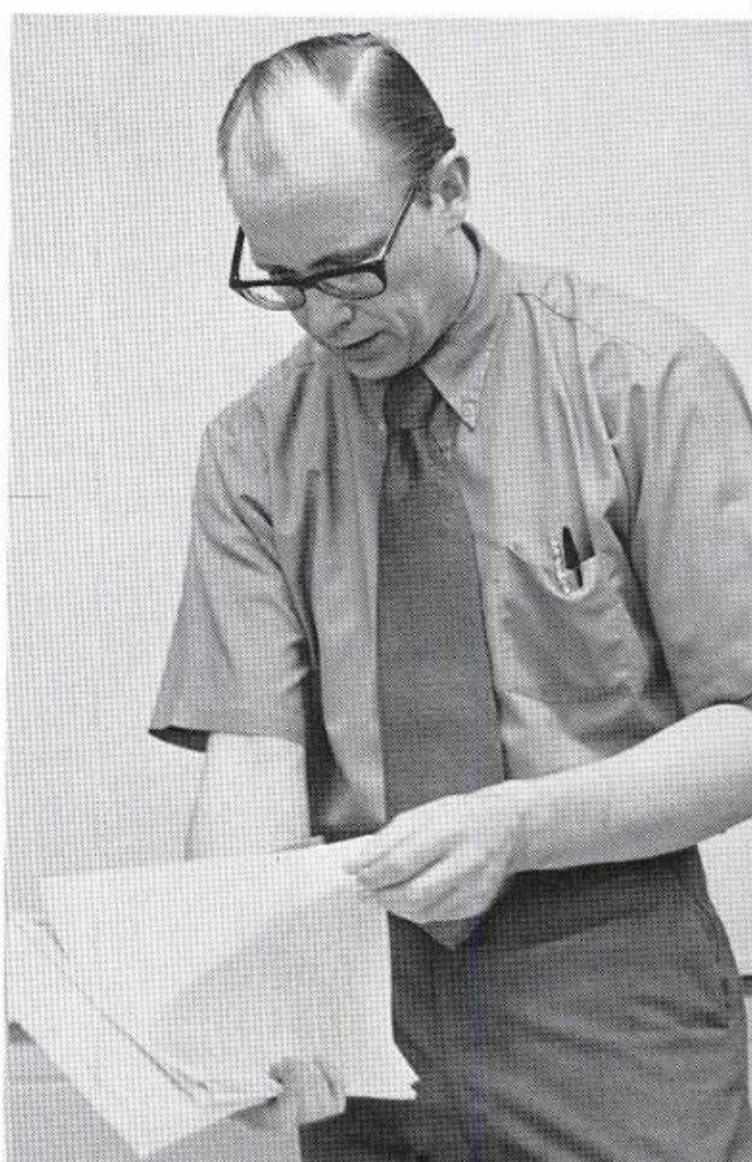

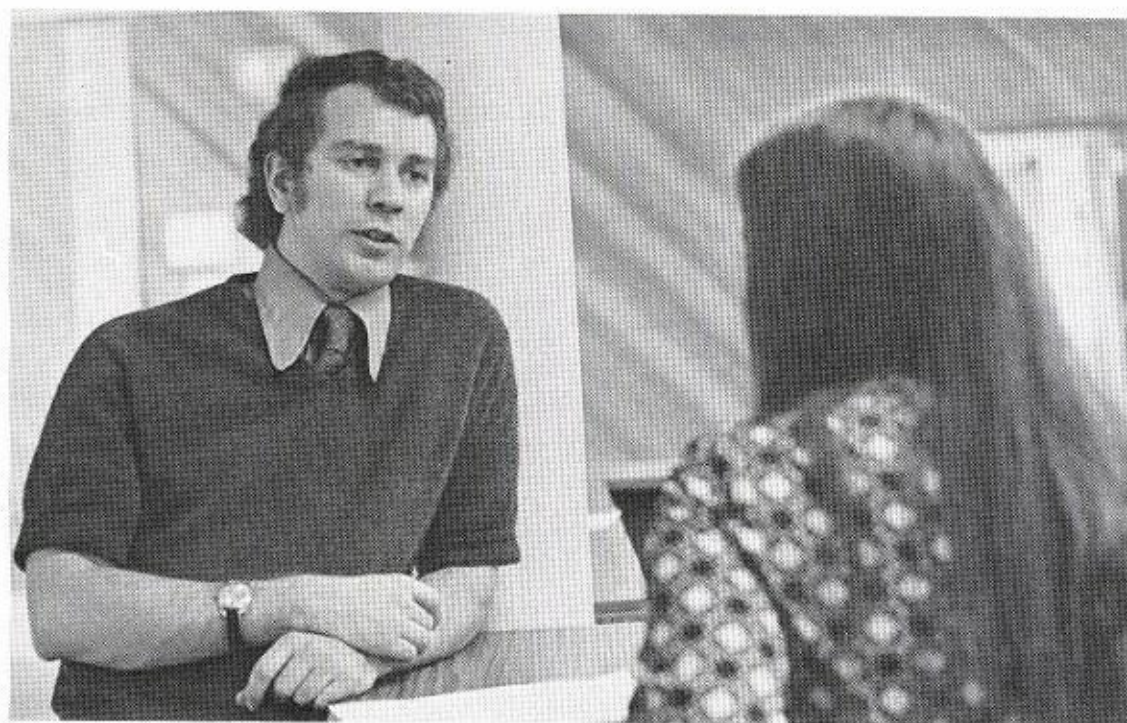

Highlights in the English department were the further innovation of activities to encourage greater utilization of the resource center, along with curriculum changes permitting seniors to elect two nine week courses during the second semester in place of conventional English. Senior courses included Composition Seminar, The Novel, Human Communication Processes, Job Prep Skills, and The Russian Novel. Mr. Michael Wendt, head of the department, plans for this program to continue next year.

Through English classes, the toy drive at Christmas and the district essay contest in April involved many students. English students and teachers spearheaded the gathering and preparation of material for the literary-art publication in the "Gallery" section of the yearbook.

Foreign Languages

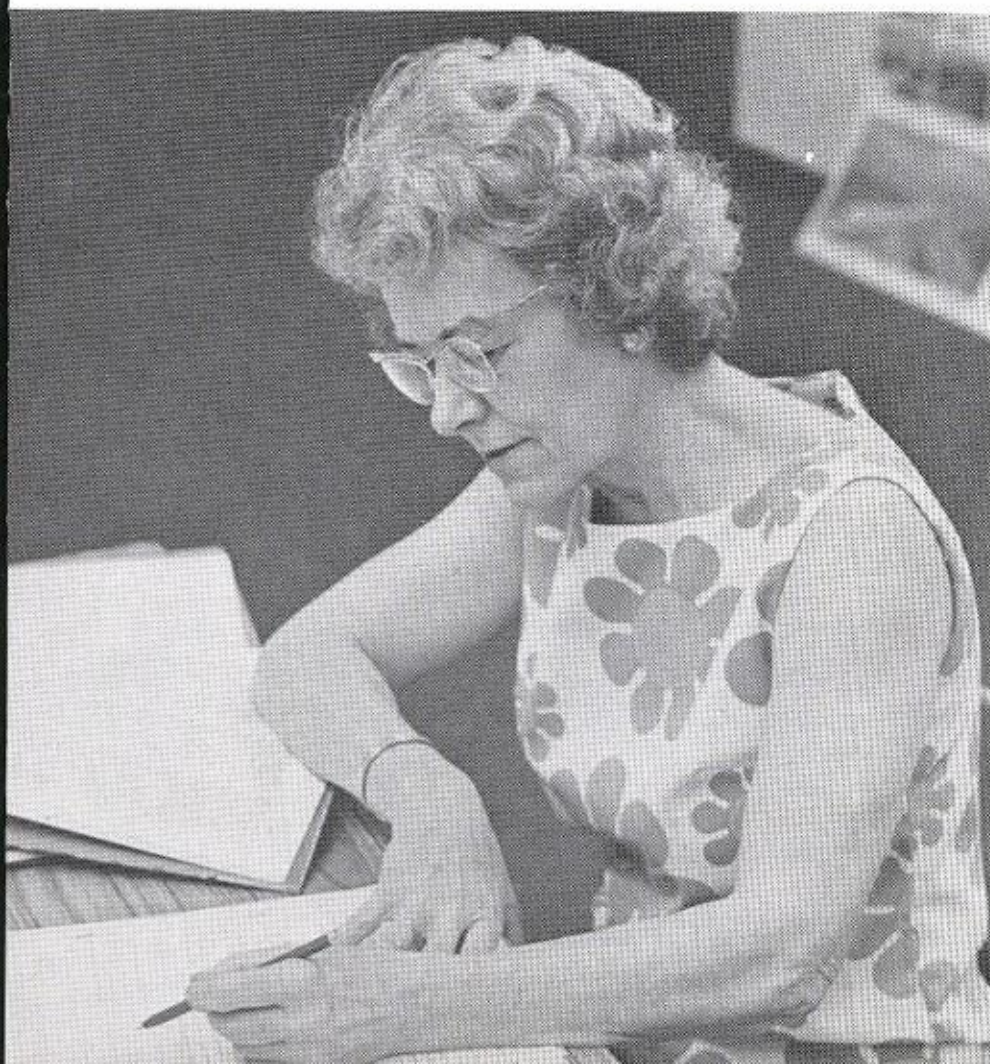

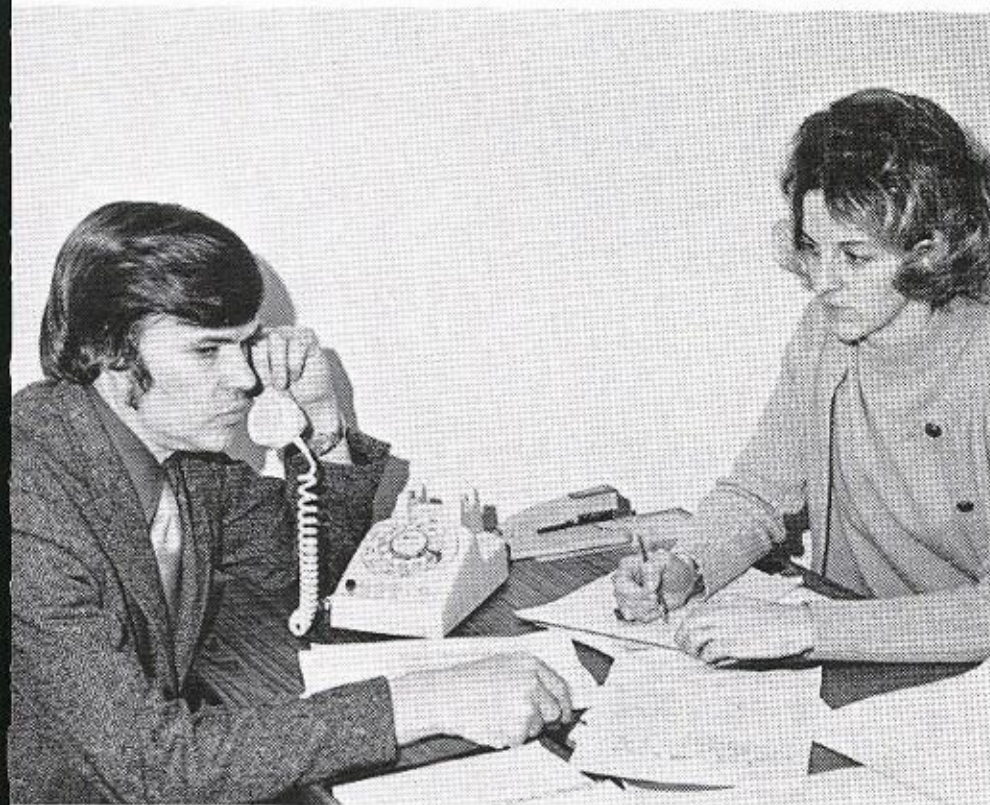

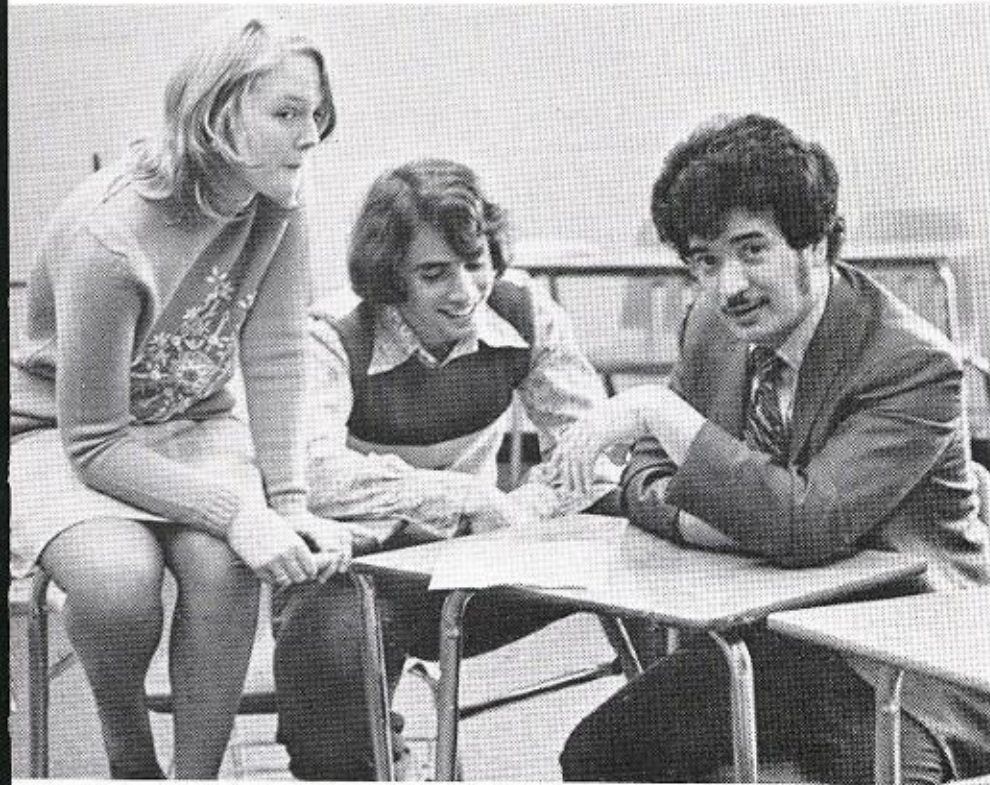

During the 1972-73 school year many students were involved in the Foreign Language curriculum. Mr. George Sonera taught Spanish, Mr. Ray Post taught French, Mrs. Mila Loupal taught German, and Mrs. Dorothy West taught Latin.

The students were able to use tapes, tape recorders, and records to help them improve their listening and speaking ability. The advanced students needed a good understanding of their language because little or no English was spoken in class.

During spring vacation, six students in Mr. Sonera's Spanish classes were able to travel to Mexico. They stayed in Mexico City and visited the ancient Indian pyramids and watched a bull fight. They traveled to many neighboring towns during the day. The students learned much about the Mexican culture and had an enjoyable time.

Another highlight of the year was when Mr. Sonera was selected Top Foreign Language Teacher in Oregon for 1972-1973.

History

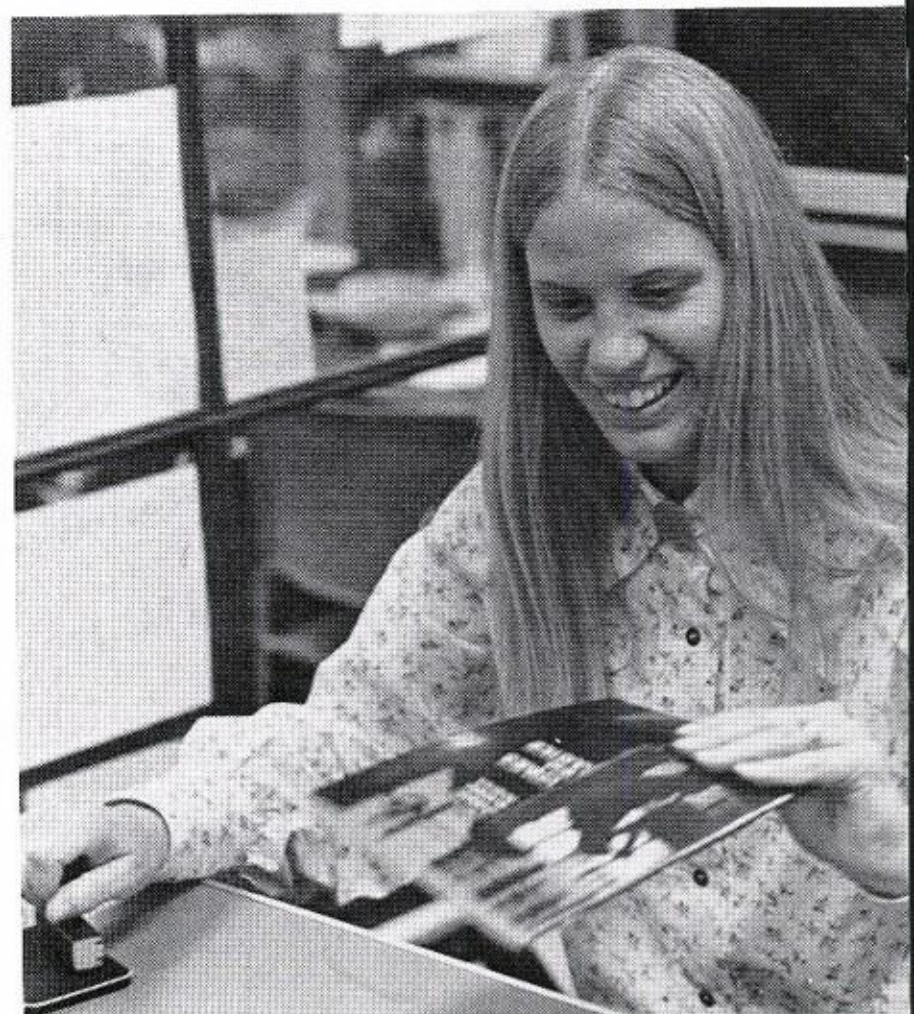

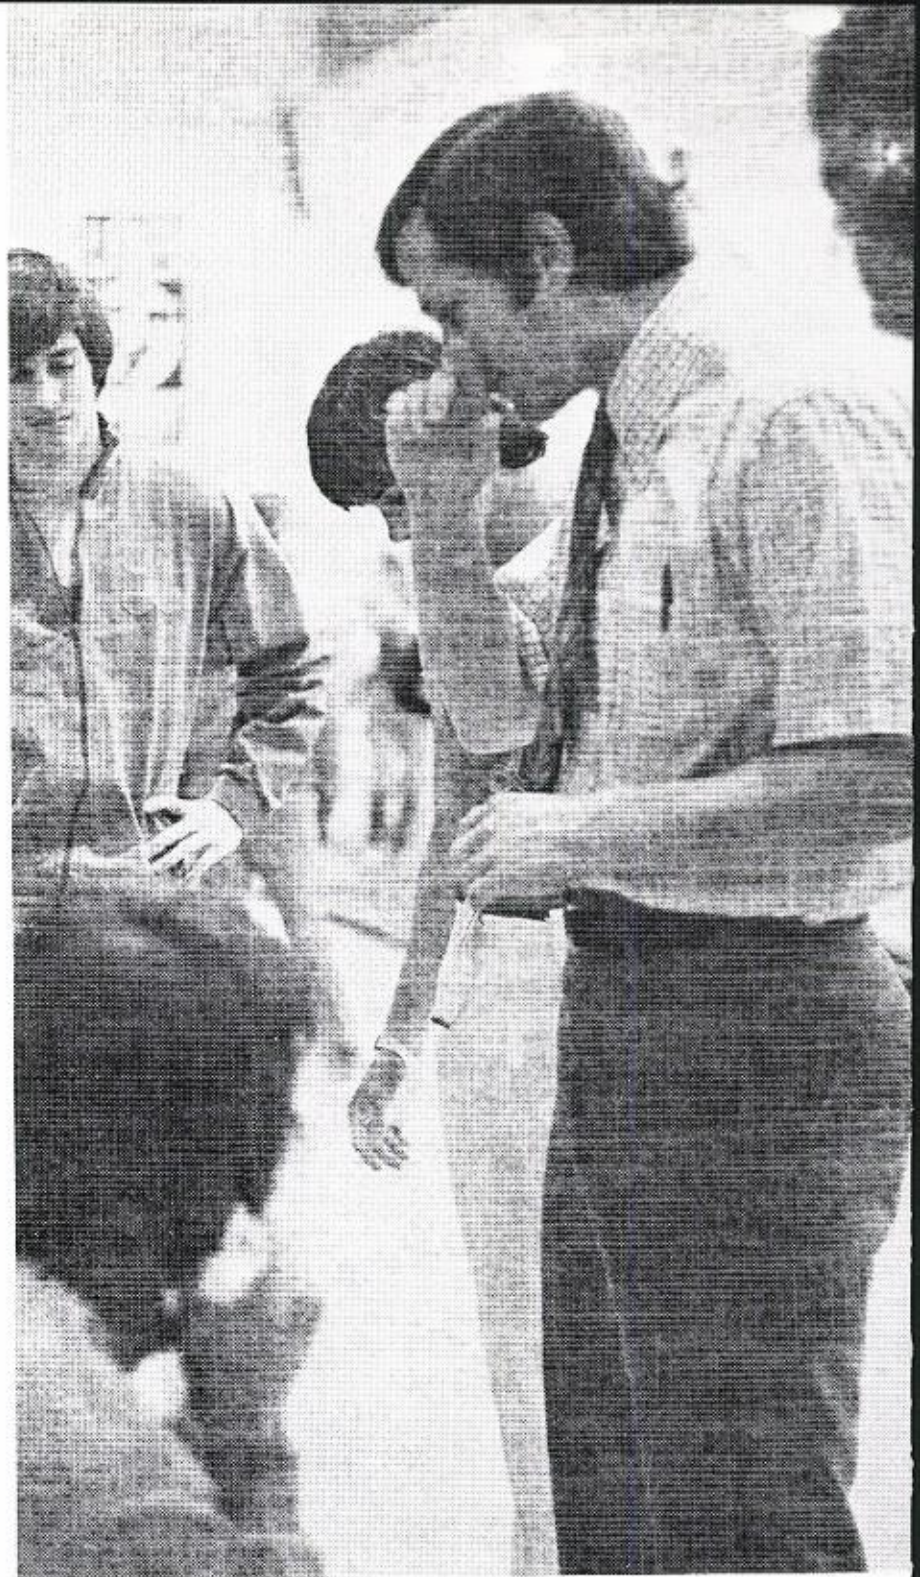

The senior history curriculum expanded this year. Don Robertson, department head, and John Turchi developed substitutive electives centered around particular themes or concepts related to historically relevant issues.

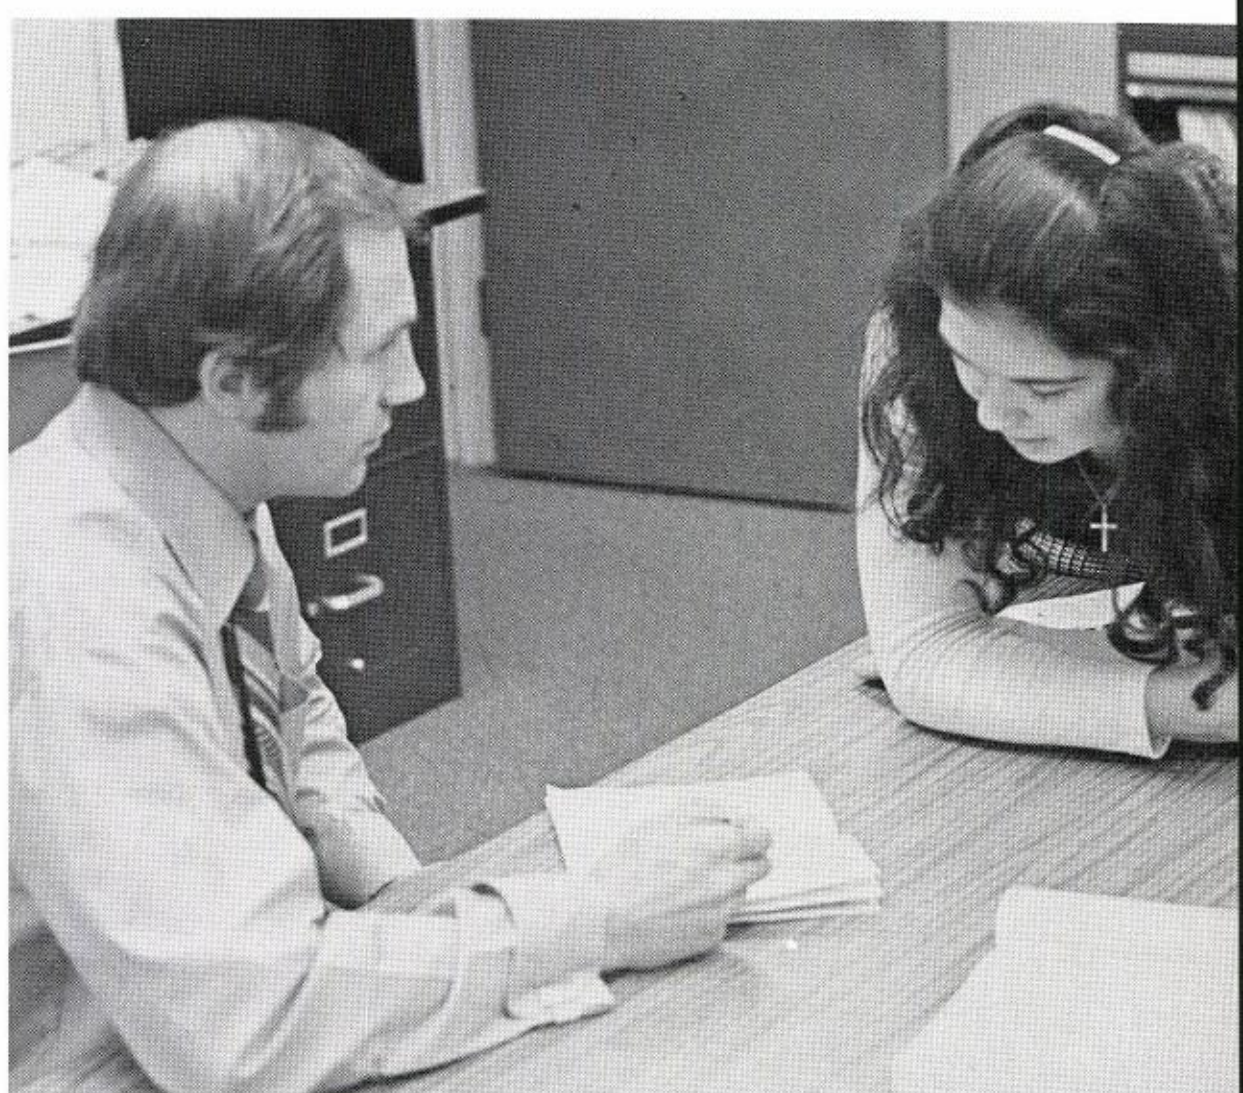

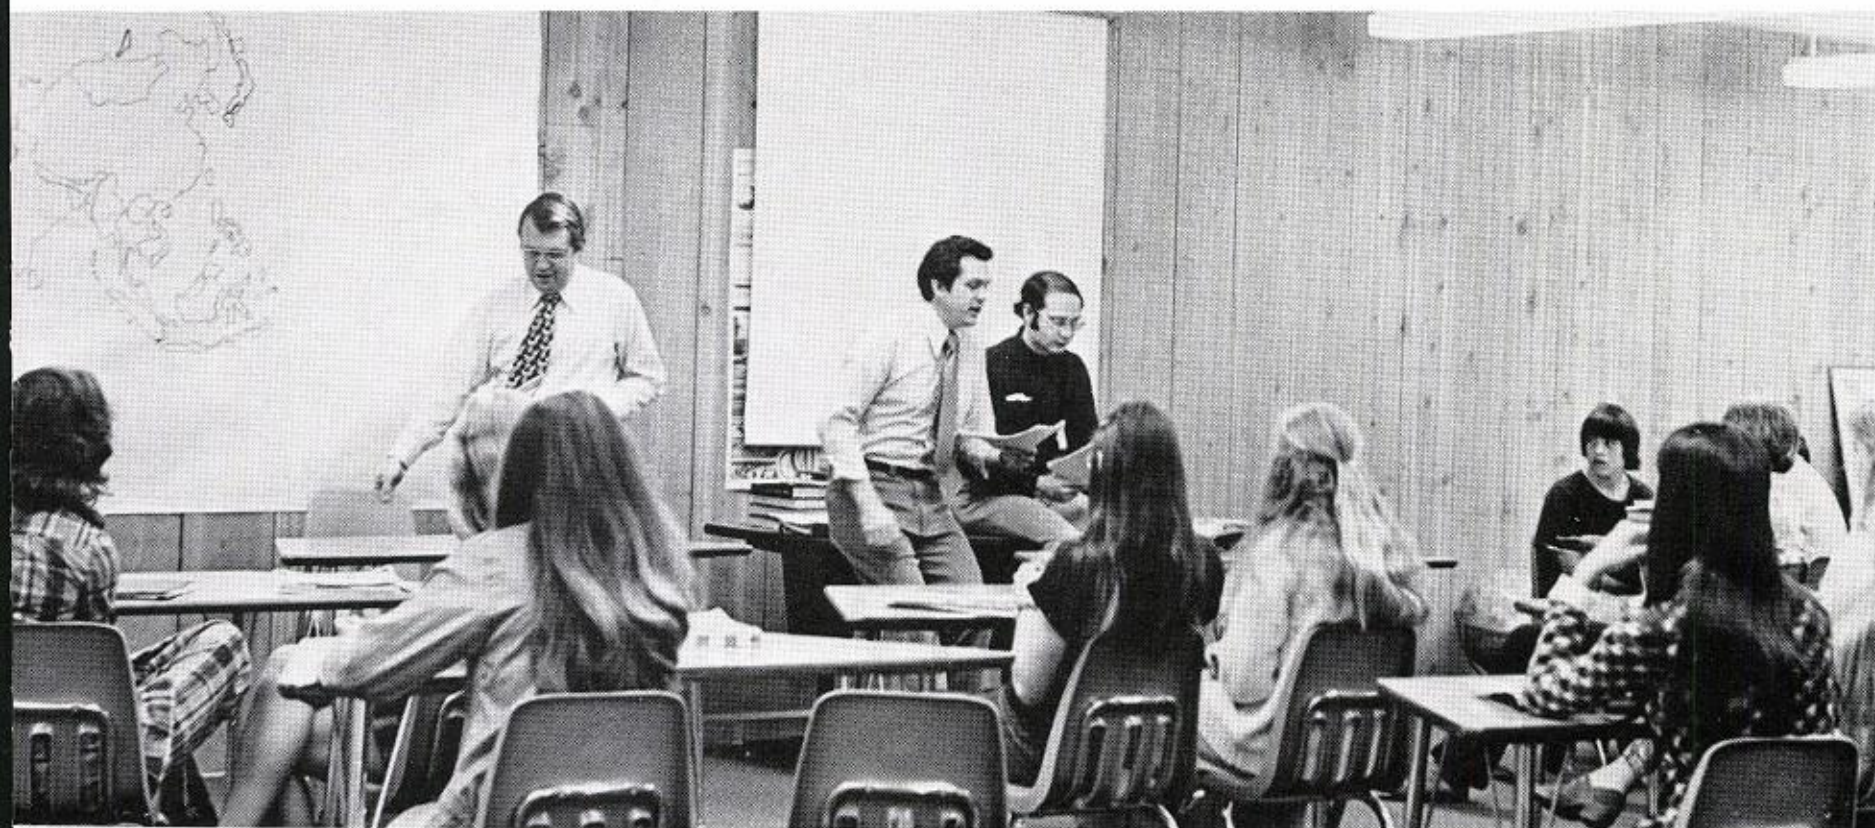

Education extended beyond the classroom once again. Several of the classes went to local theaters to see films such as "Nicholas and Alexandra" and "The Emmigrants" relating to their studies. During spring, an important event was the Youth Legislature held in Salem. Headed by John Turchi, several teachers and twenty-seven students participated in this very worthwhile weekend.

Students were given the chance to participate in two simulation games, "Dangerous Parallels" and "National Priorities Convention."

In the resource center, Mrs. Chris Owings came to work after Mrs. Kathy Uwelling left at the end of second quarter. With Mrs. Owings came Ernie and Wilbur, her two goldfish.

Math

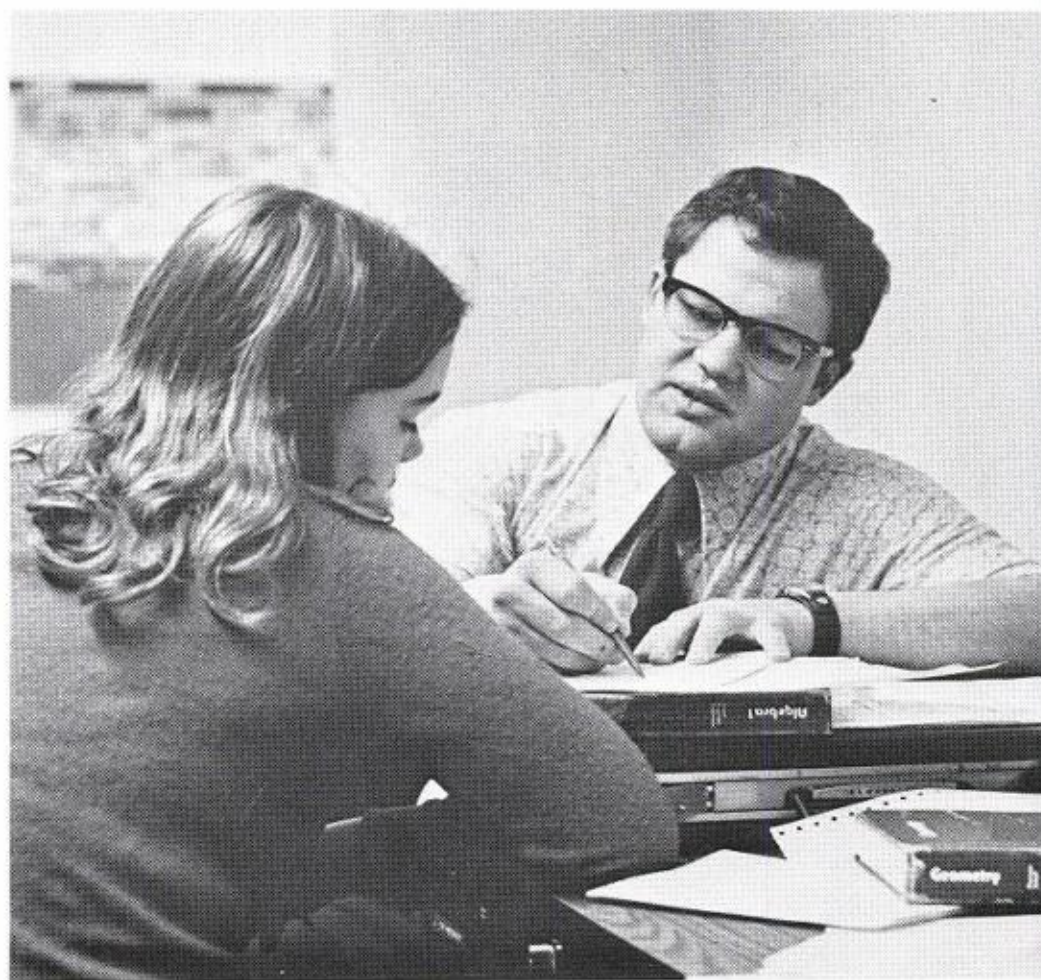

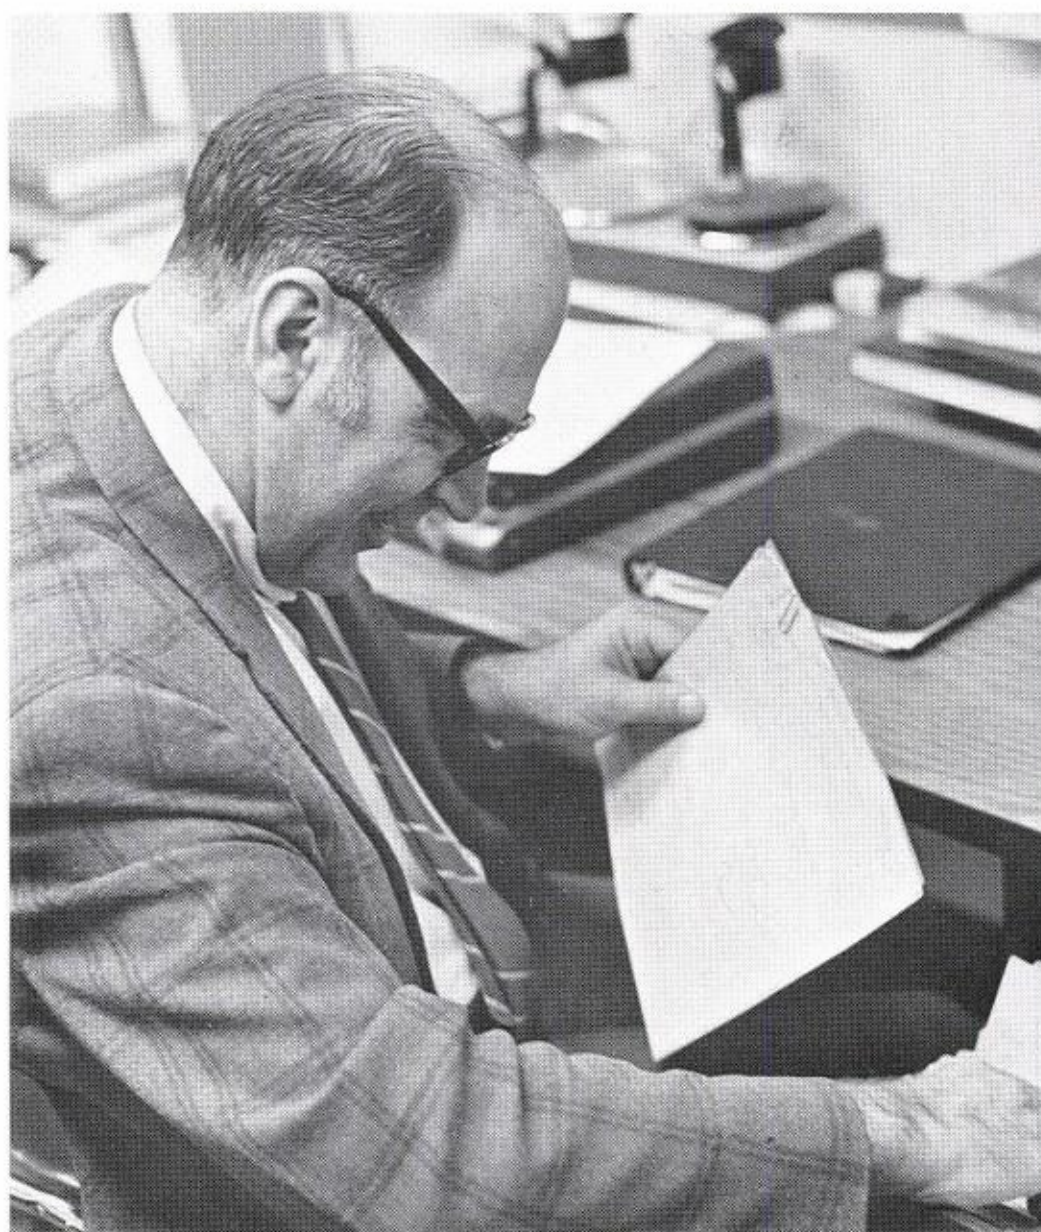

The math department was designed to provide an outlet for students with mathematical interests. There were six teachers in the department, headed by Mr. Chuck Geldecker. There were classes running from the simpler mathematics to the very complicated calculus.

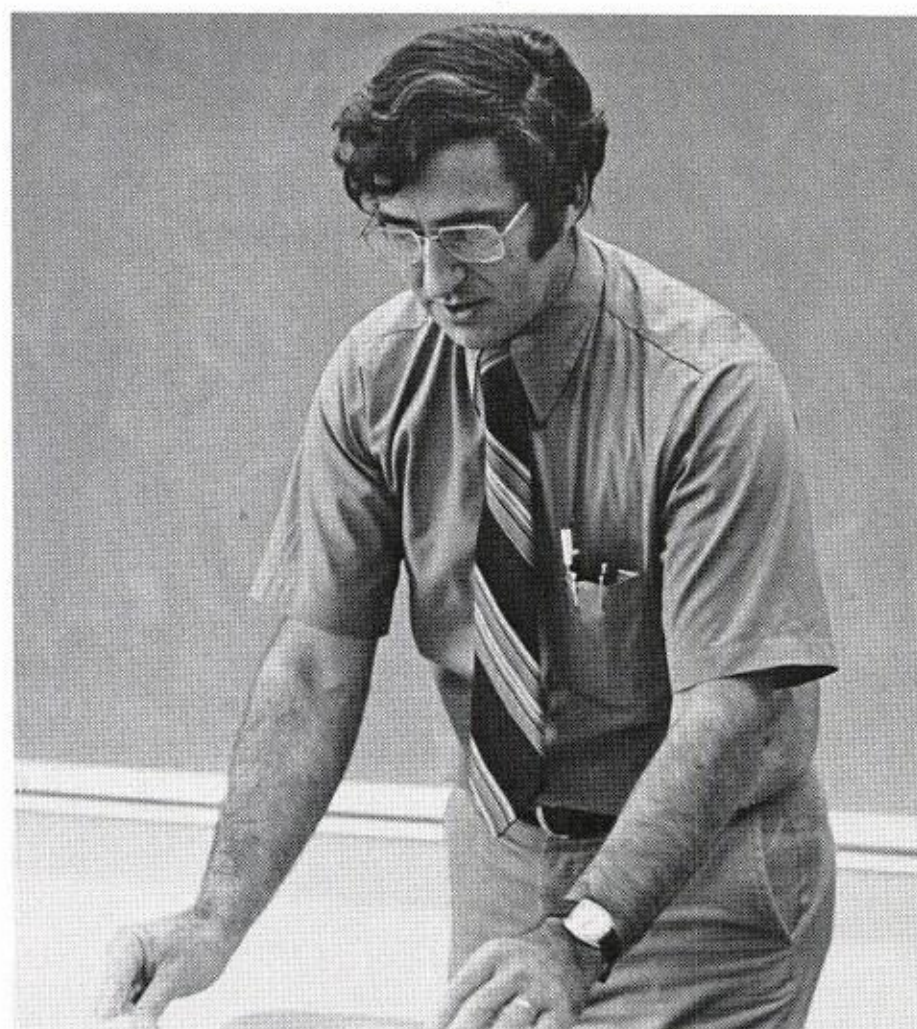

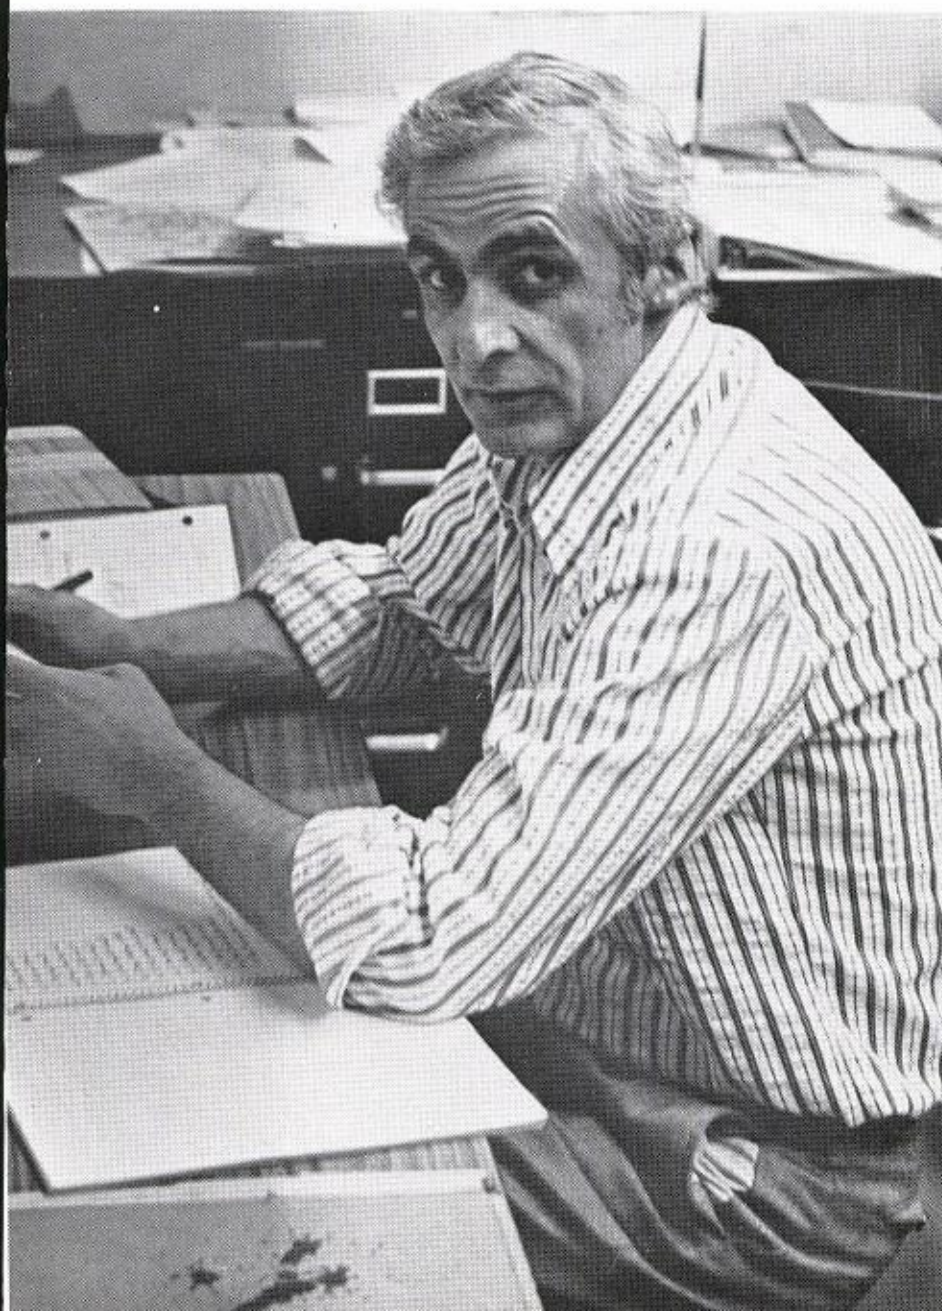

The Math Resource Center offered a variety of different activities for students during their ISP. The computer and calculators helped the students solve difficult problems and set up IBM programs. The calculators were a new addition to the department.

Besides all the work that teachers were doing in the math department they were also involved in different activities. Mrs. Cathy Stiehl helped with the Pacesetters, girls track team, and in the department she was head of graphics. Mr. Jerry Grossen was the wrestling coach, and Mr. Chuck Geldecker was the JV basketball team's coach.

One of the most important people in the department was Mrs. Louise Christiansen, who ran the resource center. Her duties included aiding staff members as well as students.

Science

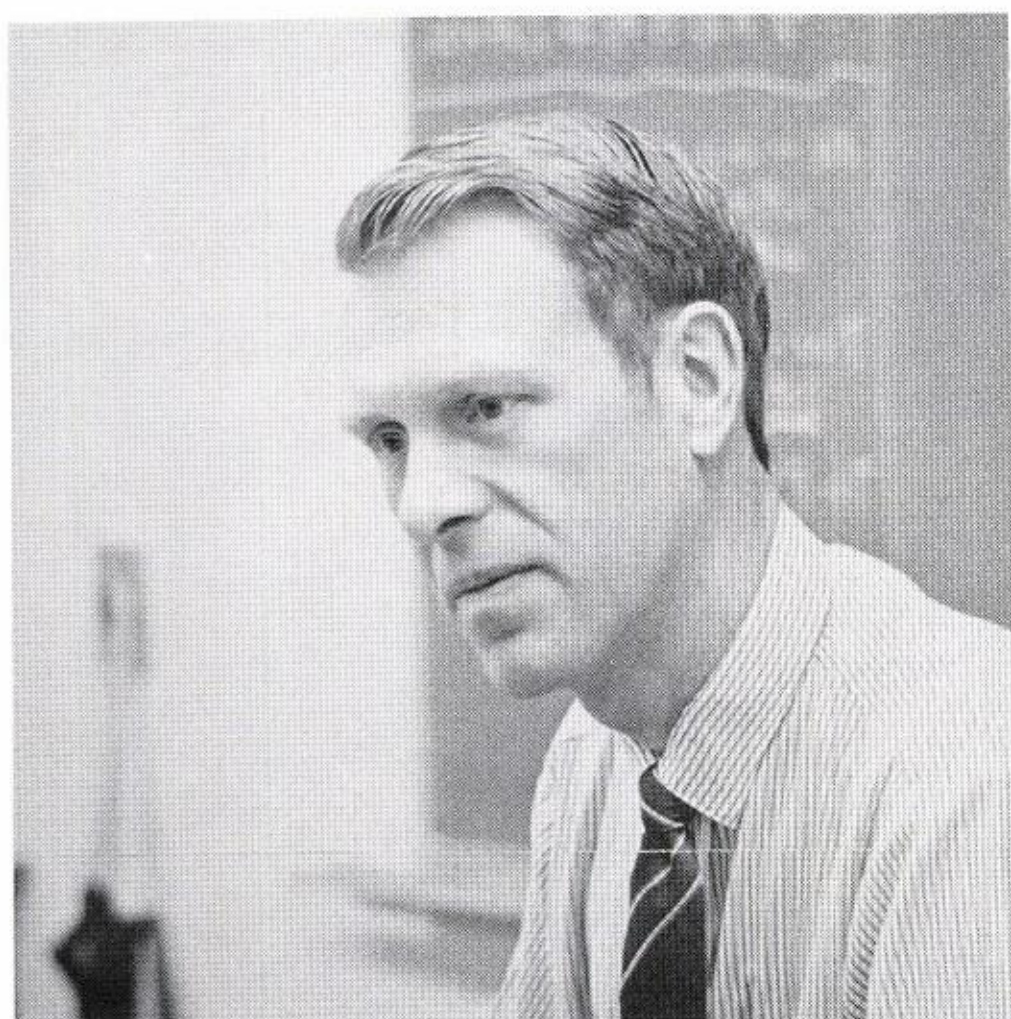

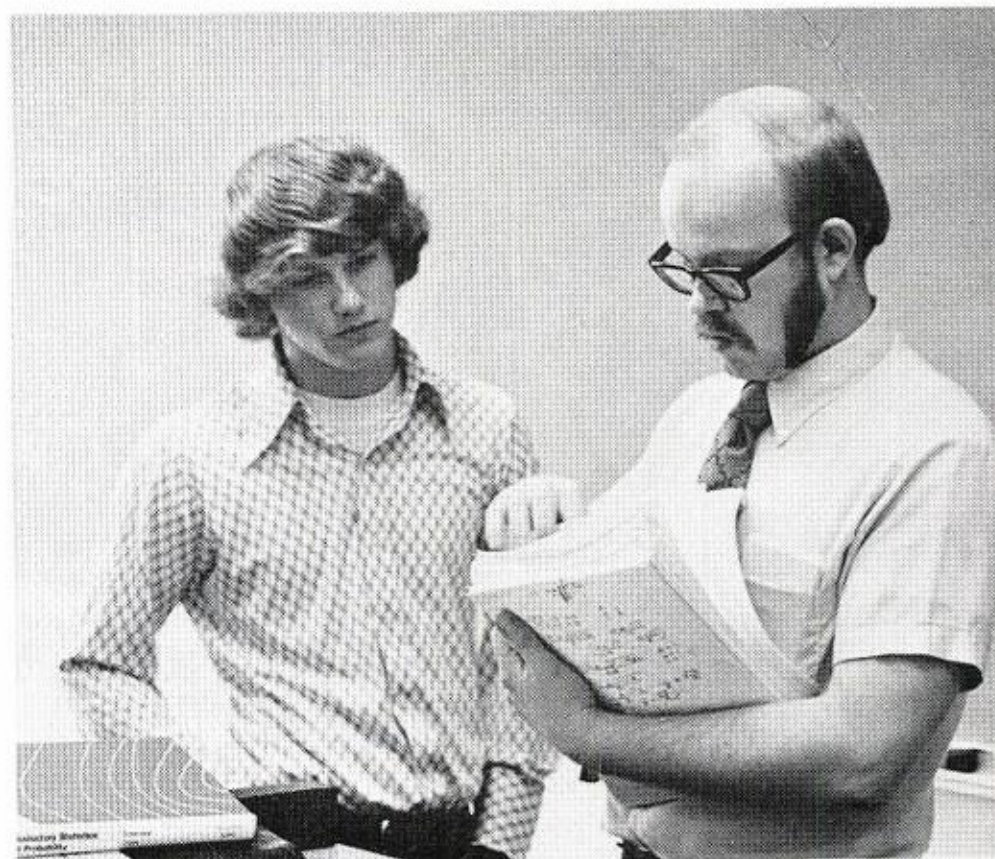

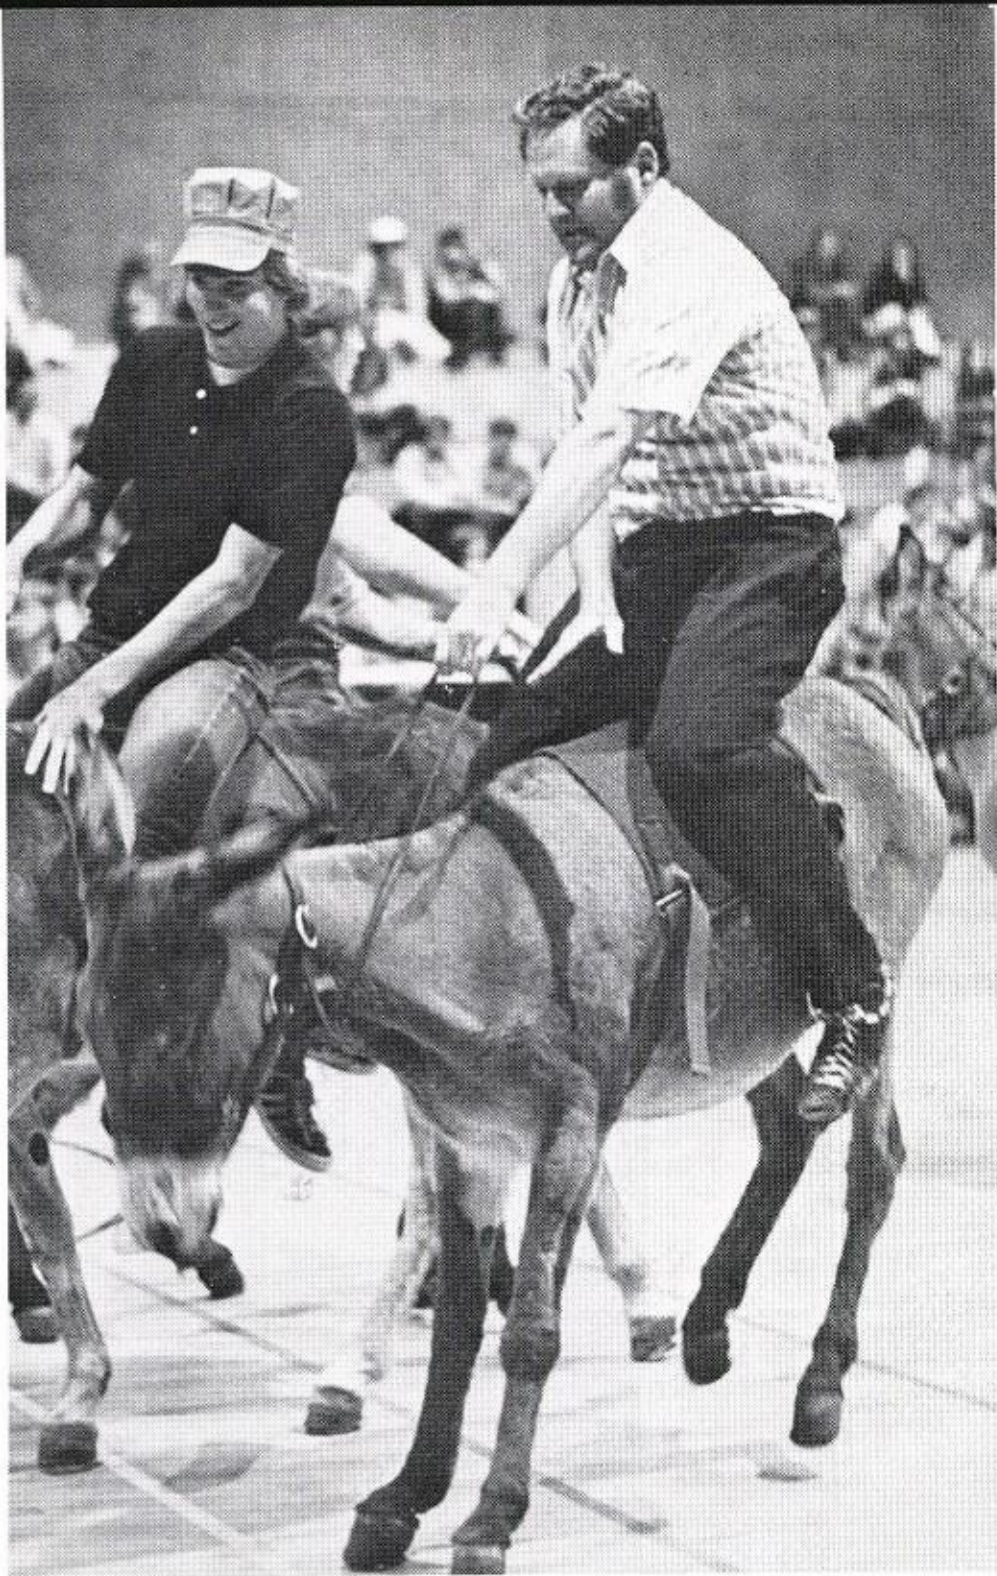

The science department expanded this year by increasing the number of quarter classes offered. Some of these classes covered areas in weather forecasting, oceanography, and ancient life study.

Chemistry, physics, biology, and BSCS were offered as full year courses. Once again the science department used frogs and chickens in their studies.

Field trips were found to be a valuable learning experience. The Oceanography class went to the beach to study sea animals and plant life. Students in the Ancient Life class went to Vernonia and up the Columbia River Gorge looking at the different rock formations and fossils.

Home Ec.

The boys were invading! More and more were signing up for Home Ec. classes. But Mrs. Jan Tirrell, Miss Patti Hammond, and Mrs. Susanne Hayes weren't complaining.

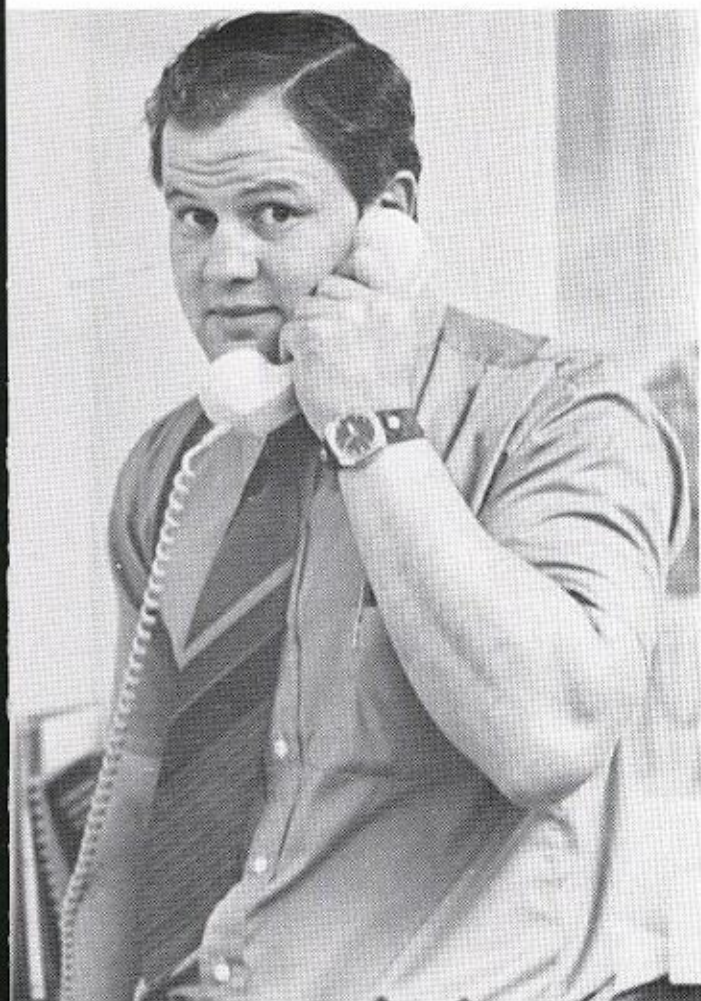

The Home Ec. Department does not only center around cooking and sewing. Child Development, Home Furnishings and Handcrafts were classes designed to prepare students for life after graduation. The classes taught social growth of small children to decorating techniques.

If you compared enrollment records of '72 to '73 you find that it had doubled. In fact enrollment has increased so much that they had to hire a partime teacher for the next year. Yes, the Home Ec. Department had come a long way, and it has a promising future.

Business

One of the totally elective sections at Lake-ridge is the Business Department. This section probably has some of the more practical courses available to students.

The leader of the department is Mr. Charles Nipp who teaches accounting, economics, and General Business. Also included in the business department is Mr. Jerry Grossen and Mrs. Evelyn Matthews. Mr. Grossen teaches Business Law and Math. Mrs. Matthews is in charge of model office, typing, and shorthand.

Some of the courses available gave the students the knowledge they need to get started in the world of work. More emphasis was placed on careers this year by having a career center located in the commons.

Industrial Arts

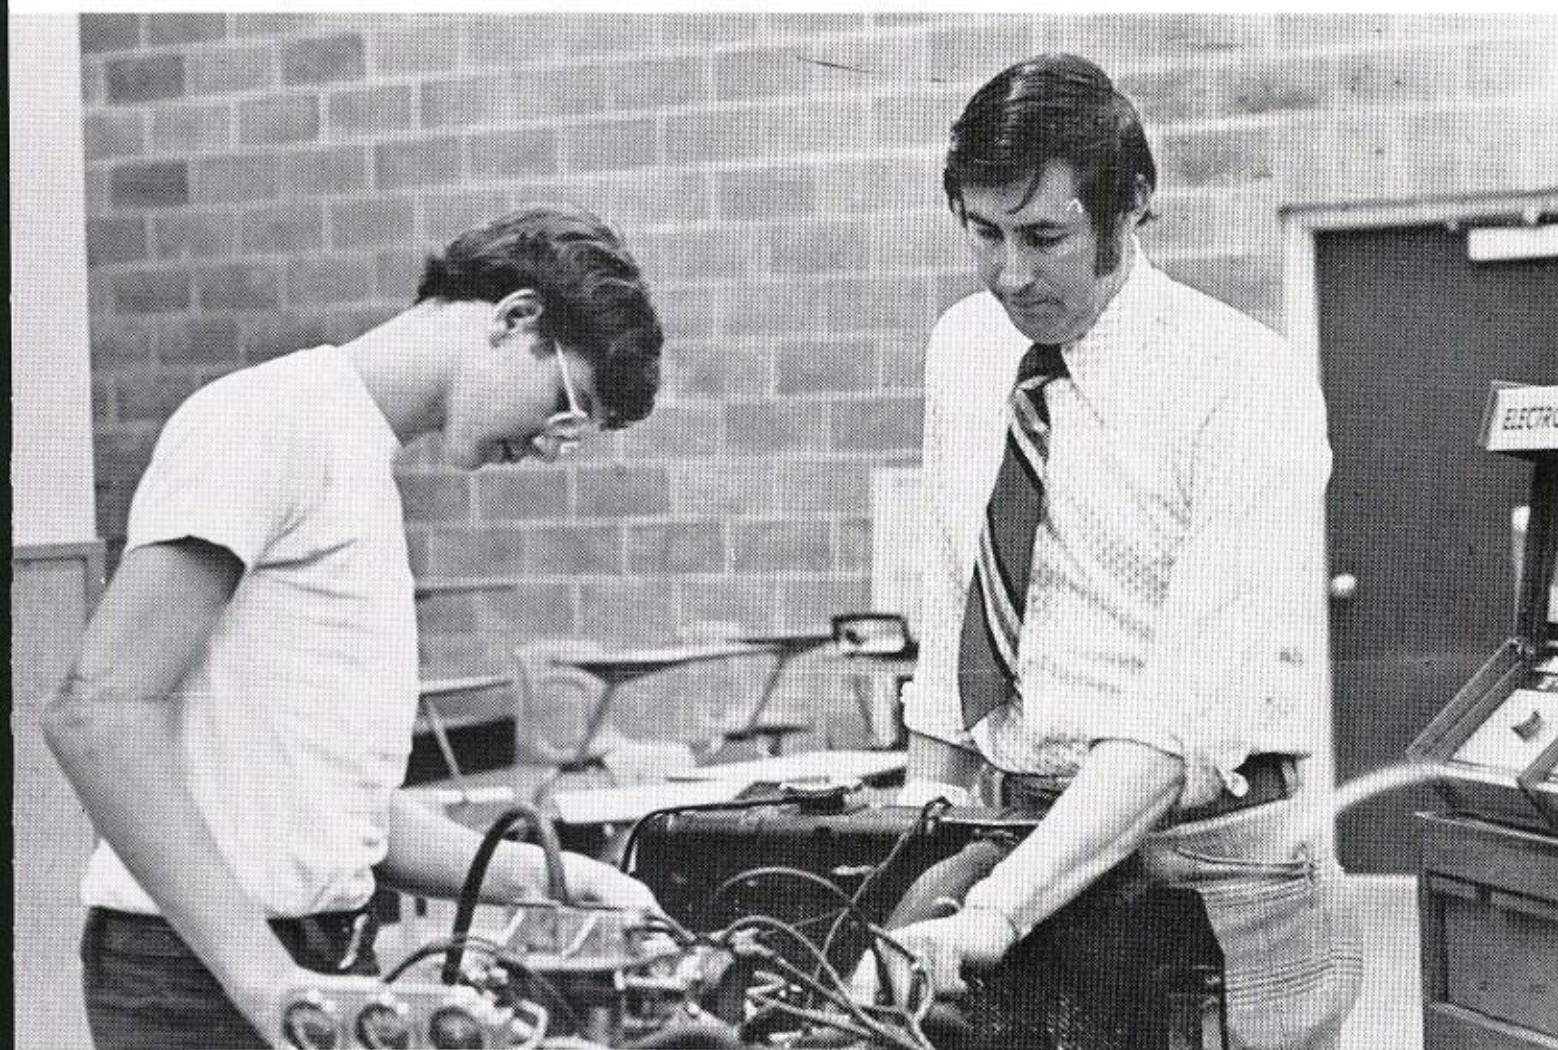

The Industrial Arts program at Lakeridge was designed to give students a first hand experience in learning. Students were allowed to explore their own interests in areas of building trades, automotives, electronics, drafting, metals and woodcrafts.

Vocation courses such as Building Trades 1 and 2 and Automotives 1 and 2 were career orientated and intended to prepare the student for job entry occupation.

Students found that these courses gave them possible careers for their futures.

PE /Health

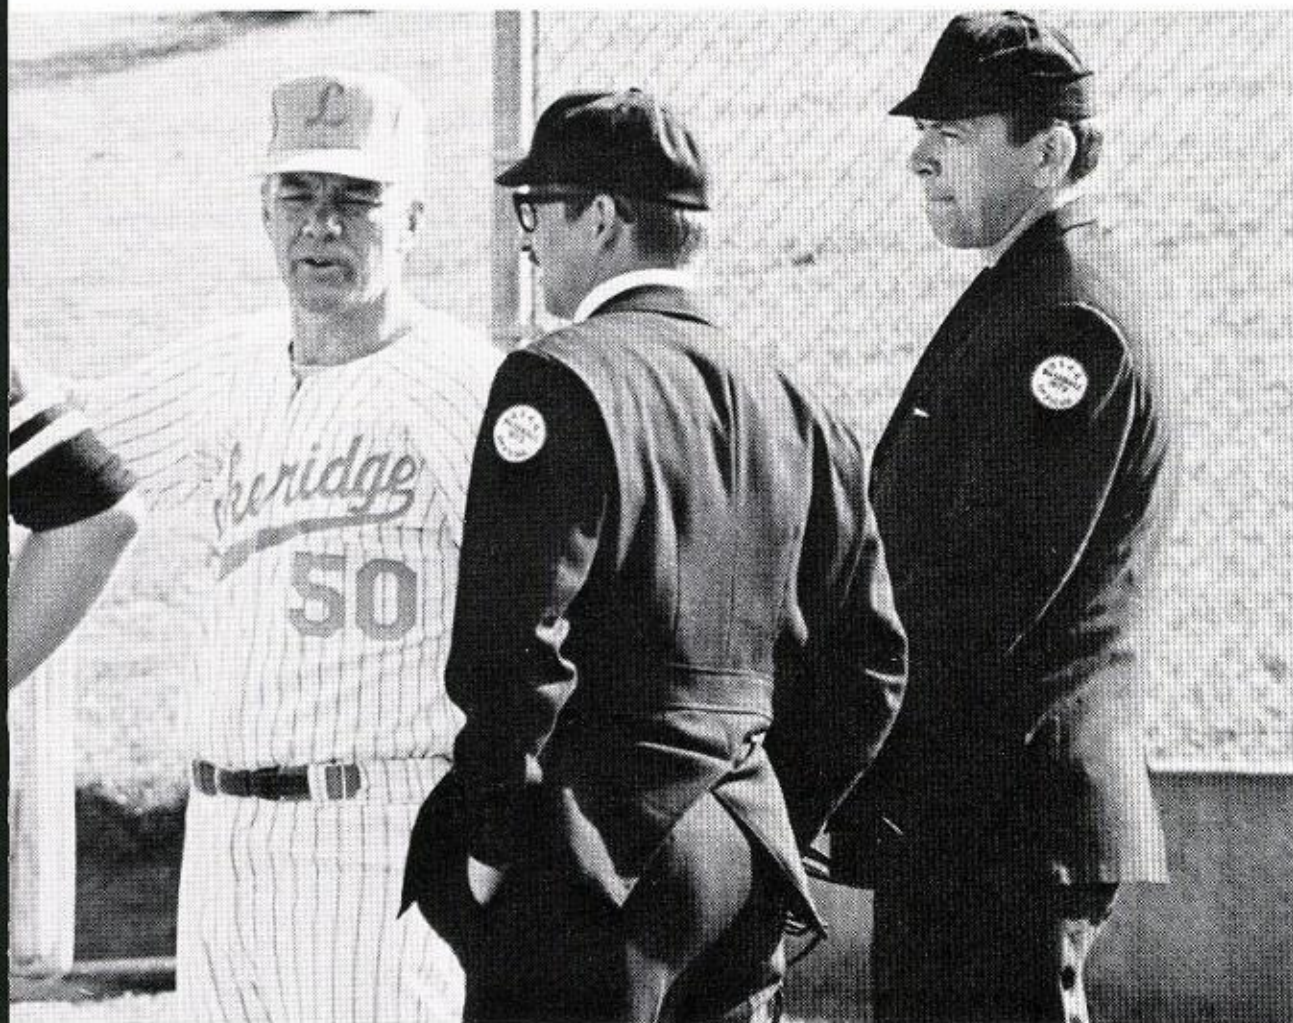

The Lakeridge PE Department continued this year to offer the same required activities for all classes. Added to the curriculum were open lab periods for interested students. Those participating had time to work on improving skills in badminton, weight training, basketball and volleyball.

Helping the regular instructors this year were two new student teachers. Jack Serven and Linda Smethurst were involved in supervising the open lab program and had a chance to teach their own classes.

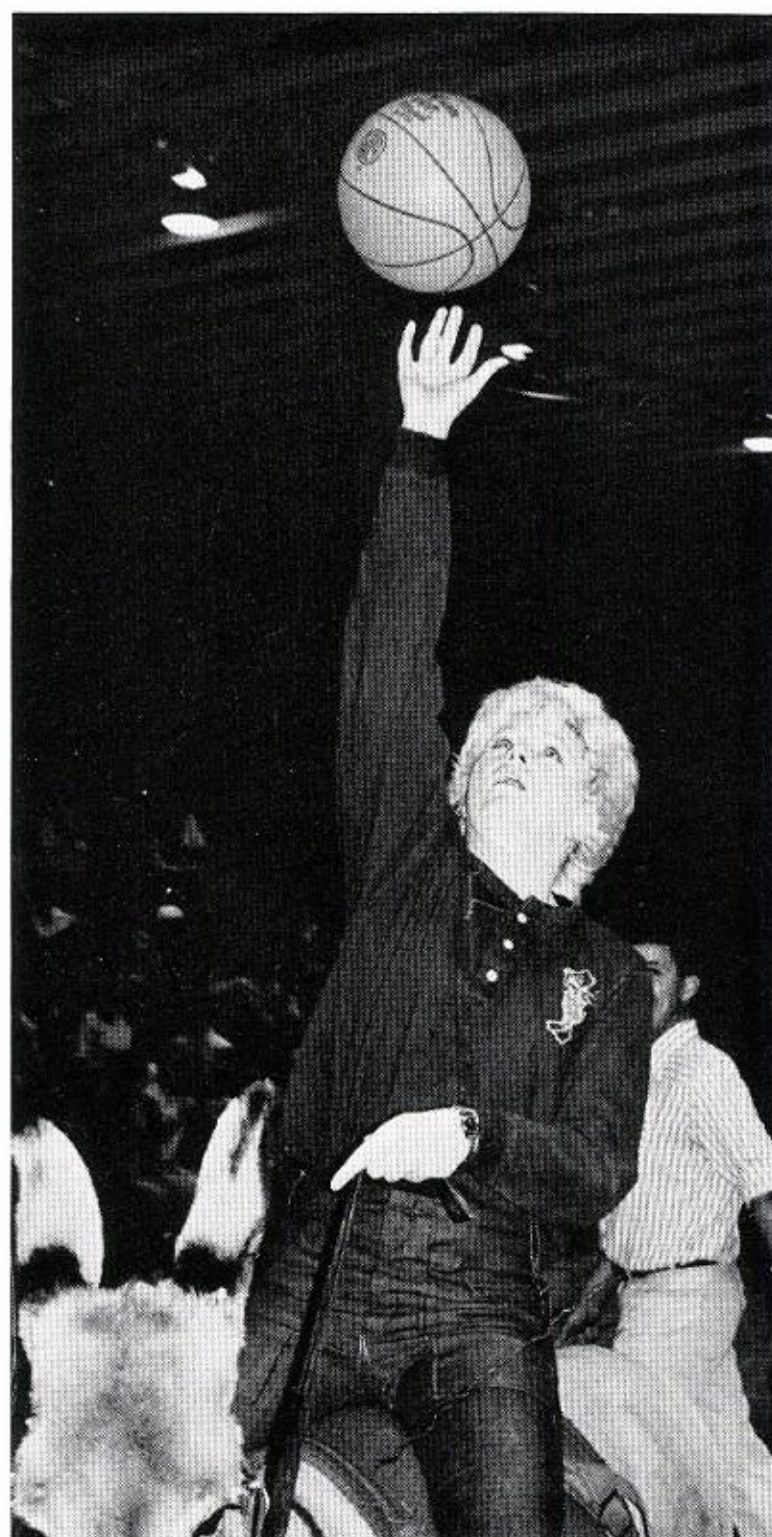

Student assistants aided instructors during each four-week unit. This allowed more time for each individual to receive help. Classes in required PE had units in football, gymnastics, badminton, two-pitch, basketball, volleyball, track, weight training and folk dancing.

Journalism

"The only newspaper in the history of Mankind that changes its name every time — at least as far as we know." That sums up a unique feature of the Lakeridge newspaper. It has been known as Volume II, Impression, Friday and XIIIth and other names.

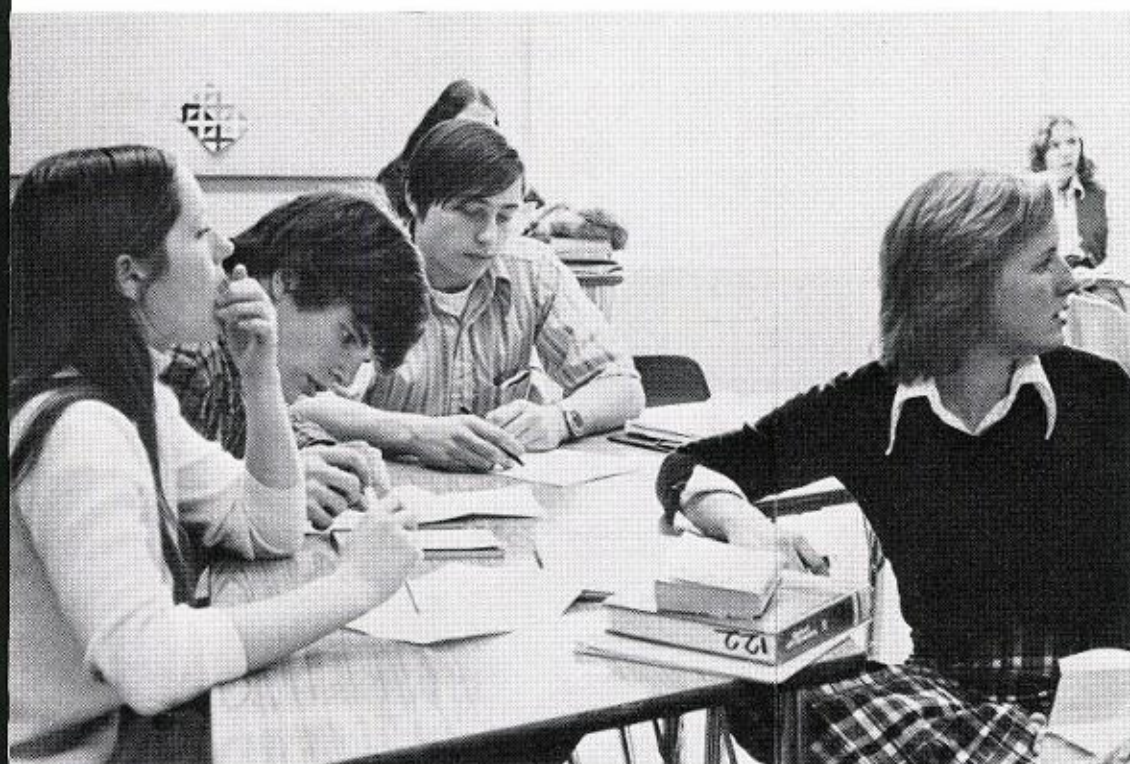

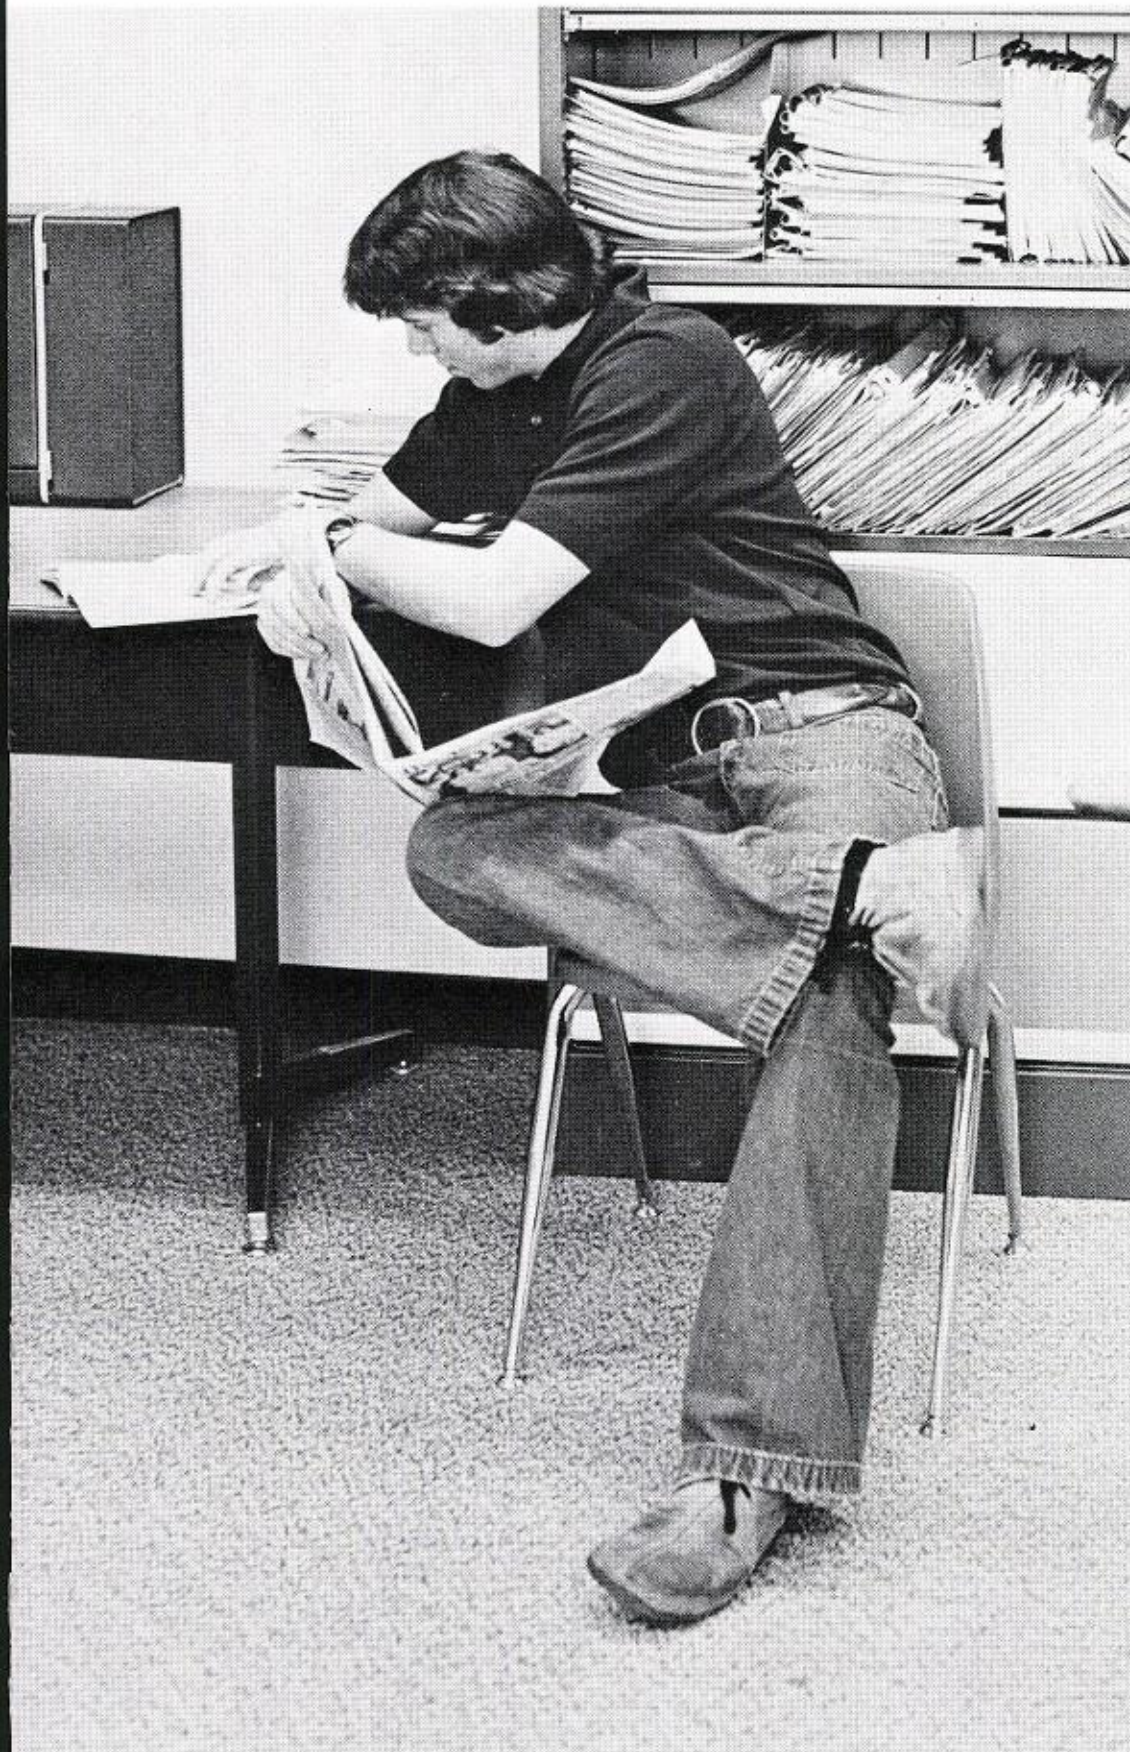

The newspaper staff put out the roughly bi-weekly publication and learned about techniques of organization, writing, planning and other facets of journalism. A field trip to the Oregonian Publishing Company took the staff away from school for a few hours early in the year.

Top: Terry Crabtree rereads the paper he is to submit for the "Intermission" publication. Below: Laura Girod, Brian Downey, Gary Walsworth and Martha Inskeep listen intently as Mr. Hamm speaks about the next issue.

Expanding (ix spand ing) – the photography area at Lakeridge High School.

The photography area at Lakeridge this past year has grown immensely. Both semesters the classes were completely filled to capacity. The classes were taught the elements of photography to make photographs not snapshots.

Classes were taught by Mr. John Sanders. Besides teaching photography, he taught a science course, took pictures for the Lake Oswego Review, the Lakeridge newspaper, and for Symposium '73.

The yearbook staff spent much time working on the yearbook. When they didn't get their work done during school they spent a lot of time after school and on the weekends.

Working on the yearbook wasn't just pasting pictures on a page. It was choosing and sizing pictures, getting them developed, designing a layout, writing copy and captions, interviewing various people, checking it with the assistants and finally checking it with the advisor.

The yearbook room had a pretty open atmosphere because so much of the work was done out of the classroom. Some one from the yearbook staff had to be at each school event in order to get the right information and pictures.

Having a lot of fun and a lot of work is a good combination and with the help of Mr. Maurice Reece, the staff had a tiring but good year.

TV/Audio

One of the most important areas on the Lake-ridge campus is the Audio Visual Department, headed by Mr. James Cooke. Few people realized the amount of work handled by this department. They were responsible for getting various equipment to the teachers and making sure it was in working order, they ordered all films that were used by the teachers, and they were in charge of the sound systems around the school. "I was very lucky to have efficient and dependable help this past year . . . without these student assistants I would have been lost," said Mr. Cooke.

The television studio was utilized more effectively this past year than ever before. However, according to Mr. Cooke, there was still a lot of work to be done. As Mr. Cooke said, "The only way the television system will ever operate at the greatest possible efficiency is to have one person available to spend the necessary time in the TV studio. I was so busy dividing my time to complete numerous "minor" tasks, that I was not able to expand either the audio visual or the television departments to meet the demands of the teachers and students."

Graphic Arts

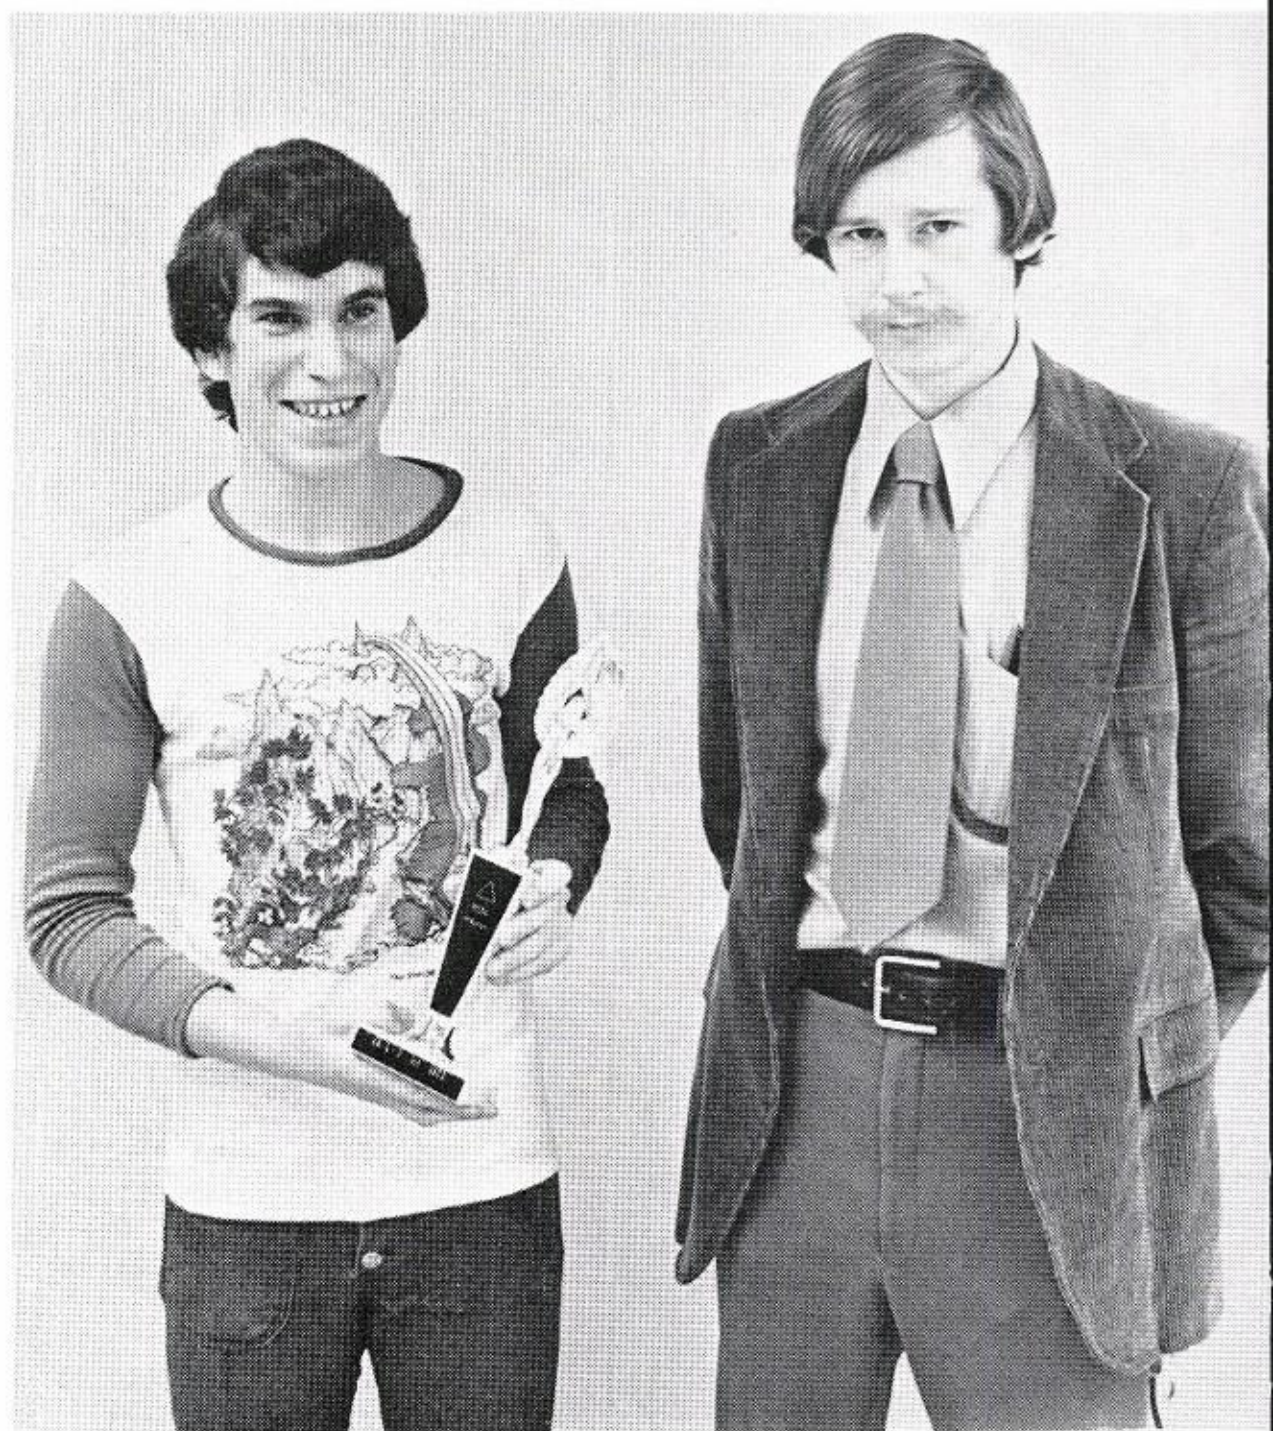

Mrs. Kaye Bannister, Mrs. Linda Holland, and Mrs. Lois Morse shared the duties of the Graphic Arts Department. Mrs. Bannister was in the department first semester and then moved on to Waluga Junior High. During second semester Mrs. Holland and Mrs. Morse worked with students and faculty providing many services. They included the ordering and distribution of books, keeping the supplies in order, and providing a Lost and Found for stray books, notebooks, coats, and hats.

They also controlled the duplicating, mimeograph, and copy machines located in the Graphic Arts area. With the help of aides, they printed numerous papers for students, teachers, and administrators.

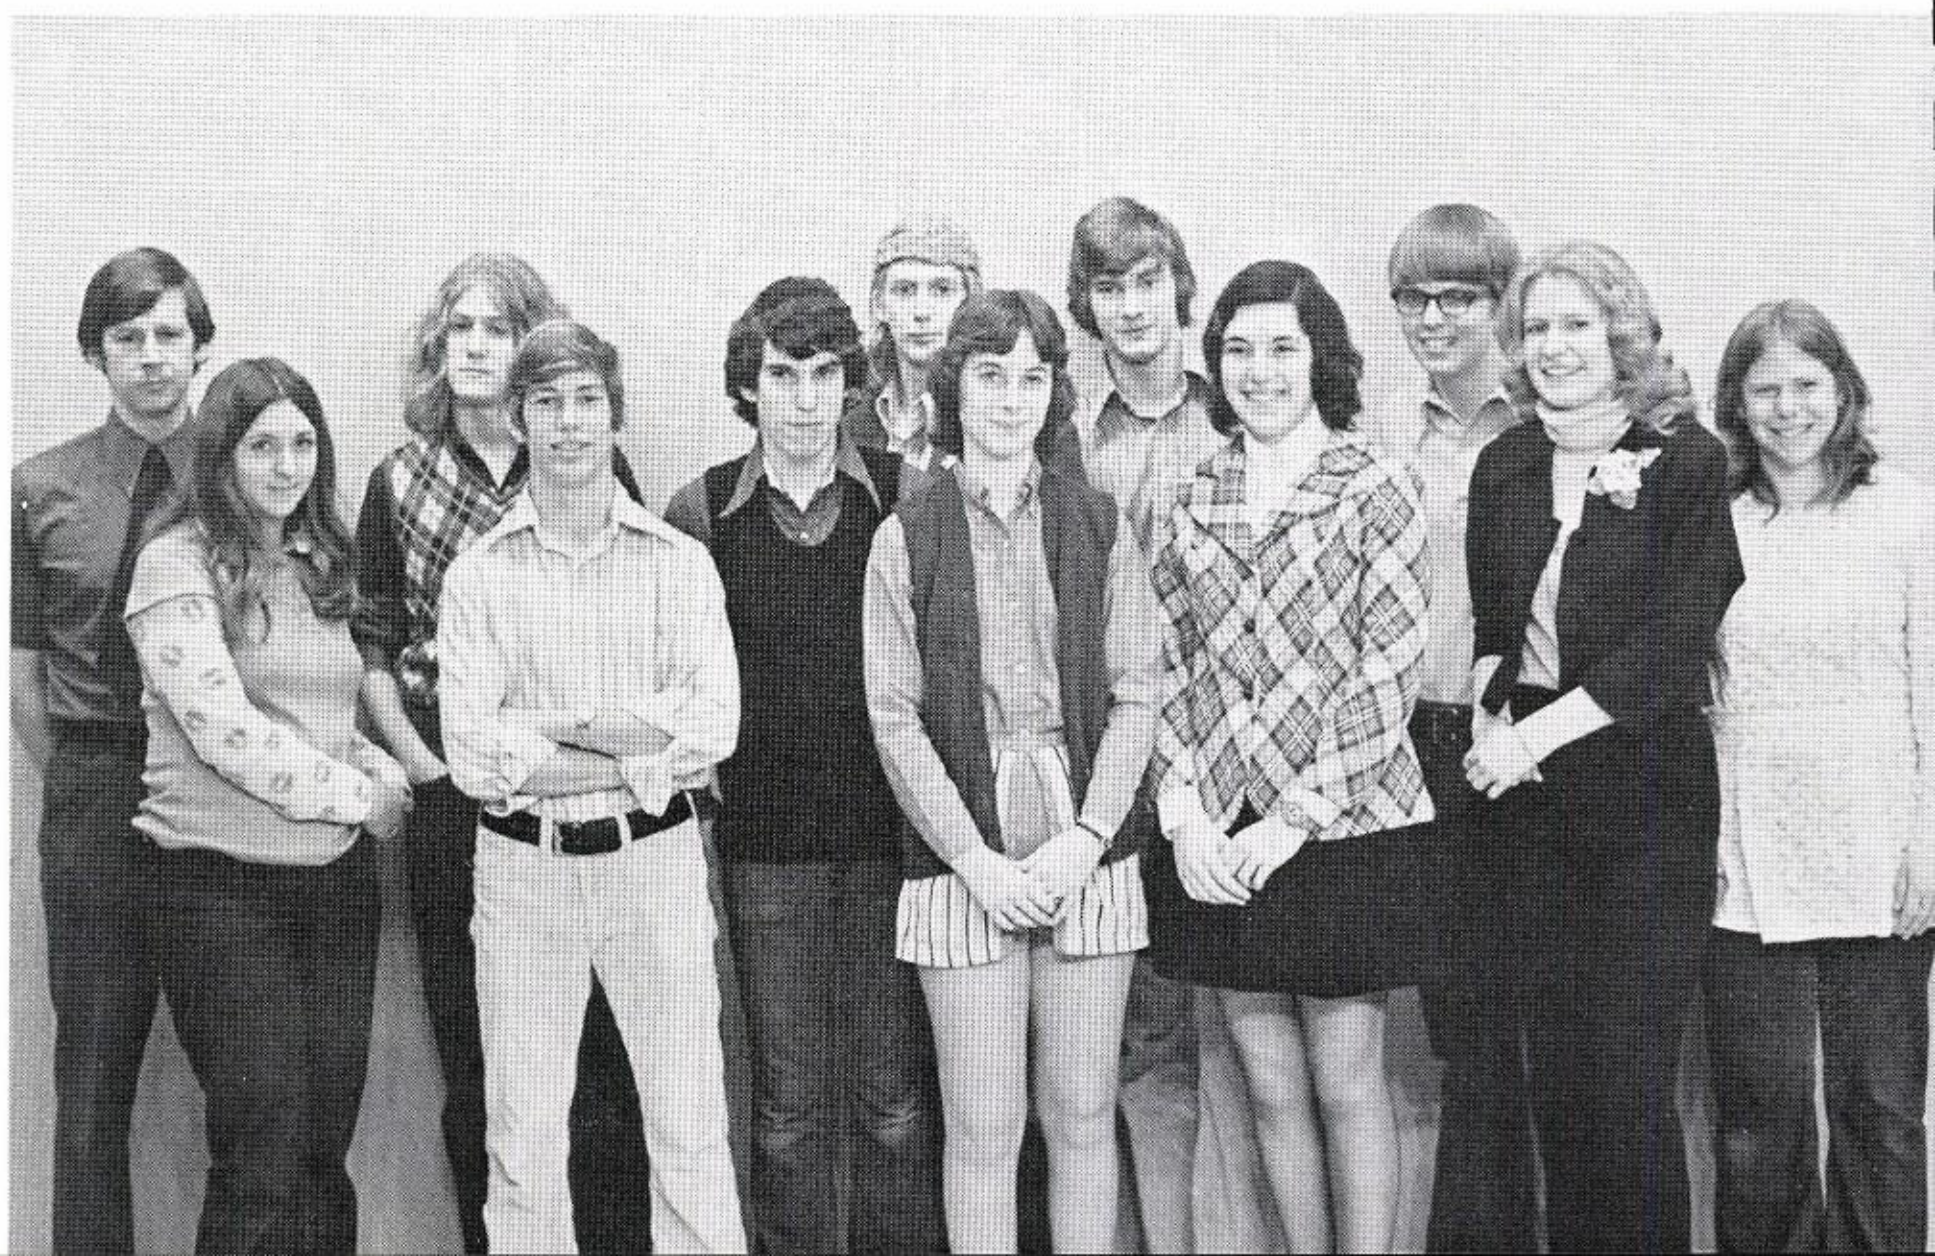

Students also found the Graphic Arts area to be an excellent place to paint without worrying about someone walking over a freshly painted sign.

Speech

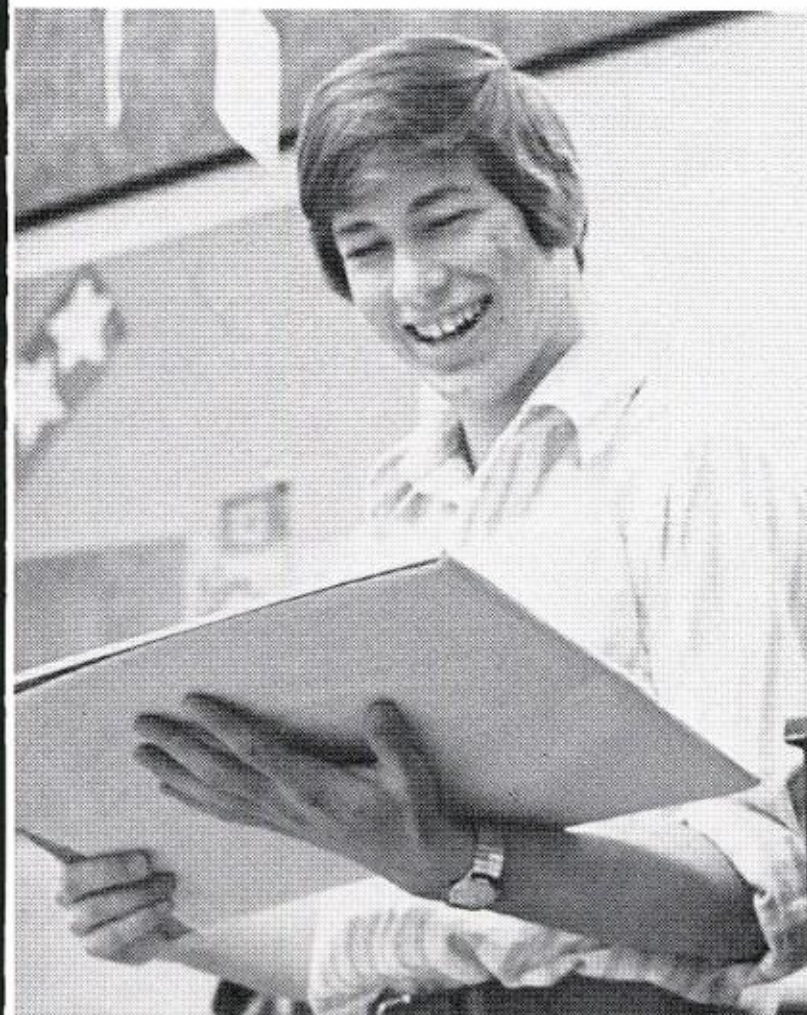

This year was one of rewarded efforts for the forensics team. The group of twenty students grew in size and strength under the leadership of Mr. Mike Goertz. The curriculum included basic speech, oral communications, and a debate course. A human communications class was organized as a senior English course elective.

Contests were held at universities like PSU, OCE, University of Portland and Linfield College, as well as smaller contests at various high schools throughout the state. The subjects of the contests ranged from an intellectual debate to light humorous presentations.

During the winter season, student teacher Allison Evans from OSU assisted Mr. Goertz with the group efforts.

Concert Band

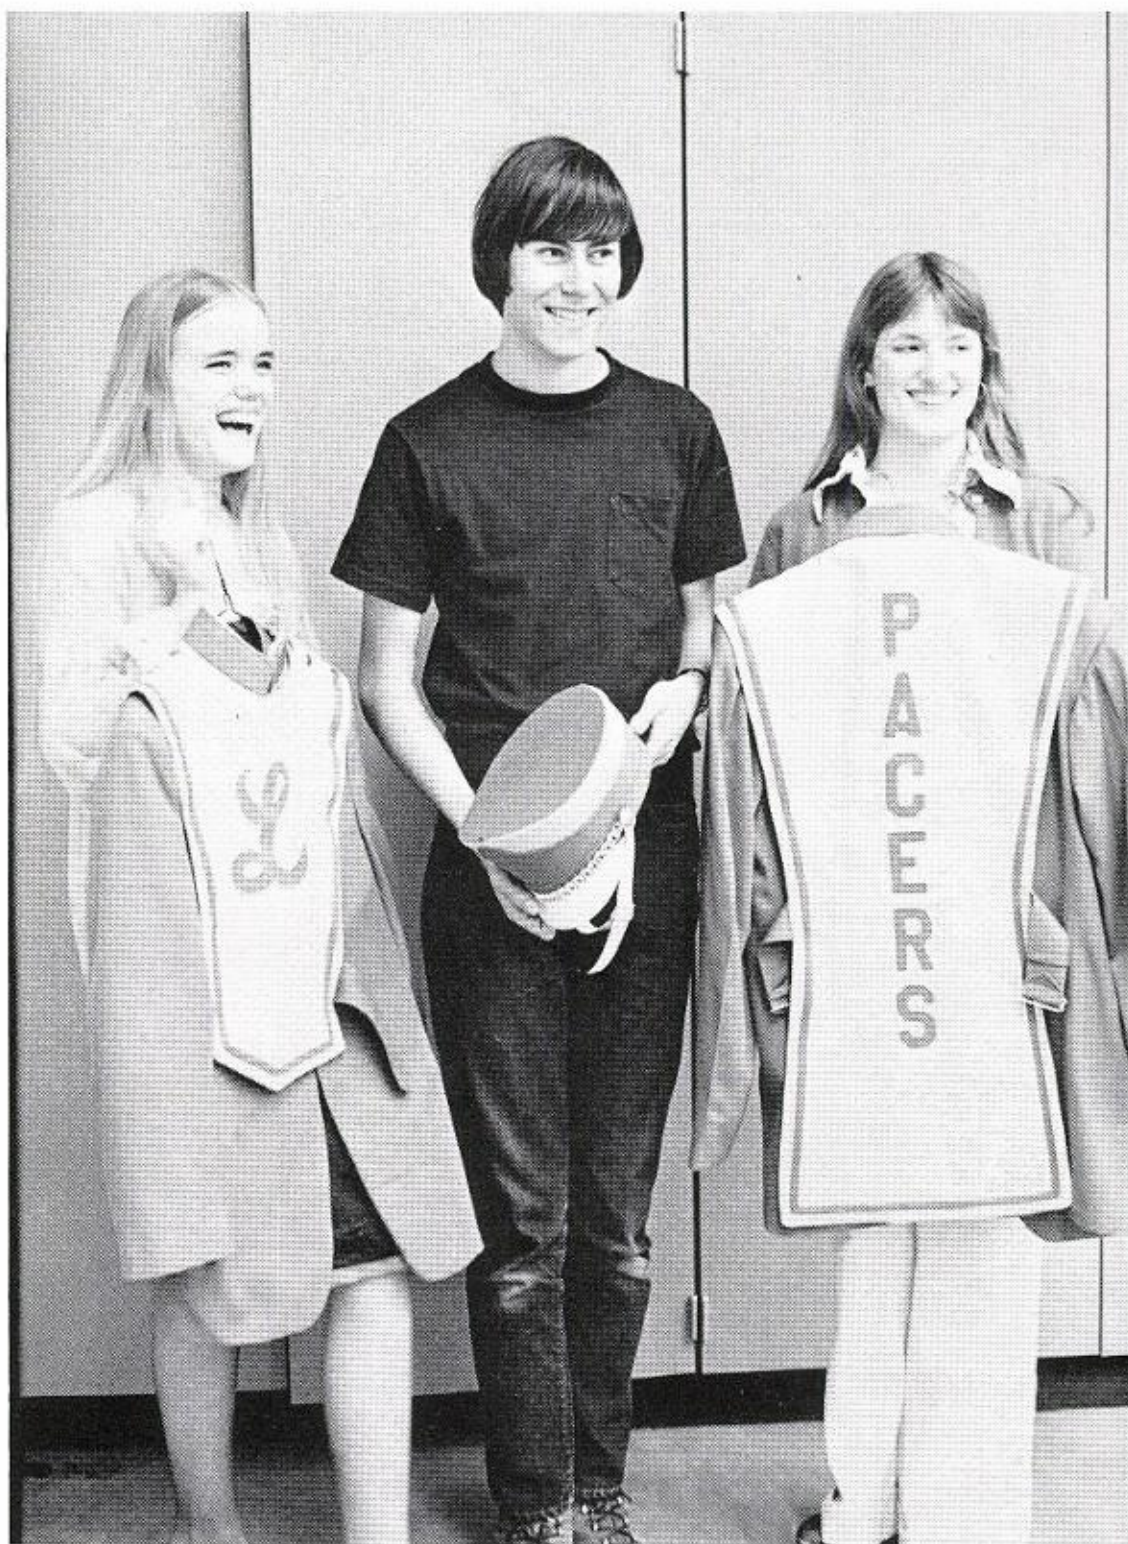

This year the Lakeridge band continued its tradition of providing high quality performances for many school events, concerts, and parades. Fall found the band members hard at work providing halftime entertainment at all home football games and pep assemblies.

The Christmas season was the scene for the first formal concert of the year for the concert band. Soon after Christmas vacation the band toured the elementary schools to present concerts for the youngsters of Lake Oswego.

A select group of members from the band provided the musical backing for the spring musical. This time consuming undertaking was rewarded by the audiences' appreciation.

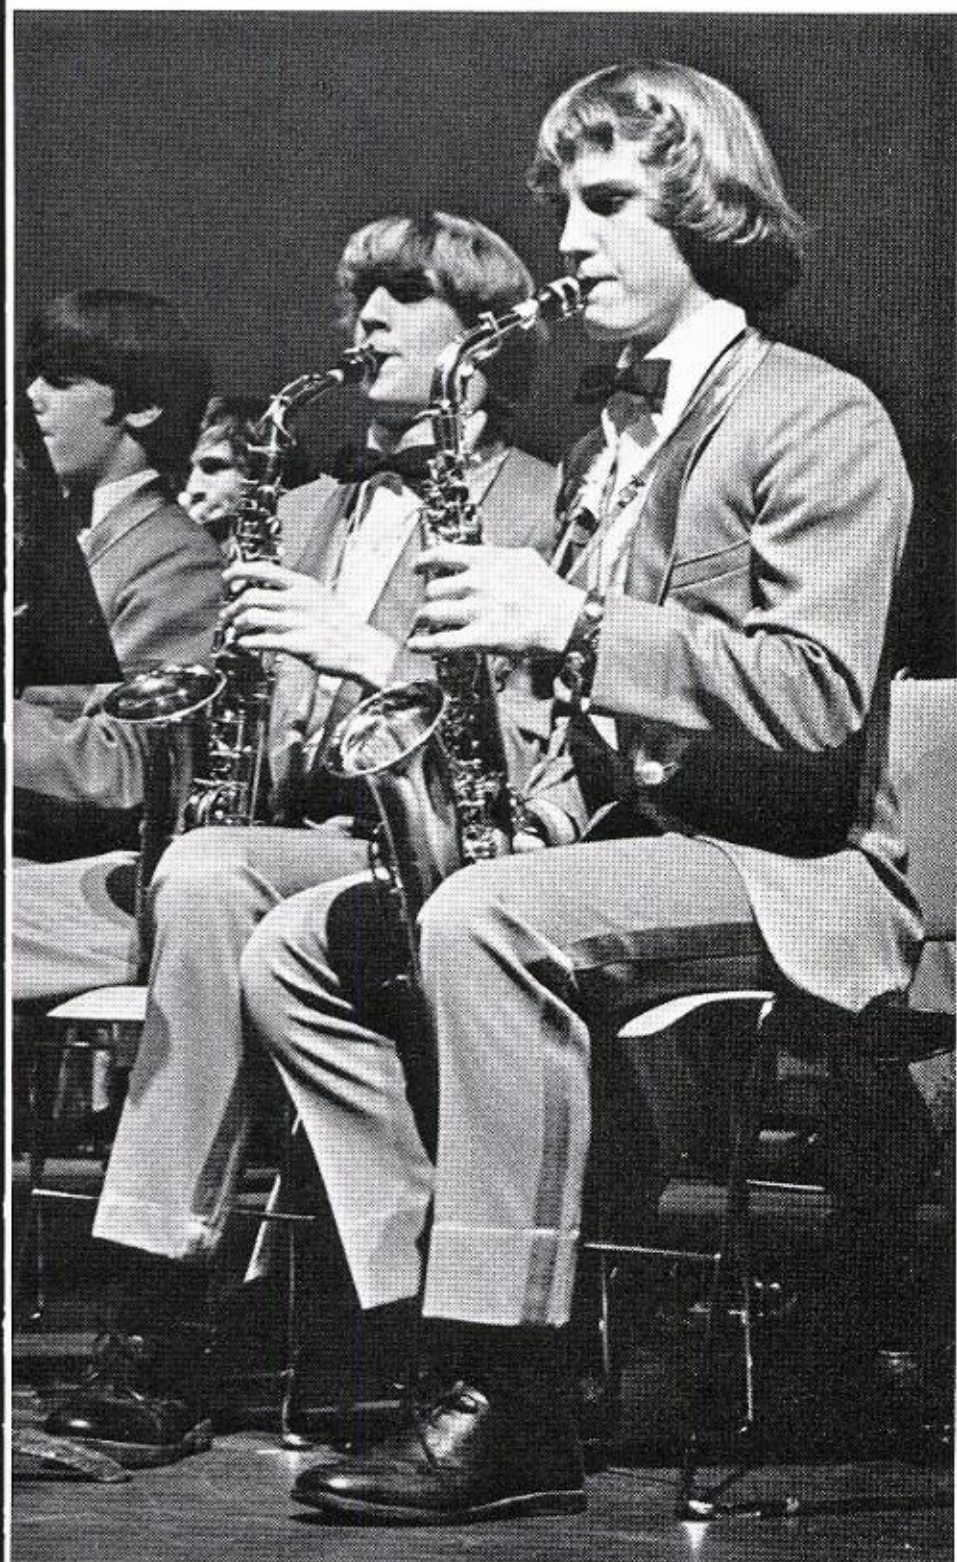

April proved to be a busy month as the band played a concert for the public and hosted the Wilco League Band Festival. The year was completed by the performance of the band in the local Armed Forces Day parade, a concert at Waluga Junior High, and the annual spring concert plus the band's participation in the commencement exercises.

It was a rewarding year for the band members who put forth much time and effort toward many cultural and athletic events at Lakeridge.

Stage Band

The Lakeridge Stage Band had a year full of excitement. They traveled to Palisades, River Grove, Lakewood and Bryant Elementary Schools for concerts, played for assemblies and played in the amphitheatre during warm weather. Stage Band contests took them to Milwaukie High School and Clark College. Spring break brought an invitation to perform for the 1973 Rose Court.

Under the direction of Mr. Dale Cleland, all 18 members enjoyed being part of a Stage Band and chose "Good Feelin'" as their favorite song.

Company

Lakeridge's own dancing singers, the "Company," enjoyed another year of success. Not only singing for civic functions and private engagements, the group also traveled to San Francisco and surrounding areas for concerts. The 20 talented persons met every day for the whole year learning dances and songs and polishing the finished numbers.

Only two years old, the "Company" has given over 60 performances to appreciative audiences of all ages. Mr. Merlin Gackle, vocal director, was the catalyst for the group.

Dance numbers were taught by Missy St. Clair and Ric Reese. Each year the group replenishes its lost seniors with new talent after tryouts.

Concert Choir

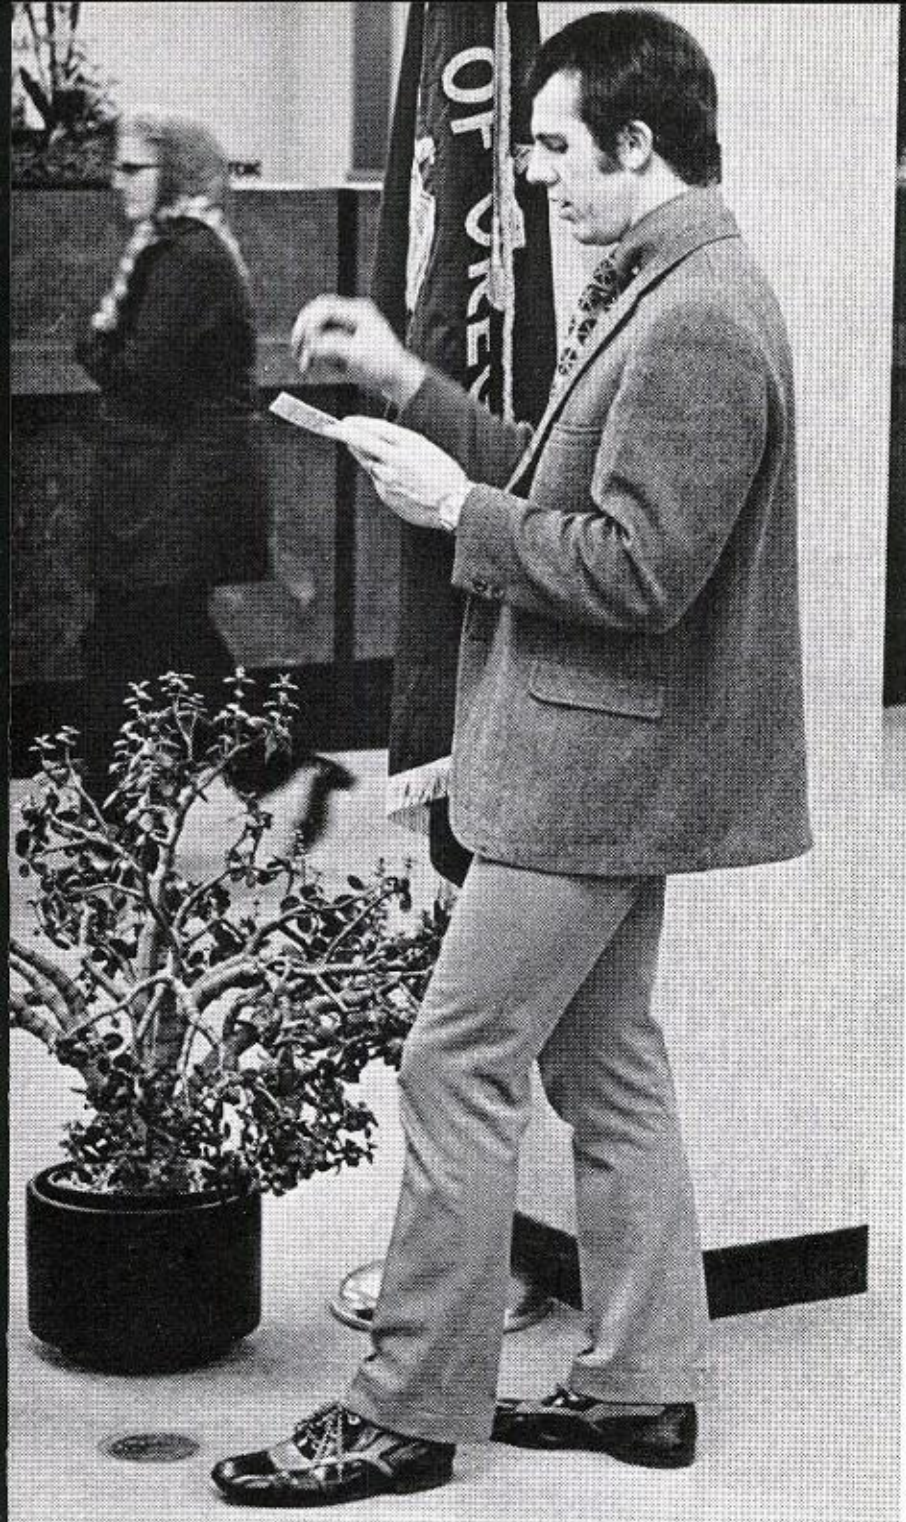

"I was extremely pleased with the progress made this year in the choral department. We had a number of talented people who really took advantage of their abilities plus the cooperation and enthusiasm of everyone who participated in the program. Many goals were accomplished. I was very happy with the great support given by the faculty and public at all of our public performances. They were extremely beneficial to our program. I strongly feel we have set the right foot forward in the development of a successful choral program." This was how Mr. Merlin Gackle expressed his views on the 1972-73 choir.

The highlight of the year was the trip to San Francisco in the spring. The choir visited two high schools, watched a performance of the rock opera "Godspell," and spent two days in San Francisco. In all they were gone five days.

Throughout the year many concerts were held. A switch from the one large group occurred and several soloists and duos performed.

Art

Art is a form of self-expression and no matter what form you involve yourself in, it is still self-expression.

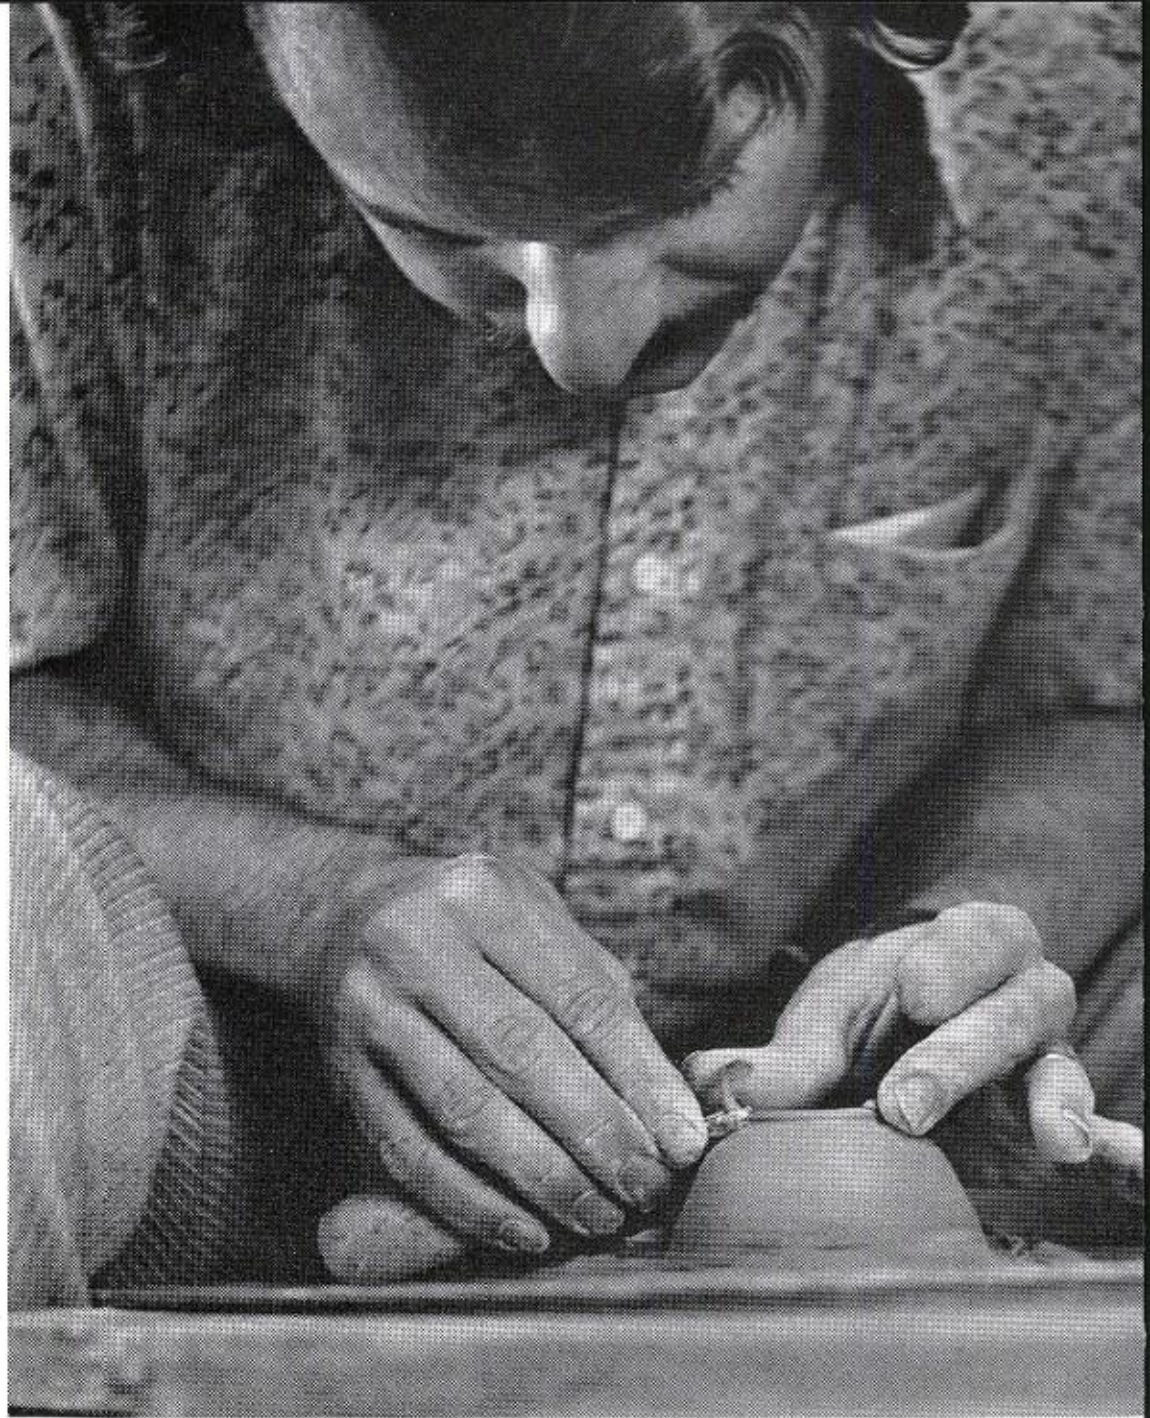

The art department was staffed by Mr. Les Tipton, Miss Chris Bruno, and Mr. Jim Ponti.

In ceramics this year students enjoyed working on the seven wheels, or just making hand built pots. With the newly-built kiln pots were being fired at a rate of 20 a week.

Independent study was a large success this year. At the beginning of the year many students were involved. But at semester time the three teachers limited planned study in this area to six students per teacher in order that it would become more of an honors program.

In art, the classes ran from Art 1 to Art 6. In these classes the students learned the basic background in drawing, painting, and design. Their background increased as they got involved in more advanced classes.

Advertising Art this year was structured as an art course, which undertook projects in advertising design and layout, packaging, lettering, and general concepts of art work being used for commercial purposes.

The last week in May, Lake Oswego held a District Art Festival, which combined the art works of Lake Oswego High School, Lakeridge High School, Waluga Junior High School and Lake Oswego Junior High School students. It was held at Lake Oswego High School. These art projects represented the best works of the four schools.

Then the first week in June, Lakeridge featured its own Art Show which displayed the best art work of the students of this school.

Theatre Arts

The acting program has developed considerably this year. Our students were involved in contests, conferences, and assemblies. Examples of these are Wilco League fall and spring improvisations, the University of Portland contest, and the State Thespian Conference in Ashland.

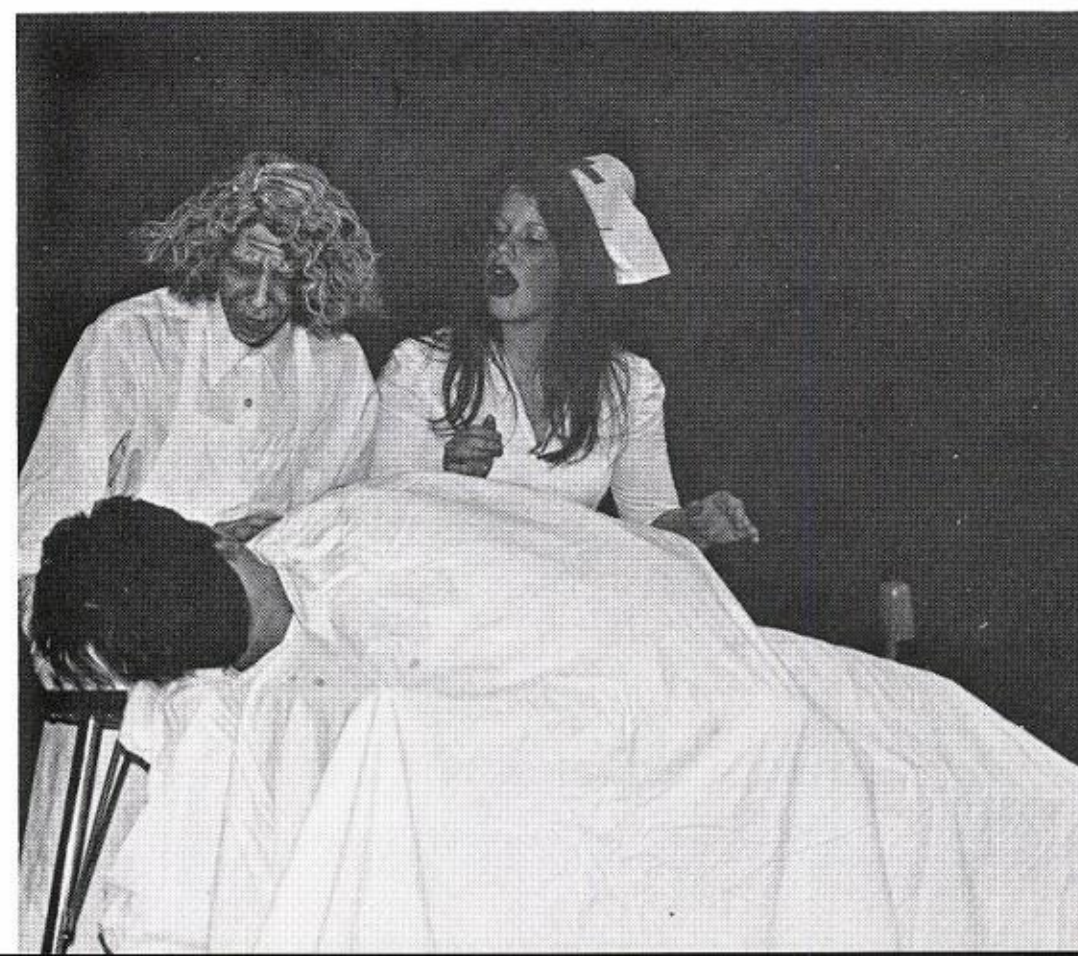

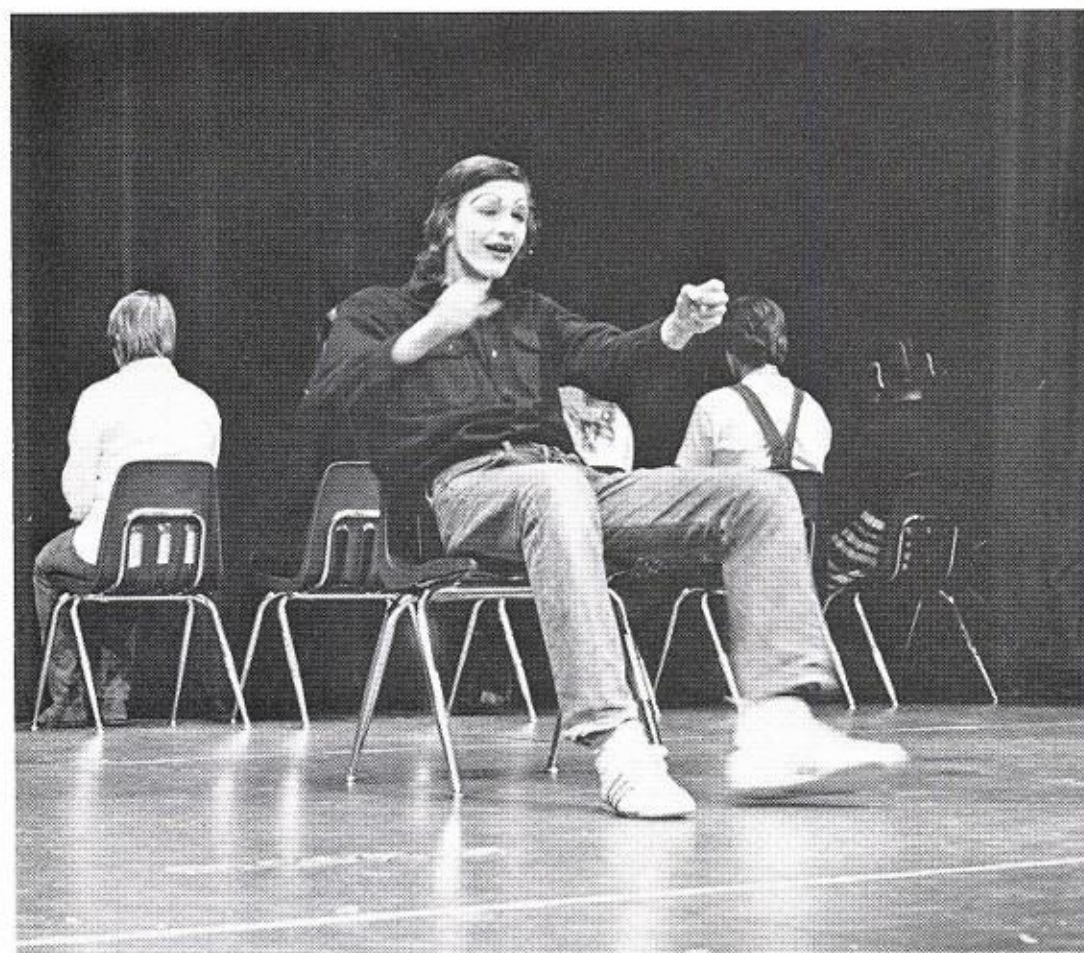

The Theatre Arts class has learned the fundamentals of the art. They began with the history of the different acting levels such as Greek, Roman, and Elizabethan theatre. Then they spread into the production levels such as lighting, sets, and costumes.

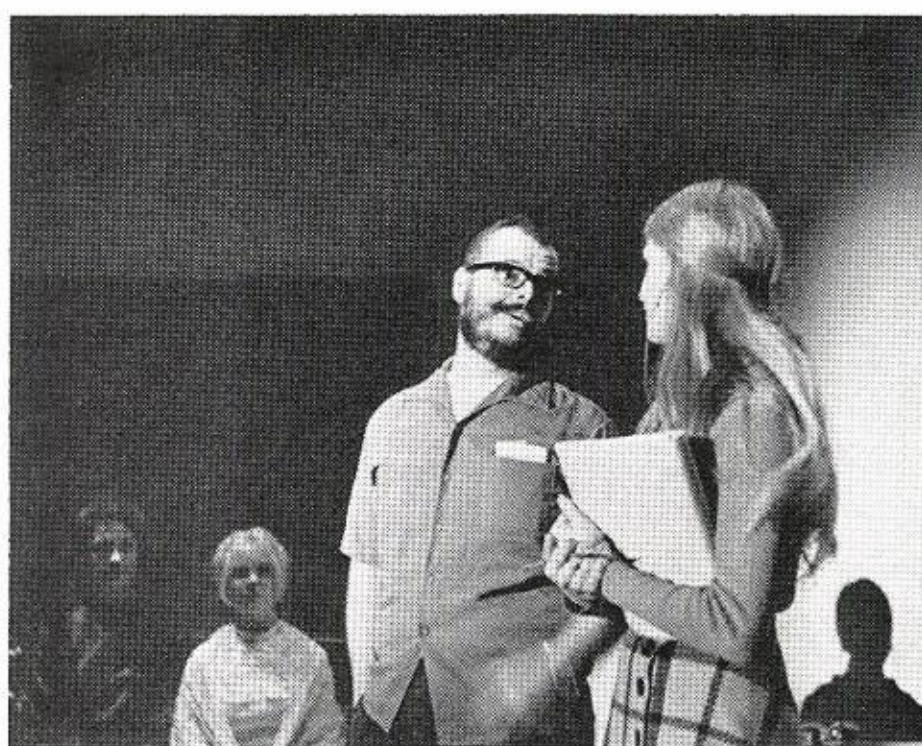

Acting 1 had proceeded their development of mimes and have continued it on into pantomime. The big project of the year was a complete character development of an opposite personality.

Advanced Acting mainly worked on the production end of "The Ransom of Red Chief" and "The Man Who Came to Dinner," along with being the cast. They also created the Lunch Box Theatre which was presented in the latter part of the year. With the expanding of the program, the group has constantly grown toward the more professional side of the theatre.

Support Staff

There are many people who help our school to be a more improved establishment. They assisted us in the areas of cooking, driving buses, and in janitorial work.

Did you ever wonder who prepared those delicious meals? The cooks at Lakeridge have done an excellent job of keeping our bodies healthy. They have also helped many fundraising groups set up for their activities.

The bus drivers did not only have regular routes, but drove to the school activities with our rooter buses, team buses, and to such activities as speech meets and conferences.

Here to keep our school shiny and bright were the custodian crew. They cleaned up our school every night and on weekends. They also helped get our school prepared for extra-curricular activities such as dances and games.

We have a spectacular school. These were the people that helped to keep our spectacular school running smoothly.

District #7

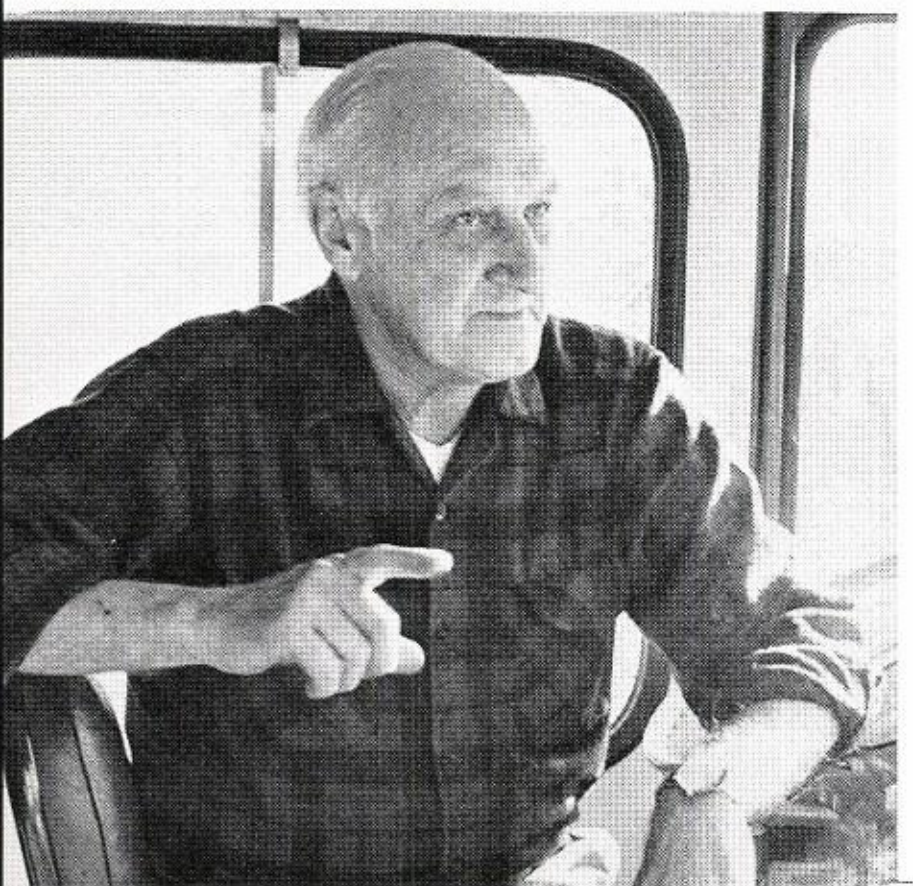

Trying to organize a district of 6700 students required much responsibility, leadership, and long hours of work. These qualities were found in the district office staff and the school board.

The Lake Oswego School Board was the final authority in the matters of school policy, curriculum, and any conflicts between the board and students.

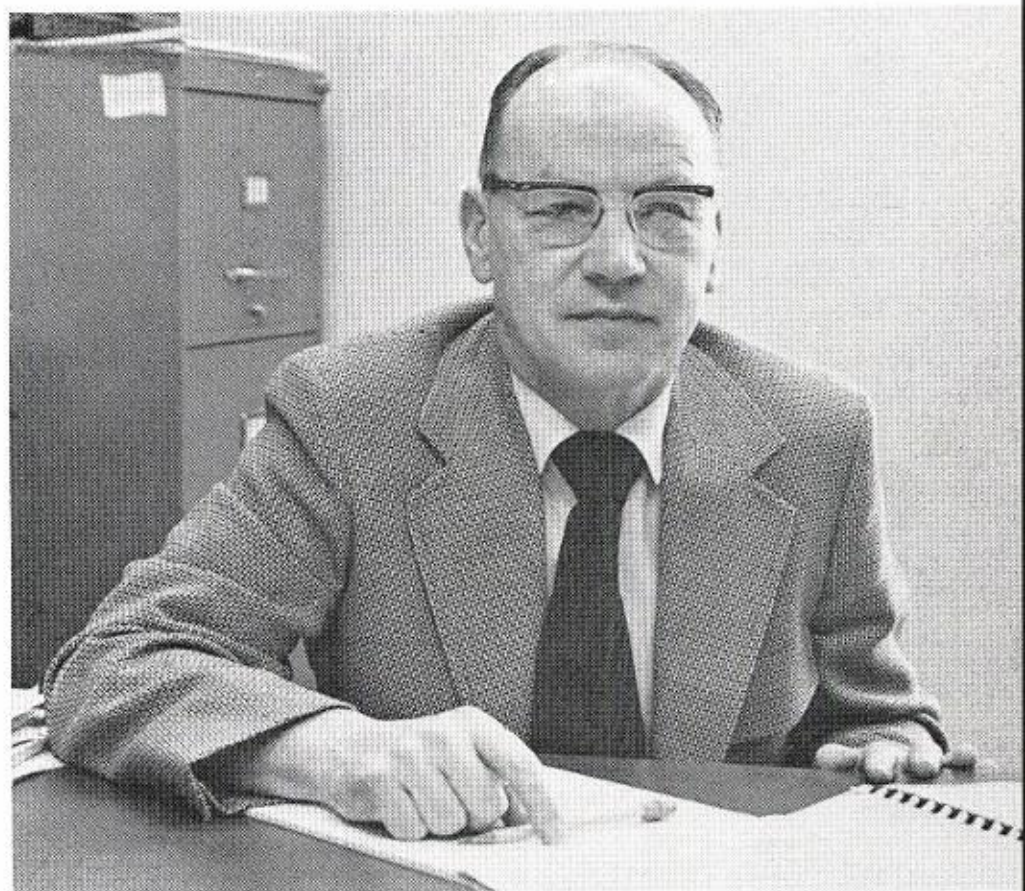

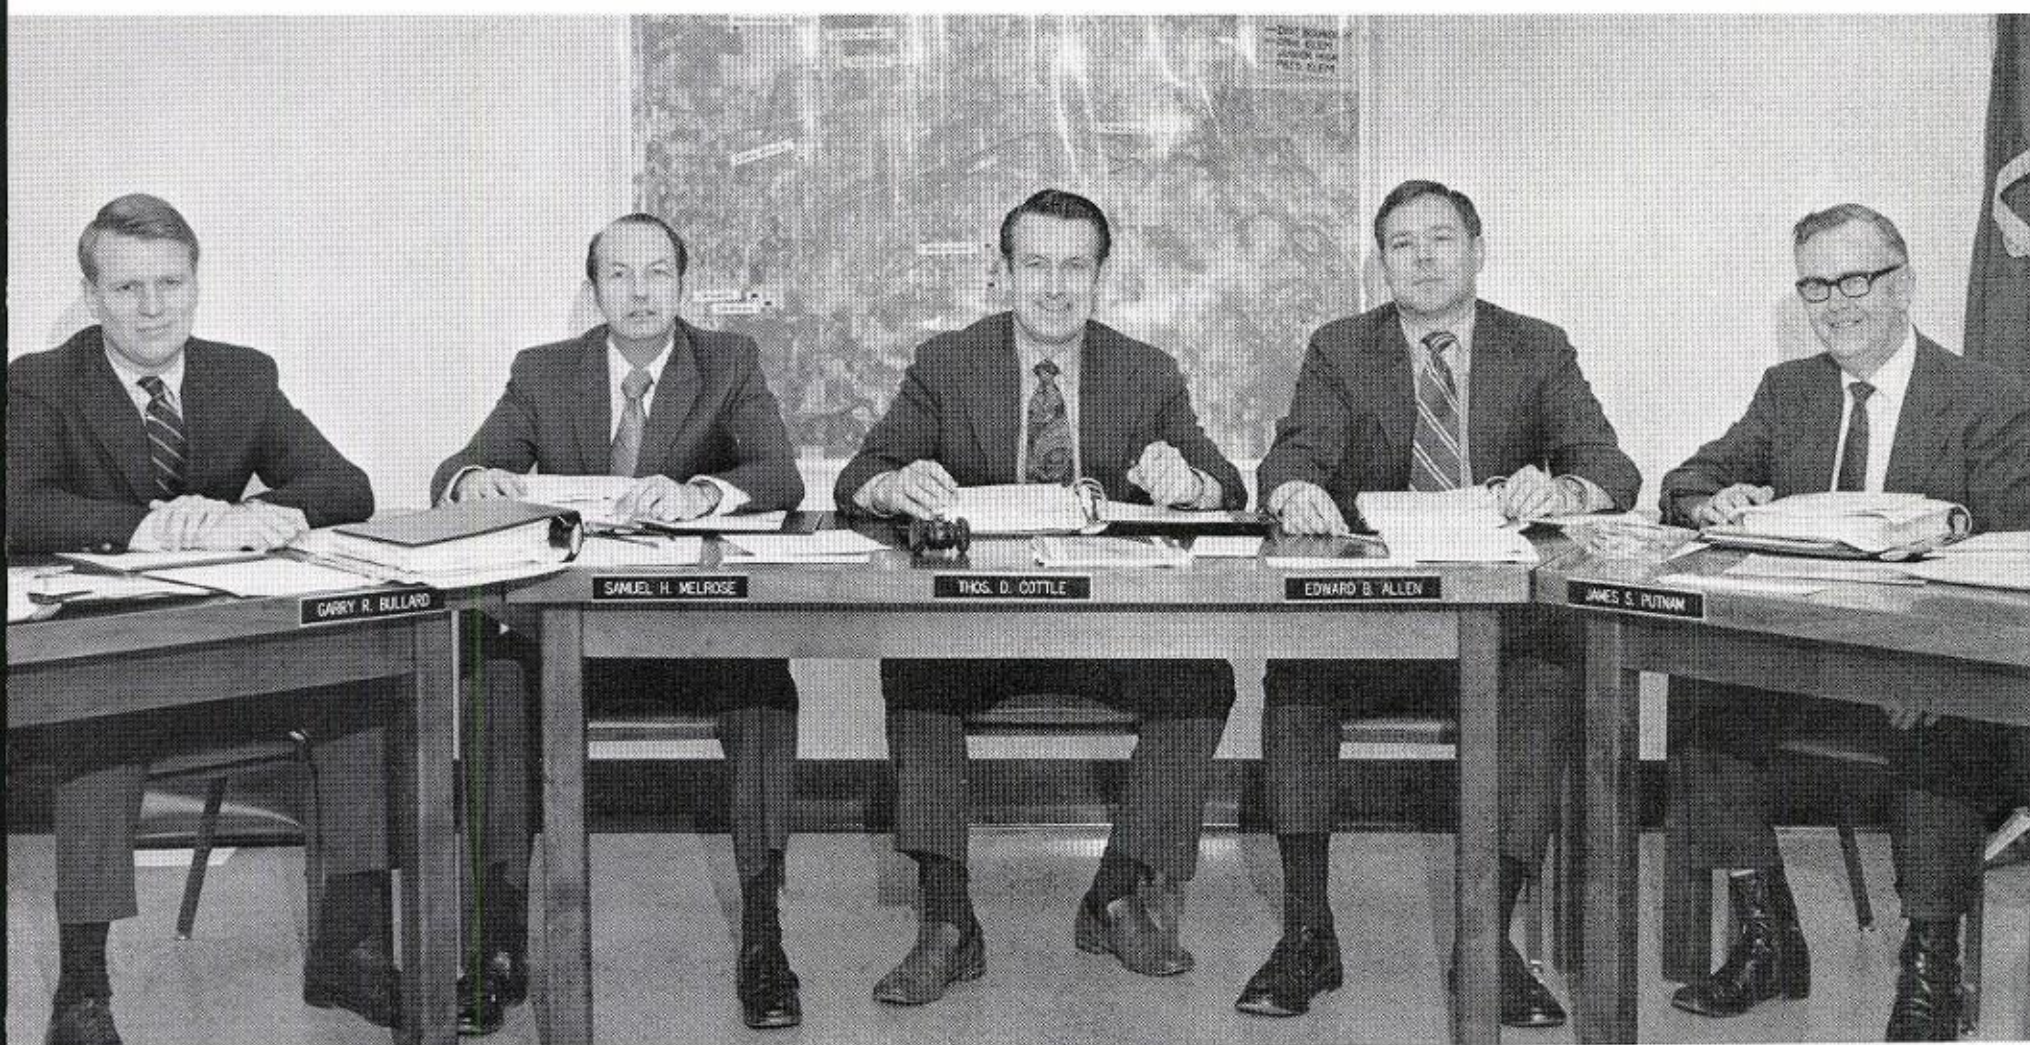

Aside from our everyday problems and budget questions, the school board made decisions after listening to suggestions and arguments for and against a proposal.

This year they finalized a variety of quarter courses in such departments as history, English, and science.

Participation of the entire community was important as School District 7 sought to build a united district.

Administration

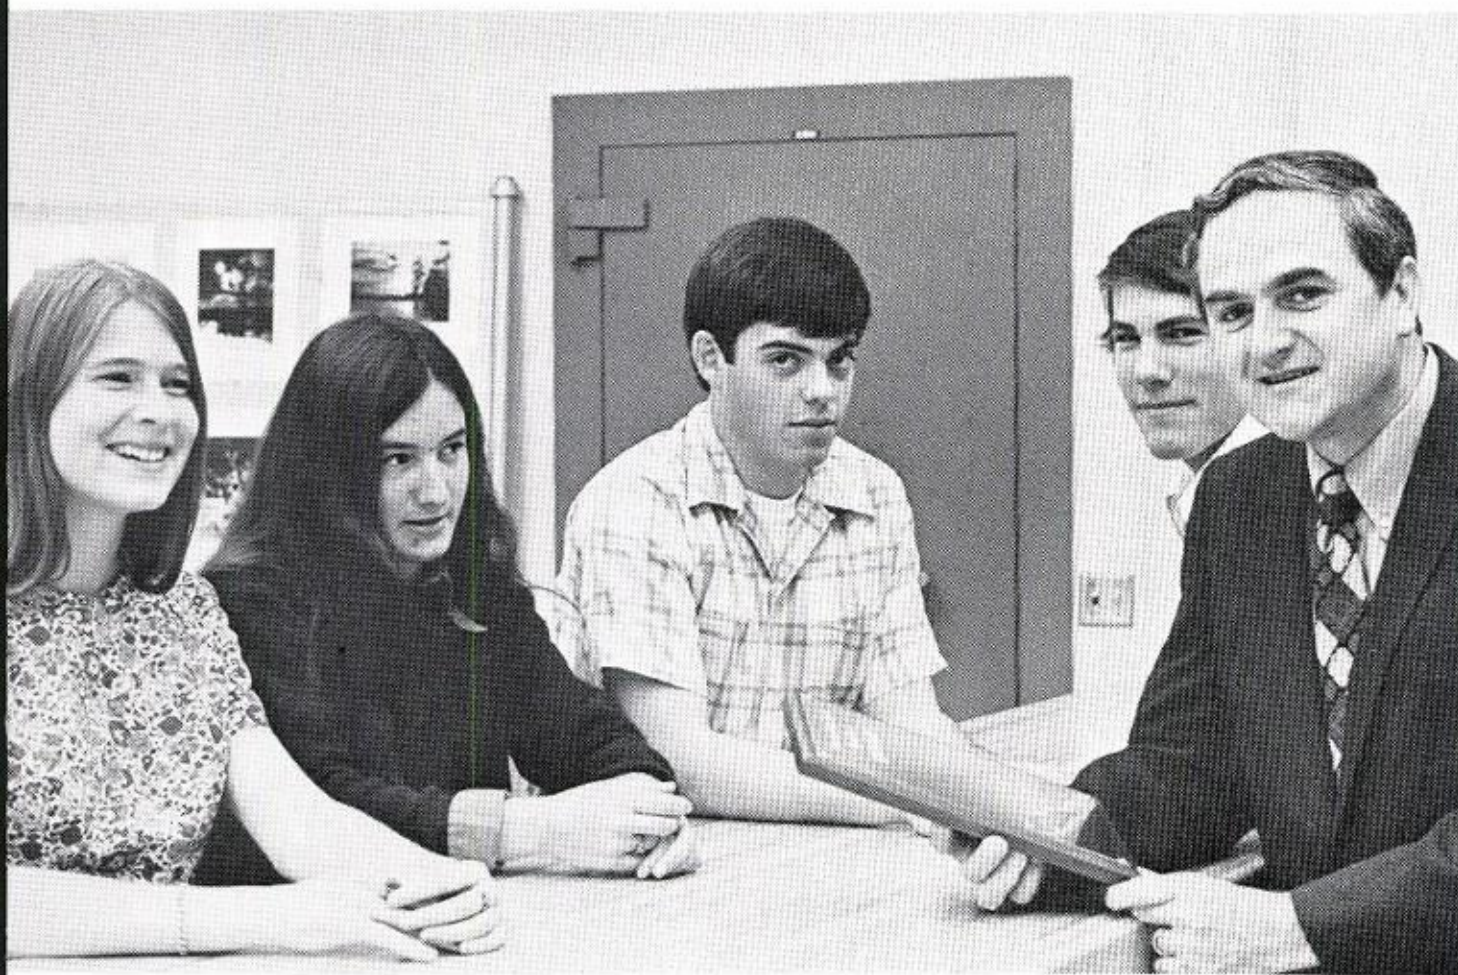

During Lakeridge's second year there were two new leaders of the school. Our principal, Mr. James Schell, who before coming to Lake-ridge was Vice Principal at Lincoln High School, and Mr. Galen Spillum, Vice Principal, formerly Vice Principal at Lake Oswego Junior High. They both enjoyed directing Lake-ridge especially the spirited student body and excellent teaching staff.

Mr. Roger Smith led activities again this year with Mrs. Gay Schroeder assisting. They also were responsible for student problems that came up during the year.

The four of them guided Lakeridge through a second year of change. Many well-planned changes were made toward better improvement of the school. The year was hectic, but with their strong leadership and guidance, it ran smoothly.

Counselors

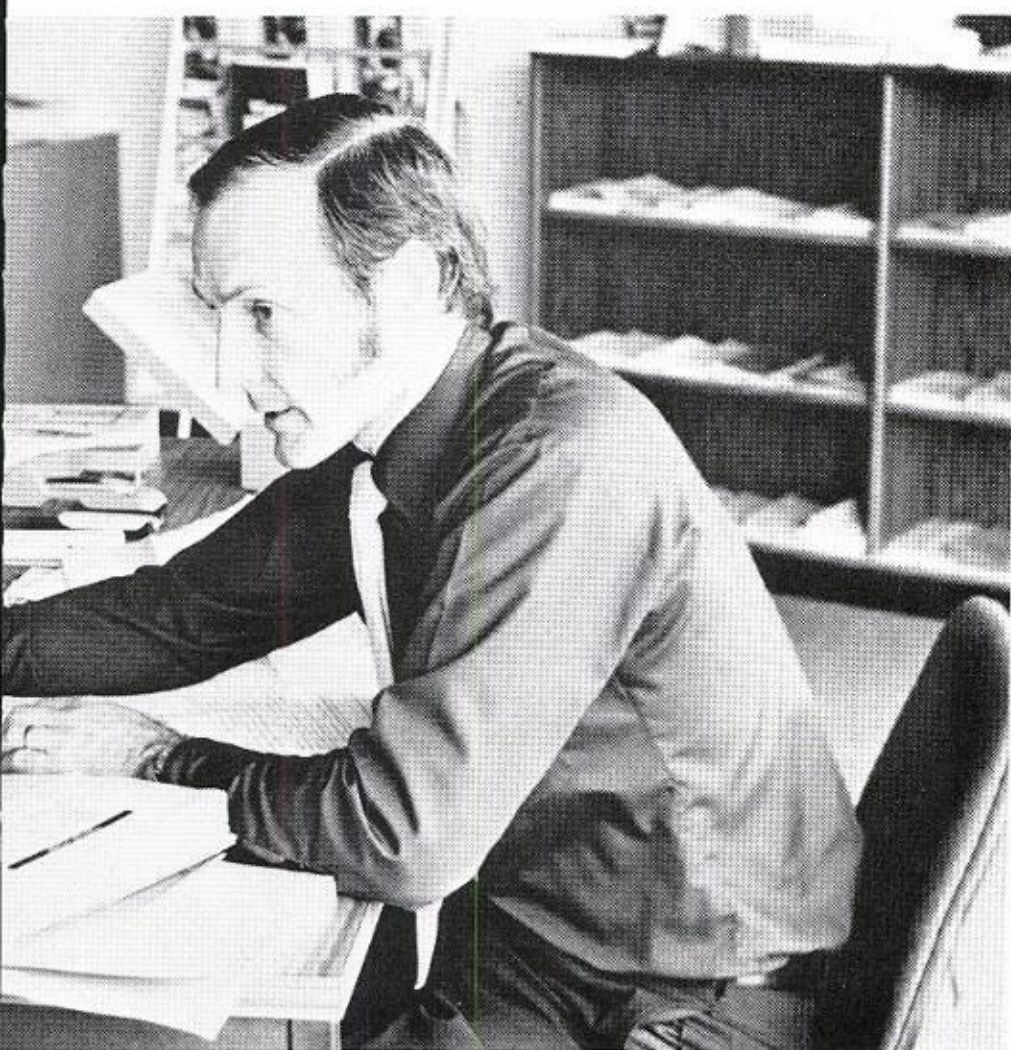

Two new members joined the Counseling Department this year. They were Miss Beth Kiersky and Mr. Dave Pappin. Returning again were Mrs. Doris Ramey and Mr. Carl Riley.

The counselors divided the students equally among themselves. This gave the students an equal chance to receive help that was needed. The counselors helped the students in many ways including educational, vocational, and personal areas.

Aside from the ordinary duties of a counselor, most of them were involved with other school activities. Mrs. Ramey helped with the girls basketball and football teams, and Miss Kiersky was adviser of the Lakeridge Mountaineering Club.

Office Staff

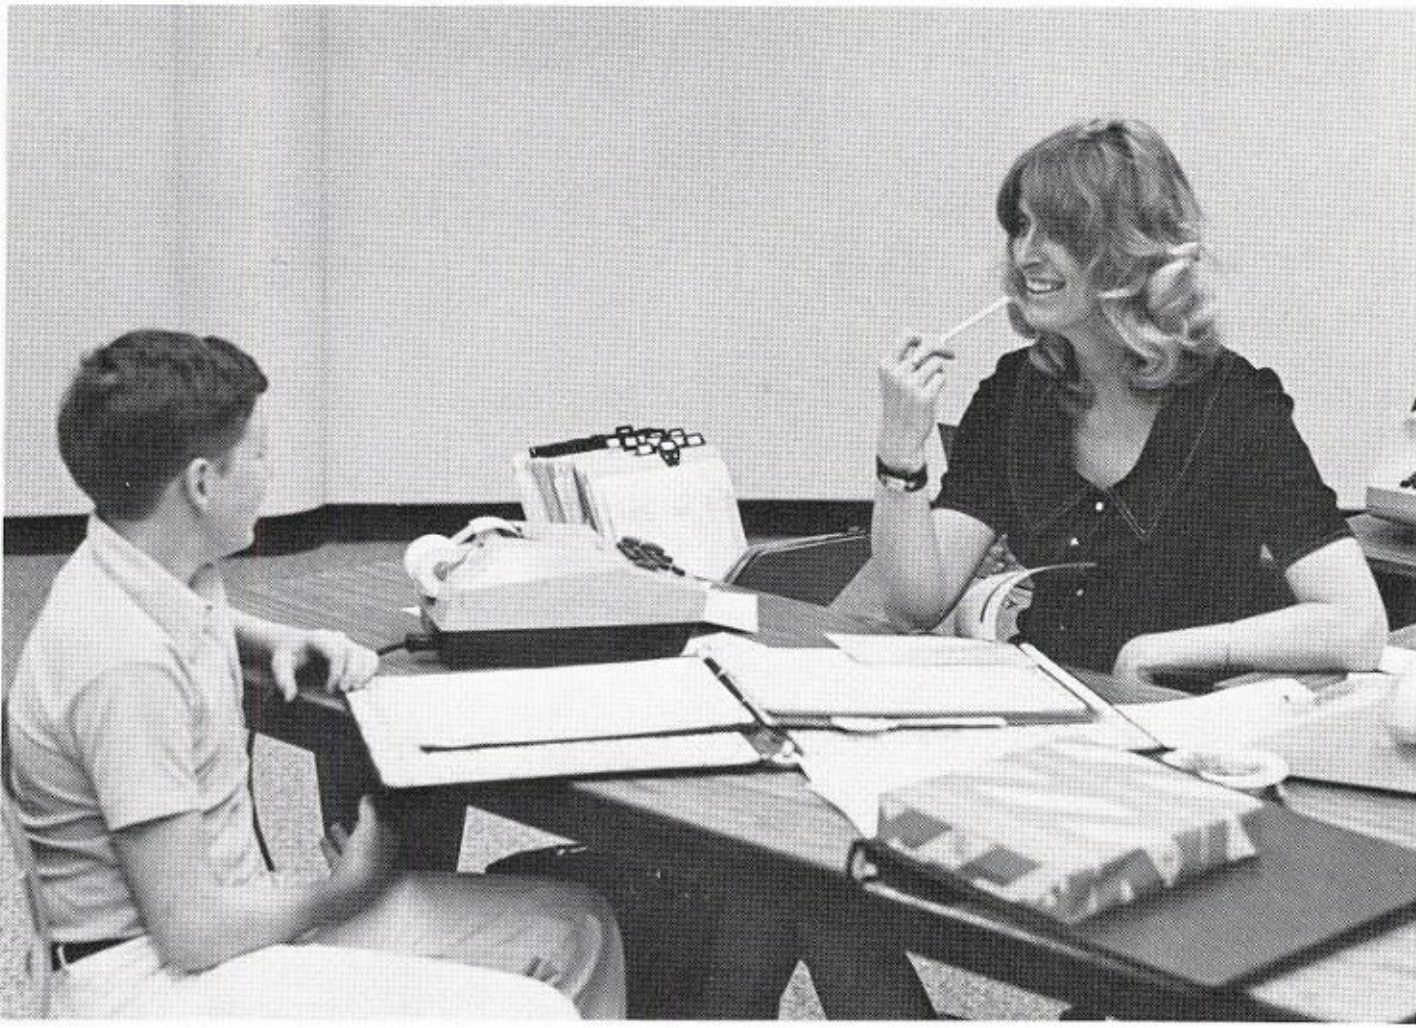

The Lakeridge office staff should be considered the "backbone of the school" for without their help this school would be completely non-functional.

As office manager for the secretarial staff, Mrs. Karleen Anderson's main job was to take care of Mr. Jim Schell's correspondence and appointments. The "voice of Lakeridge," Mrs. Adele Gray, was our receptionist, mail distributor, switchboard operator, and also handled many jobs for the deans. The friendly atmosphere around the counseling center was radiated from Mrs. Bev Imper, the counselors' secretary, as she kept track of all student records and counselor appointments.

The never ending patience of Mrs. Pat McKenzie was portrayed as she took care of all the passes and absentee students she could handle at the Attendance Desk. Our bookkeeper, Mrs. Judy DeWeerd, handled all the aspects of school finance including the accounts, the deposits, the bills and making change.

They surely did their job and got us through another year — with a smile — and for all that, we are grateful.

Friendship was an important part of the freshman year because of the many new people to meet.

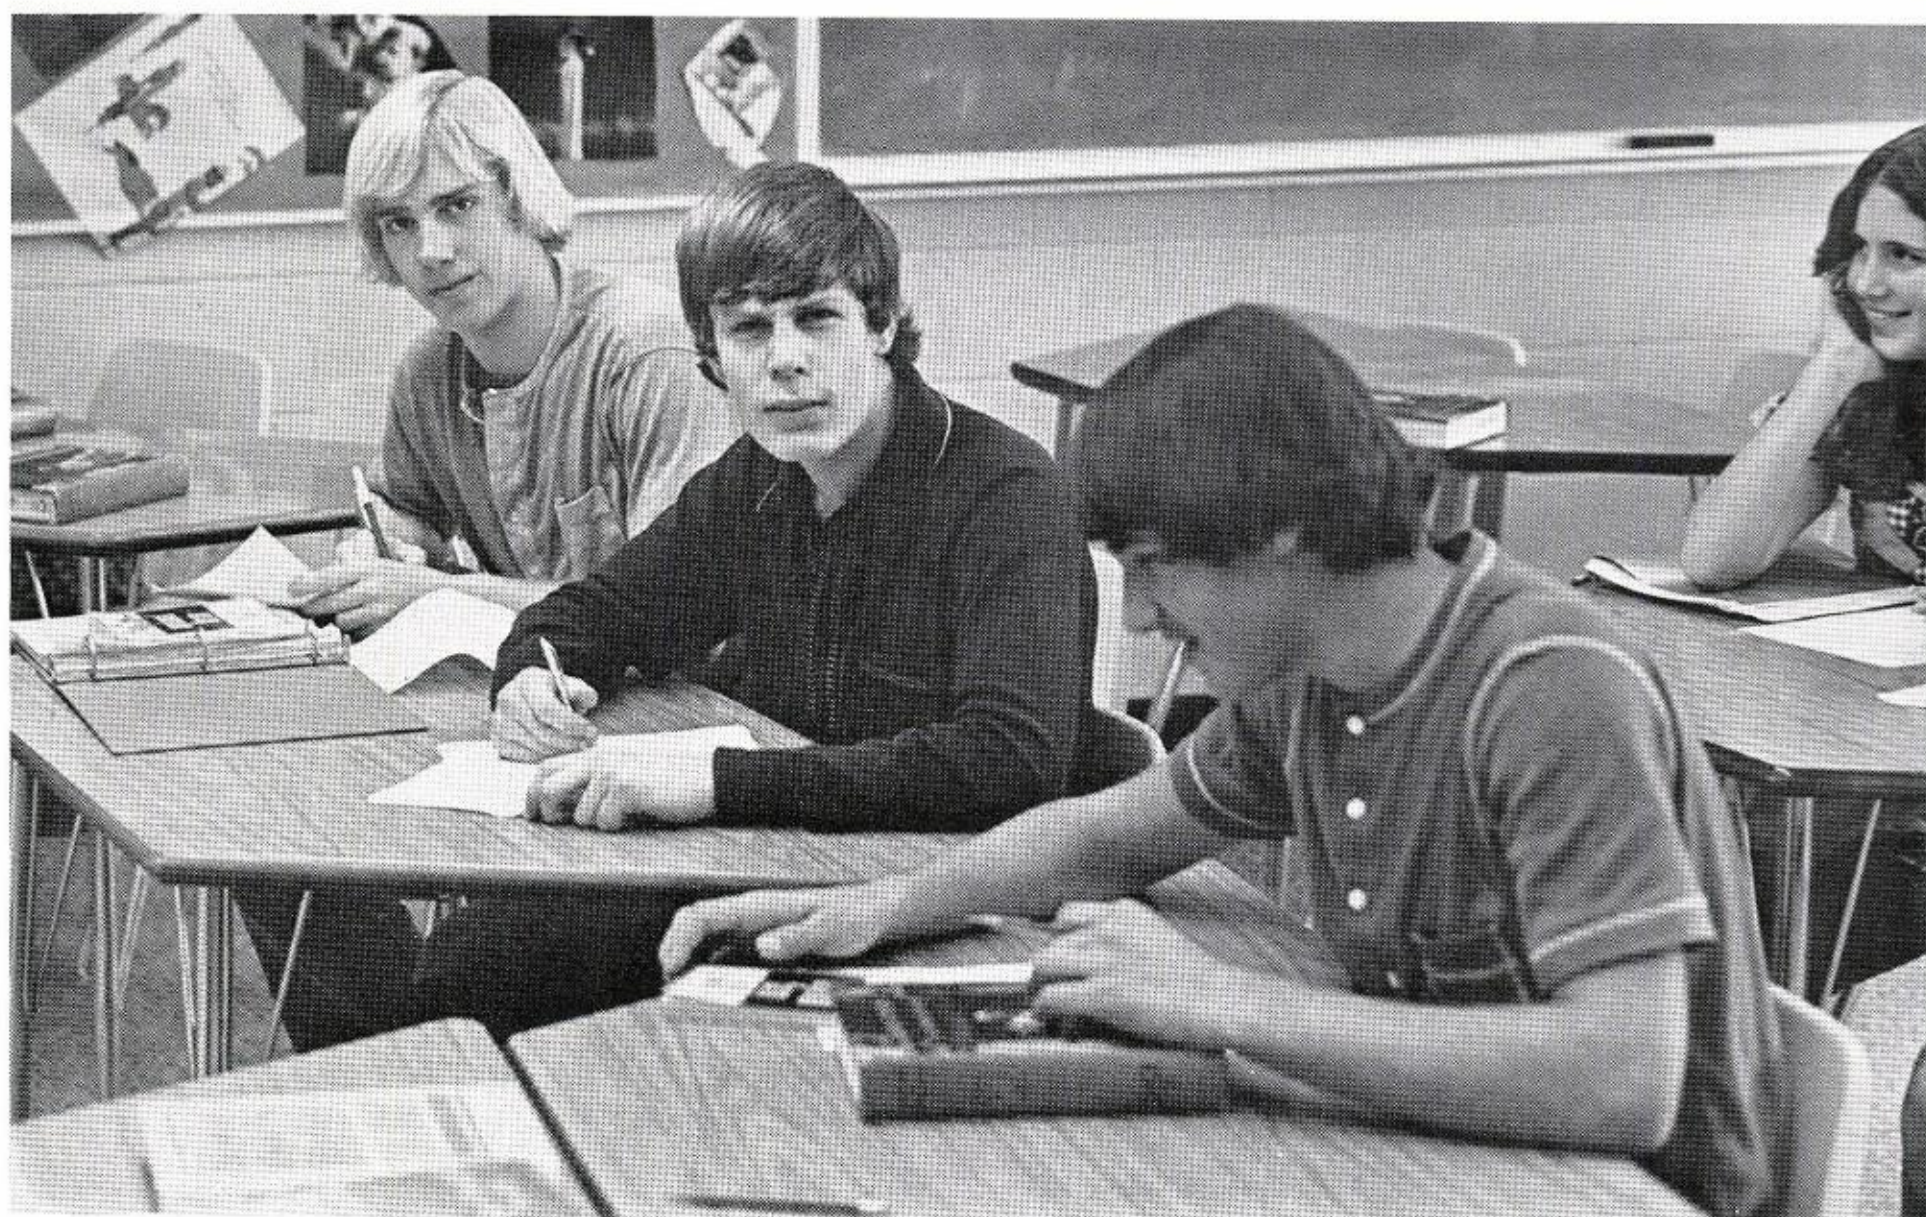

The freshmen started the year on a regulated Independent Study Schedule. After six weeks they could get parental permission, teacher consent, and dean permission to have free independent study periods.

Assembly members were chosen. Their own class council was represented by Karen Gunderson and Janet Poort on the Christmas court. The class as a whole were represented by students in the book drive and the biking for scholars.

All in all the freshman class became quickly oriented to a new school and the new surroundings.

SOPHOMORES

Another year, gone by so quickly. We were still together, doing the things we liked. We held class activities such as a Christmas dinner and a car wash. We also took part in May Week, the Salem Youth Legislature, drama, government, speech and music activities. We were finding out about ourselves and our talents. Yes, we were still together as a class, but maturing and becoming a more expressive part of this Lakeridge machine.

JUNIORS

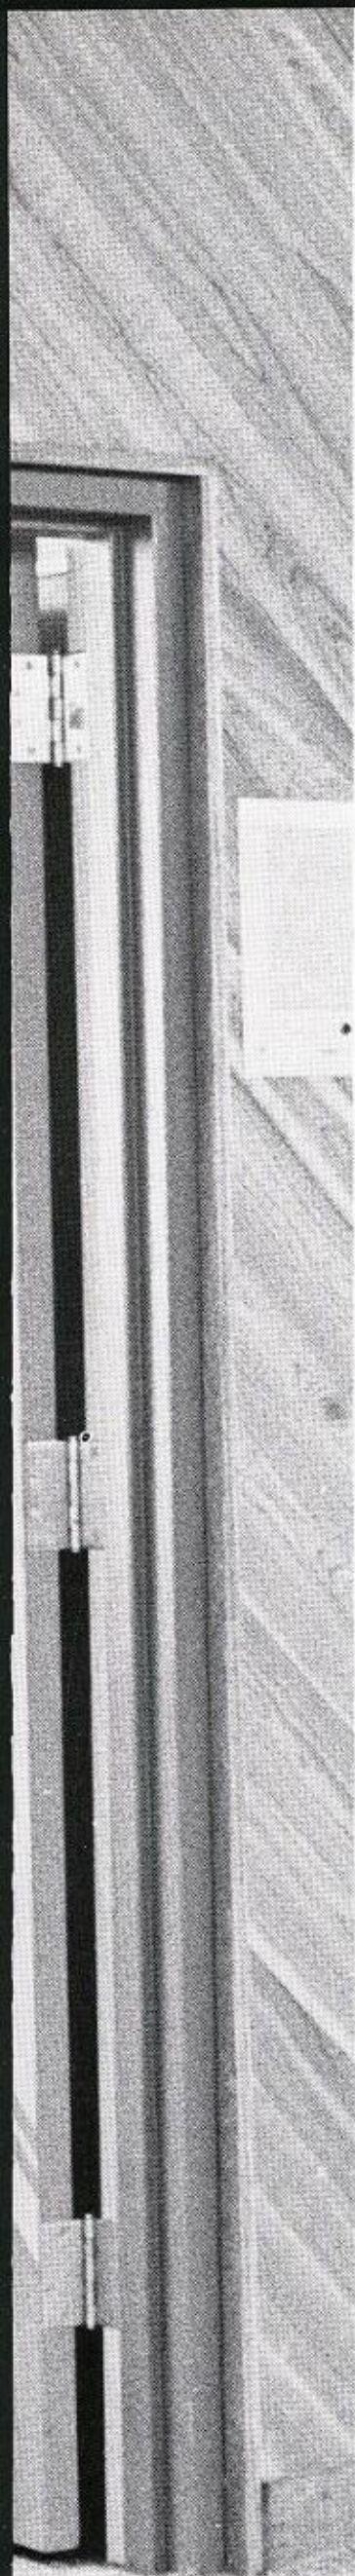

The class of '74 has adjusted well to high school life. They have been able to experience much freedom in their choice of classes this year and have taken these responsibilities well.

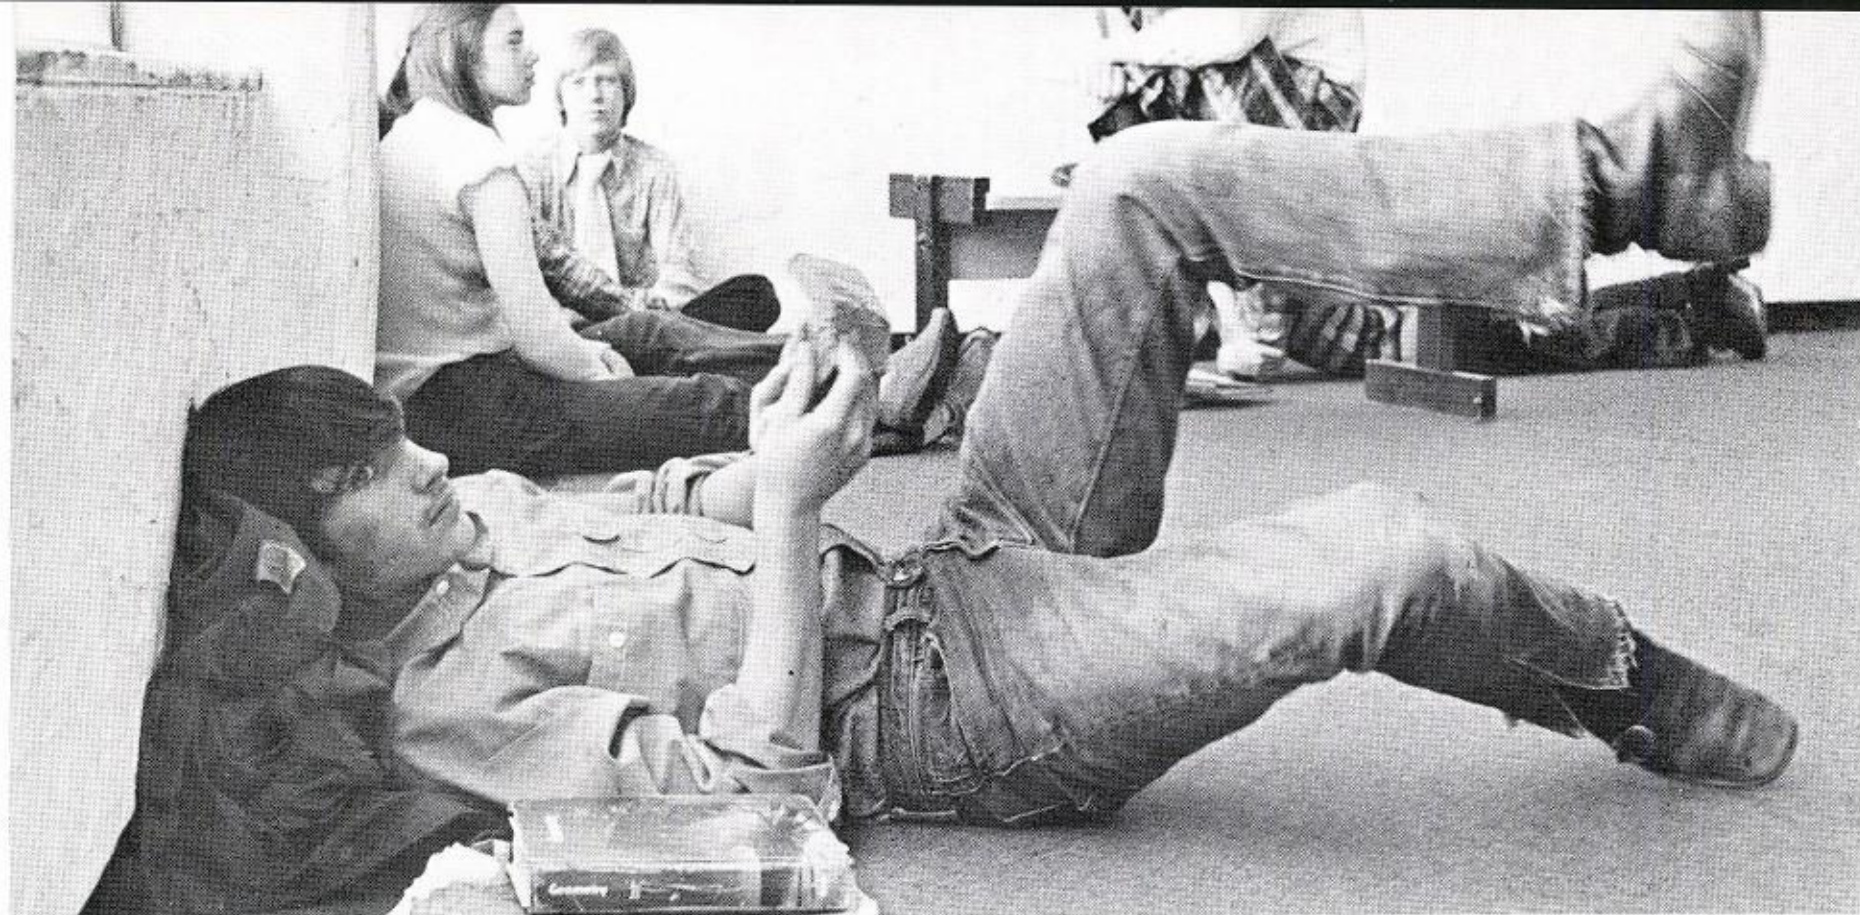

Juniors were active in many of the year's activities. They sponsored the Valentine's Day Dance and with this introduced a new tradition at Lakeridge: a two boy court. During May Week they provided helium balloons and sponsored a greased pig chase.

The juniors participated in student government — the Lakeridge Assembly, and initiated a new addition to the system, class councils.

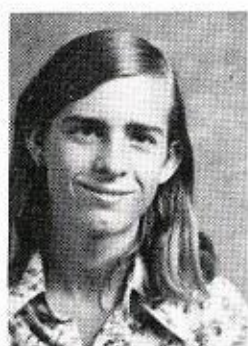

This class has developed a good reputation in its two years at Lakeridge and is truly looking forward to their last year.

SENIORS

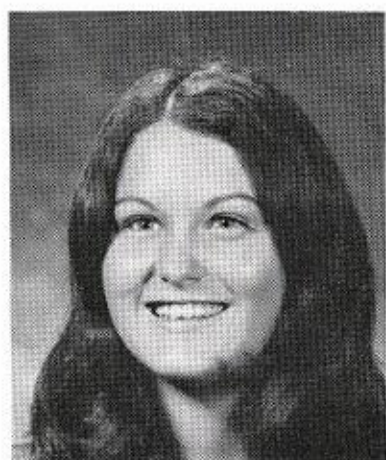

When the class of '73 looks back on their twelve years of school they will see many things that took place during those years drastically altered their lives. When they began kindergarten the Vietnam War officially became an American problem. In the beginning of their third year President John F. Kennedy was assassinated. In eighth grade two tragedies happened. First Martin Luther King was assassinated, then a little over a month later Robert F. Kennedy was also assassinated.

But along with the tragedies many exciting feats were accomplished. The space program placed man beyond the earth's gravitation and finally man walked on the moon. The style of dress went from skirts at the knee cap to minis and then back to midis. Finally 18, 19, and 20 year olds were granted the vote.

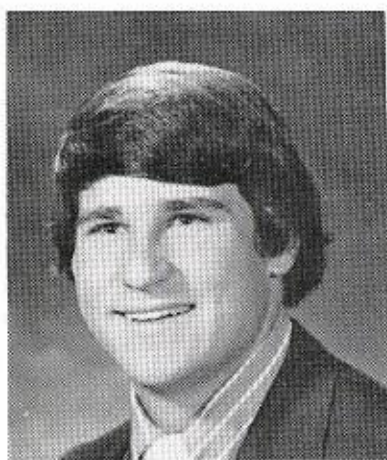

As these seniors sift through their lives, they were caught up in happenings good or bad which will always remain a large part of their lives.
